SPECTRUM INITIATES NEW POLICY OF WEEKLY PUBLICATION THIS WEEK

State College Paper Loses Honor As Only Semi-Weekly In Conference

IS SEMI-WEEKLY SINCE 1925

Present Policy Features Four Page Six Column Edition Each Friday

The Spectrum begins a weekly publication policy today as the result of the board of publication's decision at their meeting last Friday, and features a six column, four page paper available to the students every Friday.

Actions of the board were carried out as the result of the recommendations of the State Board of Administration and members of the school faculty, it is understood.

Since the middle of September, 1932, The Spectrum has been the only bi-weekly in the North Central Press conference which includes North Dakota University, South Dakota State and Creighton. At that time South Dakota's Volante went weekly. The Dakota Student, North Dakota university's publication has been on the weekly schedule since last year.

Edward Yocum, editor of The Spectrum in 1925, and state editor of The Fargo Forum for several years, began the semi-weekly policy in that year when Eugene Fitzgerald was sports editor and columnist of the paper. From 1896 when the first Spectrum was issued until 1925 the paper was edited once a week.

The extra column will give the paper an added space of about 108 column inches. News items must be in by Thursday noon or earlier except in cases where special arrangements may be made for later events.

Dickinson Man Given Master Farmer Title At Banquet Tonight

Saddle And Sirlon Group Hangs Leakey's Picture In Hall of Fame

In appreciation of what John Leakey, McKenzie county rancher and cattleman for more than 30 years, has accomplished in cattle raising and in neighborly contact with his fellow men, the Saddle and Sirlon club and North Dakota Livestock Breeders will honor him with a Master Farmer title at the North Dakota State college, tonight.

A portrait of Mr. Leakey will be hung in the "Hall of Fame" where a score of pictures of North Dakota Master Farmers now hang. M. B. Johnson of Watford City will act as toastmaster at the Club and Livestock banquet. The recognition services are part of the Thirty-Fourth Annual Farmers and Homemakers Week in session at North Dakota State college.

Mr. Leakey was born in Texas, but migrated north, with a herd of cattle, in 1893. He finally settled on the west bank of the Little Missouri river in the southwest corner of McKenzie county. Here he has carried on ranching operations continuously since 1920. From a humble beginning he has extended his ranching operations in 20 years to 5,000 head of cattle and 50,000 acres of owned and leased land.

DISCUSSION CLUB HOLDS MEETING NEXT SUNDAY

The Sigma Delta discussion club will hold its first winter term meeting Sunday night at 6:30 in the Lincoln Log cabin. Abbie Porter, president, will be in charge of the meeting and John Dixon will conduct the discussion on the Manchurian situation.

Those members desiring to submit names of people for membership should be prepared to do so at this meeting this will be the only meeting of the term at which students will be considered for prospective membership.

Eryls Hill, who will receive the commission of Honorary Cadet Colonel at the Military Ball, sponsored by the Scabbard and Blade military fraternity, Jan. 27.

Ruth Olsen Winner Of Milking Contest At Livestock Show

Winners In Six Divisions Of Little International Are Announced

Ruth Olsen, representing Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, took first place in the co-ed milking contest, feature of the Little International Livestock show held last night in the college livestock pavilion, repeating her triumph of last year in the same event.

Winning second place in the contest was Myrl Hoar, Gamma Phi Beta. Also placing in the event were, in the order named, Elizabeth Baker, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Shirley Johnson, Kappa Delta; Winifred Ewald, Phi Omega Pi; and Luella Furcht, Phi Mu.

Prize takers in the various divisions of the livestock show were Flora Elliott sheep division; Bernard Curtis, poultry division; Carl Freeman, beef cattle division; G. R. Simons, hog division; Clifford Altermatt, dairy cattle division; and George Lee, horse division.

A party of six Sioux Indians were present and demonstrated some of their tribal rituals, including the killing of the fattest calf.

Prizes given at the show were donated by Fargo and Moorhead business men.

WDAY To Broadcast Proceedings At Ball

Spectrum To Publish Guest List Of Annual Military Prom In Next Issue

Proceedings of the Military Ball next Friday evening will be broadcast over station WDAY at Fargo for a period of fifteen minutes, from 10 to 10:15 o'clock, during which time Miss Eryls Hill and Miss Rhoda Clausen will be awarded the titles of honorary colonel and honorary lieutenant-colonel, respectively, of the North Dakota State college cadet corps. This is the first time that a Military Ball at North Dakota State college has been brought to the general public by means of radio, according to Stanley Thompson, ball manager.

Next Friday, the date of the ball, a complete guest list will be published in The Spectrum, according to Edward Comm, who is handling the publicity for the affair.

TECHNOCRACY THEME OF SALLUME'S SPEECH

David Sallume, junior in science and literature and state secretary of the Socialist party will give a talk, entitled "Deflating Technocracy," at the Labor temple this evening at 8:00 o'clock as a special feature at the regular meeting of the Socialist party.

Horace McGrath, alumnus, was a guest at the Delta Kappa Sigma house Sunday.

