ARCHIE N. SOLBERG

Archie Solberg Receives Place At Columbia U

Zoology Instructor Accepts Valuable Assistantship At Eastern School

Having been distinctly honored by being the only new appointee for this year for an assistantship in zoology at Columbia university, New York city, Archie N. Solberg, instructor in zoology, today has announced his acceptance of the position.

In receiving the appointment before a number of graduate students of Columbia, added honor has been extended to the State college graduate in breaking into a general precedent of selection of assistants.

At Columbia university, Mr. Solberg will have the advantage of study directly under Dr. J. H. McGregor, nationally known authority on paleontology and on the evolution of vertebrates...

One of the most rapid rises in the recent history of students of this college was made by Mr. Solberg, who graduated from the institution in 1930. Starting as a predoctoral student, his ability in the zoological field was so evident that Dr. A. D. Whedon, head of the department here, encouraged him to specialize in that work.

Mr. Solberg expects to receive a master's degree in zoology in June of this year, having completed the requirements during the last two years. He started his work towards his master's degree by spending six weeks during the summer of 1931 at the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hall, Mass.

Besides having held the highest scholastic standing of the entire school for the spring term of 1930 and ranked on the honor roll consistently, Solberg was awarded the Masonic scholarship as a junior student in 1928-29. His fraternities include Theta Chi, Phi Kappa Phi, Kappa Delta Pi, Scabbard and Blade, and Blue Key.

Mr. Solberg also had an appointment as assistant in zoology at the University of California at Berkeley and had had correspondence with several other large universities. He has applied for a leave of absence from this college.

Holier-than-thous Make Clean Sweep In Election

Frame In Power Scores Win For Second Year In Succession

Placing themselves firmly behind the platform of the Holier-than-thou campus party, North Dakota State collegians Tuesday swept by general large majorities all the 1933 candidates of that group into control of the student government for the coming school year.

Tuesday's election marked the second year of success to the Holier-than-thou group, who, during those years, have sponsored for the first times in campus political history definite platforms and fields of activity for the coming years. Relying on the non-fraternity, non-sorority vote for strength, the winning frame has utilized printed handbills setting forth their platforms for the school year, to aid in organizing the vote of the non-Greek letter group.

Replacing Donald Arthur, retiring president, at the helm of the Student Commission, Carmen Hunt easily defeated David Miller, Hog-it-all candidate, Tuesday by a 414 to 289 tally. The remaining twelve candidates of the winning frame won by large margins except in the competition for Junior member of the board of athletic control, contested between Murlan Haugen and Norin Johnson and won by the latter by a margin of one vote.

Members of the winning frame include the non-fraternity, non-sorority students: the Cosmopolitan club; Theta Chi, Delta Kappa Sigma, and Delta Tau Epsilon fraternities; and Kappa Gamma, Kappa Delta, Phi Mu and Alpha Gamma Delta sororities. The defeated political group consisted of Alpha Gamma Rho, Alpha Sigma Tau, Alpha Tau Omega, Kappa Sigma Chi, Sigma Phi Delta and Kappa Psi fraternities; and Gamma Phi Beta and Phi Omega Pi sororities.

The complete election returns as turned into The Spectrum are as follows: President of the Student Commission—Carmen Hunt 414 David Miller 289 Commissioner of Elections—Grace South 410 George Sullivan 290 Commissioner of the Judiciary—Maxine Rustad 398 James Creighton 297

Douglas Booth will continue his series of lectures on international relations next week on "Central and Southern Europe in Disintegration." Lectures are open to the public and are given in room 319, Science hall every day from Monday to Friday at 4:00 o'clock.

In speaking of the foreign policy of Great Britain Mr. Booth emphasized the facts that that country wishes the cultivation of American friendship, in general the promotion of peace, the maintenance of the balance of power in Europe, and disarmament to help pay for social legislation.

Guidon Delegation Returns To Campus From National Meet

Paula Verne Elected National Treasurer At Vermillion Convention

The local delegation to the national convention of Guidon, honorary military sorority, returned to the campus Sunday evening, after attending a two-day session at the University of South Dakota at Vermillion.

