HOMECOMING PROGRAM SCORES HUGE SUCCESS IN MINDS OF ALUMNI

Bison Football Victory, Fine Weather Contribute Much To Day's Success

THRONGS WITNESS PARADE

College YMCA, Engineers' Club, Alpha Gamma Rho Winners In Float Contest

Alumni and former students who attended Homecoming at the North Dakota State college last weekend returned to their homes with a feeling of high satisfaction with the turn things took to make the program a success.

Greeted by fine Indian summer weather, throngs of people turned out to see the major item of Homecoming—the football game between the Bison and the State University's Sioux. As the 7-6 score would indicate, the game was as exciting a one as could be wished for, with the Bison coming out on the long end of the score. Alumni also enjoyed seeing the Homecoming Queen, Frances Kingsbury, and the bands of the respective schools between halves of the game. The fine weather and the score of the football game were the largest contributions to the success of Homecoming.

The crowd that saw the Homecoming game was no larger than the one that saw the Homecoming parade as it wound its way downtown during the forenoon.

College organizations entering the best floats in the parade were: first, the college Y. M. C. A., with its depiction of a University hospital; second, Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, with a pioneer prairie schooner; and third, the Engineers' club with its locomotive, the delight of children who watched the parade. Gamma Phi Beta sorority won first place in the automobile division of the parade, with its group of cars depicting automobile evolution, beginning with a 1902 Model Ford and ending with a 1932 Lincoln. Phi Omega Pi sorority won second place with a similar depiction.

Alumni were entertained again during the evening, first at an alumni banquet in Ceres hall and later at a Homecoming dance. The Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity trio, Lois, Rudrud, tap dancer, Coach Leonard Saalwaechter with his movies of the Olympic contests, and a trio from WDAY furnished the entertainment. The repeat was in the nature of a chicken supper.

The Homecoming dance in the physical building climaxed the day's entertainment. An unusually fine crowd was present, with Birch Horton's Collegians furnishing the music.

Receiving the award of a buffalo robe given to the graduate coming the farthest distance for Homecoming were Mr. and Mrs. Foss Narum, Northampton, Mass., who came almost 2,000 miles to win the prize.

Buffalo barbecue sandwiches were served during the day at the main entrance to Dacotah field.

A small Bison booster club has been organized in San Francisco, Cal. Its membership consists of Lawrence Parsons, Chris Haas, Adolph Pahl and Ben Kouba. With the exception of Mr. Parsons, all are graduates of the school of chemistry, and claim Lidgerwood as their home town. Mr. Parsons is a graduate of the school of architecture. They are all living in the same house and are cooperating in sending "fight" messages to the team.

Alpha Xi Beta sorority received a box of chocolates last Monday evening announcing the engagement of Kathryn Donahue to Edwin Johnston-baugh, Fargo. Their wedding will take place Nov. 8.

Phi Mu Becomes Sixth National Sorority At College Next Week

Alpha Xi Beta Learns of Acceptance By the National Sorority This Week—Installation Is Set for November 3, 4, 5 and 6—Rosella Olson Is President

Alpha Xi Beta, local social sorority of North Dakota State college has been granted a charter by Phi Mu, national sorority, according to a message received late Monday from the national organization. Installation will be held Nov. 3, 4, 5 and 6.

Phi Mu, the second oldest secret organization for women in the United States, was founded in 1852 at Georgia Wesleyan college for women in Macon, Georgia. It began its national expansion policy in 1904. Included among its honorary members are Robert E. Lee, Jefferson Davis, and Stonewall Jackson. There are now fifty-nine active chapters in the United States.

Alpha Xi Beta was organized five years ago with Gladys Syverud acting as the first president. Two years ago it petitioned Phi Mu, and last spring was inspected by Mrs. Clifford E. Rader of Columbus, Ohio, national president of Phi Mu.

Mrs. Carl A. Teet, sponsor and patroness, a member of Phi Mu from Zeta Eta chapter, University of Minnesota, and Mrs. Roy L. Humphreys, patroness, Phi Mu from Zeta Iota chapter at Lawrence college, Appleton, Wis., have been assisting the group.

Engineers' Magazine Staff Represented At Iowa Convention

Three Engineering Students To Attend Meeting At Iowa School This Week

Three State college engineers are attending the convention of the Engineering College Magazines, associated, at the University of Iowa, Iowa City, which began yesterday forenoon and continues until tomorrow evening.

The three engineering students are Edward Comm, editor-in-chief of the North Dakota State College Engineer, local publication, Erling Hedahl, business manager, and Paul Deal, circulation manager. They left for Iowa City early Wednesday morning.

The trip was made possible through contributions from faculty members in the school of engineering, according to Mr. Comm.

Engineering College Magazines, Associated, is composed of twenty-three publications at colleges and universities throughout the United States. The local magazine is not a member of the group.