Ed Kraft, Enderlin, is a guest at the Kappa Psi house this week.

Maulana Shaukat Ali Is Well Received At Lyceum Wednesday

While several of his Sioux brothers looked on from front row seats, Maulana Shaukat Ali, leader of 70,000,000 Moslems in India, unraveled an informal and informative story of his native land before an appreciative lyceum audience in Festival hall last Wednesday evening.

Wearing an eagle feather high on his black fur fez, which feather had been given him several hours before by the Sioux who adopted him into their tribe with the title of "Thunder Hawk," the huge Mohammedan leader presented a picture of a strong and powerful leader yet a humane and kindly man. His straight-forward, fact giving talk of India and her problems proved his appearance displayed the character of the man, who was called with other noted leaders such as Gandhi, to the Round Table conference of leaders in London several years ago.

Ali proved a remarkable entertainer for a man not a professional on the stage. He utilized the psychological appeal of telling jibes and jokes on himself. He proved himself well versed in modern trends of events. Though he is the leader of nearly three-fourths as many people as in the entire United States, he proved to be a most democratic man, getting his greatest pleasure in answering questions and doing kindnesses to any with whom he came in contact.

Much time was taken by Ali in the description of Mahatma Gandhi, whose eccentricities and whose moments of genius have led the press of the world to rate his importance as an Indian leader "higher than he truly deserves." For a number of years Ali and Gandhi, the latter the leader of the Hindus, traveled up and down the breadth of India lecturing to the thousands of people for the cause of independence from Britain. "I backed Gandhi with all my heart up until five years ago," Maulana Shaukat Ali said Wednesday. Gandhi and the Moslem leaders had a break of relations at that time, when Gandhi "tried to betray the Moslem cause in favor of the Hindus" but relations were patched up during last year, Ali said.

The Maulana and his wife, a rather young Englishwoman, spent but a few hours in Fargo, arriving at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and leaving after the performance that evening. The ceremony of making the Moslem leader a member of the North Dakota Indian tribe was the feature of the reception and banquet arranged by Alfred G. Arvold in the Lincoln Log cabin in honor of the distinguished guest. Col. A. B. Welch of Mandan acted as interpreter for the Sioux band of three warriors and their wives, who honored the Moslem leader. Ali was noticeably impressed with the ceremony and title bestowed upon him by the Sioux, saying that it was an honor which would link him more closely to America.

Rhoda Clausen, who has been named Honorary Lieutenant Colonel by members of the staff of Cadet officers of the college R. O. T. C. corps, will receive her commission at the Military Ball.

Emil Krauth Brings Collections Of Insects Here For Exhibition

Butterflies And Moths Hobby Of Hebron Man; Gives Talk Last Monday

On display during the past week in the green room of Old Main has been a large collection of butterflies and moths, the property of Emil Krauth of Hebron, N. Dak., who has collected insects as a hobby for more than twenty years.

The collection contains mainly butterflies and moths of North Dakota. During the last years, however, Mr. Krauth has extended his collecting work and has exchanged specimens with "butterfly men" in every continent of the globe. In this way he has obtained some of the rarest and most exquisite members of the insect world, including moths with a wingspread of well over six inches, and butterflies with the most remarkable iridescent hues.

Mr. Krauth accompanied his collection, and last Monday evening gave what proved to be a very interesting and delightful talk in the Green room before a group of interested students, faculty members, and downtown people. In his talk, Mr. Krauth revealed himself as a nature lover and a philosopher rather than as a scientist, pointing out the more elementary and interesting facts about insects in a way that all could understand, not delving

Convocation Schedule Features Three Talks

Dean A. D. Weeks Delivers First Lecture On Bell Award Monday, Jan. 23

Two of the convocations scheduled definitely for the next three weeks are talks in connection with the Bell Award contest and the third features an illustrated lecture on Mexico, according to Dean A. E. Minard, chairman of the convocation committee.

Dean Arland D. Weeks delivers the first of the Bell Award talks on "Invention: Mechanical and Social," Monday, Jan. 23. The psychology of invention and the outlook for further invention will be the theme of this discussion.

Francis A. Flood, travel editor of The Farmer, northwest farm paper, on a tour of lectures, will stop in Fargo for the second convocation to address the college on Mexico which he has been studying and concerning which he has written a series of lectures for The Farmer. Thursday, Jan. 26, is the date for his appearance.

The last convocation of the three features Gottfried Halt, former head of the English department of North Dakota State college and now head of classic languages at the University of North Dakota. Halt is an extensive writer, having published two volumes of poems and written several plays, one of which has been produced by the University of Southern California and by Iowa university. He appears the first week in February.

State College Student Describes Home Of Maulana Shaukat Ali In India

Rudy Hehr Pictures Bombay, Gateway To India, As Modern City

By RUDY HEHR

(Ed. note—The description below was written at the request of the editor by Rudy Hehr, junior student, who last year circled the globe twice. It is a brief descriptive sketch of the great city of Bombay, which Maulana Shaukat Ali mentioned a number of times Wednesday, as his home city.)

