

Increase Is Expected In 1932 Enrollment By College Registrar

Transcripts of Records From
Other Schools Indicate
Big Upper Classes

FEE IS MISUNDERSTOOD

Records Fail To Show Unusual
Migration To Other Schools
By Former Students

Indications are that the 1932 freshman class will be about twenty percent larger than that of last year, according to A. H. Parrott, college registrar. The registrar's office has had much heavier correspondence than it ever has and there have been many room reservations. However, the request for assistance in the way of employment has been no more significant of difficulty than it has been for the last three or four years, stated Mr. Parrott, while on the other hand the payment of room reservation fees has been much more general and prompt.

Transcripts of records from other institutions indicate also that there will be a large influx of new students in the upper classes. One or more such transcripts have been received at the registrar's office from each of the other colleges of the state and the university. Other schools represented are Moorhead State Teachers college, Concordia college, Park Region Luther college, University of Notre Dame, University of Minnesota, Purdue university, Carleton college, Rockford college, Luther college, Marquette university, Moravian college and Theological seminary, Colorado State Teachers college, Wartburg Normal school, and Eureka Lutheran college.

"The number of transcripts sent out to other institutions during the summer does not indicate any unusual migration of former students. There is, however, an indication that some former nonresident students have failed to understand that the recently established increase in the nonresident fee would not affect them. This is to be regretted, since generally these transfers mean increased expense to the student without a compensating increase in educational opportunity," Mr. Parrott said today.

Two Instructors Join College Faculty Group

Sergeant White Replaces Chris
Culpepper In Commissary
Department Here

Two new men, Dr. I. B. Douglas of the chemistry department and Major Schlaepfer of the military department, are initiated into the State college teaching staff with the opening of the fall term.

Dr. Douglas comes to Fargo from Lawrence, Kansas, where he completed his graduate work at the Kansas State university. He will teach organic chemistry here. He has also taught organic chemistry in the Monmouth city high school and in the Kansas Junior college.

Replacing Lieutenant Fay Smith, in the department of the military instruction, is Major Schlaepfer, who comes here from Fort Benning, Georgia, where he has been enrolled in the Advance Infantry corps. Lieutenant Smith has returned to Fort Benning to attend the Tank school conducted for army officers.

Another change in the military department is the replacement of Sergeant Chris Culpepper in the commissary department, by Sergeant Richard White. The school will lose a local landmark when Sergeant Culpepper, long a figure in college military circles, is retired from government service after thirty years' duty. Sergeant White, who has been stationed here for the past year, will take over Culpepper's duties on October first.

WE BID YOU WELCOME!

Speaking for the Faculty, I bid the Freshman Class a cordial welcome to the college.

Coming from the high school, as most of you do, you will find that you are thrown upon your own initiative and responsibility much more than you have been heretofore. There is no supervised study at college, and you may think little notice is taken of the individual student. If you think that is the case you are mistaken for, while the faculty members may say nothing about it, I assure you that they are observing you closely and that your standing and reputation at the college are being made daily from the time you arrive here.

Getting into the right habits in the matter of study, play, and the other college activities, which are grouped together as extra curricular activities, and the preservation of your health are things to be learned early in the freshman year since they usually result in the individual gaining the prized reputation of being a good student and of being a successful man or woman through life.

In order that new students may get acquainted with the campus buildings and grounds and have the guidance and advice of individual faculty members and of the older students, a few days are devoted to the freshman class at the opening of school. This is called Orientation Week.

To be a freshman at this time with the opportunities for learning that are at hand is indeed fortunate. Never before has there been so much information available to the seeker after knowledge.

You will find professors at this college friendly and interested in you and, while they will give you long, hard lessons and difficult problems to work out, you will find that if you get the lessons assigned each day you will always be able to make a creditable recitation when called upon, also that your college course will be successful and one of life's greatest satisfactions to you.

In these days it is very necessary to know how to do the things to be done and to do them in a workmanlike manner, but what is of more interest to you is the fact that the person who knows how to do the work well is usually working under the direction of the man or woman who not only knows how but knows why. I urge you, therefore, to learn why as well as how. The faculty of this college make a strong point of teaching you the why of things.

Get acquainted with the buildings, grounds, class rooms, laboratories and the Library. Get comfortably settled in your living place; make your church connections, and so be ready to pursue your studies and college activities without having to give these matters particular thought when the regular class work begins.

