Churchill Honored By Service Degree From Blue Key Fraternity

Presentation Made At Annual Recognition Banquet Last Night

Dr. O. O. Churchill, professor of agronomy, was awarded the annual Doctor of Service degree by Blue Key fraternity at the annual recognition banquet of the fraternity last night at 6:30 in the Lincoln Log cabin.

This award is made annually to some man of merit on or off the campus who has worked diligently for the good of the college. Dean Henry Bolley was the recipient of the award last year and Dr. C. S. Putnam was honored the year before that.

Dr. Churchill, since he came to the college in 1904, has been very instrumental in organizing the football team as a member of the Athletic Board of Control. He is president of that organization at the present time.

Guests at the banquet included active, honorary and faculty members of the fraternity, and representatives from service organizations in the city of Fargo.

Jack Vincent, president of the group, presided as toastmaster. William Gray was in general charge of arrangements assisted by Arthur Larson and Earl Grove.

College Instructors Continue Education At Home And Abroad

Four Faculty Members Plan Trips To Europe During This Summer

A number of North Dakota State college instructors will study in schools throughout the states and in Europe this summer.

Yvonne Fleury and Franz Werking, instructors in modern languages, will leave for Europe on the steamship Duchess of York this month. Miss Fleury will spend the summer at her home in Switzerland, while Mr. Werking will study at Nancy in France, and in October will go to Germany where he will study for two or three years. While in France he hopes to meet Henry Presler, former editor of The Spectrum, who is studying in Vienna. Helen M. Ewing of the home economics department, and Paul Jones of the department of architecture are contemplating trips abroad this summer.

Colleges and universities of many states are drawing instructors from the various departments of this college during the summer months. R. W. Warner and Archie Higdon of the mathematics department will study at the University of Southern California and Iowa State college, respectively. Kenneth Redman, pharmacy instructor, will attend the University of Wisconsin. From the chemistry department, C. J. Sunde, J. J. Tregoning, and L. F. Marcy plan to attend the Universities of Minnesota, Colorado, and Ohio, respectively. Glenn L. Lawritson, instructor in education, plans to attend the University of Nebraska. Nadine Buck of the women's physical education department has already left for Kansas State college, where she will act as physical education instructor during the summer session.

Varied plans are being made by other instructors. Dr. H. C. Hanson, head of the botany department, will study prairie vegetation in the grass lands of western North Dakota. Velva Rudd, assistant botany instructor, will act as major counselor at a southern Minnesota Campfire Girls' camp. Eugene W. Pettee, social science instructor, will continue his work on his doctor's thesis at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln. Studying foreign trades, Paul Zerby, economics teacher, will study either at the University of Chicago or in Washington, D. C.

Homer Huntoon, head of the department of architecture, plans to build a summer home at a Minnesota lake, in which he will use his knowledge of rustic architecture. He plans to do the major part of the work in construction and decoration himself.

Katherine Lindley, a senior in the school of science and literature, this week secured a position as art instructor at Yankton college, South Dakota. She has been prominent in the art department work here and is a member of the college art club.

Final Rites Held For Mrs. C. Waldron Thursday Afternoon

Members of College Faculty Are Pallbearers For Early Pioneer

Paying last respects to the memory of one of North Dakota State college's early pioneers, Mrs. C. B. Waldron, members of the faculty at the college and old friends from Fargo attended final rites at a Fargo funeral home late yesterday afternoon.

Although Mrs. Waldron had been in poor health for the last few years, her death Monday evening came as a shock to relatives and friends at the college.

Pallbearers at the funeral, all members of the college staff, included Dean H. L. Bolley, Dr. C. S. Putnam, Dr. A. D. Whedon, Prof. Edward H. Jones, A. H. Parrott and H. W. McArdle. Dr. Walter Lee Airheart, professor of religion, and William Ballou were in charge of the funeral service.

As wife of C. B. Waldron, oldest member of the State college faculty, in term of years, Mrs. Waldron played a leading role in the early development and organization of the college. She was the first librarian at the college and was the first woman to be married at North Dakota State. She became the wife of Mr. Waldron Dec. 24, 1891.

Born Lois Hooper, Nov. 7, 1861, Mrs. Waldron spent her early childhood in Portland, Me. She graduated from the State Normal school at Portland before coming to Fargo in 1888. Soon afterwards she became North Dakota State college's first librarian.

