College's Staff Discusses Sales Tax At Session

Institution's Secretary Speaks Concerning Measure To College Employees

A meeting of the staff of the North Dakota State college was called last Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock in Old Main, the purpose of which as stated was to discuss the sales tax question, upon which the citizens of North Dakota are voting today.

Immediately following the opening of the meeting someone moved that the assembly take no action, and to have the meeting closed, which motion was seconded. The chairman then asked if there was any discussion upon the matter before putting the question, and as on one seemed to respond, S. W. Hagan, secretary of the college, took the floor, saying that he had some figures which he would like to produce, as he did not like to have any measure go by default without some discussion.

During his talk, Secretary Hagan outlined the financial condition of the state, saying that the farmers throughout North Dakota could not pay their taxes because of drought, crop failures, etc. He went on to say that the constitution of the state provided that the state officials should be paid first, penal and charitable institutions second, and that if there was any money left over it would go to educational institutions. He felt that the state was in a serious condition financially, and unless money was raised some way he did not know what would happen to the state and its educational facilities; furthermore, that the state had already borrowed $400,000 from the Bank of North Dakota and that $380,000 of this had already been used. Mr. Hagan also stated that he felt this was an economic question and not a political one to which he called the attention of the staff to the fact that many of the I. V. A. senators as well as those of the Non-partisan league favored this measure in the last session of the state legislature. As long as this was an economic question and not a political one, he felt that the people within this institution, who had been drawing large salaries, should support such a question, especially if they were interested in education. He also stated that he did not want to get mixed up in politics, but he did feel that when a measure would help the state and education throughout the state that it should be looked upon favorably by the institution, and that they should not be afraid to take a stand one way or other.

Following Hagan, several members of the staff spoke pro and con on the question, the point of the discussion centering on whether or not the question should be supported by the staff rather than on the merits of the proposal. A motion for adjournment was made and passed and the session was adjourned.

Over 1100 Students Registered To Date

With only incomplete returns on file at the registrar's office at the end of the first week of classes during the fall term of the 1933-34 school year, indications point to a total enrollment of approximately the same proportion as that of last year, according to an estimate given by Registrar A. H. Parrott. Figures available show that up to the present time 1,137 students have registered for work at this institution. An increase of between 20 to 25 per cent over last year in freshman enrollment has offset the slight decrease in upper class registration.

Since scattered registrations are expected to continue over a period of probably two weeks, complete figures on enrollment will not be available until sometime in the near future.

State College R. O. T. C. Unit Receives Awards At Encampment

Hartley Eckstrom, Fargo, senior in chemistry, who will be lieutenant-colonel of the North Dakota State college R. O. T. Candidates from the University of Minnesota, the University of North Dakota, the University of Iowa, St. Louis university, Washington university, Kansas State university, and Shattuck Military academy also figured in the competition.

The North Dakota State college unit won three of the major trophies awarded at the encampment, including the cup for the school attaining first place in general efficiency, basic or advanced course; the cup for the best college rifle team in record course "B", and the cup for the school attaining the highest efficiency in the advanced course.

College Bookstore Question Is Explained To The Student Body By Secretary Hagan

Who owns the College bookstore? A mysterious question that a thousand or more State college students ask one another every year. Even faculty and outsiders have speculated now and then on its ownership. So S. W. Hagan, college secretary, under whose department falls the supervision and responsibility of the Bookstore has consented to answer the question—"Who owns the College Bookstore?" and any other questions people might ask.

"The College Bookstore, located in the basement of Main building," says Mr. Hagan, "is the property of the college. No interests are held in it by any individual either of the administrative force or faculty. Its aims are to serve both students and faculty. It is operated on a non-profit basis, but is expected to pay its way by being self-supporting."

The following instances are cited by Mr. Hagan to correct the general impression prevailing among students that the Bookstore is responsible for the high prices of books:

Bison Meet Concordia College Squad Under Floodlights On Dacotah Field At 8 O'clock

Coach C. C. (Casey) Finnegan will turn his charges loose on Dacotah field tonight at 8 o'clock for their first grid contest of the season, meeting the Concordia college Cobbers, who will present one of the strongest teams in the history of their school.

The Bison hopes for a win tonight suffered a severe setback last Tuesday afternoon when Bill Gove, star Bison fullback, received a broken leg during practice, which means that he will be out of all future contests for the 1934 season. Because of the fact that Gove was a key man in the backfield, as well as one of Finnegan's best ground-gainers, the Bison will have a much weakened backfield for tonight's contest. Erling Schranz is expected to replace him against Concordia.

