UNIVERSITY DEAN IS SPEAKER AT FACULTY MEETING WEDNESDAY

Bek Describes New Teaching Methods In Talk Before University Professors

SIX PLANS ARE DISCUSSED

Informal Discussion Is Held By Organization After Address of Dean

Speaking before the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors last Wednesday evening, Dean William G. Bek of the University of North Dakota described recent methods of teaching that are being tested at various schools in the United States.

According to Dr. Bek, Chicago university, Bennington college (Vermont), Rollins college (Florida), the University of Wisconsin and the University of Minnesota have put into effect new systems of majors and minors, arrangements of courses, and time limits.

The new plan at the Chicago university was described by Dean Bek as being a cross between the systems of teaching used at Oxford college and at Gottingen, Germany. The chief feature of this plan is that there is no time limit, students being able to secure a degree in as short a time as he is capable of. Last year fourteen students working under this plan passed the final examinations without attending a single class.

The Bennington school is the first college to make tuition charges pay the total upkeep, including salaries and maintenance, said Dean Bek. A "modern" point of view is used in the teaching of all courses: for example, in an economics course, the work begins with the depression and works backward, and in a literary course, the first work is done on a recent book, such as "Good Earth."

Good-Will Society Discusses Manchuria

International Problems Are Analysed At Meeting Of Association

With the discussion topic centered on Manchuria, the Fargo-Moorhead Good-Will association will commence its second year of organization when they meet in the Chamber of Commerce on November 21, at eight o'clock. Dr. A. F. Hunsaker of the college faculty is research secretary for the group.

This club holds its meetings in the form of informal discussions, which are open to the general public. The subjects upon which the interest centers are of international problems and the various phases of those problems.

The initial meeting of the club for this year has as its discussion centering around events in Manchuria and the China-Japanese situation. Mr. M. W. Murphy, Miss Frida R. Nilsen, Gorman Thompson and Mr. W. L. Stockwell are the scheduled leaders of the Manchurian discussion next Monday.

Mr. M. W. Murphy, city attorney, will lead in the discussion of the three-fold claim in Manchuria. Mr. W. L. Stockwell, donor of an annual scholarship award here, will make an analytical survey of work of the Lytton Committee.

Mr. Gorman Thompson will introduce the question concerning the conflict between Manchuria and Shanghai with both the Japanese and Chinese viewpoint in mind. Miss Frida R. Nilsen, present Dean of Women of Concordia, who was a Chinese missionary for seven years, will aid with the character study of the Chinese race and reflections on the problems of the Far East.

DELTA BETA GERMAN CLUB MEETS TUESDAY

Delta Beta, campus organization for students of the German language, will hold its initial meeting of the year next Tuesday evening in the college Y at 7:30.

Organized last year, the club aims to stimulate interest in German language and literature. All students of the German language are eligible for membership, and a special invitation is extended to students of first year German to attend the semi-monthly meetings.

Dr. Leon Metzinger, head of the college modern language department, is club advisor. Officers for the year are Howard Kilbourne, president; William Heller, vice president; Raymond Cortes, secretary, and John Hyland, treasurer.

Committee Named By Board Of Publications Regulates Advertising

Cards Will Identify Students Seeking Advertisement For Publications

An advertising committee was appointed to supervise advertising related to the campus, at the Board of Publications meeting in Ceres hall held Wednesday evening.

The object of the committee is to restrain unapproved advertising such as programs, schedules and other such projects for protection of Fargo business men. Cards will be issued by the committee to those who sell advertisements for the college publications or other projects sponsored by the college. The committee will notify the Fargo Chamber of Commerce of these authorized salesmen and that organization will in turn notify the business men.

George Toman, commissioner of publications, as ex-officio chairman, H. W. McArdle, faculty member of the board of publications, and Gerald Garlid, senior member of the board of publications, were appointed to comprise the committee.

The advertising committee sponsored by the Board of Publications was created to meet a need felt for some time in journalistic circles at the college, according to members of the board. In the past, unapproved solicitors have worked on advertising schemes throughout Fargo and Moorhead, posing as representatives of the college. In a number of cases they have caused some difficulty for the official publications of the school through misrepresentation of circulation and of the advertising value of their unofficial schemes.

Banquet Opens Fall Term Debate Program

A. G. Arvold Addresses Group On "Icelandic Parliament Anniversary"

The Lincoln Debate club will entertain all college debaters, including the interscholastic debaters, the interclass debaters, and the debate class, at a banquet and get-together, in the Lincoln Log cabin, Monday evening at 5:30, according to Albert Buchli, president of the club.

About 50 guests are expected to attend the function which is intended to introduce the debaters to each other and to foster further interest in debating. The plan is to make the banquet an annual affair.

