The scholarship is awarded to the person who in the opinion of the committee is a person of good scholarship, general excellence of character, and who has promise of success in the future. In addition to this the recipient must need some financial assistance to complete her college work. The committee is composed of Dean Pearl Dinan, Miss Frances Lamb and A. H. Parrott.

Campus Departments Arrange Open House Exhibits For Public

Displays Arranged By Schools For Visitors At College During Weekend

Open house will be held by the various schools on the campus this weekend, when high school students from the surrounding territory come here for the college's annual inter-high school May Festival. All buildings on the campus will be open to the general public, as well as to students, on Thursday and Friday afternoons, according to A. G. Arvold, who is in general charge of arrangements.

The school of chemistry, with Albert Olson and John Rooney as managers, will feature in its open house display a North Dakota room, which will be devoted to chemical products obtained from North Dakota raw materials. Lignite and is products will have an important place among them, according to Stanley Thompson, who is in charge of the room. Other chemistry exhibits will include a magic room and a dark room, and visitors will also be able to see actual methods of chemical analyzing as carried on by the students.

Featured in the engineers' open house exhibit will be models of a water gas plant and the Coolidge dam, both of them working on a small scale, a mechanical man, a neon light display, a floating flatiron, and a stroboscope. Hjalmar Johnson is in general charge of arrangements, and is assisted by Michael Charignon, Russell Fryer, Christian Meckler, and Oliver Blecken.

Rooms of the pharmacy department in Francis hall will be open to visitors during the two days, according to Dean W. F. Sudro. Refreshments will be served and the building decorated. Floodlights will illuminate the building at night.

Other departments are making arrangements for their open houses, with a special exhibit being planned by the Art department on the fourth floor of Science hall on Friday afternoon from 3 to 5.

GAMMA TAU SIGMA ELECTS OFFICERS TODAY

Action Follows Commission's Refusal To Co-operate With Activities Group

SCHOOL WILL NOT KEEP TRADITIONS THIS YEAR

Student Commission Rejects Plans of Faculty Group By Majority Vote

On account of the refusal of the Student Commission to cooperate with the Student Activities committee on the suggestions submitted for an All-College Day program, the traditional function of All-College Day will be abandoned this year, according to A. H. Parrott, member of the committee, and Donald Arthur, president of the Student Commission.

The plans submitted by the Student Activities committee which included dismissal of all classes after 4 p. m., distribution of The Bison and commencement announcements at 1 p. m.; athletic contests at 4 p. m., the crowning of the May Queen at 7 p. m., and an all-college dance from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m. and recommendations to the instructors of leniency in the class activities of the next day were rejected by a majority vote of the Student Commission. According to Arthur the commission rejected the measures because they feared lack of interest and attendance on the part of the students. The Student Commission directed its attention toward plans for a half day holiday, but made no suggestions that would meet those offered by the Student Activities committee.

The granting of a half holiday or of a whole day as has been the custom in the past was rejected by the Student Activities committee because of the numerous breaks in the term beyond the control of the committee, including May Festival, military inspection, and Memorial Day and because of the lack of cooperation on the part of service organizations on the campus.

Exit All-College Day

Our new Student Commission within the last few days has shown a remarkable lack of imagination and cooperation in its futile attempt to suggest any plans or to accept any that the Student Activities committee made for the celebration of the traditional All-College Day.

Because the members couldn't compromise on the situation and come to any agreement with the Student Activities committee who advanced what seems to us very reasonable proposals for the celebration of this customary day we must abandon All-College Day on this campus.

We are wondering if the campus sentiment would be in complete harmony with that of its governing body, the Student Commission. There are a few of us who still believe that any sort of a function similar to that of All-College Day has its place on the campus and we still like to think that we have a few traditions that are worth keeping.

It is too bad that when members of the faculty show their evident willingness to cooperate with the students in so important a matter that a group of students should definitely reject any proposals they might respectfully submit.

Bid Them Welcome

This week for the twenty-fifth consecutive time over a thousand high school students will trek to the campus for a three day May Festival program. It is essential that we bid them welcome and help them enjoy their visit.

As worldly seniors and rah-rah sophomores many of us are likely to forget our own May Festival days when the event thrilled us for weeks in advance. Some of our most distinguished students were at one time our greenest visitors and gazed askance at those "college fellows."

We are on trial all this weekend. The impression we give to our guests will be a lasting one and will materially influence the enrollment in the next few years. Good impressions are lasting ones and well worth while.

Mannerless Savages

It seems deplorable that we must at last admit that as a group we college men and women are mannerless individuals. We come to the college, partially at least, to cultivate the social graces. We theorize over them; we prescribe Emily Post for our more gauche pledges and then we go to formal parties and tip the applecart, so to speak, by acting like mannerless young savages.

Before each party, informal or formal, some committee member shoulders the burden of securing patrons, patronesses and chaperons—and treats the matter as a burden. We invite faculty people as guests and then treat them as usurpers.

Daily in the classroom and in our informal contacts we observe the civil niceties with the poize of a mark or a "drag" ever in front of our eyes. Then at night we go to a formal and either distantly nod to or completely ignore these faculty guests. We drag our escorts into far corners as away from a plague. All of this makes us wonder why faculty people still continue to come to the parties, why individuals still accept the duties of chaperon.