535 STUDENTS APPLY FOR WORK

The 535th North Dakota State college student to sign an application this fall for part-time work at the office of Mrs. Psyche Gooden, college employment secretary, was Kinsey Plummer, Kindred, freshman in the school of chemistry.

More than 800 North Dakota State college students received part-time work in Fargo last year, earning a cash equivalent of $200,000. There were 120 college women who worked in Fargo homes for board and room.

During the five years Mrs. Gooden has been student employment secretary at the State college, she has placed more than 5,000 young men and women in part-time positions in Fargo.

Gordon Baird, Escanaba, Mich., has returned to school after a two-year absence.

Concordia college has for many years been the traditional "season-opener" for the Thundering Herd from North Dakota State, but never before have they been able to present a team that will be such a threat to the Bison's hope for victory as the squad they will tonight put onto Dacotah field. The Concordia squad has not suffered greatly from graduation of regular players or from loss of men not returning to school as have the Bison. They also have an edge in practices, in that they started earlier than did the Bison, and they were not handicapped by regular players straggling in several days after the first drill was called.

A glance at the experienced backfield which Frank Cleve, Concordia football coach, will use in tonight's setto, and the strong forward wall which does not appear to be weakened by the loss of regulars, shows that the Bison are in for a tough game. The principal men in the Cobber backfield have had considerable experience and all stood out well in their own conference last fall. Ralph Miller, fullback, and Eddie Dahl, leftback, are two regulars who are expected to play excellent football for the Cobbers this season. Bob Fritz, all-conference right-half, and Earl Moran, quarterback, are two fine football players who are to be remembered for the game with Concordia last fall.

As the day for registration drew near more of Finnegan's charges appeared for practice which helped considerably in that they were at the first greatly handicapped by the loss of regular material who were depended upon to fill in at the regular posts. Roy Platt, tackle, Leonard House, guard, Johnny Fisher, and Arthur Morris were all men who had seen much experience in last year's grid tilts and as they did not return to school this fall it meant that Finnegan had to make some shifts and start new men in their places. Bud Jacobson, captain-elect, did not return to college this fall, leaving another difficult post for the coaches to fill.

Not unlike Concordia the Bison will not have the services of two more regulars aside from Gove. Harvey Erlenmeyer, guard, received an injury to his (Continued on page 3)

Prospects For Band Good, Says Putnam

With one hundred and three bandmen on the campus and twenty more certain to arrive within the week, 'Doc' Putnam's Gold Star band of the current college year will be the largest band in the history of the school.

"It is the first time since the establishment of the school," said 'Doc' last Tuesday, "that a complete band of all freshmen have reported and with forty-five new men reporting for practice, it sets a new mark for freshman band enrollment."

Another marked feature of this group is that over half of these yearlings have had four or more years of band experience.

'Doc' expressed himself as delighted with the creditable performance of the newcomers at the close of the initial freshman rehearsal Tuesday afternoon. Rehearsals have been held through the week for the different sections and the complete organization will make its first appearance of the year at the game tonight.

Officers who will definitely return this year are: William Watson, warrant officer and first assistant, and Charles Martin, staff sergeant and drum major.

COLLEGE ATHLETICS

It is a moot question, whether college athletics should exist as they now are or whether some reformation in regard to them should be made.

Each side of the question, naturally, has its merits. Each side of the question also has many aspects, making a wise decision in regard to the matter very hard to reach.

Those opposing the present form of college athletics, wherein football and basketball teams are developed representing but a small portion of the student body, have several points in their favor. To begin with, it is quickly seen that under such a system students who have no interest in making the team or those who fail to make it do not get a fair amount of the time apportioned to the student body for physical education. Money appropriated for the physical education department of the school is spent on a small handful of students.

Then it is argued that the student whose athletic prowess is of the best gets an unfair amount of recognition, receiving a fine numeral or letter to wear, his name and picture in the papers, and applause from less fortunate members of the student body, while his classmates who are doing good scholastic work receives nothing but the satisfaction that they are receiving good grades in their studies. Surely, this is unfair.

As the official publication of the student body, The Spectrum wishes to heartily thank all members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce for their work in behalf of needy State college students.