Prof. A. G. Arvold will address the group on the "Thousandth Anniversary of the Icelandic Parliament" which he attended on a tour. Albert Buchli, president, will summarize the history of the Lincoln Debate club, outlining its plans and program. Frederic Martin is in charge of musical entertainment.

OPERA PRESENTATION GIVEN LAST EVENING OUTSTANDING PROGRAM

Music Department Cooperates With Chicago Company In "Faust" Production

DR. C. S. PUTNAM DIRECTS

English Version of French Opera By Gounod Is Given In Festival Hall

One of the most outstanding musical programs given at the North Dakota State college was staged last evening in Festival hall when the Festival Opera company in cooperation with the music department on the campus and musicians of Fargo presented an English version of the famous French opera "Faust" by Gounod.

The leading players, Howard Carmen, tenor, Kai de Vermont, bass, Lucie Weston, prima donna, and William Phillips, baritone, have appeared at this college before, last year presenting "The Barber of Seville." The production of "Faust" was aided by local choruses, ballet, and orchestra, under the direction of Dr. C. S. Putnam, assisted by Miss Adda Blakeslee and Miss Dorothy Cole. The orchestra was made up of outstanding musicians of the student body and faculty with Norman Ostby, concert master. Bert Carmen of the Festival company was pianist.

The famous old story is laid in medieval Germany. Faust, sung by Howard Carmen, is an old philosopher who grows old and longs for death. However, ah he prepares to take his life, Mephistopheles, Kai de Vermont, offers him youth in return for his soul. The bargain is quickly made.

Again young, Faust loses his heart to Marguerite, the sister of a young army general who entrusts her to the care of a young boy. Fate is against the rejuvenated man, though Mephistopheles appears to be aiding him. Valentine is killed reviving the betrayal of his sister and while awaiting judgment for her sins, she goes half mad in prison. Faust urges her to cast her lot with him and flee, but recognizing in him the work of the fiend, she refuses and seeks heavenly forgiveness. Angels carry her off to heaven while Mephistopheles wraps his cloak about Faust and claims his bargained soul.

Besides the students aiding in the choruses, and orchestra, Don Fredrikson was in charge of publicity, Jack Vincent, financial manager, James Konen, stage manager, and William Euren, head usher.

SIGMA DELTA GIVEN INTERNATIONAL BOOKS

"The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace" has recently presented Sigma Delta, college international relations club, with several new books dealing with the promotion and encouragement of international relations.

The club, one of 443 active at present, receives several of these books each term. It has placed them at the disposal of the college library where they are now on display. They are in an uncatalogued collection with the book-plate of the endowment on each. Anyone interested in the subject may use them.

Among the better known of the collection are: "The Way Out of Depression" by Herman F. Arendtz, Japan; "An Economic and Financial Appraisal" by H. C. Moulton; "The United States of Europe" by Edouard Herriot; "Recovery, the Second Effort" by Sir Arthur Salter; "The Society of Nations" by Felix Marley, and "The Unseen Assassins" by Sir Norman Angell.

There will be a meeting of the Pep club in room 319, at 4:15, Friday evening.

STUDENT COURT MEETS TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 22

The meeting of the Student Court, which was to have met last Thursday, has been postponed until Tuesday, Nov. 22, according to Howard Kilbourne. The meeting will be held in the Alumni rooms in the Main building at 4:15.

The Student Court was established by the Student Commission to enforce the parking regulations on the campus in an attempt to aid in beautifying the campus. The changes along this line have been noticeable and the traffic accidents have been reduced considerably.

Those who have received tags for violation of the parking restrictions on the campus should report to the court at this time.

War Department At Washington Orders Army Drill Revision

New Regulations Will Not Take Effect Here This Year Says E. A. Lathrop

The War Department at Washington, D. C., has ordered a tentative revision of army drill regulations which, if accepted, will revolutionize the old type of close order drill, but it is probable that this new system will not affect the training regulations of the R. O. T. C. unit in this college this year, according to Major E. A. Lathrop. If this new system is found satisfactory after May 31 the new type of training will then replace the present system.

This new system was worked out at Fort Benning, Ga., and after numerous changes it was tentatively adopted by the War Department. The new system was then presented to the regular army to replace the old program on July 1, this year.

The local National Guard units received orders to use the new drill manual this month, and continue to use it until May 31, when a report is to be sent to the War Department by officers in the army stating whether they consider it a better method than the one previously employed.

The most outstanding changes are in the abolishment of close order drill, and some formations. Under the present method the squad corporal becomes number one in the rank instead of number four. There is a greater interval between men in ranks because the men dress at arms length interval, and dress upon the corporal. There is no longer any set number of men that may be in a squad, although if there are more than eleven men it is advisable to form a new squad. In the new regulations there is no rear rank, but each squad falls in directly behind the squad in front of it, and men cover in file the same as if they were in the rear rank under the old system.