Paula Verne, member of the local chapter of the group, was selected national treasurer of the society. Other delegates from North Dakota State college included Helen Fredrikson, Walterine Barry, Eva Sherwood, Celeste Sowka, Rhoda Clausen, Ruth Dyson, Veronita Wepler, Betty Bickert, Mildred Thorstad, Janet Jacobson, and Luella Ulness.

Delegates were entertained at a luncheon on Saturday noon, April 8, and at a uniform dance that evening; and stayed at sorority houses on the University campus. The matter of expansion was particularly discussed by the group at its meeting. Friday evening, April 7, a model pledging and a model initiation were held, in which Celeste Sowka, of the State college chapter, became an active member.

The three chapters making up Guidon are at North Dakota State college, South Dakota State college, and South Dakota university.

KAPPA TAU DELTA PLEDGES THREE MEN

Kappa Tau Delta, honorary architecture fraternity, pledged three new men to membership at their meeting held last Tuesday.

The newly elected are Earl Jennings, Kaare Rosenberg and Omer Korshus.

Tony Sarg Presents Marionettes As Last Lyceum Series Number

The final Lyceum program in the annual series at North Dakota State college was concluded on Tuesday afternoon and evening when the student body and general public gathered in Festival hall to witness the traditional appearance of Tony Sarg's marionettes with a presentation of "Sinbad the Sailor."

Charles E. Searle, stage and company manager, headed the company numbering six that brought the Arabian travelogue cast, which consisted of several dozen of puppets in both human and animal forms, to the campus.

The plot of the play devoted itself to the unraveling of Sinbad's adventures on land and sea. How he flew ashore on the legs of the gigantic Roc bird, escaped with the Princess from the palace garden, and rescued the Princess from the slave marketeer and the Sultan's court were all ably depicted in the colorful presentation of the Sarg's latest contribution to the puppet stage.

Householder Is Named To Fill Secretary Post

Appointment Is Temporary Pending Confirmation By State Board

Fred C. Householder, mathematics instructor, has been appointed secretary-treasurer to succeed H. W. McArdle, whose death last Saturday left the post vacant, it was announced today by Pres. J. H. Shepperd. The appointment before being permanent must be confirmed by the state Board of Administration.

Mr. Householder took over the work of the secretary-treasurer's office Tuesday.

The new appointee has spent considerable time on the North-Dakota State college campus. Coming here in 1904, he has been connected with the mathematics department since. Mr. Householder at present holds the position of associate professor in the department. He is a graduate of the University of Kansas, having received his Master's degree there.

According to comments heard on the campus and elsewhere, Mr. Householder, by virtue of his many years' contact with students and their problems, and his experience in constant instruction in mathematics and in handling all accounts of student administrative groups for several years, is well fitted for the secretary-treasurer post.

The Newman club, Catholic students' organization, re-elected Roman Meyers president for the coming year at a meeting held Sunday.

Other officers are Robert Deering, vice president; Marian Powers, secretary, and John Cray, treasurer.

Final Respects Given McArdle, S. C. Pioneer

Funeral Is Held On Monday For Veteran Secretary Of State College

BEGAN WORK HERE IN 1891

Active In College Affairs, Mr. McArdle Had Colorful Life Here

With a large number of students and faculty members from the North Dakota State college attending, last rites were held Monday afternoon for H. W. McArdle, secretary-treasurer of the college and associated with the institution for almost forty-two years, who died last Saturday after a short illness.

Classes Monday afternoon were dismissed while students and instructors paid their last respects to this man, who, coming to the campus in 1891, was in point of service one of the oldest men at the school. During the time that Mr. McArdle had been at the college, he had seen the school grow from a one building institution with a roll of five to its present status.

Mr. McArdle was born July 10, 1866, in Homer, Mich. After attending the Michigan Agricultural college, he spent several years teaching, arriving at this school on Apr. 15, 1891, to act as assistant horticulturist. After a short time he was made head of the mathematics department, continuing in that office until 1918, when he was made secretary-treasurer. He was a faculty member of the college board of publication.