Bombay, the Gateway to India, as it is known, is an island 11 1/2 miles long and three to four miles broad. It is now connected with the mainland by so many bridges and causeways that it is practically part of the mainland.

It is one of the most important ports in the far East, with a population of 1,225,000. On entering the harbor of Bombay several islands are passed, including the famed Island of Elephants. This island is known for its Buddhist caves and its carved stone statues of Siva. The recently built Gateway of India is an imposing archway situated on the sea front of the Apollo Bunder, and it is here that the city greets its distinguished visitors.

Bombay is a modern city throbbing with strenuous life and is the home of a varied population, the majority of which is Hindu, but there is also a large Mohammedan community with Europeans, Parsis and Jews in lesser numbers. The average temperature is 80 degrees, but it is not subject to extremes of heat and cold as are most other places in India.

The Indian market has a fascination all its own. Here all the products of India are for sale and the visitor may see carpets of superb design, silver and gold ware of delicate workmanship, beautifully embroidered shawls, and pearls and gems of unsurpassed beauty. Here all the sights and sounds of the East co-mingle, and one may see the Arab horse dealer, the pearl merchant from the gulf, and men from Kabul and Kandahar come down with bales of carpets and embroidery which have known the vicissitudes of transport by camel caravan through the rugged passes to the northwest.

Streets, alleys, and by-ways teem with activity of snake-charmers, beggars and barbers with the streets as their shops. The poorer class of people have the streets as their home. When night comes all accessible nooks are occupied with sleeping forms; even the streets serve as a bed with only an unclean blanket as a cover. Sacred cows roam at large, entering homes and office buildings. They are fed the large green leaf, whereby the lowliest Indian fulfills his pledge to his god.

Plant Science Club Admits New Members

Eight Students Are Admitted To Phytois At Meeting Tuesday Evening

Eight students were admitted last Tuesday evening to Phytois, honorary plant science club, at a meeting held in the botany department classrooms. Lars Jensen, Oberon, presided at the meeting.

The men honored by admittance are Andre Aandahl, Litchville, agriculture senior; Gordon Heggeness, Fargo, science and literature sophomore; Gordon Johnsgaard, Christine, agriculture junior; Victor Lundeen, Langdon, agriculture senior; Clifford Orvedahl, Tundridge, agriculture junior; Maurice Story, Fargo, science and literature junior; and Algot Swanson, Sheyenne, agriculture junior.

Officers of the club besides Mr. Jensen, are Robert Weir, Fargo, secretary-treasurer, and Charles Waldron, Fargo, vice president.

Convocation Features Native Yodel Singers

Mixed Quartet Interprets Native Music and Songs of the Swiss People

Fiechtl's Tyrolean Yodlers entertained faculty and students of North Dakota State college, featuring an Echo song and a native folk dance of Tyrol at convocation Thursday morning.

Appearing in native costumes the group presented vocal and instrumental music, humorous selections, and a talk on Switzerland by Elsie Fiechtl Kuester.

Besides Mrs. Fiechtl-Kuester, soprano, the company included Anna Fiechtl, soprano yodler; Fred Hoermann, baritone; Otto Kuester, basso and master of ceremonies; and Richard Denzler, tenor.

BISON WILL ENCOUNTER SOUTH DAKOTA STATE NETMEN HERE TONIGHT

Play Second Conference Tilt At Eight O'Clock In New Gymnasium

BENSON LEADS INVADERS

Jackrabbit Coach Has Six Veterans As Nucleus Of Basketball Team

By "CHUCK" FRENCH

Having chalked up their first conference win for the 1933 season last Saturday evening when they handed the University of South Dakota their second defeat in its North Dakota invasion, the North Dakota State college Bison will encounter their second foe, R. H. Threlfall's Jackrabbits from South Dakota State, tonight in the physical education building at eight o'clock. This will be the second "home" performance for Saalwaechter's quint since the return from the successful invasion of the midwestern schools during the holiday season.

The team demonstrated in last week's victory that they can play basketball when called upon, which, in turn, is tending to strengthen the popular belief that this year's title race will be fought out between the two North Dakota members of the group. Saalwaechter is keeping his boys in trim by constantly reminding them that, while they have been very fortunate so far this season, the games that count in the championship race are just beginning.

South Dakota Has Six Veterans

"Red" Threlfall, basketball coach at South Dakota State, has based this year's team around a sound nucleus of six returning lettermen, captained by Gifford Benson. And besides these veterans, he has discovered some very valuable material in the performances of Alfred Arndt and George Messner, sophomores, who have shown up remarkably well in the preseason contests that have confronted the Jackrabbits. These two men have been playing guard and forward, respectively, and are leading the regulars in a pace that will be hard to follow for any length of time. Arndt received recognition in the South Dakota State school paper, following their contest with Dakota Wesleyan college, Mitchell, S. D. The Collegian stated that he was the smoothest ball handler and passer that had been seen in any of the preseason games.

Besides these three men, the southern mentor has uncovered an effective scoring combination in Kortan and Dehnert, forward and center. These two men have accounted for a good share of the counters that have been made by their club against the teams already encountered. Beiersdorf, a veteran guard, has been displaying a good brand of ball, and is teamed with Arndt, to make a threatening back-court duo.