The War Department believes that under the new method it is much easier to go into extended order, which is the formation on the field of battle. It appears that in the new system they have combined close order and extended order as much as possible. This method has been worked out at the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Georgia, and at Fort Snelling, Minnesota, and in both places they have found it more practical than the old method of complicated close order drill.

KNIGHT PRINTING HAS YEARBOOK CONTRACT

The Knight Printing company was awarded the contract to publish The Bison, college yearbook, for this year by the Board of Publications at their meeting Wednesday evening in Ceres hall, according to William Heller, business editor of The Bison.

For the last few years the Knight Printing company has published the book and this year their bid was lower in every phase than that of any other bidder.

TUESDAY'S LYCEUM IS POSTPONED AS MOSLEM AIDS PEACE OF INDIA

Maulan Shaukat Ali Detained From Speaking Tour In America

COMES HERE JANUARY 18

Recent Letter To This Country Explains Delay In Appearance

Maulan Shaukat Ali, noted Moslem leader in India, who was to have appeared as the second number on the Lyceum course Tuesday, was kept from meeting this engagement by dint of dramatic circumstances, involving the peace of India. He has, however, definitely arranged to be here Jan. 18, 1933, having left Bombay for America, Nov. 7, to arrive in New York Jan. 2. He will appear in Fargo at the North Dakota State college Jan. 18, says A. G. Arvold, who is sponsoring the presentation of this important world figure, to whom England looks for peace in India.

The Bombay Evening News reports that unprecedented scenes were witnessed at the Khilafat office early the morning of Oct. 6 as soon as it was known that Shaukat Ali was determined to sail for America, despite the earnest appeals made to him by some nationalist Moslem leaders, with whom he had previously been conferring to bring about a settlement of the Hindu-Moslem communal problem. A large number of Khilafat volunteers and Moslem leaders threatened a demonstration if Shaukat Ali desert them at a time when negotiations were progressing towards a possible settlement, and they cheered the Maulana vociferously when he yielded to them.

Explaining his reasons for the sudden postponement of his American tour Shaukat Ali said everything was packed. He had finished his farewell message to the Viceroy and Gandhi. He and his pretty young English wife were getting ready to go to the boat when Moslem leaders came to him and said if he remained there was a likelihood of wranglings and bickerings coming to an end because he as one of the few Indian leaders, who was sincerely working for an honorable understanding between the British, the Hindus, the minorities and the moslems.

Frieda Panimon, Cathryn Ray Defeat Sophomores In Final Debate

By defeating the sophomores in the final interclass discussion Wednesday evening, the freshman debate team won the championship in interclass debating for 1932.

Members of the freshman team, coached by William Stewart, are Frieda Panimon, and Cathryn Ray. Gerald Stevens, acted as coach for Walter Bartholomew, and Stephen Hagan, who formed the sophomore team. Attorney Harry Lashkowitz awarded the decision.

Albert Buchli, president of the Lincoln Forensic society, opened the program by announcing the question for discussion: "Who should bear the cost of higher education?" Before the debate the argumentative and debate class presented a series of tableaux depicting the evolution of speech. Frederick Martin played a group of piano selections.

Prior to this contest, the final of a series, the sophomores had defeated the seniors, and the freshman advanced to the finals by virtue of their victory over the juniors. A freshman team also won the title last year.

PROFESSORS

University and college professors are a long suffering class of people. Often are they criticized and on many and varied grounds. Not the least of the criticisms is that they are often too well versed in their work to be good teachers.

In many of our higher educational institutions are students who make the criticism, justly in a number of cases, that some of their professors are advanced so far into their field that they do not have the ability to understand the trials of the beginner in that work. There is no denial that such is often the case.

The college professors are usually former student leaders in the various branches of educational research, who naturally gravitate towards that field of endeavor in educational institutions after their completion of the set courses. They are not only attracted by the genial surroundings to continue their work but they wish to avail themselves of the equipment and added time of teaching to advance themselves in their own subject, beyond the things they have learned from others.

In many quarters the educational ideal is the education of the greatest number of people in the greatest number of subjects. Under this ideal of education these brilliant scientists are classed as poorer instructors because they have advanced so far into their field that they often cannot understand the lower mental caliber of the students.

To suggest that such men be removed from the staffs of our universities and colleges is to reveal a lamentable narrowness of vision or else an equally lamentable lack of comprehension of the purpose of the universities.

In our opinion, the true university should be a center of culture—a place where not only is old knowledge taught to new students but where new knowledge is constantly being acquired. It is those universities built on this plan which have become famous the world over and have left their mark on civilization. Incidentally they usually succeed in teaching their students quite as well as those of the other class mentioned above.

In these universities of the latter type, however, the far advanced professor can show up to greatest advantage. Not only are his efforts directed in exploring new fields of research but also is his knowledge of the various phases of the subjects of greater worth in directing the activities of the other instructors in the field. The genius professor is constantly at work improving the courses, the methods and curricula as the newer developments demand. It is he who gives to a university that prestige which makes it known throughout the world.