In addition to holding these positions, Mr. McArdle also acted as registrar up to 1904, was a player-manager on the early athletic teams, was the first music organizer on the campus, conducted for many years a teachers' training school, and aided greatly in laying out the campus.

Funeral services for Mr. McArdle were held in the Presbyterian church, Fargo, at 2:30 p. m., with Dr. A. W. Ratz giving the sermon. Attending the services as a guard of honor was a troop of Sea Scouts, of which Mr. McArdle's son, Edward, a senior in the school of agriculture, is scoutmaster. Attending in a body were members of Delta Kappa Sigma fraternity, of which Edward is a member, and Sigma Alpha Iota and Kappa Delta sororities, of which Mr. McArdle's daughter, Mrs. Allen Mortenson, is a member.

A PIONEER PASSES

North Dakota State college lost an integral part of herself this week with the passing of H. W. McArdle, secretary and one of the earliest of the pioneer builders of North Dakota State college.

It would take an agile imagination on the part of the student of today to realize just what humble beginnings North Dakota State college had in the days when Mr. McArdle first came to give his services to the institution. With few and rather shabby buildings, the college was isolated from the city in distance and by natural causes during certain seasons of the year, as, for instance, a sea of rich valley mud.

Today, due in part to his efforts, the college ranks as a well organized educational institution, with many buildings and a teaching staff which has consistently ranked with the leaders. An active student body of several hundred more than a thousand attends the college, recognizing even through depression the value of its teaching.

Throughout the steady growth of North Dakota State college Mr. McArdle has worked within the innermost part of things, helping to weave and build the structure of the institution. The aim of his plans and efforts have been devoted to building up into a greater and greater institution, his college. With characteristic Scotch frugality, he has directed his share of the work economically and effectively.

Loyalty and staunchness were among the outstanding characteristics of Mr. McArdle. A great joiner and worker, he became a leading member in every organization whether civic clubs, school organizations or executive councils. Firmness of will, tenacity of purpose and ever strong determination made H. W. McArdle a leader among men.

Men like Mr. McArdle, whose enthusiasm and working ability could not be diminished by hardships and passage of years, are not often found. Men with his leadership ability often lack his kindness and willingness to help needy students and friends. The loss to the college has been outstanding and one not quickly healed by passing of time.

INDEPENDENTS VINDICATED

With practically the largest general majority for offices ever recorded at the college, a vote of confidence was extended again this year to the Independent frame, affiliated with the non-fraternity and non-sorority students.

Last year's Spectrum credited the sensational Holier-than-thou victory as due to "hysteria created among the bars through handbill," etc. Tuesday's election shows rather plainly that the independent students have again shown their preference for the smaller frame and their system of platforms, which repeating of policy would seem unnatural if due to "hysteria" alone.

The 1932 and 1933 elections have marked an epoch in North Dakota State college voting systems with the first effective appeals to the non-Greek letter students, whose interests in campus affairs have shown a distinct advancement. This interest has been commendable, especially since the natural result will mean more critical observance of student government and correspondingly improved results.

The expected outcome from the election points to several important changes in policy and arrangement by some groups. It is evident that the non-fraternity, non-sorority students are to be recognized as an active force; that greater publicity to campus elections will be utilized in the future, including the adoption of definite programs of work; that there will be revision of campus political groups to be brought on as a result of long existing friction within the organizations. The overwhelming victory of the Independent frame points unquestionably to an approval by the student body of their procedure and efforts to establish a system of definite aims.

ROWDY REMARKS

We hear that the famous military sorority, Guidon, is holding another convention next year. Four hundred miles is a long ways to go for one office—you should have done better, girls.

Sigma Tau prexy, claims he is going to be married next week. We wonder.

Now we suppose that since the Holier-than-thous won such a smashing victory that the independent students will have more to say in campus affairs than hitherto.

People who don't like their new names—"Punster" Callinan; "Bartender"—; "Gawge Twomen"; "Sig Tau Puppet" Miller; "Naive" Nita.

And then there was a couple of English instructors who were caught on their way over to Moorhead to sample some 3.2.