ATTENTION, RUSHEES

Many a freshman, visiting a fraternity house for the first time, has not the faintest idea as to how he should properly conduct himself. Perchance he has heard many things about fraternities, and therefore considers himself a wise guy; he behaves accordingly. All fraternity men know his type, as they do the opposite type: the kind that is painfully aware of the fact that they do not know a thing about Greek letter groups, and as a consequence are quite embarrassed during first visits to a fraternity house.

For the edification of all fraternity rushees, we think that the following article, coming from Sigma Chi Delta, Oregon State college, is of especial pertinence:

"Rushing season impends. All college men and women hate it. You'll hate it next year. For a week you will be handled with kid gloves; after that you'll find out where the brooms are kept. Here are a few little points to remember.

"1. Every house is better than some other houses.

"2. Letter sweaters and activities are individual achievements; the house didn't do it all.

"3. Be natural, you will get farther than by acting a part.

"4. Etiquette is more than a word.

"5. If you want to be different don't start smoking.

"6. Most college men and women have mothers and dads and as a rule they write home regularly and not always for money.

"7. Maybe you were a big shot in high school; but there aren't many on the campus who know it or care. Your campus is cluttered with people who were big shots in high school. Personally, we burned out in grammar school.

"8. Save your best jokes and wisecracks until after you get the button; then be discreet.

"9. Twenty, thirty or forty adults cannot be one happy family all of the time.

"10. If you have the opportunity and feel justified, by all means pledge.

"11. If you don't pledge, there is nothing wrong with you. It may be smart to belong, but all the smart do not belong."

A VOTE OF THANKS

We are willing to bet that several young people on this campus are feeling considerably better now than they did this time last week. When they arrived at school they were beset with fear that they would not be able to stay longer than a term at the most, and that only by making every cent they had stretch as far as possible. Now, they have been assured of employment that will enable them to stay out of the school year, and in nine cases out of ten, to return for their second year at college.

We are willing to bet, furthermore, that these young people, should they be given the chance to do so, would give three lusty cheers for the members of the Fargo Junior Chamber of Commerce, who during the last week have made a canvass of all Fargo busi-

How-do Girls—I'm back to pester you-all again—but I'll guarantee that it won't be too serious. I'm not writing for religious purposes; if you want that, go down to the corner and throw your money on the drum. Also, I'm not soliciting for Wm. L. or selling patent medicine—just a leisure column, you know, and no hard feelings. I'll try not to strike my alma mater too hard when she's down. So-o-o-o—

A Model Letter For Arousing Fraternity Enthusiasm

Dear Brothers:
Lend me your ears! You are about to receive the most important announcement of all time! It is the call to colors of every loyal member of good old _____ (you fill in the blanks), for, Monday evening. This very important meeting is for real true-blue, loyal go-getters who are interested in the honor and glory of our venerable fraternity. We are about to launch the biggest rushing campaign in history to get the cream of N. D. S. prospects. We need men this year—we need virility, exuberance, vim, optimism, courage and a repugnance for a pot-bellied, peaceful fraternity life. We need the pride every hour of the day in being _____, or we fade out of the fraternity picture forever; we must cross the Rubicon, fellows, and show them that we're not just a homogeneous herd of cavemen. Talk about loyalty, fight and real enthusiasm; just wait and see what we're going to do with half-hearted action! We want red-hot action. Are you a red-hot? Persistence and courage men—action! Hit 'em hard for a virile bunch! Play ball with a real live-wire gang!

Now, bring your own fire extinguisher; it's going to be plenty hot in the chapter room—things will buzz aplenty. Brother _____, that prominent, dashing leader, will give one of his little inspirational talks as the high spot of the evening. From now on, everyone on the chapter roll is "on the spot" (and I don't mean pot); I'm going to be as tough as the Foreign Legion. No excuses accepted. Let's go gang!

Sincerely,
W. M.

P. S.—A 100% turnout—talk it up! Follow me men—swear 'em. Rah, rah, alma mater—pledge anything with pants! Ki yi yippy—mammy!

No, fellow students, if you see a bunch of fellows foaming at the mouth it's not Rabies or Burma Shave—it's just rushing season on this little campus of ours. Maybe this column should be entitled Bison Griefs.