THE BELL AWARD

When James F. Bell, Minneapolis philanthropist, instituted the Bell award on this campus a few weeks ago, he opened a field of great opportunity for constructive thinking among the members of the student body.

The award comes as a challenge hurled at the thirteen hundred students of this institution. Are there students here on this campus who have the constructive thinking ability to devise a plan of material benefit to a great number of people? Can they arrive at a logical and worthwhile conclusion and then be able to show the thought processes by which they were able to devise this contribution to the betterment of mankind?

An unlimited field of endeavor is opened to the college thinker. Any subject, art or military, music or mechanics, chemistry, physics or any of the other multitudinous subjects are included on the approved list for this college contest. That idea which is most richly imbued with benefit to humanity is the one which will win for its author this noteworthy distinction.

While the prize of $350 is in the main a fitting reward for constructive thinking, the financial return for the beneficial thinking cannot be considered a major factor in this thought-stimulating activity. The setting of student minds on the major problems of mankind, the direction of those intellectual activities into those channels of benefit to many people is the reason for the award.

Seven convocations throughout the remainder of the school year are to be devoted to the further explanation of the Bell award and to faculty lectures on the processes of creative thinking. Interested students are today asking particulars about the contest from faculty members, who are being instrumental in setting the more ingenious minds to work on this major problem.

Can the students at North Dakota State college develop truly worthwhile creative ideas for the general betterment of mankind, ideas which are not only well planned but are workable? The students of the college have met successfully many and varied challenges throughout the years. Will they meet with honor this unique challenge to their intellect?

ROWDY REMARKS

Morningside and then hail the new champions—the perpetual kings from up north will probably be throwing something worse than hail in their disappointment.

Have you any idea why a certain freshman made a hurried trip home not long ago? My! My! This younger generation!

They say that one of the injured football men spent his spare time buying garments for the girl he left behind and that another gridder doffed his moleskins to model said garments before the inmates of West Point.

In the past week numerous "I've-got-something-for-you-to-write" people have whispered many things in my ear—the stuff ranged from who-was-seen-where to Kappas-leaving-sleeping-dogs-lie-in-Ceres-hall-parlors, not to mention several that-guy-gripes-me-why-don't-he-say-something-about-him (her)—we tried that once.

UNIVERSITY DEAN IS SPEAKER AT MEETING

ed, as elsewhere, into three terms of three months each. However, the student is allowed to attend for two terms only. The third term he is told to go elsewhere, in order to "have time to think things over that he has learned." There is no accumulation of honor points or credits here, progress through school being based on a series of examinations. Such subjects as citizenship and foreign relations are given the greatest amount of attention, according to Dean Bek.

One of the chief values of the new work at the University of Wisconsin is the integration of courses. As an example, Dean Bek cited the fact that in order to take an English literary course at the Wisconsin school, a student must also take English history, English civics, and so forth.

At the University of Minnesota, the work of Dean Johnson was especially recommended by Dr. Bek. Under this method, a student may secure a degree without majoring in any department or school, depending on his or her life purpose. For those who do not want or cannot obtain a degree a junior college is maintained.

Following Dean Bek's talk, informal discussion was held.

On The Campus

The GEOLOGY CLUB has for its purpose the promotion of general interest in geology. The members of the society take an extensive field trip each year into geologically interesting areas, and have in the last two years visited the Black Hills and Bad Lands regions of South Dakota and the iron range country of Minnesota. It is not active this year due to the suspension of geology here.

The NEWMAN CLUB is one of 210 similar organizations in other colleges and universities founded to sponsor the spiritual, intellectual, and social interests of Catholic students on the campus. Meetings are held every second and fourth Sunday of the month.

forced postponement of his tour. The letter is in part:

"I cannot tell you how we both felt when, at the eleventh hour, just as we were going for our car to reach the boat, circumstances forced us to accede to the united demands of the Hindu and Moslem leaders, who wanted me to intercede between the English and the Hindus and the Moslems and bring about a peace that would be honorable to all and do something that might even help in making history in this part of the world. I had done my best for this. Though I am a devoted servant of Islam, I have my motherland also, and was doing all I could for it."

This following interesting message was sent to Shaukat Ali by Mahatma Ghandi from the Yerovda hall on Oct. 7, when the Maulana had decided to postpone his American visit for thirty days:

"I am very glad that you have postponed your departure for America. I am sure you will be able to do something now. It will be a glorious day when we have real Hindu-Moslem-Sikh unity. Please accept my love, and if you make a diligent search you will still find me in your pocket."

Maulana Shaukat Ali holds the same relations to the Moslems of India as Ghandi does to the Hindus. The Maulana's lecture tour is perhaps one of the most important lecture tours in America for 1932-33.