That campus politician who thought that the H-I-A's had clear sailing ahead in the recent annual college tussle the other day has probably learned her lesson. Motto: Not enough cooks sometimes spoil the corn pone.

The Theta Chi political geni are still at work, as evidenced by the recent independent publication, the Bison Bull Sheet.

The fraternities and sororities were well represented at Comstock Cafe last Friday and Saturday evenings.

It looks as though the Holier-than-thous went to quite some extent in fulfilling their promises. We wonder when they did their lobbying at Bismarck.

What the well-dressed man should wear in 1934—Consult that exotic architect-assistant librarian-senior ball leader.

The resigning student commission should be congratulated for one feat—that of collecting seventy-five cents for all misparked cars on the campus during the school year.

This election proves that if you keep on running sometime you will be elected.

Scabbard and Blade Admits Six Members

Initiates Are Mahlum, Vincent, Woodward, Wyard, Melbye And McLaughlin

In formal initiatory ceremonies held Sunday, April 9, in the gym of the college YMCA, M Company, 3rd regiment, of the national society of Scabbard and Blade, honored six North Dakota State college student officers.

Cadet Captain Edward Comm, captain of the local chapter, was in charge of ceremonies which admitted Edward Mahlum, Otto Woodward, Jack Vincent, Maitland Wyard, Charles McLaughlin, all of Fargo, and Harvey Melbye of Hitterdal, Minn., to active membership. Maj. E. A. Lathrop, Maj. R. K. Schlaepfer, and Capt. H. J. McChrystal, regular army officers detailed to the North Dakota State college military department and also honorary members of Scabbard and Blade, witnessed the ceremonies. Capt. J. B. Conny, also an army officer on the campus and honorary member, could not be in attendance.

The national society of Scabbard and Blade was organized as an honorary military fraternity at the University of Wisconsin in 1905. The purpose of the society is to raise the standards of military training in American colleges and universities, to unite in closer relationship their military departments, and to encourage and foster the essential qualities of good and efficient officers.

Home Ec. Supervisor Visits Local Chapter

Special commendation was given the Casselton Training center for home economics teachers by Miss Florence Falgater, supervisor of home economics for the Federal Board of Vocational Education in the Central region who has been visiting schools in North Dakota with Miss Christine Finlayson, state supervisor.

Only one other school in the central region has the facilities for practice teaching afforded at the Casselton training center, according to Miss

THE DOUBLE

Once Overs On Personalities and Things Collegiate by The Spectrum Spectator.

Glancing over various college papers reveals that beer is a much expounded subject with those collegians over the nation. While the University of Pittsburgh students failed to become aroused at the faculty decision of no beer gardens on the campus (with numerous nearby stores and restaurants), Harvard men polled more than six to one in an election that they wanted beer served with their meals. In the Harvard poll, the freshman students voted their preference in the same proportion as upperclassmen for the newly legalized cereal liquid.

What these Bison collegians went do when they graduate and work around a while! A far cry from traveling speed of the boys who used to ride a bicycle to college every day was the air return of Don Haarman to his Alma Mater Sunday. With motor roaring and wires whistling, Don swooped his army plane close past the power house chimney, dove over Engineering building where he had spent many hours in study, hedged over the library and then put his plane in a steep bank at the completion of his split-second tour of the college grounds. We'll venture that the once-over he took of the campus didn't reveal much more than fast traveling scenery. Come back with an autogiro, Don.

Good old statistics—and how we love them. Here are some more that sound interesting even though true. In the United States at large there is a divorce in every eight marriages . . . but among the graduates of the women's colleges there is one divorce in fifty-five marriages and among the women graduates of co-educational institutions one divorce in every seventy-five marriages is the average. College training must be good in helping to select those "lesser" halves, it seems.

The Flickertail Follies of the University of North Dakota will go on, a special meeting called recently decided, according to reports from Grand Forks. The success of the 1933 edition of the Bison Brevities has proven added inspiration to the Sioux collegians in desiring to put over their show in grand style. A depression college is the theme of the musical comedy of the Nodak show and seems most timely.