CABINETS HAVE JOINT MEETING ON THURSDAY

Dr. Walter Lee Airheart, Rev. R. E. Conard, and Prof. Rudolf Oterson were speakers at a luncheon meeting of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. cabinets held Thursday noon in the banquet room of the college Y. M. C. A. building.

The theme of their talks was "Promotion of formal religious work on the campus." A committee composed of Dr. Airheart, Rev. Conard, Prof. Oterson, Mrs. C. A. Teet, Ruth Clausen and Thomas King was appointed to work out a program of discussion topics which will be discussed by the cabinets.

Another joint luncheon meeting of the cabinets will be held Monday noon, Oct. 31.

Guests at the Kappa Psi house over the weekend were: Gus Samuelson, Fred Galehouse, Albert Doerr, Phil Schmit, James Moore, Nels Brakke, Henry Winch, Herk Des Forges, Cy Rumreich, Glen Roberts, Oscar Hanson, Odin O'Gordon, Tom and David Lynch, Martin and Francis Whalen, C. V. Johnson, Lester and Chester Wold, Russell Hopper and E. A. Bare.

NOTICE

All varsity and freshman basketball candidates report to Coach Saalwaechter in the Physical Education building, Monday, Oct. 31.

MIDTERMS COMPLETED AFTER WEEK OF TESTS

After a seige of about a week, the last smattering of mid-term examinations has been administered at North Dakota State college.

Saturday of this week is the date when grades from the various classes will be handed in to the deans of the different schools.

Mid-term grades will probably be available by Wednesday of next week.

1933 Bison Receives Good National Rating In Press Association

Numerous Factors Are Involved In Judging of College Year Book

Scoring 780 points out of a possible 1000 in the National Scholastic Press association rating, the 1933 Bison is awarded a first class rating among college annuals, according to word sent out today from The Bison office.

Last year's annual, which was edited by Mart Vogel and was under the business management of Edgar I. Crewe, is the second yearbook in the past two years to achieve the first class rating in the national group. The 1932 Bison, edited by Miss Elene Weeks and Floyd Viel, also was given this rank of Class B, second only to the All-American rating given by the association.

Factors involved in the rating of college yearbooks by the National Scholastic Press association are many, according to Donald Fredrikson, editor of the 1934 Bison. Plan and theme of the book, administration and faculty sections, classes sections, organization sections, school life section, editing and make-up features, business and financial status; mechanical considerations and originality are all considered by the judges representing the association.

The 1933 Bison was an excellent book in most respects, according to the verdicts of Edward Marion Johnson and Fred L. Kildow, both of Minneapolis and both judges for the rating. Choice of durable and attractive book stock and covers was good and the general arrangement and makeup of the annual was carried on well, they say. Lack of originality was cited as the only major criticism of the annual. This was a critical feature added for the first time this past year in the association rating schedule.

Plans for this year's book are being pushed ahead steadily, Editor Fredrikson says. With the knowledge of last years work and with an insight into factors which may stand small improvements, chances for an even higher rating for the 1934 Bison are cited as good.

SENIOR STAFF GIVES ALL-COLLEGE DANCE

The first of the all-college dances sponsored by the Senior Staff during the school year will be held in Festival hall on Friday evening, November fourth.

Senior Staff, women's service organization, sponsors one all-college dance each term. These dances are given to promote friendship on the campus, and at the same time to raise funds to carry on the organization's service activities. Included among these are the annual freshman girl award, and the scholarship award made to a sophomore girl each year.

Among the weekend guests at the Theta Chi fraternity was C. Wesley Meyer, Sigma Nu from the University at Grand Forks and editor of the Dakota Student.

A box of chocolates was received by Gamma Tau chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma this week from Prof. Paul E. Zerby announcing his engagement to Miss Gwendolyn Gregg, a charter member of the local chapter.

BISON MEET MOORHEAD STATE TEACHERS TEAM TOMORROW AFTERNOON

Game With Nemzek's Dragons Gives Fans Last Chance To See Bison Play

REGULARS ARE READY

Moorhead Teachers May Prove Surprise Threat At Dacotah Field

Tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock, the undefeated Bison squad will engage "Sliv" Nemzek's Moorhead State Teacher college Dragons in the final home game of their 1932 schedule. This will be the last opportunity for the local fans to witness the Bison in action on Dacotah field, as the remainder of their schedule carries them into foreign ports.

It is possible that "Casey" Finnegan will play his whole squad this Saturday as a final test for the members who will make the eastern trip. Nevertheless, there will be no chances taken with a possible marring of the now unblemished record, and the regulars will be kept at hand in case the Dragons prove stronger than expected.

The Nemzek-coached team across the river does not seem as powerful as in past seasons, but their wins of the last two weeks over Winona and Bemidji may mean that the team is improving fast enough to remove itself from the "set-up" class. "Sliv" Nemzek says that he intends to save his regulars for his homecoming game week after next, but there aren't many who will forget the scare the Dragons gave the Bison a few years ago with a deceptive passing attack.

It should be a good scrap with plenty of action, and all the rooters for the Bison should be there and give the team a final send-off.

