Scintillating Rainbow Theme Is Announced For Senior Prom

As class president, Frank Clark and his partner, Evelyn South, will have third place in line at the Senior Prom grand march, Friday evening, May 19.

TICKET SALES ADVANCE

Many Features Promised By Special Band; Olsons Arrange Waltzes

A colorful and scintillating rainbow crystal theme has been prepared for the decorations of the 1933 Senior Prom, Frank Callinan, manager, stated today. The party will be held next Friday evening, May 19, at the Crystal ballroom.

Many mirrors, hung at various heights all over the dance hall will reflect many varied shades of soft light over the dancers at this final formal ball at North Dakota State college this year. The entire set of decorations have been planned by the prom committee and members of the architectural department so as to be in complete harmony with the extensive lighting system that has been prepared.

So as to have their names printed on the list of guests at the Senior Prom next Friday, all tickets should be purchased by next Wednesday. The Fargo Forum and The Spectrum will carry guest lists. Tickets for $1.50 a couple may be procured from fraternity representatives, Hay Drug, Cook Drug and the College Bookstore.

Henry and Morris Olson, who will be well remembered for the outstanding part they took in presenting the 1933 Bison Brevities, have arranged a full series of waltzes that they have composed for the twenty-minute eighth dance on the program. This musical treat is but one of many features to be worked out at the party by the special Red Jacket band, Manager Callinan states.

Ticket sales for the dance have shown good advances through the week, which is regarded as an indication of student appreciation of the lower price for the party, Assistant Manager Gus Younger said. Every effort is to be made so as to culminate the sales drive by Wednesday so as to include all names on the guest lists to be published in The Spectrum and The Fargo Forum. A special delegation of guests from the University of North Dakota will be in attendance.

Among the features of the prom which have not been given sufficient notice are the unique leather bound program favors, the managers state.

Committee members who are assisting in the presentation of the party next Friday night are: favors, Eva Sherwood; tickets, John Dixon; floor manager, Louis Bjornson; features, La-Verne Dickenson; invitations, Eleanor Johnson; music, Jack Vincent; programs and patrons, Ruth Barrett; decorations and lightings, Jack Thysell and Ben Boyden; publicity, Robert M. Connolly.

There will be a meeting of the Saddle and Sirlon club next Tuesday, May 16, at 7:30 o'clock.

BISON TO BE DISTRIBUTED

Dance, Pageant and Football Games Are Highlights For Program

Wednesday will mark the re-installation of an All-college day upon the campus of North Dakota State college when an afternoon and evening will be set aside for varied programs and entertainment.

The former holiday was called Gay Cat day but this tradition was discontinued in the spring of 1931. In hopes that All-college day will take on wider dimensions the new holiday is initiated into the calendar minus the former costume convention that prevailed under the Gay Cat regime.

Special permission was granted the Blue Key and Senior Staff for the staging of this holiday which they are sponsoring. Various organizations and classes on the campus have contributed to the fund which will cover the cost of the noon luncheon, and the expense of the music and the evening all-college dance is being borne by the student commission.

Schedule of Events

- 12:00—Free lunch and entertainment by Red Jackets and students in Festival hall.
- 1:30—Distribution of Bison year-book at Old Main
- 2:30—Football game between Yellow and Green teams
- 4:00—Fraternity open house
- 7:00—"Lilac Days" pageant in front of Old Main with the crowning of the Lilac Queen
- 8:30-11:00—All-college dance in Physical Education Building music by the Red Jackets

The noon lunch will be marked by a diversified program presented by groups of students and the Red Jacket orchestra. Following this the Bison yearbook will be distributed in Old Main.

Climaxing the spring football season, Casey Finnegan has divided the gridiron candidates into two different teams, the Green and the Yellow. These groups of football players are scheduled to match strengths on the athletic field at 2:30. At 4:00 all social and professional fraternities will hold open house.

Frances Wheeler has been chosen as Queen of the "Lilac Days" pageant which will be given in front of Old Main at seven o'clock by the pageantry class under the direction of Prof. A. G. Arvold. A special feature of this portion of the program will consist of the Gold Star band's rendition of the theme song, "Lilac Days," which was composed by James Golseth and arranged by Dr. C. S. Putnam. This music will comprise the prelude of the program.

The story of the pageant concerns a gardener at a castle who, while he is pruning a lilac tree, is rudely interrupted by a girl who protests to his cutting the beautiful tree. Twelve lilac-gowned girls dance in and surround the gardener who is transfigured into a handsome prince. In the final episode, the procession of heralds escorts the king to his throne where the queen is crowned.