Costs of going to school are somewhat higher than in the "good old days," newly elected Mayor Fred E. Olsen of Fargo, a graduate of 1900, says. When Mayor Olsen was a Bison collegian his total expenses for books, tuition, and living expenses plus that of his brother equalled $300 for one year. Today $300 would not go too far in keeping two campus coeds in "accessories."

GLANCING ABOUT: We'll bet those Fargo printers wish that there were more than just two elections a year on the campus . . . however, those various frame publications were just too warm to be comfortable for the presses . . . telephone operators and disappointed candidates did not enjoy the elections . . . five and more Bison journalists are preparing for an invasion of the upstate institution fraternity row next Friday and Saturday for the conference press meeting . . . Reports seem to indicate that the visiting editor from Fargo struck a few delicate chords in his Bystander column some weeks ago . . . the girl said she really didn't love the certain boy . . . North Dakota State college gets some good boosts in the Fargo program over WCCO every Sunday night at 10 o'clock . . . military work helps a lot of tuitions here . . . 35 checks for the winter term work had been signed over on registration for this term and others were used in paying delayed registration . . . we hear that a certain campus fraternity has started an annual custom, that of presenting of a pitchfork for the outstanding linguist of the year . . .

Falgater. The University of Missouri at Columbia is the other school in the twelve northwestern states which gives the senior students this opportunity in vocational home economics.

Primary attention has been given to teachers' training programs throughout the state on this, the annual visit of the supervisor. With Miss Finlayson, she has observed high school departments of home economics at Oakes, Casselton and Mandan. She was the guest of the adult homemakers' organizations at Bismarck and Mandan. Wednesday was spent at Casselton and today she will study the local school.

Before leaving for Minneapolis this evening, where she will visit Minnesota schools, Miss Falgater will address the members of the Tryota club.

Ceres Wheat Saves Millions For Farmers

Estimates Are Made of Value Of Grain Displayed By College Workers

Because Ceres wheat, an improved variety developed by the North Dakota State college, outyielded Marquis by an average of 3 bushels per acre, North Dakota farmers obtained at least $2,250,000 more of wheat in 1932 than they would have done with the older variety, it is estimated by Dr. R. G. Booth, extension service agronomist.

Approximately 3 million acres of Ceres wheat were grown last year in the state. On the basis of its higher yielding ability, proved by investigations at seven state experiment stations over periods of from 5 to 10 years, Ceres is believed to have increased the wheat crop by about 9 million bushels. At 25 cents a bushel, an increased income of 2 1/4 million dollars is represented.

Ceres wheat also averages from 1 to 3 pounds heavier per measured bushel than Marquis and usually is graded from one to two points higher on the commercial market. From one-third to one-half of the bread wheat acreage in North Dakota is now being seeded to this new variety.

Distribution of Ceres seed wheat to farmers was begun in 1926 by the experiment station, with county agents taking the leading part in acquainting growers with the advantage of the new variety. By 1928 it was estimated that a million bushels were produced, making it possible to obtain the seed in commercial quantities.

SPECTRUM CRITIC

The disappointment of a country girl who thought her culinary art would make her popular in the big city is involved in "Breach of Promise" now showing at the Roxy. Mae Clarke takes this part and is supported by Chester Morris. The little feminine ruraite does all in her power to gain vengeance against a man but falls victim to her own plot when she realizes that she cares for him.

Tiffany Thayer's weird novel, "Thirteen Women" is opening at the Roxy Monday for a three-day stay. The fates of thirteen former classmates are scheduled for destiny when an unpopular girl of the group attempts to run all of them after gaining power under an astrologer who reads horoscopes.

Hollywood stunt men are depicted in the photoplay showing at the State theater tomorrow and Saturday. Complotting a two-day run at the same theater today is "Clear All Wires" with Lee Tracy and Una Merkel taking the principal roles.

Richard Dix comes to the Fargo theater today in "The Great Jasper," with Wera Engles, Edna May Oliver, and a large supporting cast. "The Great Jasper" is said to provide Dix with his greatest screen characterization, that of a free lance lover whose wicked wink no woman except his wife is able to resist. His successful way with the women is the means by which he climbs from the position of driver of a horse car to an Atlantic City fortune teller whose heart advice "to women only" brings him a fortune.