Bring Good Record

The Jackrabbits are bringing a good record with them when they oppose the Bison tonight as they have been victorious in five of their six starts, losing a return contest with Eastern Normal of Madison, South Dakota, 26-22, after defeating the same team earlier in the season by a score of 39-28. One noticeable factor in the scores of their five victories, is that they have won all of them by scoring more than thirty points.

They tripped a strong quint from Dakota Wesleyan college twice to the tune of 35-21 and 31-19, and the following week handed Sioux Falls college the short end of a 36-19 score. Last weekend the Bunnies met and defeated Morningside in the first conference encounter of the year for the two teams. This places them in a triple tie for first place in the race with North Dakota State and North Dakota U.

NOTICE

Tonight will be ladies' night at the Bison-Coyote contest in the physical education building. C. C. Finnegan, athletic director, announced that all escorted women will be admitted free of charge, providing their escorts have purchased general admission, or have season tickets.

OLD ORDER CHANGES

Following as the last of the college papers in this area to abandon the semi-weekly basis of publication, The Spectrum today begins a new life as a slightly larger and not so frequent publication. The action, taken officially by the Board of Publications, was done under the recommendations of the State Board of Administration and by faculty directors of the college.

Starting in 1896 as a monthly publication, The Spectrum has gradually cut down publication schedules until 1925 when the semi-weekly basis came with postwar prosperity and Prohibition. Following the example of all the other publications in the North Central Press conference, The Creightonian, The Dakota Student, The Industrial Collegian, The Volante and the Morningside Collegian, North Dakota's State college newspaper has this week turned backward a half-page in history in schedules of publication.

The larger paper and the weekly schedule is now being tried as an experiment. Articles will not have to be as condensed as in the semi-weekly, but more care will have to be exercised in selection and treatment. News "scoops" on papers in the vicinity will be less possible than before.

INTERFRATERNITY SPORTS

With the campus interfraternity basketball league starting up again this week, a new spirit of competition in the sports for forgotten athletes points to future development in this type of sport.

The greatest stimulus to this interfraternity sports activity in years has been the opening of the magnificent physical education building last year. "The building has been dedicated by the state to aid the athletic training of all students on the State college campus, not just the highly trained few who make the school teams," Governor Shafer said last year in dedicating the structure. Basketball is just one of the many sports opened to the general student through the facilities offered by the new building.

Looking into the future, when sufficient funds will be available with changing economic conditions, interfraternity competition in swimming and diving will be possible in the large swimming pool, provided for but not completed. General college students will have the opportunity of year round swimming by completing the project.

Hockey as an intercollege sport was tried with success last year. Several impromptu touch football games have been played during the past several years point to a regular schedule of the sport in the near future. Baseball between campus nines has been a stimulus for exercise and development physically for students each spring.

Although rather lax in the sports for the general college student in years past, intercollege activity in sports at North Dakota State has prospects of a busy future.

IMPROVEMENTS NOTED

While the gravity of problems and issues to come before the new administration for action, with the outcomes undetermined as yet, has kept capital and business expansion in a timid state awaiting the settling of the issues, several distinct improvements in the general financial situation of the nation for the past six months period have been noted.

At least, the National City Bank of New York city lists six improvements during the past half-year which had not been recorded before since the beginning of the depression. They are:

1. The contraction of credit has been halted, and the volume outstanding is larger at the end of the period than at the beginning. The financial situation has improved steadily since early summer, and the growth of confidence in the country's money and in the general solvency of the banking system has relieved the pressure on credit and thus removed one of the causes of deflation. Funds have piled up in the centers, available to business when trade relationships are restored.

2. The decline in business activity has been stopped, and the level is higher at the end than at the beginning. The third quarter was a period of improvement and marked gains in activity and the recession during the final quarter has been moderate in most particulars, not materially exceeding the seasonal expectation.

3. The decline in prices was stopped, and despite subsequent reactions, stocks and bonds hold well above bottom, while commodities are but little under the June low.

4. The piling up of commodity stocks has been checked. Although in the raw materials the improvement is not very substantial, stocks of manufactured goods in all lines are conspicuously low, and much below a year ago. The small stocks of automobiles in dealers' hands are an example.

ROWDY REMARKS

Were you at the Lete-men's Dance? Interesting with usual glare of lights—a Kappa pulled a Gandhi, but turned her sheet inside out—yeah, the new convertible. (By request—because what collegian has designs on what pledge of K. K. G.)

That Dixon lad, of the Hill Dixons, stoutly denies that he will play Bill Elden when he comes—he's on amateur standing.

What Military Ball leader is terribly snicky about the pictures of his gal? How many were taken? And who suggested a change of girl as a remedy?

Our visitor, Maulana Shaikat Ali, all 257 pounds of him, is the leader of 70 million Moslems—praise be to Allah—why not take Allah-me?

Did two double-brothers in Delta Sig hand out the rope?

What campus sage states that Kappas, nurses and young school teachers are the same—and why?