Richard Frances of Enderlin was pledged to Delta Tau Epsilon fraternity Wednesday.

Paul Koones of Aberdeen became a pledge member of Sigma Phi Delta, engineering fraternity, this week.

School Continues On Friday After Holiday By Action Of Council

Petitions With 510 Signers From College Is Presented To Council

There will be school next Friday and Saturday at North Dakota State college.

This was the decision rendered by the College Council late yesterday afternoon in regard to the numerous student petitions asking for the recess for the entire Thanksgiving weekend.

With nearly 510 signers, a group of students turned the petitions to the College Council yesterday afternoon. The days of vacation were asked in place of the Armistice holiday, which had been scheduled but which was not held on account of inclement weather.

North Dakota State college completes the school year around June 2, next spring, eliminating, by this ruling of the College Council, nearly two weeks of school out of the year's schedule. Both the Thanksgiving and the Easter vacations were cut down somewhat to meet this cut in the school year. In planning the program for the year the College Council, the legislative body of the institution, has scheduled the minimum number of holidays for the students that they possibly could. The members wish to follow this schedule as closely as possible during the year.

Oscar Hanson, Kappa Psi alumnus, visited at the Kappa Psi fraternity on Thursday.

Don Lieb, Alpha Sigma Tau, was a dinner guest at Theta Chi fraternity on Thursday evening.

NORTH CENTRAL LOOP CHAMPIONS MEET TEST OF BABY BISON TODAY

Basketball Is Given Preview This Afternoon In Big Athletic Plant

GAME TO BE CALLED AT 4:30

Varsity Football Holds Several Veterans Out of the Courts Game

Coaches Leonard T. Saalwaechter and Pete Gergen, varsity and freshman basketball coaches respectively, are ushering in the basketball season for the season for the college fans, this afternoon at four o'clock. At this time a pre-season game will be played in the physical education building between the varsity and frosh squads.

While several of the varsity players are still occupied with football practice in preparation for the Thanksgiving game at Sioux City, there has been a squad of eleven men practicing informally for several weeks. Bob Weir, all-conference center last year, and high scorer in the conference, will be one of the standbys in Saaly's team makeup this year. Don Arthur, veteran forward, and all-conference choice for that position last year, will also see action today, while Viv McKay, the Bison's third all-conference man, will be unable to play because of football.

Several sophomore men, who showed up nicely in the freshman squad last year, are going to make strong bids for regular berths this season. Those who are working into condition and who will probably see plenty of action this year are: Arnold Mickelson, reserve guard from last season, Curtis Denenny, Grant Mickelson, Lyle Stinson, Howard Kraft, Joe Aasen, Byron Steffarud, Emmet O'Day and Bert Anderson.

The freshman squad consists of 15 men, and they have been practicing since the close of their football season, shortly after Homecoming. The group is probably the strongest it has been for years and much is to be expected of them.

Comprising the freshman squad are: Gregory Sloan, Neville Reiners, Stanley Maynard, Don Bettschen, Carson Nekkar, Arnold Bernard, John Smouse, Alfred Gemmerling, Sam Dobervich, David Casselman, Lawrence Chloupek, George Moore, Harry Arneson and Russell Anderson.

This afternoon's game will be open to all college students and faculty members and there will be no admission charged.

FRESNO STATE TEAM TIES ARIZONA COLLEGE

Coach Stan Borleske's Fresno State football team gained itself favorable notice recently in holding Arizona State college to a scoreless tie. Arizona State had been considered a heavy favorite over the California team coached by the former Bison athletic director.

Excerpts from the San Francisco Examiner tell the story of the game.

"Coach Stan Borleske's men upset the dope last Saturday at Flagstaff, Arizona, when they outplayed the Arizona State college eleven in a game ending in a 0-0 tie.

"The Flagstaff eleven had been considered a heavy favorite by virtue of a 7-0 victory over the powerful University of Arizona the previous week, but the Bulldogs, flashing a new offensive punch, outplayed their opponents in nearly every department of the game and had the ball in Arizona territory most of the time.

"Frequent substitutions were made from the Fresno bench because of the altitude and soft dirt field, factors with which the Bulldogs were unaccustomed.

"Borleske's second string eleven proved itself during the game, and the Fresno mentor is satisfied that he will have ample reserve material to call on should the regulars fail to holdup during other games of the season."

Eight Veterans Complete Football Careers

Clarence Orness

Thanksgiving day in Sioux City, Iowa, eight veteran players will see their last opportunity for action in football for North Dakota State college.

In Capt. Walter Schoenfelder, the college loses a twice all-conference tackle, who lost out on much of the season's campaign due to a broken leg bone. Other all-conference linemen to be lost are Merlyn Jahr and Clarence Orness, both veteran guards who have played varsity ball steadily since their sophomore years. Bob Paris, who is regarded as all-conference material this year due to his performance as the Bison center, will prove another strong loss in the Bison forward wall, as will

Merlyn Jahr

Jimmy Berdahl

Joe Selliken

Maurice Ellingson

James Berdahl, dependable reserve end.

