"Buy A Ticket To—"

"Buy a ticket to—" has been the theme song of this campus all year, but has been gaining volume until now we can spot the ticket salesman by the feverish glitter in his eye without waiting for the inevitable words to follow—and we don't wait, we run.

It certainly is bad enough to have to sell tickets for affairs that organizations sponsor. However, when a teacher threatens students with low grades in a certain course if they don't sell tickets for a college function we begin to wonder. Are we, after all, here in college for a course in salesmanship of the get-out-of-it-if-you-can variety?

As for this particular instance we doubt the authority of any instructor on the campus to enforce such a threat. Unfortunately there are some literal-minded underclassmen who have lost a great deal of sleep and made pests of themselves for fear of a low grade this term.

It seems to us that if there isn't enough interest in an event to sell enough tickets to make the presentation worth while without hounding faculty members and students that the affair should be discontinued.

Who Can Judge?

In three weeks now the senior class of 1932 will be graduated from this institution. Few of the number have any definite position waiting them which makes the situation not only serious, but disillusioning as well.

Because "gripping" has become a fashionable as well as an interesting pastime we hear these same seniors telling us that they have wasted four years, that the fraternity system is all wrong, that their instructors are inferior, that college itself is fundamentally unsound—and they will tell it so convincingly and so earnestly that we almost believe it.

But are they after all in a position to judge? Can a man with a diploma still in his hand rightly say that this same diploma has done him no good? Can the individual himself always determine what has aided and what has harmed him?

Then we listen to the four year fraternity man tell us that fraternities are unimportant and harmful. Yet in nine cases out of ten every important thing this man has done in college has been as a direct result of his fraternal affections. He has made friends and conscores of good times with his associates scores of god times with his associates that he otherwise would never have had. And we know despite all his "gripping" that he would pursue the same course again if the chance were offered.

Unquestionably there are hundreds of students in college who have no place there, but that is not sufficient proof that college itself is unsound or that it fails because it does more for one individual than for another.

Students at Maryland university showed that they were interested in their work when they broke down doors, filed locks, and ransacked desks in their mad rush to answer examination questions. However, all of these activities did not help their grades a bit because they were undertaken before the examinations when the students were searching in diverse places for the hidden examination questions.

Are These Our Teachers?

—by a male observer

Exams were all over—but the proverbial shouting, rubbing of brows, and sighing. At least that was true in the Math office last week. Shouting was word to describe that office—the outcry of a multitude expressing joy, triumph, rage, or other strong emotions. Sitting amongst the constant babble of these teachers of the science of order, all my fond illusions of constructive criticism vanished. The incessant jabber ran:

Desk No. 1 (very disgustedly): "Good gravy, six of the kids in my class didn't get a single problem right."

Desk No. 2 (to beseeching pupil): "Now why in the world must you do that? Won't you ever learn square root?"

Desk 1 and 2 (in chorus): "I never had such a dumb class!"

Another pupil: "Well, I don't quite—"
Desk 3: "Yes, that's just it—you said it—you don't, you don't do enough work. You don't study. You work one day and let it go six—I never saw the beat!"

Desk 1: "Can you feature that—I can't go it—did you ever have John in your class?"

Desk 4 (to another victim): "Why don't you do what you're supposed to do? Get some order, some system—my gosh man, you drizzle all over the page! You hafta watch those things. Now get this—I don't like your attitude. You know what's going to happen to you, don't you?"

It was too much for me, so I left with don'ts, secants, tangents, orbits and square roots ringing in my ears.

Concert Band Presents Program Wednesday Eve In Festival Hall

Concert Takes Place Of Usual Convocation Presentation; Glee Club Assists

The Gold Star Concert band under the direction of Dr. C. S. Putnam will present a concert Wednesday evening, May 25, at 8:15, in Festival hall.

This concert which is a culmination of the year's work of the band will take the place of the usual term convocation program. It is open to the public without charge. Classical and novelty numbers will be included on the program.