Howard Lewis, county agent at Cavalier, North Dakota, was a guest at the Alpha Gamma Rho house Sunday.

KATHRYN THARALSON GIVEN ALUMNAE CUP

Kathryn Tharalson, president of Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity succeeding Ora Hammerud, was awarded the Alumnae Scholarship cup given every year to the active girl maintaining the highest average throughout the school year. Miss Tharalson is a junior in the school of home economics, and has an average of 91 for the three terms.

The cup was presented by Miss Louise Fuller of the Kappa Alumnae association at the annual alumnae-active picnic held Monday, May 30. Ora Hammerud, junior in the school of science and literature, received the cup last year. This is the second year the award has been given.

Publications Board Elects Toman Head

Ulsaker Printing Company Wins Contract For Spectrum Publication

George Toman, a sophomore member of the board of publications, was elected as president of the group at a final meeting held yesterday afternoon.

Ulsaker Printing company, present publisher of The Spectrum, was awarded the contract to print the 1932-33 editions of the North Dakota State college biweekly. Bids of several printing concerns were opened and discussed by the board following the installation of the new members, selected in the spring elections of this year, and following the election of the officers.

To The "Embryo Menckens"

The Spectrum is an institution founded for the benefit of North Dakota State college and of the student body of that school. It is not an agency for attack from individuals to individuals, unless the occasion is one for the good of the college.

We recall rather vividly a published criticism of two years ago, which directed its fury on one of the pioneers of our school, a man who had spent more than twenty years in devoted work for North Dakota State college's welfare. The unfair criticism stressed a very minor detail, elaborated upon it and accomplished nothing except to hurt the feelings of Dr. C. S. Putnam, veteran leader of the Gold Star band.

Likewise, through the past several years of school, we have seen many published criticisms of individuals, and we have yet to see one which has truly accomplished any purpose except to cause dissension. The purpose of Student Opinions is to give a method for expression of constructive thinking among the student body.

Rather than see a repetition of past mistakes during the coming year, the editor of The Spectrum reserves the privilege of regulating the publishing of Student Opinions until an honest attempt has been made to gain contact with the person or institution to be the subject of the criticism. Much harsh feeling may be avoided, we feel, if the difficulties could be ironed out between the personalities involved using only a minimum of printer's ink. A better spirit of cooperation will result from this procedure.

A Year of Accomplishment

Despite the current economic depression, the past year has been one of distinct accomplishment at North Dakota State college.

The opening of the school year found enrollment at a high level, ranking well with any year in the history of the school. Large and outstanding classes have maintained standards of past years in many fields of activity.

A new era in athletics was ushered in at the college with the magnificent new physical education building. Both freshman and varsity football teams had good seasons, the former gaining the reputation as the speediest yearling team in the history of the college. North Dakota State college's basketballers lost but one conference battle to rule the North Central conference.

While other colleges have abandoned formal parties of all types, North Dakota State has been the scene of a number of successful formal parties this year. The Senior Prom tonight climaxes a colorful social season marked by the successes of the Military, Charity and Junior balls.

A more modern and large Bison was North Dakota State college's response to the example of other colleges in abandoning the idea of a yearbook.

Adopting a new style of uniform for its advanced officers came under one of the main projects of the year for the college military department.

Under the guidance of A. G. Arvold, founder of the Little Country theater movement in America, the college public discussion department sponsored a number of theatrical successes and personal appearances of nationally known figures.

The Bison Brevities, this year an all-college show again was presented by talent from the college student body. This also is a project carried on, although other colleges had dispensed with the idea of a 1932 college production.

Thus maintaining an enviable record for 1932 achievement, North Dakota State college looks forward to the coming school year with confidence of maintaining her own among the institutions of higher learning in this section.

The Senior Bawl---(Emily) Post Yourself

Three cheers for the social committee! This twelve-thirty limit for the Senior Ball will allow us poor people who can't afford to go to the dance a chance to get parking places up north of the Fair grounds or down on Riverside drive. In the past it has been pretty hard to cope with the 'after-the-ball crowd.'