Frances Kingsbury Is Featured In Papers

State Co-eds Bring Press Notice Throughout Nation

North Dakota State college co-eds are bringing their share of recognition to the college just as the thus far undefeated Bison football eleven has been doing.

The second co-ed to have received prominent mention in newspapers of the country within the space of a little more than a month, Miss Frances Kingsbury, Bison Homecoming queen, has been pictured and featured in a number of daily newspapers during the past few weeks. Besides a prominent display in The Fargo Forum, Miss Kingsbury's portrait has been shown in the Minneapolis Tribune, the Minneapolis Journal, the Chicago Daily Tribune and several other newspapers. A painting of Miss Kingsbury was displayed in a downtown bank window during the past week.

Miss Audrey Houghlum, a sophomore student, caused much favorable comment last September when she led the national champion North Dakota 40 and 8 band at the Portland convention of the American Legion. Newspapers throughout the nation carried cuts of Miss Houghlum and notables at the convention heaped commendations on the feminine "drum major." It was Miss Houghlum's second convention, she having been an active participant in the 1931 convention at Detroit.

North Dakota's champion football team was entertained Wednesday evening at a supper given by the management of the Golden Maid cafe of Fargo. "Casey" Finnegan and Bob Lowe, coaches of the team, were honor guests.

LEGITIMATE BUSINESS

Merchants of Fargo and Moorhead have long been known as good boosters for North Dakota State college and the functions of that college, educational, athletic and social. They are eager to help push enterprises sponsored by the school and in return expect a similar help from the buying students.

Often, in the past, these merchants have been preyed upon by advertising racketeers, unauthorized by the college and dealing in schemes involving things from blotters to score cards, programs for this and programs for that, and other uncertain, unofficial, unsatisfactory and uninteresting "brain chills" of this developed class of college racketeers. Legitimate business, one which desires to maintain an unblemished record and one which desires to give honest return for advertising expenditures in circulation and readability, must necessarily suffer from the deprecations of this type of self-appointed salesmen.

In these times of economic strife, the smart business man is measuring carefully the value of each dollar. While he is not hoarding his money, he is doing his utmost to so expend it as to give him the greatest return and the greatest commodity value that can be gotten. He is buying certain things which he knows have value, and is not investing in uncertainties such as the circulation and reader interest of illegitimate advertising schemes.

It is not difficult to cite numerous instances where utter misrepresentation of advertising value is carried out by the scheming racketeer. He has little reputation to uphold; his own, and not the advertiser's interest are uppermost, often to a prohibitive degree. He has no established business but relies on occasions to step in and exploit his schemes.

The business men of the two cities which are tribute to North Dakota State college, this section's most valuable asset, are finding that legitimate newspapers, serving the college and the city at regular intervals are the only worthwhile types of written advertising. They are finding that the racketeer advertising is like a peddler's stock of goods—it cannot be relied upon, it is of inferior value to that of established, tax paying business houses, and that no return may be hoped of business from the peddler, who is not established "on location" and who is not burden-sharing. Gambling in this stage of business development is out of the question—permanency and legitimacy is the watchword of today.

Schoenfelder Makes Army Trip

(As Told The Spectrum by Coach C. C. "Casey" Finnegan)

I was called to the president's office Wednesday evening.

"Casey, are you taking Walter Schoenfelder with you to West Point and Washington?" were the president's first words to me.

"How can I, Mr. President, when the Athletic association must economize so severely?" I replied. "If I take him I will have to leave a good man at home who has well earned the trip and whom I will probably need in the game."

"I hate to see a man who has done his best for four years, who is popular enough to be made captain of the team, and good enough to rank as an all-conference man last year, left at home because he broke his leg in the Brookings game a couple of weeks ago," the president said.

"Yes, it is discouraging all right, but while the gate receipts for the University game were good for this year, they are considerably short of what they were two years ago and it takes close figuring to make ends meet, Mr. President. You know the schedule is made up a year ahead and the income estimated on the basis of past receipts."

"Well Casey, I have a little surprise for you," the president said. "I have kept pretty well informed upon the situation and knowing that this crippled boy has amply earned the trip, I disposed of some tickets to the University game for out-of-town people, unbeknown to you, and those tickets were used by persons whom you would never have reached through your sales force. That enables me to hand you a check which will take Walter Schoenfelder with you as an extra traveler."

"I swallowed my Adam's Apple twice and said, 'I speak for every man on the football squad and for every member of the athletic staff of the institution, Mr. President, when I say that we appreciate this help from you.'"

"Well, Casey, the faculty wants every boy and girl who attends this college to have full credit for what he has done and fair play at all times and believing that Walter Schoenfelder has earned the trip I have taken this way of carrying out what I feel sure they would have wished me to do."

ROWDY REMARKS

Migawd! We finally won a Homecoming game. And last Saturday was a success in more ways than one—the registration of the school went up about 700—from the looks of the student section.