Speaking for the faculty, again let me bid you a most cordial welcome to this college.

Pres. J. H. Shepperd.

Campus Sisters Help During Orientation

Movement Sponsored By YWCA
To Aid Freshman Girls
At State College

The Campus Sisters of the North Dakota State college have been at work most of the summer getting acquainted with the incoming freshmen women. They have corresponded with new girls during the summer and have made extensive plans to facilitate their adaptation to college life.

The Campus Sisters is a group of girls selected by the college Y. W. C. A., on the basis of service to the college and leadership in college activities, as well as outstanding work in the Y. W. C. A.

To further aid the young women, the "Y" is sponsoring an information booth and a gathering place in Main building which is open to all girls. Aurora Haas is in charge of the information booth and Eryls Hill is hostess at the Campus Sister center, where any girl who has no "Sister" may come and be assigned to one. In this way it is hoped that no new girl will be overlooked.

In addition to these duties, the Campus sisters will accompany their proteges to the opening football scrimmage on Friday, the freshman party and mixer on Saturday evening, the freshman girls' breakfast on Sunday morning and the freshman supper on Sunday evening.

The group of Campus sisters include Dorothy Rutherford, Aldyth Pinkham, Lillian Stotlar, Margaret Dadey, Luella Furcht, Jeanette McComb, Mary McNair, Rhoda Clausen, Aurora Haas, Marion Van Vorst, Eleanor Johnson, Genevieve Skinner, Donald McDonald, Ora Hammerud, Ruth Clausen, Virginia Garberg, Ethel Cone, Eva Sherwood, Jeanette Naftalin, Marjory Archer, Mary Powers and Ruth Barrett, all of Fargo; Paula Verne, Helen Lee and Elva Eklund of Moorhead; Amy Oscarson of Weyburn, Sask.; Ellen Saarela, Jamestown; Amanda Adams, Anamoose; Rosalin Johnson, Starkweather; and Betty McMorrin, Lawton.

I should like to compliment the new Spectrum staff for giving the college this opportunity of welcoming the freshman students and all other new college students. As Dean of Women I extend a hearty welcome.

I should like to have new women students call on me in my office in the Main building as frequently as they wish. It is but natural that many difficulties and problems will present themselves during these first days; and it may be that I can help find a way to solve them or that I can direct you to the member of the faculty who will help you. The room outside my office is being used as a meeting place for new girls and Campus Sisters. We want you to work, and we want you to play. In your work and play we want to be your friends.

Pearl Dinan,
Dean of Women.

To the Freshman Class, I join with The Spectrum staff in extending a hearty welcome to the North Dakota State college.

I wish to extend to the members of the staff my hearty congratulations for their fine attitude in making possible this issue of The Spectrum for the new students. Such efforts should aid the new student in becoming acquainted with the college, its ideals and traditions.

I hope that the students entering the college for the first time will appreciate the efforts of the staff in placing before them this issue of the college paper and give them their best support throughout the year.

I. W. Smith,
Dean of Men.

Among the members of Gamma Phi Beta sorority who will attend schools outside of the state this year are: Katherine Lindley, Yankton college, Yankton, S. Dak.; Madelon Miller, Chicago Art Institute; and Dorothy Holes, University of Minnesota.

Roger Smith returned Thursday from Pipestone, Minn.

1500 Applications Received For Work

Fargo Commended On Cooperation
By Employment Bureau
In Placing Students

Fifteen hundred applications for part time jobs have been received at the North Dakota State College Employment Bureau, according to Mrs. Psyche Gooden, director. All the applicants have money for clothes, tuition and incidental expenses.

"The people of Fargo have given splendid cooperation in the placement of students," says Mrs. Gooden. Over one hundred girls have applied for board and room positions, all of whom have been placed. She also cites that the class of people who are applying for work now are of a much higher class than in former years.

Requests have come from students in New York City, Illinois, Alabama, Iowa, North Carolina and Ohio. However, the bureau is attempting to provide first for those already in school and next for those within this section of the country who desire to enroll. Many students have remained in Fargo over the summer months in order that they may retain their former positions and be assured of a place this fall.

Although the number of steady jobs has decreased there is a great increase in the amount of temporary work offered the students.