We understand that those in charge of the Ball are allowing anyone who can afford to have his suit cleaned and pressed to come. No more Tuxedo gripes . . . one may wear either the dark coat with white pants ensemble or a summer linen suit. It doesn't seem to make any difference what the women wear. Emily Post says that a ball isn't a Ball unless formal attire is required, and that there is no such thing as summer formal wear! Anyone who has a Tux be sure to wear it, for remember it will take more than just the pictures of the grand march leaders to make the affair look like a Ball.

The Turner-Lundale band has been recognized around these parts as ranking among the best ballroom music in the state. Through grape vine wires it has been made known that the band which played here for the Military Ball has been augmented by several new players from Chicago, and according to those in on the know, the music now played is much superior to that furnished by the old band.

"Doc" Chinn, manager of the Crystal

Ballroom, plans to have the floor swept before the ball. This will make dancing down there positively revolting in comparison to what it has been.

And the ball committee has some great plans for decorating the place, which, we are told, will make people think they are dancing in a palace, no less. There is a lot of secretive business in connection with the programs, but they must be good to get where they will be.

The best advice that we can give is for you to get out the old Tux, or last summer's linen suit (the best gown you have) and drag yourself down to the Crystal for three and a half solid hours of dancing. It's the seniors' treat, and that in itself is unique.

Student Opinion

The student opinions printed in last Friday's Spectrum indicated considerable lack of knowledge of the personnel and policies of the Board of Publications of this school. Without in any way touching upon the controversial matters where differences of opinion can sincerely exist, I wish to point out several facts which definitely indicate the false premises upon which those four "student opinion" letters were based, knowingly or unknowingly.

(1) The Board of Publications, at the time of the election of staff heads last week, was composed of seven voting members: three faculty members appointed by President Shepperd—H. W. McArdle, W. C. Palmer and Miss Mathilda Thompson; four student members—Miss Mary McLane, Karl Gerteis, Harry Fredrikson and Chris Bjornson.

(2) Of the entire personnel on the board only one member can be said to be a member of the "political machine" which is supposed to hold the upper hand in college political circles. The rest of the board was elected one year ago when the so-called "hog-it-all" frame swept its entire ticket into office.

(3) The board in electing the new editor and other major staff members considered the following items: (a) the recommendations of the present editors and business managers, (b) the experience and qualifications of the various candidates, (c) the quality and quantity of the work done by the applicants while on the staff, (d) the relative probability of the various applicants being able to fulfill the duties of the office if appointed—as evidenced by their scholastic average, freedom from conflicting outside employment, etc.

Charges of "Greek letter" politics, "political machine" tactics, framing and lobbying, as well as allegations of poor judgment and gross stupidity against the board should have been well considered before publication, inasmuch as the membership of the board was such that the faculty members held the balance of power due to the differences of opinion existing among the student members.

The writers of the afore-mentioned student opinion letters would have realized the ridiculousness of their charges had they only been aware of the fact that the three faculty members virtually decided the election of staff heads. Common sense would have told them that these faculty members would not stoop to dabble in the affairs of reputed "campus politicians" and I know positively that in this case they did not.

Velva Rudd Accepts Botany Scholarship

Graduate Student Given Chance To Work At University Of Cincinnati

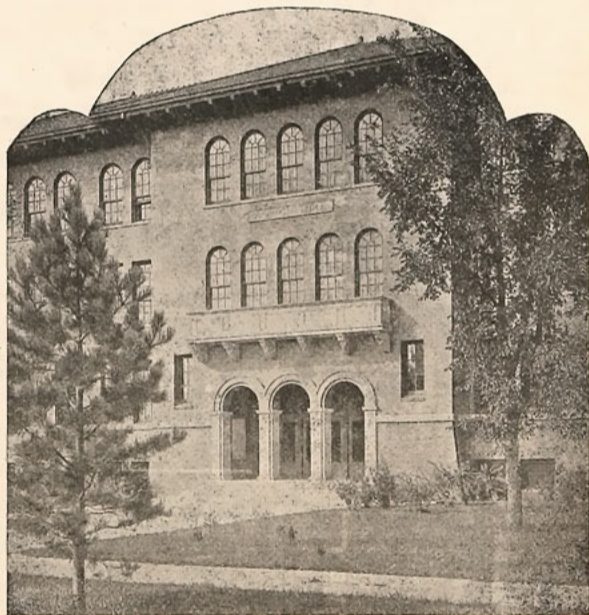

Velva Rudd, Fargo, a graduate student in botany, has accepted a scholarship offered to her by the University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, Ohio, according to Dr. H. C. Hanson, botany department head.