Victory made celebration easy—and, by the way, who were the "Pops" over at Brown's in Moorhead, who were worrying lest they be publicized in this blurb of "pointless inanities?"

Along with the blessing of victory we were slapped in the face by another edition of the "PULL PISON"—it is estimated that a couple thousand cash customers were sucked in on that journalistic airing of the gripe of a guy who can't take a fair beating as a man should. Our particular squawk is that we paid a good two-bit piece to see ads of three nationally known products—and that's pretty steep even if a not so good cover cartoon is thrown in to boot. (Columnist's note—Did I say journalistic?) (Editor of "Pull Pison's" note—Did you say columnist?)

An apology to them that wants it, and especially to one who deserves it.

Personal to Mr. Phoney Taber:—We agree with you—this is a lousy column—they're a bunch of "attempted, pointless witticisms." But how can you stand there, with your bare face hanging out, saying that and then put out a "PULL PISON" consisting of a blob of pointless half-witticisms—well, it's beyond us.

They say that "Honest Jawhn" Rooney came home for Homecoming. (Editor's note—It's nice of you to mention those two boys in the same column.) ("PULL PISON" note—Oh, so you still think it's a column, do you?)

Is this "Yellow Dog" club a secret organization? Or don't the old maids give a dam' any more?

Be good little boy, read lots of college humor magazines and "Whiz Bangs," and when you grow up you can put out a "Pull Pison"—that is, if you can remember all the stuff you read.

What this country needs is free coal and ten cents on the dollar—but not "PULL PISONS."

Ben Bernie, who may have acquired somewhat of a reputation band maestro in Chicago, has a sense of humor! The story gets around now that last spring one of the prom leaders decided to have the Bernie band down for the spring formal. The aforesaid promenade leader wired Ben asking how many pieces he would send for $300. Imagine the lad's embarrassment when he received the following breezy reply:

Dear Mr. (Blank):
"Will send three sheets of music and a piccolo player."
Ben Bernie."

Homecoming night, two students of the college were very, very blotto from giggle souping . . . they lost all sense of direction following the early evening festivities . . . Sunday morning they woke up on a train pulling out of Dilworth . . . Last reports have it that they signed the pledge early Monday.

Famous last line—(EDITOR'S NOTE * * * WHAT COLUMN?)

The following Kappa Delta alumnae returned for Homecoming: Dorothy Norby, and Dorothy Kretchmar, teachers at Crosby, Minn.; Gladys Mickelson, teacher at Kathryn; Hazel Narum, Northampton, Mass., Treasure Kheul, teacher at Overby, and Princess Egbert, teacher at New Rockford.

Oliver Blecken of Valley City, a senior in the school of engineering, has been pledged to the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Virginia Keen, '29, and Lang Russell, former students, are both located in Champaign, Ill.

George Bohlig, member of Alpha Kappa Phi, which is now Alpha Tau Omega, announced his engagement to Evelyn Sandman, Oct. 18.

Organizer for the Phi Omega Pi sorority at the University of Arizona, Joyce Peterson writes that she likes her work in Tucson very much.

GRADUATES NOW MAKE PLANS FOR ARMY GAME

A number of State college graduates are going to be present at West Point academy grounds on Saturday, Nov. 12, when the Bison meet the Cadets in an intersectional football battle, according to word received from Clark Fredrikson, '30, now a candidate for a master's degree at New York university.

Coming from New England and other east coast states, the alumni of the school are expected to set up a Bison rooster section at West Point which will prove an inspiration to the team.

"I felt like giving a shout this morning when I read in the New York Times about the Bison beating the University Sioux at the Homecoming game," Fredrikson said in his letter.

Work On East Lynne Progresses According To Professor Arvold

Richard Randlett, David Minard, Corrinne Lawrence Are Leading Characters

"Work on 'East Lynne' is progressing rapidly," says Mr. A. G. Arvold, head of the department of public speaking. "East Lynne" will be put on with the setting and costuming of its period much as "Ten Nights in a Barroom" was put on in the spring of 1931. Corrinne Lawrence plays the title role with Richard Randlett and David Minard. Presented in the Little Country Theatre Nov. 9, the play is expected to be as much a success as it was in the day of melodramas.

Of the former production, a May edition of The Spectrum says, "To the audible delight of packed houses the old melodrama, 'Ten Nights in a Barroom,' was presented by a remarkable well cast group of players. The atmosphere of the old time operahouse show with its 'rich and varied talent acts,' peanut vendors, and master of ceremonies was retained. Harold Peterson headed the cast which included Ruth Barrett, Betty Heaton, Maitland Wyard, Constance West, Walter Shamp, and Billy Grey."

According to the Tielenslan, the entire student body of the Mexican Indian Agricultural School went on strike as a protest against certain new methods of studies. Nothing daunted, the school immediately advertised for a new student body.

At the University of Berlin the students are permitted a period of six weeks in which to analyze and select their professors, according to the Upsala Gazette.