Complete information is filed with each application as to needs, qualifications, ability and references from other employers. All the new students who wish to apply for work are urged to do so immediately.

Doris Lathrop Guest

Miss Doris Lathrop who will leave next Wednesday for Seattle, where she will attend the University of Washington, has been the honor guest at several social functions recently. Miss Edris Probstfield entertained members of Alpha Xi Beta sorority at a handkerchief shower for Miss Lathrop last Tuesday evening. Friday evening Mrs. Lathrop will entertain about thirty guests in honor of her daughter.

GENERAL REGISTRATION FOR FRESHMEN BEGINS ORIENTATION PROGRAM

To Acquaint Freshmen and New Students With College Is
Purpose of Program

FIRST RALLY ON MONDAY

Activities To Include Football
Scrimmage To Be Held
Friday Evening

An orientation program for new students has been arranged by the faculty and students of the North Dakota State college in order that freshmen may become better acquainted with the institution, the teachers, the campus and their classmates. This program began with registration this morning and ends on Wednesday, Sept. 21, with the beginning of classes.

Most of today will be given over to registration and consultations with advisers. In the evening there is to be a scrimmage football game which will be played under the newly installed floodlights.

Tomorrow registration will continue and in the evening the first freshman party and mixer will take place. It is required that all freshmen have their registration cards with them for identification. Dr. C. S. Putnam and members of the music department will furnish entertainment, and C. A. Williams will lead the students in group singing.

Breakfasts for the freshmen will be served Sunday morning at 8 o'clock. These breakfasts, which are served by the college christian associations, will take place in Ceres hall for the girls and in the Y. M. C. A. for the boys. After the breakfasts the students will be taken to the various churches.

At 1:30 p. m. Sunday a freshman dinner will be served in Ceres hall. Tickets for this will be issued to new students at the time of their registration. The freshman girls will meet with Dean Dinan in the Little Country theater in Main building at 3 p. m. The boys will meet with Mr. I. W. Smith, Dean of Men, at the college Y. M. C. A. at the same hour. At the close of these meetings all new students will be taken for a tour of the city. Cars for this trip are furnished by students and faculty members. At 5:30 p. m. supper will be served to all freshmen in the college Y. M. C. A.

The first rally of the year will be held in Festival hall at 9 a. m. Monday.

Y. W. C. A. CABINET TEA HELD THURSDAY, SEPT. 22

The traditional tea given by the governing board of the college Y. W. C. A. in honor of freshman women will be held in the reception room of the college "Y" building between the hours of 3 and 5:30 on Thursday, Sept. 22, according to Mrs. T. Worden Johnson, general chairman of the board.

Margaret Dadey, president of the Y. W. C. A., will receive the guests. Cabinet and board members will assist throughout the rooms. Eleanor Johnson, as program chairman, is arranging a program of instrumental music. Mrs. C. A. Williams has charge of decorations, which will feature fall flowers. Eryls Hill is social chairman.

The college and faculty women are invited to attend.

Lawritson Returns

Glenn Lawritson, instructor in education, has just returned from Nebraska, where he spent the summer attending the University of Nebraska at Lincoln and visiting with his parents.

Buck Kaercher, Cavalier, and a member of Kappa Sigma Chi fraternity, has returned to school after a year's absence.

NOTICE!

Get your books at the Y. M. C. A. book exchange. We have any second hand book you want.

TO THE FRESHMAN

This issue of The Spectrum, the first of the school year, we have dedicated to the Freshman.

It is meant to convey to the Freshman student the best and most sincere greetings of The Spectrum staff. We hope that it will contribute in large measure to giving him an "at home" feeling at the college.

After the orientation program is over and class work has begun, one of the principal aids in acquainting the Freshman with the work, activities, traditions, and personnel of the college will be The Spectrum. We hope that the first-year student will make use of it and show an interest in it by contributing to it occasionally, or by applying for a position on the staff.

Meanwhile, the staff again greets the Freshman and hopes that he will have the best of luck, in this, his first year of college.

A CHANGE

The recent financial upheaval that is receiving so much space in our thoughts and speech, and which has wreaked drastic changes in many of our plans, has worked one great good to the educational world. It has sifted the chaff to the top. The earnest scholar is left, the student whose sense of values permits him to see beyond the immediate sacrifices required.