World's Fair Items (to be continued next week): John Myron, Bill Christianson, Jack Knight and others, burlesquing, bull-sessioning and bearing. Some fun, eh kid?—Smooth, suave Bob Landbloom selling canes in his mild, earnest manner with a midway twang in his voice—and then chattering with a very charming, alarming little girl in Czechoslovakia; "just took a liking to me I guess," was his only comment to the press—Amy Glaser and Dale Iverson starting loop-ward in search of night-life about 12 bells. My! My! Learn the truth; we must protect our children! . . . Warbler Marj Arnold griping about her air-minded young brother, lost for three hours. Whataday! . . . Bob Weir in the Congress giving Carlos Molina and Vincent Lopez the once over and being in turn given the double o by people who seldom see such a big beautiful, smooth body; healthy as a painted Santa Claus, I tell you. And yet the girls say, "Oh, but the men around here are so ordinary." Pish and couple of milk-fed tushes . . . Sally Rand, of the risque fan dance fame, and Cab Calloway, causing lines a block long to form in front of the Chicago theater . . . Eleanor Johnson selling N. D. popcorn and grapefruit juice which was "delicious, refreshing, ice-old; it will make you healthy and wealthy, and you're wise if you drink it." Whata-line! . . .

Here's our idea of a rejuvenation of "Rowdy Remarks":

What N. D. S. boy entertained what N. D. S. girl in what apartment in Chicago, where and why? We know all the answers, but won't tell because . . .

Curtis Ball, Theta Chi and a 1931 graduate of N. D. S., is visiting in Fargo at the Theta Chi fraternity house. Mr. Ball was president of his fraternity in 1931 and a representative of his class.

All students who have left last-year text books in the Bison office are requested to get them before Tuesday afternoon.
Jane Nichols.

THE DOUBLE

O-O

Once Overs On Personalities and Things Collegiate Through The Specs of The Spectrum Spectator

BY THEIR OWN SAY-SO, THIS year's crop of freshmen have enjoyed the orientation program staged for their benefit very much. Perhaps the highest light of the program was their "mixer" last Saturday night, when telephone numbers and street addresses were freely exchanged, and socialite frosh got off on the right foot. Then, too, there were the drives about Fargo on Sunday afternoon, when those first-year students as yet unacquainted with the town were shown the various points of interest. Frequent requests were made of drivers to pass certain houses, where dwelled some acquaintance of the previous evening. But—we imagine the Frosh spirit will be soon dampened when they discover what things lurk between the covers of various textbooks, and upperclassmen will bring pressure in the line of wood-carrying and green-cap wearing.

AFTER MANY TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS, Dr. Airheart of the Fargo School of Religion has experimented again and inspirationally constructed a white masterpiece. Much too often in the past have students helter-skeltered across Wesley college's attempt at a grass plot. In vain were wire fences built, brush piled up. Nothing, it seemed, could turn aside aspiring scholars from closer access to an eight o'clock urge. We hope Dr. Airheart has at last diverted the stampede from its wonted path.

CANDIDITIES . . . Fifteen freshmen have applied for positions on the editorial staff of The Spectrum thus far . . . Hear of the freshman who thought that the college greenhouses were the freshman dormitories? . . . Copies of this issue of The Spectrum were personally distributed today to fraternity and sorority houses, dormitories, etc., because of the unlooked-for holiday. . . . The campus orchestra engagements should be easily filled this year, with at least four "college" bands competing for them . . . Wanted: a bigger mirror for the feminine inhabitants of The Spectrum office . . . Bonmots to T. W. J. for journalistic scoops of the past summer, principally those of M. Kirkness & Cow and Cleaning the Clock (Old Main's) . . .

AT THE THEATERS

With Marie Dressler as Annie, redoubtable feminine skipper of Puget Sound, and Wallace Beery as the irresistible Captain Terry, "Tugboat Annie" most heralded filmization of Norman Reilly Raine's Saturday Evening Post stories, opens tomorrow for a week's run at the Fargo theater. The appearance of this show has been long-awaited, and certainly promises to be one of the best of the season. Besides the incomparable team of Dressler and Beery, Robert Young and Maureen O'Sullivan are also in the cast.

Charlie Murray and George Sidney make their laugh-rollicking debut at the Roxy theater next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in "The Cohens and Kelleys in Trouble." Andy Devine, Frank Albertson, and Maureen O'Sullivan are members of the supporting cast of this comedy which concerns itself with high life on the high seas.

James Dunn and Sally Eilers typify the romance of modern youth in a battle against a repressing world in the picture "Hold Me Tight," coming to the State Monday and Tuesday. Comedy, suspense and drama are highlights of this romance.