The band will be assisted by the girls' glee club under the direction of Adda Blakeslee and also by the boys' glee club under the direction of Homer Huntoon.

As a concluding feature on the program Dr. Putnam will present the entire band of the college made up of the concert band, the R. O. T. C. band, and the drum and bugle corps.

Tulane university has added another crooner to the already cluttered airways. This young man, a freshman, was singing quite loudly in his fraternity house one night when a radio announcer happened to hear him and told him that he was good and gave him a chance to prove it over a local station. According to reports his work was received quite favorably.

Southern Methodist university recently celebrated its fifth annual Founders Day with appropriate ceremonies and exercises. Since the installation of the present president at its head ten years ago eight permanent buildings have been added to the university.

The University of Vermont, in true big league style, have left for a southern training trip before the opening of their home season. Nine games are on the schedule among whom are: William and Mary, Richmond, Navy, Delaware, Lehigh, Princeton, Manhattan, Seton Hall and Rutgers.

Not because the college was going to the dogs but because the dogs were going to the college was the occasion of a science instructor at Midland college to step into the picture and hastily scatter the members of the canine family with a load of bird shot. These methods had to be adopted because so many dogs were interrupting classes with their yelps and growls.

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology has invited unemployed architects and engineers to attend free courses there. This action was taken with a view to increase their knowledge for further opportunities.

The halls at the University of West Virginia are bedecked with various signs prohibiting smoking. Those violating the ruling are subject to fines of from twenty to one hundred dollars.

ATHLETIC BOARD MAKES NEW ELIGIBILITY RULES FOR WINNING LETTERS

Letterman's Club Submits New Proposals To Board Of Control

ATHLETE MUST PASS THREE-FOURTHS OF WORK

Fewer Bison athletes will win letters during the coming year unless the coaches of the school substitute players much more frequently than in the past, according to the new eligibility regulations recently adopted by the Athletic Board of Control.

Acting under the recommendations of a committee from the Lettermen's club, composed of Donald Arthur, Milton Jacobson and Alex Robertson and headed by Athletic Director C. C. Finnegan, the new requirements for eligibility for athletic letters in the major sports were drawn up and accepted by the Athletic Board.

Grid Requirements Increase

To win a letter in football at North Dakota State college, the griddier must play in ten (10) quarters of conference games or games of conference standing. For his scholastic requirement, the athlete must pass in three-fourths of the hours he is carrying in the current term. Competition among the players will be raised to an even greater standard by these more rigid requirements, according to comments by Head Coach, "Casey" Finnegan.

Football numeral sweaters will be awarded to those freshmen showing promise of developing into varsity players and to those who have proven by their work and their attitudes that they have made real effort to develop into team men.

In winning a letter as a member of North Central conference defending champions of basketball, the North Dakota State college athlete must participate in ten (10) halves of conference games or games of conference standing. Scholastically, the athlete must pass three-fourths of his credit hours he is taking in the current term.

Track Requires Victories

The Bison speedster must have victories in conference meets in order to be eligible for the Green and Yellow recognition sweaters, according to the stipulations of the new set of rules accepted by the Athletic Board.

If the athlete wins a first place or two second places in a dual meet with a school of conference standing; if he wins one point in a conference track meet; if he earns three points in the Dakota Relays; or if he is a member of the winning first place relay team in the Dakota Relays or relay meets of equal standing, he is rated as a letterman in track. The track scholastic standard is the same as those of basketball and football; the letterman must pass in three-fourths of the hours he is taking in order to be eligible for the recognition.

Freshman numerals in basketball and track, as in football, are to be awarded to men, who by their ability and attitude indicate that they will be varsity prospects the following year.

SIGMA DELTA MAKES ANNUAL PICNIC PLANS

Sigma Delta discussion club held its regular meeting Sunday night at 6:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Easton. Merlyn Jahr was in charge of the discussion which centered around "Industrialization and Its Effect Upon World Relationships." Abbie Porter, president, was in charge of the meeting.