What campus would-be All-American happily patted a gal where and reminded her to "save up your pennies and I'll let you take me to a show some Saturday night?"

State college has again strained at the agricultural leash and we've gone native once more—yep! Another re-lease in the form of the co-ed milking contest—entertainment for visitors at Little International hasn't been so interesting since the bossy kicked pail and milk-stool from under a Pop. Didn't see this last affair but it must have been enlightening to watch the town gals ride herd on the dairy department's pride and joys.

Kay Dee Last Line—"Oh! hell—it's snowing again!"

It has been rumored that scientists have discovered a group of natives in the central part of Africa that are able to consistently jump seven feet in the air. According to that, if our alumni secretary is ambitious, we should have a couple of those fellows on our track team this spring.

UNDER YOUR MILLINERY

With All Due Apologies to Rowdy

Congratulations are in order for one of the Fargo Hellers, who temporarily hung his pin (or did he?) underneath the Kappa key of the Paris (Ill.) model that sports the turtle-necked sweater and high-top boots. Said damsel is having a hard time trying to decide whether to lavish her affections on the heretofore mentioned Delta Sig or A. T. O.'s social success, Danstrom—Shades of South Dakota! Gamma Phi Eleanor Evanson has been seen places with Theta Chi's pride and joy (just ask him—McCormick) Alstrup, you must look into this—A gold medal should be awarded to a certain beautiful brunette of "East Lyne" fame, who had the cast iron to up and tell her present tap-dancing boy friend to fortify himself with a well known mouthwash, or a package of peppermints before calling—Really, this is all in jest, youse guys and youse gals—Bet you'd give your eye teeth to know whom Ora Hammerud is taking to the Charity. He's just one of the Brevities' highlights, who's guaranteed not to arouse the ire of the boy back in Connecticut—Time out to comment on the A. T. O. haul this term. Seem's if a certain fraternity must be a bit chagrined after a couple of the brothers made the crack that they wouldn't have to do much rushing—Scotch egotism must be squelched—Helen Fredrikson showed remarkable taste in the selection of a becrested cigarette case for one of the p. t.'s (prom-trotters, in case you don't know) as a Christmas gift. Was his face red! Nevertheless, he makes good use of the case—We wonder if the great Schollander knows about the correspondence which is taking place between Shirley and a tousel-headed Sigma Chi from up-state. We know you're good, Windy, but watch yourself—Speaking of football men and correspondence, how about Fritz Hanson's burning up the mails with letters to an unseen admirer in Washington. Such popularity must be deserved. May we quote you as saying, "my public always comes first?"—Dave Minard and Phyllis Tritchler are singing "We're Back, Together Again" in spite of the "would-be" humor magazine's slant on the subject—The eternal triangle comes to the fore when the business head and the crooner of the Brevities clash over the love of a fair maid. Crooner Murphy can't quite understand her aversion to Ann Harding and to tobogganing. Take your cue, Konen. This might be your opening—Art (Just a Gigolo) Morris is pursuing a siren from out of the East, who flaunts a yellow Cadillac and buys out Fargo's one and only night-club every so often. There's gold in them thar conquests—

Watch Tickets You Are Buying For Military Ball

Twenty-five Tickets For Party Mis-laid, Say Scabbard And Blade Members

If you want to go to the 1933 Military Ball, don't buy tickets numbered from 276 to 300 inclusive.

This was the notice let out today by Scabbard and Blade representatives to State college students and to prospective buyers among the resident alumni of the two cities.

This announcement is not advertising, the military fraternity representatives announce, but is just the official notice that 25 excellent tickets for the prom have been mislaid and that no one will be able to go to the party with those tickets unless the military fraternity is able to get possession of them again.

"Don't buy tickets numbered from 276 to 300 if you want to go to the ball," the Scabbard and Blade members warn. A reward is to be offered to the finder who returns them to the sales representatives.

Roosevelt Receives Number Of Spectrum

Issue of North Dakota State College Paper Sent By Cap Miller's Friends

At least one issue of The Spectrum has been read by a man, chosen by the nation's citizens to be president of the country.

Friends of Cap E. Miller, who has been cited as a prospective candidate to be considered among eligible men for the post of secretary of agriculture in the new administration's cabinet, sent several issues of The Spectrum for Tuesday, January 10, to President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt at his home in Hyde Park, New York. The issue carried a story on the activities of workers on the behalf of the State college agricultural economics head.

Selection of a cabinet for the administration, which will take over the reins of government after March 4, is to be carried out by Mr. Roosevelt within the next month or so, it is understood. Much of the burden of selection of other positions now open is to be carried on by James Farley, campaign manager for the former New York governor, victor in the November polls.

CAMPUS SOCIETY

PHI MU ENTERTAINS AT SUNDAY DINNER

Zeta Iota chapter of Phi Mu sorority will entertain two representatives of Phi Omega Pi sorority and Delta Tau Epsilon and Kappa Psi fraternities at a bridge dinner in the chapter house on Sunday evening, Jan. 22. This is the first of a series of entertainments planned by the group for other Greek letter organizations on the campus.