Miss Rudd, who will receive her master's degree in botany and geology June 13, has been working in plant ecology under Dr. Hanson for the last two years. She received her bachelor of science degree last year. The fact that Miss Rudd will work under Dr. Hobart Hoskins, eminent paleobotanist, and Dr. E. Lucy Braun, one of the leading ecologists in the United States, makes her scholarship especially valuable, according to Dr. Hanson. She will commence her work there sometime next fall.

Miss Rudd was picked from among thirty applicants as the winner of the scholarship. She is the third student in the botany department to have received a scholarship this year, according to Dr. Hanson. W. Luther Norem, Sentinel Butte, has accepted a scholarship in botany at Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, Md., and Beatrice Brenckle, Northville, S. Dak., was given a similar scholarship at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

Miss Glenna Everson, Alpha Chi Omega at the University of North Dakota, returned to Grand Forks late Wednesday after several days visiting her sister, Enid, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Finnegan Looks Forward To Successful Grid Season

RETURN OF VETERANS ASSURES BISON TEAM STRENGTH FOR 1932

Valuable Freshman Gridders Present Strong Bids For Berths

SIX FIRST STRING LINEMEN RETURN

Oklahoma City University Team Listed As Outstanding Bison Opponent

"We expect to have one of the strongest football teams in the country during the 1932 season, and one that will do justice to the schedule which has been drawn up for it," says C. C. (Casey) Finnegan, athletic director of the North Dakota State college. This schedule will include games with Oklahoma City university, which is perhaps one of the strongest teams in the country, having won 12 consecutive games last season, George Washington university, Washington, D. C., and the Army at West Point.

The line will be the mainstay of the 1932 aggregation, having six lettermen returning for action. Heading the list will be Captain Walter (Dolly) Schoenfelder, conference tackle, and his teammates, Bob Paris, center, Merlyn Jahr, and Clifford Orness, guards, and Roman Meyers and Milton Jacobson, ends. The backfield will be lighter in weight and probably less powerful, but this deficiency will be made up in speed.

SCHOENFELDER

Backs Show Power

Vivian McKay, a veteran ball-carrier, is perhaps the most seasoned backfield man that will report. A great deal is to be expected from Johnny Fisher, the elusive halfback, who was late in getting started last season, but showed up exceptionally well in the last two or three games. Joe Selliken, who has been shifted to the backfield, is expected to fill Lonsbrough's shoes as a yard gainer through the line, and Morris Ellingson, a valuable find in last year's reserve section, will compose the remaining positions on the backfield.

McKAY

However, no man's position is taken for granted on this team because of the exceptional reserve material that will be available, fighting to displace last year's regulars. As a result of the spring training, several of the older candidates showed much improvement, and the freshman candidates were putting in strong bids for regular berths. There will be decidedly strong competition for every position on the team.

ELLINGSON

Frosh Bolster Line

The line candidates will include Miller, Thompson, Pirnie, Creighton, and Whyte (tackles); Thomas and Peterson (centers); Elwin, Erlenmeyer, Van Hook, Halvorson, Peschel and Kaslow (guards); Berdahl, Olson, Marquardt, Pederson and Stinson (ends). The backfield will be picked from the following: Fritz Hanson, Gerteis, Schranz, Gove, Stege, Wallace, Krause, Jahnke, Morris, Skurdall and Scholander, who will all be sophomores. The completed schedule is as follows: Sept. 23, Concordia, here; Sept. 30, S. D. U, here; Oct. 8, S. D. State, at Brookings; Oct. 14, Oklahoma City U, here; Oct. 29, University of N. D., here; Oct. 29, Moorhead Teachers, here; Nov. 4, George Washington U., Washington, D. C.; Nov. 12, Army, West Point; Nov. 24, Morningside, at Sioux City.

ELEVEN RECOMMENDED FOR RIFLE INSIGNIA

Eleven members of the 1932 North Dakota State college rifle team have been recommended for rifle team insignia by Capt. J. B. Conmy, coach. Whether or not the insignia will be given rests with the athletic department.