The next meeting will be the picnic which is held every spring. A definite date has not been set. Leonard Gilles, Harold Fredrikson, Paula Verne and Jane Nichols are in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Miss Lois Fluetsch of Jamestown was a guest at the last meeting.

Janitors at Emory university have gone collegiate in a large way. They have just recently formed a fraternity called "I Gotta Mop."

Texas Christian university has just completed balloting for the honor of being the ugliest man on the campus. The winner was proclaimed so by a large majority and will receive four tickets to a theater in Fort Worth.

New Track Method Meets Test In Track Events This Week

Varsity Candidates Prepare For Conference Meet At Brookings

The new intra-mural track meet method proposed by Coach L. T. Saalwaechter is being given a test today and yesterday afternoons. The new point system being used instead of the old method is being given a chance to prove its worth and a decision will be made whether it will be adopted permanently or not.

One half of the schedule was run off last night and the remainder of the schedule will be run off at 4:15 this afternoon. A large list of men are entered in the meet and some good marks are expected to be set up before the two days of competition are over.

Varsity candidates have been working out daily in preparation for the Conference meet which will be held at Brookings, South Dakota, next weekend. Carmen Hunt, John Warner, Myron Pond, Gordon Horner, Ernest Hall, and Jack Grohne have been showing up well and may gather points in the meet.

Schedule of Events for Today

Teams Loom Up As Potential Candidates For Championship

Five Undefeated Teams Enter Second Week of Intra-mural Tourney

Nearing the completion of the second week of the intra-mural baseball tournament, many strong teams are looming up as potential candidates for the championship of the league. The Y. M. C. A. team headed by Frank Dvorak has won two consecutive victories to lead the league.

Five Teams Undefeated
Delta Kappa Sigma, Theta Chi, Alpha Tau Omega, and Delta Tau Epsilon fraternities having all won one contest will attempt to retain their position at the top of the league.

Each organization will play three games, and the team with the highest percentage at the end of the play-off will be declared the winner. If a tie results at the end of the tournament, an elimination contest will be held to decide the championship.

Teams Show Strength
Many strong teams are entered in the league this season, and some exceptionally good baseball games can be seen each evening on the diamond behind Festival hall. The competition has been so keen that it is probable that the championship will not be decided until the final game.

A great amount of interest has been shown in the tournament this season and but seven games remain on the schedule.

Orville Isley spent the weekend at Grandin, N. D.

to settle this argument!

Write a "blurb" - 464 prizes this month!

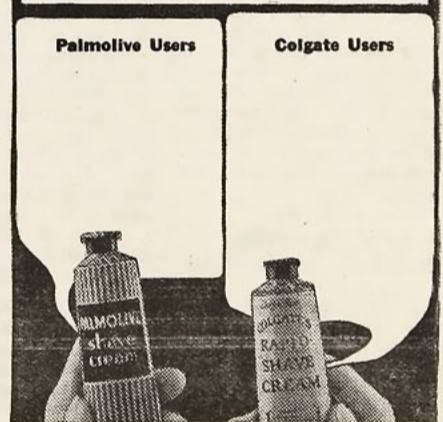

THOSE are "blurbs" men—those words coming out of Phil's and Mac's mouths. Read 'em over. Who do you side with—Phil or Mac? What's your choice—Palmolive or Colgate's? Write a "blurb" of your own—in your own words. Help Phil out—or help Mac out. Send in your boost for Colgate's or Palmolive. We're putting up big money for the best "blurbs" sent to us. Get yours in!

All over the country you'll find men like Phil and Mac. Millions boosting for Palmolive. Millions pulling for Colgate's. In fact—more men use these famous shaving creams than any other. They lead a field of 176 competing brands. Think of it!

Which side are you on? In one of the empty "blurb" spaces to the right (or on a separate sheet of paper) write your "blurb" in favor of Colgate's or in favor of Palmolive—not both. Write it now!

Come on you shavers—get in on this $25,000 ARGUMENT
Mac wants you Palmolive users to say your say. Phil says "Stick with me you Colgate users." If you don't use either, start now and take a shot at this real money.