On The Campus

THE BISON is the college annual including within its covers the history of the year in athletic, social, and scholastic achievement. Fee for The Bison is included in the registration fee.

The BAND, including about sixty members, is divided up into the first and second bands, and the drum and bugle corps. Under the direction of Dr. Putnam, the band plays at every rally and game, and marches in all the parades in which the college takes part.

Students majoring in chemistry are eligible to join the CHEMISTRY CLUB. The object of the club is to promote interest in chemistry, and to get the chemistry students better acquainted. "The Retort," a quarterly magazine which keeps the alumni informed of college doings, is sponsored by the club.

The CERES HALL CLUB is an organization made up of all the girls living in the hall for the purpose of cooperation and a closer social relationship. It sponsors, through the Junior-Senior council, a pajama party for frosh, a Christmas party, and several other affairs.

SPECTRUM CRITIC

George Raft and Constance Cummings have chosen the Fargo theater as their playground this week in "Night After Night."

George is precisely in his element as the new owner of one of the largest speakeasies in New York city. Constance Cummings as the 'lone lady' meets him and decides that she has been alone too long. She calls him the 'Love Pirate'—for he does have a way of unintentionally stealing a woman's heart. Machine-gun bullets, cocktail parties, headaches and heart throbs intermingle with romance and George Raft and Constance Cummings make them interesting. These two stars are Hollywood's latest addition to the film world and they are coming to the forefront to stand in the ranks of the "headliners" in the filming of the better pictures of today.

Showing Wednesday and Thursday at the State theater was "Horsefeathers," featuring the four famous Marx brothers. The quartet was as silly as possible in this show, with Groucho and Harpo taking the honors as usual. Their type of humor is of the simplest but nevertheless is good enough to produce plenty of laughs.

The colors of Syracuse university before the adoption of Orange were Rose-pink and Pea-green.

Playing one of the toughest games that they have encountered or will have, during the 1932 season, North Dakota State are able to retain their unblemished conference lead by defeating the University of North Dakota in the Bison Homecoming game to the tune of a 7-6 score. The two teams were more evenly matched than they have been in years, and the score is truly indicative of the type of ball displayed by both teams.

The winner of the game could not have been picked until the final gun was fired as the battle was one of the nip and tuck variety of which one so often hears and very rarely sees. The game turned out to be an excellent demonstration of "Big Ten" football played on a local field.

Fans Travel Far

Fans came to our campus from both the east and west coasts to view the contest, and everyone left the field feeling satisfied that they had witnessed a good afternoon of football, packed with thrills which will not be forgotten for quite some time. Both teams were in prime condition and extraordinary weather conditions climaxed what turned out to be a turning point for the jinx that has followed the Bison-Nodak settos for the past seven years.

The Bison line is to be complimented upon the manner in which they repelled the thrusts offered by the Nodak aggregation. There wasn't a substitution made throughout the game in the State forward wall. Meyers and Jacobson playing their regular positions as ends, gave the Nodaks plenty to worry about. They were in the center of every play when playing on the defensive and their offensive participation was almost flawless. Jacobson's punting pulled the State-men out of dangerous territory several times, and helped to keep the game in mid-field.

Platt and Peschel, playing their first year as varsity regulars, were tough spots for the University. There was very little yardage made through the tackles, and they did excellent work in breaking through the Nodak wall while playing offensively. Platt is only a junior this year, and Peschel, a sophomore, and if their present performances continue they will help to form a 1933 line that will be as strong as this year's.

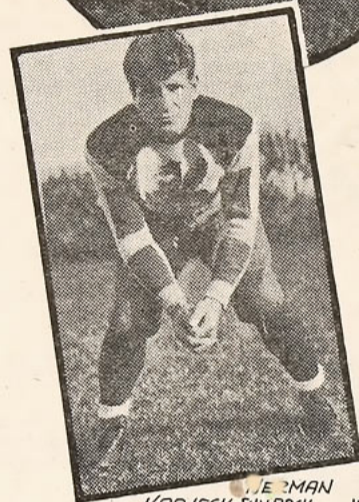

Veterans Do Well

It is needless to say that Jahr and Orness continued their all-conference style. They are both playing their last year of varsity competition, but they are going to earn themselves and their school a great deal of honor and glory. Jahr was at the bottom of every tackle that was made on his side of the line and frustrated several end runs that were placed on his half of the field. Orness did extremely effective work on the defense and offense alike, teaming with Jahr to play one of the strongest games of his career.

Paris, playing his regular position at center, worked in a "battering-ram" fashion. He was constantly charging through the Sioux wall and dropping the ball-carrier in his tracks behind the line of scrimmage. Paris completed the ideal line formation of the Bison, which showed stamina in holding the Nodaks during the entire game.

The only substitutions made by Finnegan during the entire contest were made near the close of the first quarter, when Schollander, McKay and Hanson replaced May, Gove and Fisher. Gove and May, sophomores, demonstrated an ability to elude prospective tacklers on their line drives, and performed in regular varsity style. Fisher, a back from last year, had some difficulty in getting started, but was soon able to find himself, and gave the University tacklers a good deal of exercise on his jaunts around the ends.