The members recommended are Capt. Edward Comm, Otto Wolhowe, Melvin Johnson, Wayne Curtis, Vernon Thompson, Marlin Cline, Elmer Bothun, Lawrence Forman, Nels Skaar, Walter Bartholomew, and James Newton.

Coach Of Rifle Team Honored At Banquet On Thursday Evening

Conmy Is Presented With Gift At Annual Banquet Held In Powers Hotel

Capt. J. B. Conmy, rifle team coach for the last two years, was honored by the college rifle team at its annual banquet held yesterday evening in the Powers hotel dining room, when he was presented with a gift as a recognition of his services to the team in his capacity of coach.

Edward Comm, team captain, acted as toastmaster at the banquet, which was in charge of Lawrence Forman, Melvin Johnson, and Bernard Lucier. Guests besides Captain Conmy included Maj. E. A. Lathrop, Capt. H. J. McChrystal, Lt. Fay Smith, Dean I. W. Smith, Dean L. L. Carrick, Dean A. E. Minard and Dean W. F. Sudro. Covers were laid for thirty-two.

Talks were given following the banquet by Major Lathrop, Lieutenant Smith, Dean Smith, Dean Carrick, Dean Minard, and Dean Sudro.

Members of the rifle team for whom the banquet was the last they will attend as active members are Elmer Bothun, Wayne Curtis, Lawrence Forman, Melvin Johnson, Albert Olson, Vernon Thompson, and Otto Wolhowe.

Buchli Is President Of Lincoln Forensic

Arvold Entertains Society At Closing Meeting Of School Year

Albert Buchli, a sophomore in the school of agriculture, was elected as president of the Lincoln Forensic society at a meeting held at the home of A. G. Arvold Tuesday evening.

Other officers elected by the society for the coming year were Clifford Maloney and Frederick Martin, vice president and secretary, respectively.

Preceding the business meeting at the Arvold home Tuesday, members of the club were guests of Mr. Arvold at a beef barbecue supper. The meeting was the concluding one for the present school year.

The Lincoln Forensic society is a local honorary organization for debaters and forensic students. Donald Lawrence, a senior in the school of agriculture, is the retiring president of the society.

EDWIN BOOTH DRAMATIC CLUB INITIATES FOUR

Maitland Wyard, John Dixon, Frederick Martin, and Miss Carey were formally initiated into the Edwin Booth Dramatic club at services held Wednesday, June 1, at five o'clock. Miss Carey has been secretary to Prof. A. G. Arvold for nearly eighteen years. The first three, students in the school of science and literature, are all of Fargo.

The annual picnic and business meeting was held immediately after the ceremony, at the home of Mr. Arvold. Ruth Barrett was elected president for the ensuing year. Other officers included Maitland Wyard, vice president; David Minard, secretary-treasurer; John Dixon, publicity; and Frederick Martin, keeper of the chest.

Notice!

All students having athletic equipment must turn it in by Monday evening.

C. C. Finnegan.

SPEEDY BACK

Johnny Fisher

One of the most consistent ground gainers in the 1931 backfield as a sophomore triple threat back, Johnny Fisher is expected to be one of the star Bison scoring threats during the 1932 season, when the Bison play the Army, Oklahoma City university, George Washington university—and the University of North Dakota.

FRATERNITY HONORS GRADUATES AT PARTY

Honoring the graduating seniors, the Delta Tau Epsilon fraternity will hold its spring party in the lobby of the college Y. M. C. A. next Saturday evening. The event, an annual affair, will be of an informal nature, with a spring theme to be used in the decoration scheme.

Invited guests includes Messrs. and Mmes. G. P. Goodearl, W. R. Wenger, and Mr. V. T. Saunders. Chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf Otterson and Capt. and Mrs. J. B. Conmy.

Arthur Outlines New Work For Commission

Regular Meetings and Student Court Are Introduced at College

Plans for the coming year of activity have already been made by the Student Commission at North Dakota State college, according to information received today from Donald Arthur, president.

For the first time in several years, regular meetings of the commission are to be held on the first and third Thursdays of each month. Meetings are to be held in the club rooms in Main building at 4 o'clock in the afternoons on the designated days.