Colleges and like educational institutions have harbored within the past fifteen years, a changing shape. Out of the post-war student, and the following era, when a degree meant quick and sure success, comes the present day type of American scholar, who for the first times strides into the institutions of higher learning conscious of a serious battle ahead, with determination and definite aim his keynote.

When today's freshman steps out in four years to begin his life's work, his degree will only be a means whereby he may enter. His work will not be hewn for him by a somewhat servile world. A chisel will be placed in his hand, and it will be for him to carve his own niche.

OUR CAMPUS

Students and faculty who have been away all summer may not have realized how very dry the weather has been. Those of us who have been here are rejoicing that now for the first time since spring the campus looks fresh and green. Would it not be worth while to take a very little trouble to allow it to stay that way as long as possible? With the new growth and moderately soft ground tramping will be especially injurious. The average person is inclined to think: "What harm does it do if I walk across the grass?" The answer is: "Very little—but some." Multiply this "some" by four times daily or by 100 for a hundred other people of equal rights and it spells destruction. A very little cooperation by everyone could work wonders with the appearance of the grounds.

Even the worst crank would not make it a crime to walk on the grass. What he most seeks is that we do not walk persistently in places where it is quite unnecessary. There may be a number of places where walks might be changed to advantage, but there are many more where thoughtlessness produces bare places which should cause everyone regret. Is it so necessary to save two steps or even a dozen when they are balanced by the additional exercise?

STATE SPIRIT

In these troubled times, when money has assumed an importance all out of proportion to the general scheme of things in governing the educational systems, antagonisms and petty enmities between state institutions have come to light.

Notwithstanding the fact that college spirit seems to have passed with the rah-rah collegian, each State College student has at heart a strong sentiment of loyalty for the institution, although he obscures it with a brusque manner and fortifies himself behind derogatory aspersions on the college at large. It is unfortunate that many of these criticisms, more times than not, written or spoken before reasons or possible justifications were looked into, find their way into student publications which travel all over the country. Competing schools seize upon these destructive criticisms with relish, and the flippant remark becomes an actual weapon to be used against the school.

There is so much to be done, and so much to be said for the good points of the institution. We wish to establish a general trend of thought and speech whereby we defend and help build the school whose name, whether good or bad, will be connected for the remainder of our years with us who derive from it education and principles.

PROSPECT

Many, who are entering college this fall, will never forget the experiences of this year. To them a high school commencement never meant so much as the commencement held in 1932. Part of their ambition for an education has been realized, and college life will be a new activity. Some are away from home for the first time and will find it difficult to choose, among so many strangers, new associates to take the place of old time friends. New habits will be formed, and so many things will be different. Teachers will do things in a different way. Much will be expected of the student and he may resent some of the criticism kindly proffered by the teachers or fellow students. He may not approve of these new ways, and he may be too outspoken in his disapproval before he understands the "why." He may develop or accept the feeling that the faculty as a body, is not a friend of the student. Be not deceived—success in college and in business, is dependent upon cooperation.

Talk with your advisers and with the administrative officers. You may be assured that they are deeply interested in your welfare and your happiness. Success of the college is promoted by your enthusiasm, and your future is, in turn, largely dependent upon the ranking given to your college. Seek out the good points of your school and tell them to your friends at home. Consider carefully your fault-finding, because your publication will reflect upon you. "First cast out the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye."

Your ranking here will depend on what you do here, not on what honors were heaped upon you when you were in the high school. You may be loyal to your high school—that is fine, but it is a past record and you must look ahead. Build your future and earn your "spurs."

Be not content the past to scan
 But let each one for life's work plan.
 Be not content with what's been done,
 With treasures gained or battles won,
 But keep continually in mind—
 "A higher mental plane I'll find,
 And for life's work, with greatest care,
 In all its parts, I will prepare."
 If one would win 'tis plainly seen
 Competition is now so keen,

That of one's job one must know more
 Than has been known in times before.
 In husbandry one must give heed
 To modern trends and those good seeds.
 And he must know about the germs.
 With microbes be on speaking terms.
 If one would play the teacher's art,
 In practice class he gets his start.
 Before one is an engineer,
 He learns the plan of yesteryear.
 He learns and studies with his work,
 The use of science wher'in lurk
 The truths of nature, yet untold,
 Which future students may unfold.
 With earnest zeal may all the youth
 In nature's storehouse seek the truth.
 (And now I'll write this story's end,
 In lines adapted from a friend
 Of college days, whom I admired,
 Whose earnestness my work inspired).
 And let them, in their search for knowledge,
 Think of the Agricultural College,
 Where we do work with manly pace,
 To win our fame and footing place;
 Where we believe that honest toil
 Is worth far more than victor's spoil;
 That work alone can give us cheer,
 To labor on for better year.
 And honor those who till the land,
 Reflective on our Pilgrim band.