In the epilogue the court jesters entertain and the pageant is concluded with the entire cast singing the theme song, "Lilac Days." All the music is under the direction of Dr. Putnam. Students will be admitted to the pageant upon presentation of their registration cards.

North Dakota collegians will be entertained at a free All-college dance in the evening. The Red Jackets will furnish music for the dance which is to be held in Festival hall.

There will be a meeting of Saddle and Sirlon club next Tuesday, May 16, at 7:30 o'clock.

—Carl Freeman, president.

All faculty members are especially invited to the noon lunch and the dance on all-college day, May 17. Committee.

Retiring Staff Heads Of Spectrum Make Way For The "New Deal"

McDonald and Connolly Leave Office—New Staff Will Complete Year

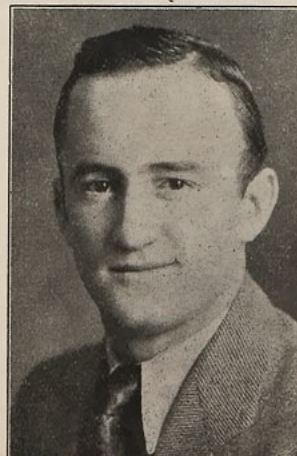

Making way for the "New Deal" in Spectrum publication, William P. McDonald, business manager, completed his year of work with last week's issue and Robert M. Connolly, editor, relinquishes his editorial responsibilities with this issue.

Taking initial charge of the business managership for North Dakota State college's official publication in today's paper, Robert Parrott will complete business work for the remainder of the year, including a special issue on Commencement day. Gale W. Monson, newly appointed editor for 1933-34, takes full charge of the paper from now until the completion of school activities for the year.

Changes ushered in by the "New Deal" will probably prove to be minor in nature, involving for the most part The Spectrum's editorial policy.

W. P. McDONALD
Business Manager

R. M. CONNOLLY
Editor-in-Chief

The editor and business manager attended, as in past years, the North Central Interscholastic Press conference, transacting such business as was necessary with the officials of other publications in the association.

The annual exchange of editors with North Dakota University's "Dakota Student" was carried out as in the past cementing the friendly relations between the two Dakota institutions.

Among the outstanding legacies of the position to the heads of The Spectrum have been the opportunity to meet and interview outstanding people at the college and visitors. Besides administrative leaders of both North Dakota's major institutions of higher learning, might be mentioned contacts with Maulana Shaikat Ali, Moslem leader of India; former Vice President Curtis; Lincoln Ellsworth, Bert Balchen and Sir Hubert Wilkins of the 1933 Antarctic expedition; not to forget a leading member of the federal jury that had sentenced Al Capone; various well known musicians, and prominent military officers.

SWAN SONG

Old Father Time has spun another wheel and finis must be written to our terms at the masthead of The Spectrum.

Rather than make this seem a mild form of an obituary, we pause in this last statement to make a few remarks and conclude the year of work as quietly as possible.

First, may we extend to our staffs our sincere appreciation of their steady cooperation throughout the school year. Whatever measure of success, editorially or financially, that the paper has enjoyed, reflects a great deal upon the energy and initiative of those staff workers.

Secondly, we feel indebted to the student body and the faculty as a whole for general backing and able suggestions from time to time. Relationships constantly improved throughout the year, which fact was most encouraging in the work. Through the college board of publications, representatives of both groups have kept an active interest in the problems and policies of our work.

Lastly, but none the less strongly, may we express our thanks to those business men of the two cities who have appreciated the value of the student advertising enough to aid in the maintenance of the paper.

For our immediate successors we have every confidence of success. Their work this year has shown them of ability and tenacity in their work. Given the same cooperation and good will by staff members and the student body, their success is assured.

Rather regretful that such an interesting and enjoyable year has passed so rapidly, we wish to put forth our appreciation for having had the opportunity of being of service to the college.

ANSWER IT YOURSELF

Shall All-college day become an enduring tradition at North Dakota State college or not? That is the query that will be answered by the general action of the student body next Wednesday afternoon and evening.

To some who have observed the extended and promising program of events for the 1933 celebration, as they have been mapped out by the Blue Key and Senior Staff honor societies, aided by the Student Commission, it would seem a foolish question. History at the college has proven otherwise.

When the newly elected Student Commission was inaugurated into office last spring it found itself in a rather unusual predicament. The Faculty Council, disappointed with past celebrations of the day and necessarily short scheduled due to the amount of school time taken by various honorary groups for their recognition convocations, had decided to award no class time for the regular All-college day events, and specified that the occasion be carried out from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until 10 o'clock in the evening. These hours, the least attractive of any for classroom-tired students, did not seem adequate for fitting observance of the All-college day—the commission abandoned the enterprise for the spring.