Viv McKay, fullback and alternate at halfback, leaves behind a brilliant career as a Bison ball totter, when he completes his football career next week. Joe Selliken, whose ability has been shown on both the line and in the backfield, has probably played more quarters than any other man on the team. He has served many roles with success on the varsity eleven. While injuries have kept Maurice Ellingson from regular post in the backfield, he has proved a valuable ball carrier whenever called upon.

Army Life Attracts Lone Bison Player

Despite the fact that the Cadets at West Point offered the Bison the strongest opposition of their 1932 schedule and invoked the admiration of each member of the team for their excellence in the gridiron game, only one Bison player expressed his inward desire to have been a West Point man.

"It's no wonder that they are such good football players, the way they have to live and the number of years they play the game," one of the players said recently in discussing the life at West Point. "I wouldn't care for the life of the cadet, at any time." Definite explanations were not in order.

Following are facts concerning the life of the West Pointers gained through members of the Bison team, who spent several days in the same surroundings with the Army men:

"Early to bed; early to rise
Makes a cadet efficient and wise.
"At least such is the firm belief at West Point academy where each cadet is in his room at seven o'clock each evening and is rolled out at six o'clock each morning to prepare for the events of the coming day.

"Discipline is the bed rock of West Point military training. Discipline means control; it may be control imposed by others, or it may be self-control. The habit of self-control that springs from a man's best thought and instincts and comes from pride in his organization, is the ideal for which the Academy strives. What discipline means, its value, and how to get it through proper methods are among the most important lessons that West Point teaches.

"Upon entering the Academy each man must take an "Oath of Allegiance" and pledge himself to serve the Army of the United States for eight years, unless he is discharged by competent authority. Normally the eight years include four years as a West Point cadet and four years as an officer.

"The academic work comprises a well coordinated four year college course. The subjects taught are predominantly technical and scientific, though in recent years more time has been devoted to cultural subjects. In preparation of lessons each cadet is expected to think for himself, and in no case, unless he is exerting his uttermost efforts may he seek aid. West Point has little room and less patience for the man who is lazy.

"At West Point marks are published every Saturday so that each one knows just where he stands at all times. Failure to pass an examination in a single subject means discharge or loss of a year. There are certain requirements, which each man must cover, although those who are able may go as far beyond these as he may so desire."

COLLEGE LIBRARY HAS EXHIBITION TABLE

The students of the North Dakota State college have access to a source of information on timely events and educational subjects in the form of an exhibit table located on the main floor of the College library. The displays are arranged weekly by Miss Angelin Tiedell, assistant librarian.

Through the use of articles and pictures, including information on such yearly events, for instance, as Christmas, Easter, Thanksgiving, National Book Week, birthdays of noted people, and anniversaries of important events or on such timely events as the recent election the display is presented. Often new books are introduced to the college through these exhibits.

The Newman society for Catholic students will hold a meeting in the K. of C. hall at 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

FRIGID WEATHER KEEPS TEAM PRACTICE INSIDE FOR MAROON CONTEST

Injuries Deplete Ranks Little, Bison Team Inventory Reveals Today

After giving their charges a day's rest and a chance to renew acquaintances which might have lapsed during their tour of the East, the Bison football coaches have started work in preparation for their Thanksgiving day encounter with the Morningside Maroons at Sioux City.

The weather conditions have not allowed outside practices, but the workouts have been carried out on the indoor track in the physical education building. The workouts have been light in nature and have acted as limbering up exercises for the boys.

The trip did not deplete the ranks of available players at all, as the coaches employed precaution in using their valuable men in the eastern games. Slight injuries were received by Fritz Hanson, Roy Platt and Milton Jacobson in the Army game, but these were not serious enough in nature to prohibit the use of these men against the Maroons.

The outcome of the Morningside game is problematical, according to "Casey" Finnegan, the Bison head coach. The Maroons, always a strong team on their home grounds, will meet the Bison Thursday in a game in which they have the chance to beat the North Central conference champions after having an unsuccessful season. Psychologically they have an edge on the Bison.

However, the Bison forward wall, which stopped the running attack of both the Colonials and the Cadets time after time, and the State college backfield which has amassed a large number of touchdowns throughout the season is rated a favorite in the final game.

Bison Plays Maroons In Final Football Game of Fall Season

North Dakota State Conceded Championship of North Central Conference

With winter coming on, and the rumblings of basketball practice issuing from the gymnasiums of the schools of the northwest, North Dakota State and Morningside college still have to finish their football schedules. The leader of the conference has definitely been conceded the championship, even though one contest remains to be played.

