SPECTRUM SPORT SPECULATIONS

By BOB CONNOLLY

Throw away your official sport predictions, for tomorrow's battle will be a typical State college-University struggle.

Of course we believe that the Bison are going to win, especially after viewing the teams' respective showings against the title hunting Bunnies of South Dakota State.

But anything can happen when those two arch rivals get together.

The possibility is always present in any ball game that when a back mails a pass out it is liable to come back to the return address—and then some.

Don't be surprised at anything when there are two threats like Fritz Hanson of the Bison and Ralph Pierce of the Sioux scampering about the backfields.

If either gets into the clear it would take greased lightning to catch him.

In case President Roosevelt considers plowing over every third row of football players under another federal allotment scheme, we recommend two sophomores, fullbacks, Leo Gerteis and Neville Reiners, to do the work.

But let's pause right now to pass a whole bouquet of orchids to the valiant Bison line.

We believe that when somebody was passing out intestinal fortitude the State college linemen were in the front row.

With a new man in every position and with the lightest line in more than five years, our Bison forward wall has allowed but three touchdowns this year against five foes.

One of the touchdowns, a long pass by St. Thomas's Wee Walsh, can hardly be chalked up against the credit of our line.

The big, burly Sioux line, which averages in weight about 195 pounds, has not shown to best advantage for their avoirdupois and size, allowing 57 points to be scored against them in four games.

Up to now, it is evident that the little Bison linemen have been doing a better job of defensive work than the Big Chiefs from Grand Forks reserve.

An Ode (Anonymous)

Oh, the half may run for fifteen yards
The full may plunge for five;
The quarter's the brain of every gain
And keeps the team alive.
But when the wind is full of chills,
And the air's like a sip of wine,
Give a cheer for the souls that open
Down in the muck of the line.

Continued good play by the Bison line plus a bit of clicking in the backfield and North Dakota State will resume the goal standard against North Dakota university Saturday.

Give the boys a big hand Saturday.

Bison Contest With Wisconsin College Results In 0-0 Tie

Off-Balanced Game Is Result Of Slippery Condition Of Playing Field

Held to their third tie of the season, this time 0-0, the North Dakota State college eleven returned without a win in their war bag from Superior State Teachers college at Superior, Wis., where they played last Friday evening. The last half of their game was fought in a drizzling rain, causing an off-balanced contest due to the slippery condition of the ground.

Playing one of their best games of the season, the Superior Yellowjackets held the Bison on even terms during the first three quarters of the game. In the final period they succeeded in stopping scoring threats in their own territory by intercepting two passes.

Line plunges for substantial gains failed to function because of the wet field. Weak punts forced the Yellowjackets to fight hard several times to check the Bison onslaught.

Eight first downs were made by the Bison eleven to seven for Superior. Four out of eleven aerial attempts were completed by the Bison while the Yellowjackets succeeded twice in six tries. A moral victory was conceded to the Superior Teachers as the game ended for their valiant efforts in checking the Bison.

Zelesnick, Secord, Wright and Croft were outstanding for Superior, while stellar roles for the Bison were played by Roman Meyers, Fritz Hanson, Leo Gerteis and Buff Thompson.

Conny Talks Before Newman Organization

Capt. J. B. Conny described his experiences as an army officer in the Orient at the first meeting of the Newman club, a society for Catholic students, last Sunday evening.

Illustrating his experiences with many anecdotes, Captain Conny took his hearers through the Philippines, coastal China, and Japan. "When I crossed," he said, "the trip to the islands took 30 days by army transport, making the verdant green of the Philippines very welcome. The most amusing incidents that occurred arose through the many types of natives we met and their different customs and modes of dress."

BASKETBALL PRACTICE WILL COMMENCE SOON

Basketball practice at North Dakota State college is scheduled to start the first of next week, according to Bob Lowe, assistant athletic director. Three or four practices will be held next week, with practice to begin in earnest after the football team returns from its game with Oklahoma City university.

Baby Bison Prepared To Defeat U Frosh

Coach Makes Announcement That Charges Will Do Better This Time

Whenever the Baby Bison meet the U freshmen, it's going to be a well-prepared team that defends the honor of this school. The game originally scheduled for tonight has been postponed because of inclement weather. This will be the second game of the year between the two teams and according to Pete Gergen, freshman football coach, the going will be much harder for the University than it was during the first game. Thompson, star quarterback for the University, whom Fitzgerald of The Fargo Forum says looks even better than Ralph Pierce or Red Jarrett did when they started their college football days, will find the Bison yearling line much better opposition than was the case in the first game.