Luella Furcht is in general charge of the arrangements. She is being assisted by Lois Beith, refreshments, Aldyth Pinkham, invitations; and LaVerne Dickinson, entertainment.

FRATERNITIES HAVE JOINT PARTY

Alpha Tau Omega and Alpha Gamma Rho fraternities will be hosts at an informal dancing party in Festival hall, Saturday, Jan. 21. The "Agroto" party, an affair sponsored annually by the two groups, is given by the pledges for the actives.

Harry Sherwood, Alpha Tau Omega, and Sidney Bjornson Alpha Gamma Rho, are the two general chairmen. Thomas Dosen, Alpha Tau Omega, is in charge of the decorations committee. The decorative theme will be carried out in yellow, green, azure and gold, the colors of the two fraternities.

Music for the affair will be furnished by Frank Sanders and his orchestra and feature numbers will be presented throughout the evening by Frank Sanders. The hours for dancing will be from 9 to 11:30 p. m.

CAMPUS SISTERS SPONSOR MEETING

An all "Y" meeting was scheduled at a luncheon meeting of the Campus Sisters of the Y. W. C. A. held in Ceres hall dining room Tuesday noon, Jan. 17. Campus Sisters will sponsor the event in the Y. M. C. A. dining room Wednesday evening, Jan. 25, from 7:30 until 9.

Beginning the program will be a short program of informal singing. Miss Inez LaBossier of the extension department will speak on "Personal Charm." Mary McNair and Ruth Clausen are arranging an informal social hour after the program. Preceding the program a short business meeting will be held. All members of the "Y" are asked to attend.

GROUP HOLDS FIRST MEETING

Jeanette McComb announces the opening of the etiquette group of the Y. W. C. A. to be held in the "Y" rooms Thursday afternoon at four o'clock. This section will meet regularly every two weeks at the same time from now on. All women on the campus are invited to attend the discussions which will be led by faculty women and students on the campus.

ARCHITECTS PLAN FOR ANNUAL PARTY

A different plan is being followed in arranging the annual architects party which will be in form of a dinner. The department will be decorated as an artist's studio with the Bohemian motif prevailing.

The dinner, which will begin at seven o'clock, will be followed by numerous fantastic art competitions in modeling. Edward Mahlum is the chairman of the organization committee with William Akeley and Omar Korshus assisting him.

SIX PLEDGED BY MILITARY CLUB

Six officers of the cadet corps at North Dakota State college were pledged into the Scabbard and Blade, national honorary military fraternity, on Wednesday afternoon in the Physical Education building.

This group consisted of Jack Vincent, captain; Harvey Melbye, captain; Charles McLaughlin, major; Maitland Wyward, lieutenant; Otto Woodward, lieutenant; and Edward Mahlum, lieutenant.

William Fish Fargo, was a dinner guest of Kappa Sigma Chi fraternity on Monday.

George Melum, Parshall, was a guest at the Kappa Sigma Chi house Wednesday and Thursday.

Barbara and Marion Anderson were guests at the Alpha Gamma Delta house Monday evening for dinner.

Members of the Pep club will meet just before the game tonight in the northwest room of the main floor of the new gym.

STATE COLLEGE OPENS CONFERENCE RACE WITH VICTORY OVER COYOTES

South Dakota University Takes A 34 to 21 Defeat Last Saturday Night

BISON DISPLAY DEFENSE

Arthur Takes Bison Scoring Honors; W. Olson Is Coyote Stellar

The North Dakota State college Bison opened their 1933 North Central conference race last Saturday evening by neatly trouncing the Coyotes from South Dakota university, and coming out on the long end of the 34-21 count. The Bison displayed a remarkable defensive game and held the visitors to a 19-7 score at the half-way mark.

The most noticeable factor of the game was the manner in which the Bison tightened their defense during the first half, and, with a comfortable lead tucked away, presumably had the situation in hand at all times. Only at one time did the Coyotes offer any serious threat and this was in the second half when they succeeded in breaking through the loosened defensive of the Bison narrowing the margin to eight points. However, this did not last any length of time, as the Herd soon tightened their style of play and put a stop to the seriousness of the threat.

Arthur Leads Scoring

Don Arthur, flashy Bison forward, with a total of 13 points, led the field for scoring honors, making most of the scores in the first half of the contest, while W. Olson, playing in a similar position for the Coyotes, followed in hot pursuit with four field counters. Bud Marquardt took third place, by making three of his tries at the net good. Marquardt's floor play was also an influential factor in the outcome of the game as his passing was accurate and speedy.

Bob Weir, rangy pivot man for the Statemen, used his height to good advantage and gave the University players plenty to worry about. Besides making all the trouble he could defensively, he successfully accounted for six points of his team's total score.

Guards Are Strong

Viv McKay and Grant Mickelson, the senior and sophomore (respectively) guard combination, were noticeably effective in their defensive performance, and each contributed a field goal and a free throw to the Bison score.