"Rasputin and the Empress," perhaps the most discussed motion picture of the year, will open Monday at the Fargo theater, following its successful run at the Astor theater in New York and extended showings in the principal cities of the United States. John, Ethel and Lionel Barrymore are starred in the three principal roles of the production, appearing together on the screen for the first time in their respective careers.

Harold Bergford, alumnus of the Minnesota chapter of Alpha Gamma Rho, was a guest at the local chapter house Monday evening.

Spring Football Practice Begins Monday

Candidates Will Report At Field For Initial Work

Shoes of Eight Graduating Seniors Must Be Filled By Aspirants

By MERLYN JAHR
Spring football practice on the North Dakota State college campus is scheduled to begin next Monday afternoon, when Coach "Casey" Finnegan brings his prospective 1933 squad to the practice field behind the new physical education building to commence work on the formation of another conference championship team to follow in the footsteps of last year's titleholders.

During this spring practice "Casey" and his helpers will be confronted with the task of replacing several first-team men lost by graduation, Walter Schoenfelder, Merlyn Jahr, Bob Paris, Clarence Orness, Viv McKay, Joe Selliken, Maurice Ellingson, and Jimmie Berdahl. However, with about fifty men expecting to report, the replacement of men becomes a somewhat lighter job.

Must Rebuild Line
The greatest problem, at present, is to rebuild the formidable forward wall of three years' standing, which has been undermined by the loss of Schoenfelder, Jahr, Orness, and Paris. The toughest gaps to plug are the tackle positions where it is planned to work in Roman Meyers, Herb Peschel, and Roy Platt. Other candidates for vacant positions are Kenneth Pirnie and Jimmie Thompson, reserve tackles, and Sam Dobervich, freshman star.

The end positions are well taken care of by Capt.-elect Milton Jacobson and Roman Meyers. In case Jacobson is shifted to blocking back, Meyers is used at a tackle position, and the places at the ends would be taken by two understudies for the positions last fall, Wilbur Marquardt and Acey Olson.

Harold Miller and Leonard House, brilliant reserves of last year, are expected to bolster up the middle of the line at the guard positions. Richard Van Hook and Harvey Erlennmeyer are also expected to form rugged opposition for these positions as well as Neville Reiners, outstanding freshman linesman.

Earl Thomas will replace Bob Paris at center. Other prospects for the position are Charles Peterson, sophomore, and Stanley Maynard, freshman. Beryl Newman, Norin Johnson, Bill Breitenbach, Warner Lytten, Douglas Lang, and Warren Moll, freshmen, complete the list of contenders for line positions.

Good Backfield Material
Where Casey has lost strength in the line, he has gained strength in the backfield. The only veterans lost are McKay and Selliken, while replacements are plentiful, including a list of such stars as Wendell Schollander, Fritz Hanson, Leo Gerteis, Johnny Fisher, Art Morris, Bill Gove, George May, Earl Schranz and Art Stege.

The development of a signal caller and blocker will be another task of the coaches during the spring training. Schollander, a capable passer, is most likely to get the task at quarterback. Gove will be groomed to fill McKay's shoes, while Fritz Hanson will fill the other halfback position with Morris and Gerteis as reserves. Both Gerteis and Morris pass, while Hanson will attempt to perfect a passing threat to add to his list of tricks. May and Fisher will also find positions on one of the first two teams.

Freshman backfield material attempting to replace varsity men will include Gregory Sloan, Lawrence Chloupek, William Carney, George Moore, Johnny Sikes and Ralph Isensee.

Sport Shots

Even though the North Dakota weather is not conducive to outside spring sports, the athletic department of North Dakota State is planning to promote a golf tournament, providing two conditions exist.

The first of these conditions is that there is sufficient interest shown by the golfers on the campus, which means that there will have to be approximately 15 men signed up for the sport, before proceedings can start.

Secondly, the weather man will have to stop ordering snow and rain for this section so that the "pill chaser" enthusiasts can get into the field and get the feel of their clubs some time during the next two weeks.