The story of the evolution of a barber shop bootblack to a promoter of worthless stock in a romance with a pretty heiress is booked for the State next Wednesday and Thursday as "The Big Brain." Geo. Stone, Fay Wray and Phillips Holmes have leads.

SPECTRUM SPORT SPECULATIONS

By BOB CONNOLLY
Tonight's game with the Cobbers of Concordia under the big lights at Da-cotah field is going to be a real tester for our 1933 Bison in many departments of play. And it should be an interesting game to watch.

Whether a lighter but faster line can maintain the same air-tight defense as the mighty Bison line of the past three years, which was riddled by graduation, is the greatest test of the evening.

To show how much lighter this year's forward wall is, just take a look at the Green and Yellow lineup that held Wisconsin and Minnesota each to one point margins, two years ago, and that of the boys who will show their fettle tonight:

As Was	As Is
Jacobson (190)	LE Marquardt (173)
Schoenfelder (235)	LT Meyers (190)
Jahr (197)	LG Reiners (175)
Paris (204)	C Thomas (185)
Orness (195)	RG House (168)
Shamp (240)	RT Peschel (188)
Sellicken (191)	RE Olson (170)

And good old statistics will tell you that the old average of 207 plus pounds for the line is some more than the present average of 178 pounds per fighting griddler.

One man who has a lot of respect for the power in the Bison line the past several years is Joe Boland, former St. Thomas coach and one of the best tacklers who played under the watchful eyes of Knute Rockne at Notre Dame. Joe, who visited here the latter part of last week, told how his lighter players didn't enjoy the hard knocks at the hands of the burly North Dakota State boys. Boland, by the way, is sports announcer over WCCO, Minneapolis, (6:15 on Saturday evenings.)

The backfield is also going to undergo a series of real tests to-night, for a consistent kicker, quarterback and regulars for each position will be picked for their ability under the fire of playing.

Under dull-clouded skies of tragic gray, Tuesday, Bill Gove, possibly the best fullback ever to don the togs and rip through the line here at North Dakota State college, didn't get up after being tackled. His leg had been twisted unnaturally as he was hit by several huskies, and both bones snapped above the ankle. "There it is Casey," Bill said, as he pointed out his limp, dangling foot—several minutes later the ambulance carried one of the brightest hopes of 1933 far away from the grid-iron.

Leo Gerteis, prize hard luck back during the past two seasons, will again miss a big chance for recognition tonight. A torn cartilage in his knee will keep him out for another week at least.

George May, to carry the ball and kick the punkin; "Windy" Schollander to pass and carry the "porcine pellet" and Gregory Sloan, Art Skurdahl, Art Stege and Ralph Isensee, to scrap for placement, should furnish plenty of material for conversation by the "grand stand quarterbacks."

We won't swear to its authenticity but it seems that "Buff" Thompson and "Bing" Miller, Bison candidates for the All-American eating team, were dining at a local restaurant recently. The waiter was a little worried because he knew that the steak was a little tough, even for husky football players. "How did you like the steak, boys" said he. "Well," says they, "at least it was pleasant exercise."

Let's beat Concordia!

PROSPECTS FOR FROSH GRID SQUAD INCLUDE ALL-STATE SELECTIONS

Former High School Stars From Four States Ask For Uniforms

With about thirty men reporting to practice the first day of school, prospects for a strong freshman football eleven seem rather bright, according to Joe Blakeslee, head freshman coach. While many of the players lack experience the squad as a whole seems fairly well fortified.

Backfield men who are expected to continue brilliant high school careers include Dohn, all state halfback from Bismarck; Miller, husky fullback from Warren; Sanders, halfback from Mandan; and Rendler, plunging fullback from La Crosse, Wis.

Included in the roster of linemen are such stars as Stevens, Devils Lake, end and captain of all-state second team; Sturgeon, giant tackle from Moorhead; Carr from Jamestown, now holding down the pivot post; Kietly, end and former all-state basketball forward from Thief River Falls, Minn.; and Smith, all-state guard from Montana.

The Bison yearlings will have their annual two-game series with the N. D. U. frosh and while there is nothing definite settled, may play one or two other teams.

Other members of the squad are Erickson, Larimore; McCarthy, Granville; Lindemann, Hillsboro; Osborne, Henning, Luther and Sorenson all of Fargo; Hamm, Jamestown; O'Laughlin, Moorhead; Wildish, Rock Lake; Hamilton Rugby; McDermate and Henry, Strum; Bergh, Hendrum; Rustad, Thief River Falls, Minn.; and Springer, Hettinger.