FINNEGAN HAS STRONG GRIDIRON AGGREGATION FOR YEAR'S SCHEDULE

Coach Has Plenty of Material To Build Powerful Team At State College

PLAY FIVE HOME GAMES

Program Includes Clashes With West Pointers, Oklahoma, City University

By "CHUCK" FRENCH

C. C. (Casey) Finnegan, athletic director and head football coach at the North Dakota State college, expects to have one of the strongest teams ever known to fans in this part of the country. And not only the team, but also one of the most difficult schedules that has ever been drawn up for any aggregation in the North Central conference. The schedule includes games with Army at West Point, and George Washington university at Washington, D. C. However, not all of the good games will be played away from home, as Oklahoma City university, which is perhaps one of the strongest teams in the country, having won twelve consecutive games last season, will play here, and also the University of North Dakota, which is always a strong opponent.

With more than thirty-five candidates summoned to practice last Monday, the coach has a stronger group to work with than in any previous year. The line will be the mainstay of the team, having six lettermen returning for action. Heading the list will be Captain Walter (Dolly) Schoenfelder, all conference tackle, and his teammates, Bob

For the benefit of the new students who have registered at North Dakota State college for the coming year, we would like to take this opportunity to introduce our football captain, Walter "Dolly" Schoenfelder.

"Dolly" holds down one of the tackle positions on the team and last year was given an all-conference rating for his exceptional performance.

getting started last season, but who showed up exceptionally well in the last two or three games of the season; and Maurice Ellingson, who was shifted late last season to the backfield reserve section and performed in a very creditable manner when the opportunity presented itself.

However, there is no definite assurance that any man's position is a cut and dried affair on the team, because the competition will be overly keen. This competition is being offered by an exceptionally strong group of sophomores and the reserve candidates returning from last season. Most noticeable in this group are the backfield candidates which include Fritz Hanson, Leo Geiteis, Arthur Stege, William Krause, Walter Jahnke, Arthur Morris and Wendell Schollander.

The regular line candidates will have to ward off the opposition that is being offered by the following sophomores and reserve linemen: Harold Miller, James Thompson, Kenneth Pirnie, James Creighton, Paul Whyte, tackles; Charles Pederson and Earl Thomas, centers. E. H. Elwin, Harvey Erlemeyer, Richard Van Hook, Herbert Peschel, and Haven Kaslow, guards; James Berdahl, Wilbur Marquardt, and Lyle Stinson, ends.

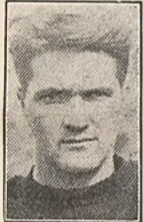

The complete 1932 schedule is as follows: Sept. 23, Concordia, here; Sept. 30, South Dakota university, here; Oct. 8, South Dakota State, at Brookings; Oct. 14, Oklahoma City university, here; Oct. 22, University of North Dakota, here; Oct. 29, Moorhead State Teachers college, here; Nov. 4, George Washington university, there; Nov. 12, Army at West Point. and Nov. 24, Morningside college, at Sioux City.

BUNT IS GRID COACH AT DAKOTA WESLEYAN

Word has been received by the athletic department of the North Dakota State college that Paul Bunt, a former State college football star, has accepted the position of backfield coach at Dakota Wesleyan college, Mitchell, South Dakota. Bunt is best remembered for his pass-throwing, he and a teammate, Viv McKay, being especially adept at it.

Ellingson

Paris

Paris, center, Merlyn (Tugboat) Jahr and Clarence Orness, guards, and Roman Meyers and Milton Jacobson, ends.