As a reward for winning the tournament, C. C. Finnegan is making arrangement for a mirror letter award, to be given to the lowest scorer.

The tournament is to be run on a 36-hole medal score basis, and is to be played on the Fargo Municipal golf course under the supervision of Ralph Kingsrud, professional.

The date for the play is as yet undecided, but it is expected that things should be happening before the end of the month, providing, of course, that the second of the two provisions is fulfilled.

During the past two or three years, golf has been regarded as a minor sport on the campus, but due to the lack of sufficient interest, there have been no awards made.

So far this season, there seems to be more interest than ever before, which is probably due to the fact that there is a number of good golfers on the campus.

FRED ANDERSON HEADS THE LIST OF RETURNING VETERANS, HAVING BEEN A MEMBER OF THE COLLEGE TEAM FOR THE PAST TWO YEARS, AND AT ONE TIME BEING THE CAMPUS CHAMPION. ANDERSON IS A SENIOR IN SCHOOL AND WILL PROBABLY ENTER IN THIS TOURNAMENT.

Besides Anderson, Jack Danstrom and Don Nichols, will offer plenty of opposition to the field. These men were members of last year's team, and showed the veterans that they could play golf.

And into the ranks of those already mentioned, comes a man who is just a Freshman, but who has done quite a bit of golfing, and who has started making a name for himself.

THIS IS JACK HILBER, OF FARGO. HILBER MADE HISTORY LAST SUMMER IN THE STATE TOURNAMENT, WHEN HE WENT TO THE FINALS, AND LOST HIS LAST MATCH TO PAUL COOK, A FORMER NORTH DAKOTA STATE MAN, AND THRICE HOLDER OF THE STATE GOLF TITLE.

Hilber is liable to make the going tough for some of the older men, but then anything can happen in early season play and the winner will have the breaks with him.

All men who would be interested in signing up for a tournament of this kind are requested to hand in their names to "Casey" Finnegan in the physical education building as soon as possible.

Riflemen Fire Fourth Stage In Nation Finals

Bison Score Equals Last Year's In First Match Despite Inexperience

The North Dakota State riflemen under the guidance of Capt. J. B. Conmy will probably complete the fourth stage of the National Intercollegiate match this week thus bringing to a close the rifle matches for this season.

The scores for the first and second stages of this match have been received from Omaha, this corps area headquarters, and the totals show that this year's team fired a little below last year's team. The total score for the first stage embracing the prone and sitting positions gave the Bison riflemen 1955 points equalling last year's score in this stage. In the second stage the squad fired in the prone and kneeling positions and totaled 1904 points which is a little lower than last year's score in the second stage.

In both the first and second stages of the National Intercollegiate match the possible score that may be fired is 200 points. The individual riflemen, their previous year's experience, and the number of points which they totaled in the first stage are: Marlin Cline, one year, 196; Walter Bartholmew, one year, 196; Nels Skaar, one year, 196; Oscar Gilbertson, one year, 196; William Oftebro, one year, 196; Olwin Riveland, none, 196; Anton Welker, none, 196; George Freise, one year, 195; Orville Fossum, none, 194; and Ed Comm, three years, 194.

In the second stage the men, years of experience, and scores are: Anton Welker, none, 196; Ellis Thompson, none, 194; Nels Skaar, one year, 193; Ed Comm, three years, 192; Edward Ballard, none, 192; William Oftebro, one year, 190; Clarence Johnson, none, 189; Olwin Riveland, none, 188; Walter Bartholmew, one year, 187; and Leonard Moffitt, none, 183.

ANNUAL MAY FESTIVAL ELIMINATED THIS YEAR

In view of the fact that the majority of the high schools throughout North Dakota and Minnesota yearly send representatives to the May Festival at the State college, will not be able to finance their delegates, the fete will be done away with entirely this year, according to A. G. Arvold, who is in general charge of the festivals.

The University of North Dakota, which annually sponsors an all-state high school week, has also dismissed plans for such high school competition this year because of the financial conditions of the smaller schools.