Schollander Makes Score

Schollander maintained the pace he had set for himself in the Oklahoma City game and increased it somewhat when he found the ball in his arms as a result of a Nodak fumble. He raced 57 yards for the lone Bison touchdown. At this point of the game one of the best examples of quick thinking of the contest was shown by Roman Meyers. Meyers sensed what was happening and followed Schollander to ward off Malo of the University, who attempted to overtake him. Jacobson kicked the goal and accounted for the extra point which proved to be enough to win the game.

Fritz Hanson, the Bison speed ace, was a constant threat to the University players. He played the pluckiest ball displayed on the field, took more than his share of punishment, and was usually the first to emerge from the pile when the whistle had blown. The Sioux backs and linemen experienced plenty of trouble in attempting to stop him and he was constantly making yardage.

McKay Aids Defense

The Bison fullback, McKay, got away for several long gains on his line plunges and spinner plays, and played a remarkable defensive game. He teamed with Selliken, quarterback, and the only backfield man to play the full time, in displaying good tackling. McKay was acting captain for the Bison.

Many critics have lauded Selliken for the manner in which he governed the team from his position at quarterback, stating that his work during the second half and his choice of plays, showed good generalship.

Not all of the playing was done by the Bison, however, as the University players were performing in a manner which offered the strenuous competition and which forced the Finneganmen throughout the contest. Their touchdown came as a result of a fumble made by Fritz Hanson on his own 40-yard line. Three plays later, Pierce, the Sioux "fleet-foot," broke away and ran 30 yards for their touchdown. Their try for extra point failed.

Pierce and Knauf were the outstanding threats for the Nodaks. They were both consistent ground gainers and hard to tackle. Revell, Cope and Leiboldt also performed in a very creditable manner, not only in carrying the

Bison Opponent Settles Feud
By 20-0 Margin

After dropping an early season game to the Pitt Panthers, one of the nation's leading teams, the Army eleven, Bison opponents on Nov. 12, leaped back into the national spotlight last weekend with a 20-0 defeat of Yale.

Due greatly to the touchdown ability of Albie Booth, Eli back, the Army had been losing a greater share of games with the New Haven college during the past four years. This year's team, under the captaincy of Milt Summerfelt, reversed the status completely at the West Point stadium last week.

Army backs who romped through the Eli cohorts for three touchdowns are Vidal, a Madison, S. Dak., boy, and Buckler, from Waco, Texas. Milt Summerfelt, the captain of the team, and a right guard for the Army eleven, starred on the Cadet line.

ball, but also in running interference and blocking and tackling.

Outstanding in the Nodak line were Captain Dablow and Tait on the flank positions; Wick and Meinhover, tackles; Malo and Mahowald, guards; and Sauer, center. A number of substitutions were made during the game on the Sioux lineup.

On Sunday Afternoons

A club for all Lutheran men and women students on the campus was formed last Sunday at a meeting in the college Y. M. C. A. Plans were made for weekly meetings to be held at 5 p. m. on Sunday of each week.

Renos Bonewell, Cooperstown, was named president of the newly formed group; Gerald Garlid, Cooperstown, vice president; John Kvaal, Saries, secretary, and Ingolf Thorson, Hatton, treasurer. Prof. Rudolf Otterson, instructor in history, and Erling Thorson, Y. M. C. A. secretary, were named as advisers to the group. Rev. Selmer A. Berge, pastor of the First Lutheran church, Fargo, will meet with the group

Last Sunday Rev. Carl B. Ylvisaker, professor of religion at Concordia college, gave a talk. Rev. Ylvisaker was also instrumental in helping in the formation of the new group.

Dear Elmer:

The other night Johnny Thorsell said there wasn't any chance to get on in the world any more. He said that old bunk about beginning with a shoe lace and working up was hooey. He knew a fellow who tried it and all he got was a slap in the face.

Gosh, Elmer, if the boys would only come in and look over them Ed. V. Price & Co. suits at $30 and see the better ones at $35, I bet you could work them up to one of those beauties at $45 or $50.

Hoping you are the same.

Aggie.

Bison Lead In Loop As Result of Games

South Dakota's Two Teams Are In Tie For Second

Last weekend wrought only one change in the North Central conference standings, even though there were two games involving four of the members. South Dakota State held Backman's eleven from South Dakota university to a scoreless tie. The battle was staged at Brookings in celebration of the annual "Hobo Day," which is the Bunny Homecoming.

The Bison victory over the University of North Dakota brought the only change in the standings, putting the Sioux down the list, while Morningside took a rest as far as conference competition was concerned.

The standings are as follows:

Team	Won	Lost	Tied	Pct.
North Dakota State	3	0	0	1000
South Dakota State	1	1	1	500
South Dakota U.	1	1	1	500
Morningside	0	1	1	000
North Dakota U	0	1	0	000

The only conference games scheduled for this weekend is North Dakota university vs South Dakota State at Grand Forks.