North and South Dakota universities' cancellation of their game automatically gave the Bison the title, placing them either a game and one-half or one-half game ahead of North Dakota university, who holds down the second place in the league finals. This probable difference in the Bison standing depends upon the outcome of their contest with the Maroons.

The Bison have won seven out of nine games this year, losing only to George Washington university and the Army. These games have not affected their conference standing, however.

Morningside does not have a conference game to their credit, having lost to South Dakota university, South Dakota State, and to North Dakota university. North Dakota State, as conference football champions, is quite generally favored to win the Thanksgiving game but some authorities feel that the eastern trip has weakened the Bison sufficiently to make Morningside's chances of victory very possible.

The standings of the loop are as follows:

Team	W.	L.	T.	Pct.
N. D. S.	3	0	0	1000
N. D. U.	2	1	0	666
S. D. U.	1	1	1	500
S. D. S.	1	2	1	333
Morningside	0	3	0	000

Y HAS ANNUAL CO-ED PROM

Amid sideshow, advertisements, confetti, balloons and peanuts about 200 co-ed couples were entertained at the annual co-ed prom held Wednesday evening in Festival hall. The grand march, which began at 8:30, was led by Erllys Hill, social chairman of the Y. W. C. A., and her partner, Sally Hunkins. They were followed by Margaret Dadey, president, and Ruth M. Johnson; Amy Oscarson, vice president, and Veris Fraser; Luella Furcht, secretary, and Rosella Olson; Ruth Clausen, treasurer, and Rhoda Clausen.

After the grand march a program of specialty numbers was given. Helen McPhail sang several solos accompanied by her sister, Dorothy. Corrine Ballard tap-danced; Betty Russell played the saxophone accompanied by Erma Weinberger, and Prudence Yager played the piano and sang.

The prizes for the most appropriate costumes were awarded to Luella Furcht and Rosella Olson, who were dressed as two old farmers who were spectators at the circus. Lorraine Scribbens and LaVerne Dickenson were chosen as the funniest dressed couple. They were garbed in old fashioned patched up garments. The most original costumes, as selected by the judges, were worn by Nellie Reed and Alice Larson who were dressed as candidates representing the Hog-it-all and Holier-than-thou frames. Prudence Yager was given honorable mention for being the best entertainer.

Judges of the costumes were Dean Dinan and Misses Dorothy Hatch, Minnie Anderson and Frances Lamb. Refreshments consisted of soda pop and boxes of animal crackers.

The co-ed prom, an annual affair sponsored each year by the college Y. W. C. A., was attended by women only and was free to all women students on the campus. Special guests included members of the downtown Y. W. C. A.

PLANS MADE FOR KIDDIES' PARTY

Plans were made for the annual Kiddies' Christmas party to be held in the Y. M. C. A. building, Dec. 10, at a joint meeting of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. cabinets Tuesday evening.

Mary McNair, service chairman of the Y. W. C. A., and Harry Hanson, vice president of the Y. M. C. A., are in general charge of arrangements for this annual affair.

Tickets, which will be sold for fifty cents a piece, will entitle one child to the dinner and will provide for a gift for the child. Decorations will be in keeping with the Christmas idea and Santa Claus will be there to distribute the gifts. About 100 children from the Fargo Union Mission will be brought out on chartered street cars and will be entertained by the college students.

Those in charge, besides Harry Hanson and Mary McNair, include the following committees: Margaret Dadey and Erllys Hill, gifts; Aldyth Pinkham, Grace South and Jordan Engberg, posters; Gerald Garlid and Luella Furcht, publicity; Erling Thorson, dinner; and Jack Thysell, ticket sales. About 150 tickets will be available for sale.

Betty Kretschmar spent the weekend at her home in Frazee, Minn.

Helen Pease and Marion Wagness were guests Monday night at the Kappa Delta apartment.

Don McNaughton is now living at the Delta Sig house.

Don Howland, Bob Service and Harry Engles, all of Minot, were guests at the Delta Kappa Sigma house Wednesday.

Five Social Events Planned This Week As Groups Entertain

Dancing Parties, Held Tonight And Saturday, Use Varied Themes

Five Greek letter organizations on the campus will stage informal dancing parties this weekend with Gamma Phi Beta sorority and Kappa Psi fraternity entertaining this evening and Alpha Gamma Delta and Kappa Delta sororities and Alpha Tau Omega fraternity entertaining Saturday, Nov. 19.

Kappa Psi fraternity will entertain their pledge group in the Powers hotel Friday evening from 8:30 to 11:30 with a dance featuring cut-in dances, an innovation in that group. George Collings' Music is the orchestra for the occasion. Decorations are in fraternity colors of Cadet gray and crimson. In general charge is John Rice, assisted by Alfred Forbord, Charles Peterson and Harlan Black.