The backfield is somewhat of a puzzle at present because of the number of candidates available which are presumably of the same caliber. The loss of Paul Bunt, which has broken up the effective passing combination of Bunt to McKay, will be greatly felt, and there is a possibility of switching Roman Meyers to the backfield to fill this gap. These changes are expected to cause some loss of weight behind the line, but this will be made up for in increased speed.

Vivian McKay, a veteran ball-carrier and consistent ground gainer, is the most seasoned backfield man to report for action. Other veterans making strong bids for positions as ball-toters include Joe Selliken, who was shifted from the line about the middle of last season, and who is expected to fill the place left vacant last year by last year's captain, Cy Lonsbrough; Johnny Fisher, elusive halfback who was late in

New Rifle Gallery Built In Gymnasium During Past Summer

Conmy Supervises Installation Of Equipment On State College Rifle Range

Among the changes that have been made on the State college campus during the summer months, the most noticeable will be the, new indoor rifle range. The range, which has been formerly housed in Festival hall, has been moved to the basement of the Physical Education building. While the improvements in equipment will the floor plan is essentially the same, make the new range much safer.

The new range will afford seven men firing lanes and at the same time will give each man an opportunity to fire from the four positions, standing, sitting, kneeling, and prone. This is made possible by a new system of target changes, the targets now being operated on a pulley which is regulated by the man firing. This one item does away with the chance of anyone being accidentally injured while changing targets, which has heretofore been a grave problem, but from which, fortunately, no accidents have occurred.

The target end of the range has been constructed along the lines of latest research in regards to safety. A steel plate a quarter inch thick extends across the room behind the targets, forming an angle of forty-five degrees with the floor and the top edge being seven feet from the floor. The bullets will be deflected from this to a sand pit which is built into the floor directly below it. The targets are to be lighted from above by means of five floodlights, each carrying 500-watt bulbs. A row of floodlights may be placed across the room at the base of the targets if need is found for them.

The whole range is constructed with the idea of permanency in mind. The gun racks and lockers are set in concrete, as is everything that goes into the floor.

According to Captain J. B. Conmy, coach, and under whose supervision the range was constructed, the new range will accommodate more men in less time than has been possible before.

State Cross-Country Team Meets Minnesota University Oct. 15

Coach Asks Yearling Distance Men Interested To Report As Soon As Possible

The North Dakota State college cross-country track team will hold its annual meet with the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis, Oct. 15, according to word received by Coach Leonard Saalwaechter, track and field coach at North Dakota State college.

Heading the veterans who have been training through the summer months is John Warner, Mapleton, who won second place in the two-mile run at the conference track meet held last spring.

Bison To See Action With Big Ten Teams

Saalwaechter To Open Season In Physical Education Building Dec. 10

While the sporting public turns its attention to the great American game of football, L. T. (Saaly) Saalwaechter, head basketball coach, is laying plans for one of the toughest basketball schedules ever attempted by a North Central conference team. Included in the list of games is a trip throughout the middlewest listing the major contenders for basketball laurels in the mid-continent. Prominent places on the schedule are taken by two of the Big Ten teams, namely the University of Illinois, and the University of Iowa. Other prominent teams to be played on the excursion include the University of St. Louis at St. Louis, Mo., James Millikin U. at Decatur, Ill., and Northwestern college at Naperville, Ill.

In all probability, this year's team will be built around big Bob Weir, giant center of last year's aggregation. Teaming with Weir will be the brilliant "Viv" McKay, big gun of last year's squad, and Don Arthur, another star from last year's quint. On hand to assist these regulars will be Jimmy Berdahl and Arnold Mickelson, reserve guards from last season. In addition to these veterans, Saaly hopes to recruit much material from the ranks of last year's exceptional freshman squad.

The schedule is as follows: Dec. 10, Moorhead State Teachers, Fargo. Dec. 20, University of St. Louis, St. Louis, Mo.; Dec. 29, James Millikin U., Decatur, Ill.; Dec. 30, University of Illinois, Champaign, Ill.; Dec. 31,

Organizations Offer Varied Scholarships To College Students

Rewards Based On Leadership, Excellence In Character, High Scholarship

Many rewards are offered to students at North Dakota State for high scholarship and general excellence in character, loyalty, and leadership.