LIBRARIAN FINDS MEN LEAD AS NEWS READERS

That college men are better newspaper readers than college women was shown as the result of questionnaires filled out by college students, says Miss Harriet Pearson, assistant librarian at the college library.

On the checkup of reading, it was found that current event publications as the Literary Digest, Time, and Outlook were popular. Among the men, science magazines as the Scientific American, Popular Mechanics, and Popular Science were widely read. A discovery is that a good many men read the Ladies Home Journal.

It was found that the voluntary reading of the students was 96% fiction. A few chose philosophy or poetry. According to Miss Pearson a student that attended here several years ago gave as his preferred reading "Shorte Pomes."

Harry Rice, Beach and Oscar Harrison, Detroit Lakes, Minn., alumni of Kappa Psi fraternity, were visitors at the chapter house this week.

MORTAR BOARD PRESIDENT HERE

Concluding her visit with Senior Staff, senior women's service organization, Mrs. Frances Coleman left this morning for Grand Forks in company with a group of college faculty women.

Mrs. Coleman is national president of Mortar Board, national honorary service organization for senior women, and it was in her capacity as representative that she visited the North Dakota State college.

After her arrival yesterday morning she was entertained at breakfast by members of the active and alumnae group in the Powers hotel. Luncheon was served in her honor in the Gamma Phi Beta apartment at noon. Ten alumnae women were present including Ruth Whitney, Agnes Weible, Marian Bender, Alice Bender, Geraldine Ewald, Dorothy Smith, and Ovidia Carstens. Veronta Weppeler, president of the active chapter, Miss Pearl Dinan, Miss Esther Latzke and Miss Mathilda Thompson were also guests. Miss Whitney had charge of arrangements.

Fall flowers were used for decorations at the dinner served in the home of Miss Latzke at 1001 College st, for Mrs. Coleman and members of the active chapter. Assisting Miss Latzke were Veronta Weppeler and Eleanor Johnson.

Accompanying Mrs. Coleman to the university this morning were Miss Dinan, Miss Latzke, Miss Thompson and Miss Frances Lamb.

ALPHA SIGMA TAU HOLDS PARTY

Alpha Sigma Tau, social fraternity, will hold its first party of the fall term at the college Y. M. C. A. tomorrow evening.

Decorations will be in a modernistic motif, featuring a large lighted centerpiece, according to Robert Landbloom, who is in charge of the party. Innovations are being planned for the dance program.

Guests at the party will include Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Finnegan and Capt. and Mrs. J. B. Conny George Collings and his orchestra will furnish the music for the dancing, which will last from 8:30 until 11:30.

Assisting Mr. Landbloom with arrangements for the party are Clair Peterson, Frederick Martin, Phillip Kiefer and Emanuel Smith.

THETA CHI HAS PARTY SATURDAY

With a Halloween theme to be used in the setting for the informal dancing party, Phi chapter of Theta Chi fraternity will entertain at Festival hall from 8:30 to 11:30, Saturday evening.

Chaperons for the affair are Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Lowe and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Williams with Leon Hartwell of the college faculty as a guest. Arrangements for the party are being carried out under a committee headed by Miles Formo.

Following the several hours of dancing and features, the hosts and their guests will go to the fraternity home, 1307 13 st N, where refreshments are to be served.

Approximately seventy couples are expected to be present at this first party of the fall term season for the fraternity.

Helen Fredrikson, Gamma Phi Beta, will spend the weekend at her home in Davenport.

John Rooney, William Becker, Jack Grohnke and John Bond were among the guests at the Theta Chi house over Homecoming.

The Mothers' club of Theta Chi fraternity held their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night at the fraternity house.

Three Sigma Phi Deltas, Erling He-dahl, Paul Deal and Edward Comm left Wednesday for Iowa City to attend a convention of the College Engineers Magazine. They will return Sunday.

The pledge chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority has elected the following officers: Betty Bickert, president; Alice Larson, vice president; and Vera McCullough, secretary-treasurer.

Kappa Psi pledges elected the following officers: Edward Hanson, president, and Elmer Bjornerud, secretary-treasurer.

KAPPA SIGMA CHI HONORS PLEDGES

Active members of Kappa Sigma Chi, social fraternity, will honor their pledges tonight with a dancing party in the college Y. M. C. A. between the hours of 8:30 to 11:30.

Greydon Owens is in general charge of the party and he is assisted by Gale Monson, Merlyn Jahr, Stanley Thompson and Ralph Hanson. A Halloween theme will be used in the decorations, with a Halloween lunch being served during the evening.

Chaperons will be Prof. and Mrs. Rudolf Otterson and Dr. and Mrs. D. S. Dedrick. Johnny Driscoll and his Rhythm Aces will supply the music.