The Student court, which will try all cases of student violations of campus ordinances, is another innovation which is to be put into effect during the coming year of school. Campus policemen, Roman Meyers and David Minard, will enforce parking regulations as set up under the new commission in order to avoid congestion of former years on the campus.

Chosen in the spring election for the full term of a year are the following members of the Student Commission: Donald Arthur, president; Commissioner of Elections, Carmen Hunt. Commissioner of Campus, Betty McMorran; Commissioner of Athletics, Walter Schoenfelder; Commissioner of Finance, Jeanette Lee; Social Commissioner, Frances Kingsbury; Commissioner of the Judiciary, Ora Hammerud and Commissioner of Public Speaking, Maitland Ward.

GRADUATE FINDS WORK IN CREAMERY BUSINESS

Carl Clardy, a senior who completed his work last term in the school of agriculture with a major in dairy manufactures, recently secured a position with a creamery at Fairmont, North Dakota, according to word received from J. R. Dice of the dairy department.

Reporting for duty last week as assistant office manager of the Fairmont plant of the Sunlight Produce company, Mr. Clardy is in line for promotion as a plant manager for the company. The company has a number of plants in the Middlewest with marketing facilities in the East, according to Mr. Dice.

Evidences of a strenuous rushing campaign during the coming year were seen on the campus last week with the entertaining of a youthful prospect by several fraternity homes. "I like the Theta Chi boys a lot but I think I'll pledge Gamma Rho," says very young Bob, son of Coach Lowe of the Bison football staff.

Whedon And Brinley Continue Studies At Biological Laboratory

Woods Hole Biology Facilities Rank Among Finest In World

With both Dr. A. D. Whedon and Dr. F. J. Brinley having reservations for research laboratories, North Dakota State college will again be represented in the Marine Biological laboratories at Woods Hole, Massachusetts, this summer.

Dr. Brinley will leave directly at the close of the spring term of work in the college zoology department for Woods Hole. He plans to spend the greater part of the summer continuing his research work on the effect of chemicals like caffeine upon embryonic hearts before and after nerves develop and enter the hearts. The latter part of the summer period Dr. Brinley will spend time in interpreting and in recording his discoveries for publication.

Although he will remain as an instructor in zoology during the summer session of the college, Dr. A. D. Whedon, head of the department of zoology, expects to do considerable research work during the last month of the summer at Woods Hole. Dr. Whedon will spend the time continuing his study of muscle degeneration in insects during metamorphosis or upon the development and maturation of oviduct eggs. Dr. Whedon's special project in the latter study is to determine what happens to the nuclear materials or chromatin during the developing process in the egg.

Mr. Archie Solberg, instructor in zoology, who took special work in invertebrate zoology at the Marine Biological laboratory last summer, will not go to Woods Hole this year. Mr. Solberg will spend the summer in working on his thesis for a master's degree, according to Dr. Whedon.

There are a number of reasons why the Woods Hole laboratories have become a mecca for eminent biologists all over the world, Dr. Whedon says. This large institution, which has an endowment fund now totalling three million dollars, attracts more than 300 individual research workers each year.

Situated between the Vineyard Sound, a deep portion of the ocean, and Buzzards Bay, which is shallow expanse of water, the biological laboratories afford opportunities of getting both deep sea and shallow water faunas. Few places in the world offer this opportunity for study of both types of water inhabitants, according to Dr. Whedon.

Backed by funds instituted by philanthropists such as Crane, Carnegie, and Rockefeller, the Woods Hole project owns one of the finest biological libraries in the world. Additions to the library of $15,000 or more are made yearly to keep the reference material up to the latest in discovery.

Besides the advantageous position for marine research work the means of using the best of biological equipment, the fact that Woods Hole yearly attracts the leading scientists in biology from all over the nation and world is one of the chief factors for its high position. At the laboratory research workers have the added assistance of advice and help from co-workers, who rank high in the scientific world.

Founded in 1888 as an institution belonging to the biologists of America, the Marine Biological laboratories were modeled after the laboratory plan initiated by Louis Agassiz, noted Swiss biologist and geologist, on the Island of Penikese. Dr. A. D. Whedon of North Dakota State college is the only scientist in North Dakota belonging to the Woods Hole corporation, having been accepted as a member in 1923. This summer will mark his ninth period of research work at the institution.