Calendar for 1933-4 Retains Short Terms

Change Lengthens Christmas Vacation and Closes School Earlier

The college calendar for 1933-34 provides again for a lengthened Christmas vacation and a shortened winter and spring term as did last year's, according to A. H. Parrott, registrar.

Because of the change students are afforded the opportunity of a longer period to work during the holiday's recess and graduates secure the benefit of a more opportune time in the spring to obtain positions.

The Friday following Thanksgiving, previous to last year a holiday, has been changed to a school day. A recess between the winter and spring terms has been retained.

An advantage of the new calendar is the saving of expenses to the students that are ordinarily incurred for vacation trips during the two short recesses, Thanksgiving and, Easter. Another saving is the two weeks expenses cut off the winter and spring terms.

In spite of the changed calendar the required number of teaching days is maintained and the continuity of school work resulting from fewer recesses is more effective.

Three bulletins have been recently issued by the Agricultural Experiment station of the North Dakota State college—"Sweet Clover, the Best Pasture Crop" by E. G. Booth, "Artificial Incubation" by George P. Goodearl, and "Flaxseed, Factors Influencing Price in North Dakota" by Harry E. Ratcliffe.

St. Thomas To Bring Powerful Team Here

Although only four lettermen will be in the St. Thomas college starting lineup, a group of husky reserves and a strong freshman representation assure the Tommies of plenty of power when they clash with the Bison next Friday.

With his four veterans as a nucleus, Coach Boland has built up a well-balanced team. Two years ago in the last Bison-Tommy encounter the Herd came out on top of a 27-6 count.

Coach Finnegan's men may expect to face a dangerous passing attack as this is one of Boland's finest offensive weapons. It was by the aerial route that St. Thomas scored on the Bison two years ago.

Both teams will have had one warm-up game before the contest.

JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FINDS JOBS

That business men of Fargo are giving the college a great deal more support than is generally believed by the public was the discovery of Joe Powers and Walter Boerth, chairmen of the college relations committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce which has just completed a canvass of Fargo business men locating approximately 150 tentative part time jobs for college students.

Although only a few positions located are immediately available, opportunities for part time work have been lined up into the holiday season. The positions which were open this fall have already been filled by a number of college students. These jobs have been secured through cooperation with the college employment office and through interested alumni.

hand and Leo Gerteis, halfback, sustained an injury to his leg which will undoubtedly keep them out of the practices and games for several weeks.

Tonight's game will furnish an opportunity for both coaches to determine just what men will hold down the regular positions for the season. Coach Cleve has several fine prospects scrapping for the backfield positions just as Finnegan has. Art Skurdahl, Erling Schranz, Gregory Sloan, Art Stege, and Neville Reiners are all men who show considerable promise, and will do their best tonight to convince the coach that they are eligible to hold down regular positions.

The following is the probable line-up for the Bison, and the starting line-up for Concordia:

BISON	Pos.	CONCORDIA
Marquardt	LE	M. Syvrud
Meyers	LT	Fossum
Reiners	LG	Sogn
Thomas	C	Midgarden
Miller	RG	T Syvrud

Rifle Squad To Use New Guns In Matches

22 Calibre Pieces Are Especially Made For Gallery Firing Says Captain Conmy

With the purchase of twenty new rifles and the new firing range which was built last year under the direction of Capt. J. B. Conmy, rifle team coach, the very finest facilities for marksmanship practice will be made available for the 1934 Bison rifle squad.

The new rifles, 22 calibre, are made expressly for gallery matches, and are equipped with the very finest sights available for rifle competition. The purchasing of twenty guns will mean that every candidate for the squad will have access to a new rifle which will undoubtedly mean a rise in the team score, says Captain Conmy.

Candidates for the Bison rifle squad will begin firing early in November.

CAMPUS SOCIETY

LUELLA FURCHT HEADS FIRST MONDAY TEA

Luella Furcht, social chairman of the college YWCA, is in charge of the first Blue Monday tea of the year which will be held in the Blue Room of the college YMCA building on Monday afternoon, Sept. 25, between the hours of 3 and 5. Assisting Miss Furcht as hostesses will be Jean Newton, president of the freshman commission; Leone Phillips, and Marion Van Vorst. Mrs. C. A. Teet will preside. All new girls on the campus are especially invited to attend.