It was apparent that the idea behind the day, in which the students could get together in a general undergraduate celebration, was worthy of consideration and effort. The commission attempted to rectify several phases to expedite the future presentation of the occasion. First, work was expended to get permission from the Faculty Council to give time and another trial for the then weakening "tradition" for this spring. Second, as it was considered an undue burden for a newly installed commission to carry on the celebration before even being thoroughly oriented into the offices, the aid of effecting organizations was requested. Blue Key and Senior Staff accepted after some investigation and study of the responsibilities of presentation.

Wednesday, the opportunity to test the stability of All-college day at North Dakota State college will be at hand. If students refuse to participate, if the program of events is slipshod despite the fine planning, and if the same waste of time is evidenced as in many of the past observances of the tradition, the Faculty Council may likely be tempted to conserve the valuable time taken off for the day and prohibit future observance. The planners and preparers have done their part—the remainder is up to the students.

Shall All-college day become an enduring tradition at North Dakota State college or not?

Real bulls mixed with Eddie's own line of conversation are said to cause complications. Typical gag might be mentioned when Eddie said that his face always wanted to sit down since the skin grafting operation which had been performed on his mug. Monday through Saturday, the show is shown.

Who killed Jenny Wren? The radio mystery that thrilled thousands of fans has its amazing solution in the current presentation at the Roxy, "The Phantom of Crestwood." Karen Morley, as the murdered female swindler, is ably supported by Pauline Frederick, Ricardo Cortez, and Gavin Gordon.

Power, Speed Expected From 1933 Backfield

Candidates For Back Positions On Next Year's Squad Loom Up Strongly

PLENTY OF 1933 VETERANS

1932 Sophomores To Replace Posts Left Vacant By Graduating Seniors

The backfield situation on the 1933 Bison football team is similar to that of the end posts for this year in that, despite the loss of members of last year's team, there will be no great problem in replacing the graduating men with worthy material, according to C. C. Finnegan, athletic director and football coach. The backfield candidates loom up as being among the strongest that have ever held down a position on a Bison team for several years, and although most of the posts in the backfield will be taken by juniors, they will be offered heavy competition by fast-rising sophomores.

The two regulars who will be lost in the backfield are Joe Selliken and Viv McKay. Their work was generally praised last year but there are several men who will easily be able to step into their positions. George May, Fritz Hanson, Bill Gove, and Wendell Schollander all worked in the backfield continually last season with a great deal of success, and they will be ready to take their place in the backfield this fall as practically seasoned veterans. Other Bison grid-ers who will press the regulars for their positions are Leo Gerteis, George Moore, Erling Schranz, Arthur Skurdahl and Arthur Stege. Because of the fact that all these men saw service last year with the Bison team there should be developed a very highly organized group of ball carriers and blockers.

George May earned a very creditable name for himself last year as a fast, hard driving backfield player, and Casey Finnegan predicts that the Bison fans will see a lot of action and fine playing from him this year as a regular in the backfield. May proved valuable last year as a ground gainer. What he lacked in speed he made up in his effective dodging, side-stepping and power lunges. His ability was recognized first last year in the excellent showing he made when the Bison defeated the Oklahoma Goldbugs, during which game he carried the ball ten times and made over sixty yards for the Bison.

During last year's football season Fritz Hanson probably gained more recognition for the Bison than anyone else in the backfield. This was mainly due to Fritz's work at skirting the ends at dazzling speed and covering the ground faster than anyone else behind the line. It was due to this speed that he placed the Bison into scoring position in many of the games last year. Although Fritz weighs but 147 pounds, an opponent must be doubly sure that he is going to stop Fritz squarely, because like Claudie Miller, former Bison backfield star, with a quick pivot or side step Fritz is streaking down the gridiron again. Unlike many light and fast backfield men, Fritz can "take them," as was evident in last year's game with the University. For that reason he is doubly valuable as a backfield player.

Bill Gove is a hard plunging fullback candidate who caused a sensation last year and is likely to see considerable service next fall. Gove established himself as a line backer of force last year, and with added experience he is pointed out by the coaches as a player who will be worth watching during the 1933 season. He has weight to his advantage but the extra pounds do not stop him from being fast.

TRACK OUTCOME GOOD DESPITE BAD WEATHER

The showing made by Fritz Hanson, Bud Marquardt and Carmen Hunt at the annual Dakota Relays was very satisfactory, considering the fact the weather conditions during track practice have been unfavorable, according to Coach L. T. Saalwaechter.