Bill Buck, lanky Coyote center, followed Olson in the scoring column registering a total of seven points, and Mert Tice pulled in third honors with three points to his credit. The University back-court men were short when it came to adding up the tallies, but their floor play made up the difference. Kenneth Hoppel and Lyle (Bottle) Dyson carried the stellar roles in this part of the performance. The summary:

U. S. D	fg	ft	tp
W. Olson, f	4	1	9
Ludeman, f	0	2	2
Tice, f	1	1	3
Buck, c	1	5	7

Between Halves
By EVERETT WALLUM

Maybe one reason student spirit isn't what it might be, egad, is that the average collegian isn't acquainted with the personnel.

Well, there's Viv McKay, 160 pounds of dynamite, all conference guard last year. Three years of his high school was spent at Marion, N. D., his home town and danged proud of it. He played on the consolidated school team there, decided to spend his last year at Valley City and it was lucky for the Hiliners he did. For it was in the winter of 1929 that Viv, captaining the team, engineered the first Valley City high school state cage championship in many a year. Later, going to the national tourney at Chicago, Viv attracted the critics' eye, won All-American mention in some quarters. (What quarters? Ed.) Like the rest of the Bison, Viv is modest, professes a love for all forms of athletics. Sometime get him to tell you how he beat his way to the Olympics last summer, spent several cool days in a California bastille.

Donald "Ducky" Arthur is a good example of the unheralded athlete coming to the fore in a big, big way. Because of Ducky's reticence, he was little noticed in his freshman year, although anyone could tell he had a marked affinity with the basket. At Mandan, where he lives and where he had his prep experience, he was classed as "just fair." He was still "just fair" in his sophomore year in college until "Saaly" gave him a chance on a holiday trip, noticed his coolness under fire. Yes, ladies and gentlemen, he got his chance and the rest is history. Yes, indeed.

Harrumph! A blare of trumpets for the regal, good natured Robert "Bob" Weir. That is he's good natured if you don't call him "Goliath." We tried that once. It seems he's bigger than me and I can't fight anyway. Bob is a Fargo high school product, lives here, in fact. One of his cage assets is that his height makes the basket very, very near. His diversions include fighting forest fires and boxing in R. O. T. C. camps (he once knocked an opponent colder than a co-ed's heart.) We won't tell you how the next fight came out.

Grant and Arnold Mikkelsen (Mik to you, you and you) hail from Thief River Falls, Minn., the city which won the Minnesota State championship last year. Both played under George "Baldy" Hays, former Bison star and now coach at Bismarck. They are both quiet, unassuming; we really can't tell you much about them.

Wilbur "Bud" Marquardt, of course, is the slender lad who has the distinction of being the first all-state man to gain that distinction after his team was eliminated in the first round of the Minnesota state tournament. In fact he captained the last Moorhead team to enter the state meet. A real sportsman.

Curt Denenny was once known as the one-man team from Borup, Minn., not a very large town but capable of producing a Denenny. They had no coach, so Curt took over the job and did some very effective playing himself. A mean hombre to tackle with on the basketball floor. We mean, he's good.

Lyle "Cowboy" Stinson, Red Wing, Minn., guard, is the black haired Adonis who vends a bit in the book store. Just go in and buy an apple and try to get by with four cents. His cage opponents can't get by with anything, either.

A. C. HIGH SCHOOL FIVE LOSE OVERTIME GAME

The State college high school basketball team were defeated by the Oak Grove seminary five in an overtime contest Wednesday evening in the Horace Mann gymnasium by a score of 16-14. The Preps led their opponents 7-6 at the halfway period, and at the final time the two teams were tied at 14 all.

Five Inter-Fraternity League Games Played

Kappa Sigma Chi Quint Wins Twice In Engagements During Past Week

Five games have been played in the first round of the inter-fraternity basketball league, and so far the Kappa Sigma Chi quint, which has been one of two teams to engage two foes, has been victorious in both contests. Wednesday, the opening night of the tournament, they demonstrated a power machine and swamped the Delta Tau Epsilon five, last year's champions, 22 to 8.

Thursday night the Kappa Sigma Chis continued their power drive and emerged on the long end of a 21-10 score in a game with the Delta Sigs, runnersup in last year's tourney.

Other victories Wednesday night were chalked up by the Sigma Taus, who pulled the props out from under the Sigma Phi Deltas and defeated them 26-5, presenting one of the strongest teams in the league; the Y. M. C. A., who tipped the Delta Sigs over in a hard fought and closely contested battle to the tune of 17-13.

The last scheduled game of the week turned in favor of the A. T. O.'s, who gained an early lead on the Kappa Psis, and finished with a 28-15 count.

College Concert Band Plays Radio Program

Putnam's Gold Star Musicians Number Forty-six Men For Broadcast

The Gold Star Concert band of North Dakota State college will broadcast a program from the studios of WDAY, Fargo, on Wednesday evening, Jan. 25, from 8:30 to 9:30, says Dr. C. S. Putnam, director of music at the college.

Included in the program will be an opening and closing march, an overture, a clarinet solo by William Watson, a symphonic fantasy on three Negro spirituals, and two rhapsodies.

The concert band numbering forty-six players is a division of the whole band numbering ninety musicians and broadcasts from time to time over WDAY.