SORORITY HOLDS ANNUAL BANQUET

Kappa Delta sorority held a formal founder's day banquet at the Powers hotel at 6:30 Sunday evening with Mary Healy in charge.

Covers were laid for sixty which included patronesses, active members, alumnae, and pledges. Colors of green and white and white Kilarney rose were used for decorations.

Toasts were given by Inez Hanson, Anderson, alumna; Frances Kingsbury, active member; and Betty Kretschmar, pledge member.

Kappa Delta was founded in 1897 at Virginia State normal, Farmville, Va., by Julia Tyler, Sara Turner, Mary Sommerville Sparks, and Lenore Ashmore. It has 74 active chapters and 81 alumnae groups.

HOME ECONOMICS PRESIDENT SPEAKS

Miss Frances Zuill, director of home economics at Iowa university, Iowa City, president of the National Home Economics association, addressed the students of the home economics department at North Dakota State college in the Little Country theater Wednesday at 4 p. m.

After her address a tea, sponsored by Phi Upsilon Omicron, was given in her honor.

MORTAR BOARD HEAD IS GUEST

Mrs. S. D. Coleman of Lincoln, Neb., national president of Mortar Board, was a guest of the Senior Staff of North Dakota State college on Thursday. Mrs. Coleman stopped off in Fargo on her way to Grand Forks to inspect Mortar Board at the University of North Dakota.

Alpha Xi Beta sorority received a box of candy last Monday evening announcing the engagement of Constance Martin and George Probstfield, Sigma Phi Delta.

Word has been received here that the marriage of Mary McLane and Wallace Lovness, alumni of North Dakota State college, took place in Camden, N. J., Friday, Oct. 21.

Jack Lund, John Stanbaugh, Don Andres, Mathew Braus and Edward Kacourek were among the alumni present at the Alpha Sigma Tau house over the weekend.

"Boomer" and "Rip" Dablow, Bill Harris, Lawrence Reichert, Phi Delta Thetas; Byron Spielman, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and "Duke" Martin Theta Chi, are listed among the university students who were guests at Theta Chi fraternity here Homecoming.

Guests at the Alpha Tau Omega house for Homecoming were: Cliff Bowman, Glen Gorder, Claud Miller, Philip Bois, Charles Fleming, Lawrence Niles, Wood Jones, Bud Addy, Rolfe Eggers, Edward Olson, Fritz Olson, Duane Nuenschander, Kenneth Johnson, Wilbur LaMare, Foss Narum.

Bishop Magee Gives Talk At Convocation

Mexican Orchestra Presents Concert At Assembly

"Seeing Opportunities," an address by Rev. J. Ralph Magee, bishop of the St. Paul area of the Methodist church, featured convocation this morning in Festival hall, the second of the week. The Ramos Mexican orchestra of stringed instruments presented a concert of Mexican music on Wednesday morning.

Bishop Magee was formerly pastor of the First Methodist church of Seattle, Wash., a church requiring a budget of one hundred thousand dollars per year. Besides being popular in the city of Seattle, Rev. Magee is well known on the Washington university campus. This evening he will be entertained at a reception in the First Methodist church.

Dressed in native costumes the Mexican family played and sang a program of music which was applauded generously. The song "Rio Rita" was especially received. Rosa Ramos and her sister sang and played Mexican instruments.

The Ramos orchestra built up a radio popularity over station WEAJ, New York, and presented programs in both the Hotel Astor and the Hotel Pennsylvania.

We See By The Spectrum...

Well, now that Homecoming and Homegoing are over, we get back to the more commonplace things, such as going and trying to write mid-term exams. However, the Gamma Phis are still up in the air, or I mean they are still living in their second story apartment, and the Sigma Chis have disposed of their porch swing. The Xi Betas are still excited over going national and the Delta Taus are still going native. The Alpha Gams have all become bungalow bugs and are using only the ground floor for their mild activities. The Kappa Kappa's cars are refusing to start, which is an indication that Old Man Winter has started to blow his wintery blasts. The Theta Chis are still strong on apples since we beat the U. They and the A. T. O.'s are thinking it is a long ways to West Point and the Delta Sigs think the Kappas really should move into bigger quarters for the winter. The K. D.'s are set for the winter because the Queen still has her big smile to drive away hardship and cold. The Sigma Phi Deltas are still drawing lines across the campus but still nobody seems to be able to find the sidewalks when dinner can be reached by a more direct path. An indication of a mild winter is the fact that the Gamma Rhos have not banked their house. The Kappa Psis are dreaming of a nice long winter rolling pills for all our ills, and from all reports are doing swell. The Sigma Taus are as proud as ever of Big Jake because it was his dainty toe that helped make our Homecoming such a howling success. The Pops are still popping merrily and are as content on their little corner as Jack Horner was in his. If it doesn't snow too soon, winter won't be here so early this fall.

Irma Weinberger, Alpha Xi Beta, spent last weekend as the guest of her sister, a student at St. Benedict's college at St. Cloud, Minn.