Fritz Hanson had greatly improved his start, and was leading up to the 80 yard mark when he was nosed out. Bud Marquardt was just the opposite in that he got away to a slow start but at the finish there was only a stride difference between first and fourth places. Carmen Hunt won his event at the relays last year, but last week he couldn't seem to be able to fall into his natural style.

Constantly improved showings for each track man is assured, "Saaly" says, for the remainder of the season. Better weather conditions will allow more time for practice and development of running form.

Interfraternity Track Meet Is Set For Next Friday and Saturday

Athletic Department Uses Same Point System As Approved Last Year

The annual inter-fraternity track meet sponsored by the North Dakota State college athletic department will be run on the same point system that was originated by Coach L. T. Saalwaechter last year, and will be held on the 19th and 20th of May according to information received from the athletic department.

This scheme met with a great deal of enthusiasm last year and in many events the number of men participating nearly tripled over the men entered in previous seasons. Under this plan a man does not have to place first or second in order to receive points for his team, and because of this many men are going out for track in an effort to raise their own number of points above that of last year.

This year a competitor is not limited to any certain number of events, but each organization will be limited to 25 men. Saalwaechter urges that all organizations appoint a track coach so that practice for the event may start immediately.

In this year's meet there will be two relays, the first a sprint relay of 880 yards, the second will be either a medley relay consisting of 100, 220, 440 and 880 yards or a medley relay consisting of 220, 440, 880 and mile. The method of awarding points in the relay will be determined by a vote of the organizations at an early meeting.

In this meet Saalwaechter plans on entering all fast men in the same meet in order to make the competition more interesting and in running against time the men will be apt to pull themselves out ahead of their usual speed.

This year a suitable award will be given the winner of the inter-fraternity meet.

Chester Wolla, Starkweather, Gil-Moum, New England, Bob Adam, Mandan, Harvey Gifford, Anamoose, and Martin Peterson, Beach, Smith-Hughes instructors now at the college for the state high school judging contest, are guests at the Kappa Sigma Chi house.

He well deserves that name he received last fall as "Shifty."

Wendell Schollander who did considerable passing last season is being groomed for the quarterback position. Schollander received a great deal of praise during his football work in high school and with two years of college football behind him he looms as a sturdy player for the coming season. He is probably best remembered for his quickness in scooping a fumble out of the air last year during the University game and trotting down the field for the deciding touchdown of the game. But aside from that spectacular play he played very consistent football all through last fall, the caliber of which assures his consideration among the men to be called this coming season at Dacotah field.

Games Starting This Week Are Scheduled For Afternoons Of School Days

Plans for the inter-fraternity baseball league were made when representatives of all campus organizations met with C. C. Finnegan, athletic director, last week. At that time three drawings were held to determine in just what order the different teams were to meet.

In the first drawing the order in which the first five teams were to play was determined and then a second and third drawing was held to give the sequence for the following games. As it happened several teams were paired again so the representatives present agreed to make a switch so they would be able to play a different team each time.

On the present schedule the teams will start the league by playing every school day in the week beginning with last Monday and continuing through until Wednesday, May 17. Following this the team having the highest percentage over the whole period will be declared the winner and awarded a trophy. In the event that two or more teams are tied in percentages after the three rounds have been played those teams will then play for the championship.

Two games will be played every afternoon starting at 4:15 on the diamond located directly behind Festival hall. The diamond has been dragged and worked over the last several days so it will be in good condition for the coming games.

The following are the list of rules governing the 1933 inter-fraternity baseball games and are given so there will be no misunderstanding after the games have commenced. A player must be a bona fide student of the North Dakota State college and must be carrying 12 hours of work. In case a team is not present fifteen minutes after the scheduled time the game will be forfeited to the opposing team. There will be no postponements when the field is in shape for play. Games postponed because of weather conditions will be played the following weekend. All questions of eligibility or protests will be decided by C. C. Finnegan and Fritz Hanson, league manager.

Theta Chi fraternity conducted formal initiation services Sunday for six neophytes. Services were presided over by Max Hughes, past president. New initiates are: Paul Carah, Howard Kraft, George Drakeley, John Spalding, Beverly Hill, and John Jenkins. Spalding is the grandson of Judge B. F. Spalding, a member of Alpha chapter of Theta Chi at Norwich university, before the group had expanded as a national.

Dr. Foster St. Clair, Kenneth Olson, Charles Mead and Wesley Haraldson, of the Jamestown college were among the weekend guests at the Theta Chi fraternity.