LETTERMEN'S CLUB HOSTS FRIDAY

Friday night, after the Bison-South Dakota State game, the Lettermen's club will present the second of a series of five dancing parties, to be given in Festival hall between the hours of 9 and 11:30.

Bob Weir, president of the organization, announced that Freddie Anderson is in general charge.

R. W. Warner, mathematics instructor, was dinner guest and speaker at the Delta Kappa Sigma fraternity house last Sunday.

Bison Pucksters Win Two Games In League To Keep Clean Slate

College Hockey Sextet Leads By Virtue of Defeating Falcons, M. S. T. C.

The Bison hockey team has a clean slate as far as the first two games of the season are concerned, having defeated the Falcons of the Fargo Commercial hockey league, 4-3, and the Moorhead State Teachers college club, 5-2.

The game with the Falcons on Jan. 12 proved to be a close contest. The Falcons opened the scoring, but the Bison tied the count when O'Neill slipped a counter into the goal. Toward the close of the first period, Baldwin put the Bison in the lead with another goal. In the second period the Bison increased their lead when Anderson scored, but this lead was soon relinquished when Norman and Fillmore scored for the Falcons. The winning goal was made by Jahr, who scored on a solo dash up the ice.

The Bison worked well as a team unit and flashed no individual star. Fillmore, a former State college player, and Norman were the big cogs in the Falcon lineup, looming especially strong on the offense.

The Bison scored their second victory Jan. 17, when they outplayed a much improved Dragon team from Moorhead State Teachers college. The Bison played raggedly at times and were handicapped by numerous penalties. Three times the Bison were forced to play with only four men, while two were resting in the penalty box. Jahr, Hanson and O'Neil starred for the Varsity sextet, while Wambach was the big threat for the Dragons.

PARROTT ANNOUNCES REGISTRATION DATA

A total of 1,214 students have enrolled for the winter quarter at the N. D. S. C. A. H. Parrott, registrar, announced Monday. The four per cent decrease from the fall term is normal, Mr. Parrott says.

In the college there are 1,168 registered with 46 in the high school. Men students total 854 and the women, 250. Juniors have the largest class enrollment with 309; freshmen 300; sophomores 238; seniors 234; graduates, 37.

First among departments is the school of science and literature with 319. There are 264 in the school of mechanic arts. Registration in the other schools are agriculture 123; chemistry 88; education 139; home economics 147; and pharmacy 78.

SPECTRUM CRITIC

Showing at the State theater today and tomorrow is "American Madness," starring Walter Huston and Constance Cummings. The story concerns the depression, with particular emphasis laid on bank runs. It promises to be first class entertainment.

Quaint scenes of Paris are depicted in the picture "While Paris Sleeps" showing the last half of this week at the Roxy theater. Helen Mack as the heroine gives a sincere portrayal of the young girl who believes her father, Victor McLaglen, to be dead. All the time he poses as her father's friend because he is afraid to reveal his true identity as an escaped convict. The entire story is woven about the cheaper night cafes of Paris which reach their heights while Paris sleeps.

A picture filled with the thrill and romance of pioneer life in the mad goldrush days of Colorado's founding will be seen tomorrow in "Silver Dollar," a First National picture, which begins a three-day engagement at the Fargo theater, starring Edward G. Robinson, Bebe Daniels and Aline Mahon.

Following this picture, "The Son-Daughter," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's filmization of the celebrated Belasco stage play, comes to the Fargo screen starting next Wednesday, with Helen Hayes and Ramon Navarro, co-starred in the leading roles.

HEBRON MAN BRINGS BUTTERFLY COLLECTION

into the technical side of entomology. Interspersed in his talk without robbing it of its coherence were bits concerning his life history and his general philosophy of life.

In everything of which he spoke, Mr. Krauth pointed out the part that his hobby played in his life, and what it meant to him, and thoroughly convinced his audience of his love for such an avocation.

Mr. Krauth was born in Germany, coming to this country about 1900. He secured work in New York City but was soon forced to quit when his health gave out. Told by his doctors that he had but a few years more to live, and that a change of climate would prolong his life a year or more, he came to North Dakota, settling at Hebron. He surprised his doctors by completely regaining his health, and cognizant of the fact that he owes his life to the North Dakota climate, continues to live in the state.

Mr. Krauth spends much of his time with his butterflies, collecting and mounting new specimens, and preserving his old ones. He hit upon butterfly collecting as a hobby by the merest accident. Finding two beautiful Ceroptera moths near his house one day, he kept them, and with them began his collection, which now numbers several thousand moths and butterflies.

Besides his collection, Mr. Krauth brought with him to the college several charts and special mounts showing the power of mimicry in insects and other peculiarities concerning them. Mr. Krauth's set of Seitz's work on the Lepidoptera, worth well over a thousand dollars, was also on display.

The collection is housed in about forty glass-covered collection boxes. A. G. Arvold, through whose efforts Mr. Krauth was obtained, had them mounted in the display cabinets in the Green room, allowing the lights to bring out and enhance the beautiful colors of the butterflies' wings.