Due to injuries, the lineup for the yearlings has not yet been determined, but it is thought it will be much the same as it was in the first game. The squad is now working much more smoothly than when it faced the Sioux yearlings two weeks ago.

POTTERY MAKING SUBJECT OF CONVOCATION ADDRESS

Coming to us on Nov. 2, as the convocation speaker of the week, will be George A. Searl of Minneapolis, Minn. Mr. Searl will take as his subject, "The World's Oldest Industry—Pottery Making", and will treat his subject from the archeological point of view as there has been no human product as indestructible and definite regarding man's development as has the pottery of a particular age. Starting from Egypt and Peru 3000 years and more B. C., Mr. Searl takes one through the crude stages of pottery making in the old Chinese Empire, and from there visits are paid in turn to Germany, England, Ireland, France and the United States.

These Firms Have Contributed to Send Your Band to the "U." They are real Bison Boosters and merit your support.

BISON COMBAT SIOUX FOR STATE LAURELS

will be out of the contest as a result of a broken collar bone sustained in the South Dakota State game. The removal of Kupcinek will undoubtedly be a severe loss to the Sioux, especially as far as their hitherto aerial attack goes. It is to be anticipated, however, that the fans will see Rip Dablow, blocking back, and Ralph Pierce, the Sioux speed artist, enter the game the instant that the going seems to be dangerous for the University.

The reports from the Bison camp seem to be entirely satisfactory as far as the injury list is concerned, and all players are expected to be in top shape Saturday. Fritz Hanson, who has had considerable difficulty with his ankle since the beginning of the season, will be ready to enter the game, as well as George May, who missed several practices due to a minor ailment. The old casualty jinx that has stayed within the Bison camp since the Concordia game, appears to have drifted northward in time to leave the Bison squad in better shape than they have been all season, with the exception of the loss of Roy Platt.

The work of Bison replacements has been very encouraging since their last game with Superior Teachers college. Sam Dobervich has been developing rapidly within the last two weeks and it is highly possible that Casey Finnegan will start him at right tackle. Dobervich has seen considerable experience in the other Bison contests this fall, and every time he has entered the game he has given fine service.

Along with Dobervich is Stan Maynard who has shown remarkable ability at the blocking back post in this week's practices. Maynard was at first worked in at end, where his reach was a large advantage in snagging passes out of the air.

Other men who are a decided threat for regular positions are Neville Reiners, guard, and Beryl Newman is running Bud Marquardt a close race for the flank position.

Wendell Schollander will probably be ready for active service tomorrow, having limbered up in practices lately and playing a little bit in the game at Superior. Schollander has always in the years past played very consistent football for North Dakota State, and his ruggedness and drive has been missed greatly in the games the Bison have played this year.

Leo Gerteis and Gregory Sloan are two more Finnegannmen who have been pushing hard in the last few games for regular positions. Gerteis has shown up exceptionally well this season, showing more promise than probably any other reserve on the squad. Sloan's work on the defensive is also due for considerable credit.

All things taken into consideration it seems only natural the Bison have been given a slight edge for the Sioux contest, but it is generally stated in the sport circles that whatever the score it will be a close one. As this story goes to print the professional gamblers around town seem to be betting that the score will either be 6-0 for the North Dakota State squad, or else the contest will end in a tie game. Because the sport season so far has appeared to be a season of startling upsets, inside as well as outside of the North Central conference, we advance no prediction for the game.

Severe Boxelder Bug Invasion Is Explained

The severe infestation of boxelder bugs this fall in Fargo and vicinity is caused by the abnormally dry weather experienced here the past two summers, according to Prof. J. A. Munro, entomologist at the North Dakota State college. Such weather gives the bugs ample time to multiply in what is to them a favorable environment.

The boxelder bug is one of the insect pests that invade this section during dry years. Another insect pest of more serious nature in North Dakota to thrive under similar conditions is the grasshopper.

Catherine Evingson and Helen Pease, Kappa Delta pledges, spent the weekend at their home in Kindred and Hillsboro, respectively.

Convincing Testimony That WEBSTER'S COLLEGIATE Is the Best Abridged Dictionary