The active members of Gamma Phi Beta sorority will honor their pledge chapter with a party to be held in Festival hall this evening between the hours of 8:30 and 11:30. Among the guests at the affair will be two members of each sorority with their escorts, including the following: Kappa Kappa Gamma, Betty Murphy and Jeanette McComb; Phi Omega Pi, Hazel Redman and Frances Wheeler; Kappa Delta, Frances Kingsbury and Janet Jacobson; Alpha Gamma Delta, Eva Sherwood and Lavina Hendrickson; and Phi Mu, Rosella Olson and Luella Furcht. This is an innovation in parties on the campus, according to Margaret Fleming, who is in charge.

Colored lights will be used in the decorative scheme. Jean Pote will present a group of vocal solos as a feature. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Finnegan and Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmar Storlie will chaperon.

Assisting Miss Fleming in arrangements for the party are: Helen Lee, Elva Eklund, Olive Ringen and Irma Jane Hanley.

Ruth M. Johnson is in charge of arrangements for the Alpha Gamma Delta party which will be held Saturday evening in the Specialty Shops. The theme of the affair will be that of a night club with refreshments being served immediately following the dancing. Chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. Dudley C. Bayliss and Dean and Mrs. A. E. Minard.

"Topsy Turvy" will be the theme of the Kappa Delta party which will take place Saturday evening in Festival hall between the hours of 8:30 and 11:30. Mary Healy is in general charge. Chaperons for this affair include Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. West and Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Putnam.

Pledge members of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity will be entertained in the college Y. M. C. A. building from 8:30 to 11:30. The affair which is under the direction of Harold Ranes will have a collegiate theme. Assisting Harold Ranes are Erling Schranz, James Morris, Childs Hallenberg and Lyle Whitling.

INSTRUCTORS ARE GUESTS SUNDAY

An open house will be held by Gamma Phi Beta sorority on Sunday afternoon from 4 to 7 for all faculty members and faculty wives. No invitations are being issued.

In charge of the affair, which will be held at the sorority apartment at 1041 College st., is Amy Glaser, who is being assisted by Margarethe Tronnes, Evelyn Davis and Lorraine Brakke. Presiding at the tea tables will be Margaret Fleming, Marjory Archer and Mary Powers.

Maurice Berthiame was a dinner guest at the Delta Kappa Sigma house Thursday noon.

Eighty Students Sign For Rifle Practice At Meeting Tuesday

Captain J. B. Conmy Outlines Schedule of Practice Till Eliminating Match

Approximately eighty students showed their interest in participating in practice for the North Dakota State rifle team at a meeting held in the physical education building late yesterday afternoon.

Capt. J. B. Conmy outlined the schedule of practice for the rifle team up till the elimination match, stressing particularly the importance of cooperation among the participants.

Ed Comm, the team captain, gave a short talk before the group pointing out the necessity of steady and consistent practice. Comm also cautioned the students about becoming discouraged after their first few trials.

Regular practice will begin next Monday afternoon at 1:30, and from that time practices will be held every afternoon until the elimination match. Candidates are not limited to those present at the first meeting. Anybody may try out anytime before the firing for record, which will be fired sometime after the Christmas holidays.

In firing for record each man will shoot in four positions, namely, standing, kneeling, sitting, and prone, and the twenty men firing the highest score will be chosen to comprise the rifle team.

Captain Conmy has been ordered by Major Lathrop to coach the rifle team for his third successive year. Capt. H. J. McChrystal will serve as assistant coach, and Ed Comm has been re-elected as this year's team captain.

Dear Elmer:

Just think, my cousin Gladys in Hollywood writes me she has a speaking part in that new talkie, "Night Club Review".

She comes out in the cabaret act in tights and says, "Hip, Hip, Hooray". She gets $25 a week. That's $10 per hip and $5 for the hooray.

Gosh, that's got nothing on you Elmer, when you can give the boys an Ed. V. Price & Co. suit tailored to their order at $30, $35 and $40.

Hoping you are the same. —Aggie.

"CHARITY" IS MOTTO OF HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

"Charity" was chosen as the motto of the Tryota, home economics club, at a meeting held in the Art Studio, Thursday, Nov. 10, at 7:30 p. m.

Through the cooperation of the college Y. W. C. A., the group selected as its first project the making of infants' clothing for the Fargo Mission. Members will spend each of the bi-weekly meetings in doing similar charitable work for needy organizations and families in the city.

Miss Minnie Anderson, home economics instructor, is cooperating with the girls in their project.

PEP CLUB OF COLLEGE HOLDS FIRST MEETING

The North Dakota State college Pep club will hold its first meeting of the year in room 319, Science hall, Friday evening at 4:15.

Election of a president will be the main business, that office, being left vacant by James Parkins, last year's president, who did not return to school this fall. Other business will be plans for the activity of the coming basketball season.

The Pep club is an organization to stimulate spirit and furnish entertainment between halves of basketball games.