Among the scholarships offered to girls are: the Irene Leimbacher Memorial Scholarship of $50, which is available to a senior woman of the college who is dependent in part at least upon her own resources. The Fargo-Moorhead Panhellenic association offers a scholarship of $50, which is available to a woman of the college. Senior Staff, honorary senior women's service organization, offers a tuition scholarship each year which is available to a junior girl who, in addition to possessing the other qualities on which the scholarships are based, has given service to the institution. Sigma Alpha Iota, national honorary women's music fraternity, maintains a scholarship for proficiency in music.

Masonic lodges offer two scholarships for men students. Siloh Lodge, A. F. & A. M., annually awards a $100 scholarship available to a junior man whose scholarship is high and whose need for assistance is outstanding. A similar award is made to a senior man each year on the same basis. Eastgate Lodge, A. F. & A. M., annually awards a $100 scholarship in mathematics and astronomy. The award is available to a senior student, either young man or young woman.

The Norman B. Black scholarship of $100 is awarded each year by the Fargo Rotary club to some member of the senior class of outstanding character, personality, and scholarship, who is recommended by a committee appointed for the purpose. Financial need is taken into consideration in considering the award.

Senior Staff and Blue Key, national honorary men's service organization, make awards each year to the freshman girl and boy respectively who makes the highest scholastic average during the first two terms of the freshman year.

The Phi Kappa Phi Prize is an annual prize of $25, presented by Mr. W. L. Stockwell through Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary scholastic fraternity, to the member of Phi Kappa Phi elected during the year who is superior in attitude, scholarship, and character.

FEATURES OF LYCEUM COURSE ARE UNUSUAL

A series of entertainments unusual both in nature and quality will be offered through the Lyceum course during this school year, according to Prof. A. G. Arvold. One of the outstanding programs, coming to the school Dec. 6, will be Bohumir Kryl, the world's famous cornetist, with his Symphonic Band of thirty-five pieces. With him will be three other famous musicians. Leta May, coloratura soprano recently of the Chicago Grand Opera; Josy Kryl-White, violin virtuoso; and Helen Rogers, harpist.

Students are admitted to all of the Lyceum course programs by presentation of their registration cards.

League Gives Welcome To First Year Women

Organization Consists of All Women At North Dakota State College

A welcome is extended to all freshman women at the North Dakota State college by the Women's league, Mary Powers, president, announced today.

The Women's League is an organization of all the women students of the college who automatically become members upon matriculation to the institution.

It is the purpose of the organization to furnish the machinery through which it may be possible for women students to participate in the activities of the college community and to make their specific contributions to the up-building of the ideals, standards, and traditions which are recognized as of especial importance in the development of an educational institution of this character, according to Miss Powers.

The Women's Senate is the governing board of the League and is represented by the following organizations on the campus: Student Commission, Women's Athletic Association, Cosmopolitan club, Art club, Senior Staff, Home Economics club, Ceres Hall club, Pan-Hellenic council, Young Women's Christian Association cabinet, Freshman commission, Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Xi Beta, Gamma Phi Beta, Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Phi Omega Pi.

Frank Clark, president of Delta Kappa Sigma fraternity, is convalescing from an appendix operation performed in August.

Seldin Catlin will attend the University of Minnesota this fall.

New College Calendar Is Adopted By Council To Shorten School Year

Change of Two Weeks Reduces Expenditures of Students For Following Year

With the opening of the fall term one week later than usual, the new shortened college calendar adopted by the college council during the summer is now in effect.

Adopting a calendar that is essentially different from that published in the annual for this year, the college council is inaugurating a school year shortened by two weeks, with the opening date set as September 16, and the completion of final examinations, Friday, June 2. To compensate for the two weeks thus taken, Saturdays will be used more freely for school purposes and the Thanksgiving and Easter recesses will each be reduced to a single day. The Christmas holiday will begin Saturday evening, December 17, and continue through Monday, January 2. The spring recess will extend from Wednesday, March 15, to Monday, March 20, inclusive.

The chief purpose of this condensed program is the reduction of costs to students and their parents, according to the registrar. Two weeks expense is thus directly saved, and because of the shortened recesses, fewer students will incur traveling expenses at Thanksgiving and Easter. Also, it is the belief of the faculty that a more effective school year will result from the change, for while the new program provides the standard number of effective school days, it provides too, for greater continuity of class work and hence for more effective instruction.

Copies of the new calendar are available in the office of the registrar and all students are being urged to inform themselves of the changes made in the program.