Doris Nelson, Elizabeth Baker, Deborah Sudro, Bunny Barnard, Jane Nichols, and Phyllis Clay attended a Sigma Chi party at North Dakota university in Grand Forks last Monday evening.

Phi Omega Pi announces the formal pledging of Ruth Foote, Fargo, at the chapter house Tuesday afternoon.

RUSHING PARTIES GET UNDER WAY THIS WEEK

The evening's entertainment, to be followed by a smoker. Alumni will play a prominent part in the party, with Dr. Frank Darrow, alumnus, acting as toastmaster. E. H. Elwin is in charge of arrangements.

Sept. 25 marks the opening of the formal rushing season for campus sororities. Rushing this year will be confined to one week, the usual period of informal rushing being eliminated by agreement in the Panhellenic council.

Open house to which all freshmen women are invited will be held by the various groups Saturday afternoon. The Alpha Gamma Deltas will meet the women of the campus in their apartment in the college YMCA; the Gamma Phi Betas in apartment 1, 1041 College street; the Kappa Kappa Gammas in their YMCA rooms; the Kappa Deltas at 924 Eighth street north; the Phi Mus at 1137 Eighth street north; and the Phi Omega PIs in their chapter house on the corner of Thirteenth street and Eleventh avenue.

An Indian motif will be used for the afternoon party with which the active chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta will open their rush season Monday in the gymnasium of the college YMCA. Wednesday afternoon rushees will be entertained at a formal Chinese dinner in the home of Mrs. Kent Darrow, and Friday noon they will be guests at a Mother Goose luncheon in the dining room of the college YMCA. Betty Bickert, rushing captain, is being assisted by Thelma Liessman, Isabelle Humphreys, Eva Sherwood, Gladys Wood, Barbara Anderson, and Rosine Dahlen in the arranging of the affairs.

A progressive dinner Tuesday will be the traditional event of the Gamma Phi Beta rush week. Amy Glaser is in charge. Thursday the group will entertain at a luncheon in the chapter apartment directed by Mary Bibow. Rushing parties will be concluded Saturday night when the chapter entertains rushees with Courtney Cannon in charge. Audrey Houghum is general chairman of rush week activities of the sororities.

The Kappa Deltas will entertain a Raggedy Ann luncheon in the college YMCA dining room Tuesday noon, in general charge of Marian Powers, social chairman, and Marcella Gray. A Chinese theme is planned for the afternoon party to be held at the home of Margaret Olson, president of the chapter. On Saturday night the YMCA will be the scene of the traditional Hotel party.

A Pullman dinner, a tourist party, and a circus luncheon, together with the customary formal tea, will comprise the rushing activities of Kappa Kappa Gamma. The traditional Pullman dinner will be patterned after a dinner on a train. Circus tents, balloons, miniature circus animals, and streamers will have parts in the luncheon Wednesday noon. The tourist party takes place next Friday. Erlys Hill, rushing chairman, will be assisted by Isabel Barrett, Laura Ball and Mona Haas.

On Monday noon Phi Omega Pi sorority will open the formal rush week with a Zodiac luncheon at the chapter house, in charge of Hermione Hanson. In charge of the Hoot Owl party to be given at the chapter house Wednesday afternoon is Frances Wheeler. The traditional Cinderella ball will be held at 1401 Broadway, with Luella Ulness, rushing captain, in general charge.

An afternoon Pirate party will be given by Phi Mu on Tuesday in the home of Constance Martin. The evening party will be in the form of a night club and will be held in the YMCA. On Saturday a luncheon will be held in the chapter house and on Sunday the traditional Bittersweet tea also at the chapter house, with Marian Miller, rushing chairman, in general charge.

Rushing for both fraternities and sororities will conclude Monday, Oct. 2, with pledging night.

Bob Fritz, all conference right halfback, is one of the stellar players on the Cobber squad and will be a real threat for the Bison in tonight's encounter.

Fritz' home town is International Falls, Minnesota.

Progress Being Made In Work On Yearbook

Work on the 1935 Bison is already under way with the art work throughout the book nearly completed and the cover design decided upon according to Jane Nichols, editor-in-chief of the yearbook.

The theme has already been chosen and promises an entirely different type of publication.

One of the outstanding features of the book so far is the division pages. These will be printed in two different colors, on colored paper, making a very presentable Bison.

Marian Sanders, Kappa Kappa Gamma from the University of Minnesota, is to be a house guest of Ruth Baker this weekend.