For this reason we think that the criticism on these very things of the Junior Prom made by a faculty member last week was extremely justifiable. Here is a situation that is true not only of the Junior Prom, but certainly of every formal dance and many of the larger informal affairs.

We were surprised to learn that at one informal to which a faculty member and his wife were invited not one person approached them during the evening even to offer them a program. Naturally some one individual made that mistake, but it is regrettable that the responsibility for faculty guests should so nearly resemble a duty that people have to be appointed to attend to the social courtesies.

We appoint Student-Faculty committees; we sponsor Student-Faculty mixers and yet we don't make a move to mix not even in a social fashion when the most obvious openings are handed to us.

For years we have been fighting the criticism that adults love to pile on collegians. We have insisted that they were judging us by the exception rather than by the rule. However, that can't be true in this instance.

We have only one large formal affair left this year, but before it and before smaller informal and formal dances we would do well to tuck Emily Post under our arm and brush up a bit on those social niceties that help to make life a bit more graceful, charming and livable.

TRAFFIC ORDINANCES

The great increase in the number of students and faculty using this campus has accentuated a traffic situation already critical. From all sides there has been a call for remedial regulation. This demand is being met by the Student Commission appointing Roman Meyers and David Minard as campus policemen to enforce the traffic ordinances. All offenders of the regulations will appear before a student court who will decide the case and determine the fine. It would be well for all student and faculty members to learn the following ordinances before Monday, May 16th, and to start practicing them at once:

1. Speed limit for motor vehicles, 15 miles per hour.
2. No parking on triangle east of science hall.
3. Parallel parking areas:
 - a. From main gate to main building, north side of road only.
 - b. From main building to cross road by engineering building on north side of road.
 - c. From chemistry building to dairy building on east side of road.
 - d. From entrance east of Ceres hall to sidewalk crossing front of the mill—north side of road only. NO parking in front of music hall.
 - e. From the sidewalk crossing in front of science hall to 12th ave., west side of road only.
4. Perpendicular parking areas:
 - a. The space directly in front of Agricultural building and extending to road.
 - b. The space directly north of science hall and extending east to crossing.
 - c. The parking ground south of armory.
5. No parking on south side of main drive.
6. Pay attention to all signs.
7. Keep off the paths across the campus and use the sidewalks.
8. Do not park cars on the boulevards.
9. Violation of any of these ordinances will necessitate arrest and fine.

Huntoon, head of the department, and Knute Henning, instructor and alumnus, aided at informal initiation starting Saturday at 7:30. Formal initiation attended by Dudley C. Bayliss, was held at ten o'clock Sunday morning.

GAME THIS AFTERNOON BETWEEN TWO SQUADS ENDS GRID CAMPAIGN

Freshman And Varsity Squads Tangle In Game On Field This Afternoon

A finale is to be written on the North Dakota State college spring campaign this afternoon at 4 o'clock when two picked Bison teams struggle for recognition as 1932 varsity timber on Dacotah field.

Two complete teams, each player intent on "making the trip to New York" next fall, will face other than ordinary football handicaps this afternoon. Overcast skies of the past week have dropped enough rain to place the gridiron in a soapy condition.

Green vs. Frosh

The strong freshman team, which meted out a 6-0 defeat to Sliv Nemezek's Dragons recently, will meet its strongest test of the fall and spring season today as it tackles the Green team, composed of Bison veterans of the past season. Milt Jacobson, varsity punter, is the only player on the Yellow team of more than first year rank.

Green backs, who are to attempt piercing the freshman line are John Fisher, quarterback and punter, Morris Ellingson, turf-ripping ball carrier, Joe Selliken, blocking half back, and Viv McKay, safety man. Bill Krause is the only freshman on the "Green back" field.

Carrying the scoring hopes for the Yellow team are George May, triple threat back who has been laid up by injuries during the major part of the spring practice; Bill Gove, freshman line plunger who stole much praise during the Dragon game; Art Morris, Earl Schranz, and Milt Hollister, speedy ball toters. Walt Jahnke and Art Stege are expected to see service in the ball carrying department.

Six Ends Play

Six sturdy wingmen, three on each team, will play in today's grid battle. On the veteran Green team are Roman Meyers, Acey Olson and Jimmie Berdahl opposing the Yellow wingmen, Bud Marquardt, Milt Jacobson and Warren Pederson. There is an abundance of material in this department of football play, according to Coach "Casey" Finnegan, who will have the difficult job of selecting the varsity regular wingmen next fall.

Green linemen are Bob Paris, letterman at center, Merlyn Jahr, Harold Miller, Roy Platt, Buff Thompson, Art Halvorson and Paul Whyte. Earl Thomas, Baby Bison center, Harvey Erlenmeyer, Hill Elwin, Haven Kaslow, Leonard House, Kenneth Pirnie, Arnold Schneider, Lyle Stinson, Dick Van Hook, James Creighton, and Herbert Peschel compose the forward wall of the Yellow Squad.

Besides Coaches "Casey" Finnegan and Bob Lowe, officials at today's game are Pete Gergen, Joe Blakeslee, Walter Shamp and George Fairhead, Bison outball lettermen of past years. No admission charges are to be made for the game.

ROMAN MEYERS HEADS COLLEGE NEWMAN CLUB

At a meeting held at the Knights of Columbus hall Sunday evening, the Newman club, organization for Catholic students on the campus, elected Roman Meyers, Fargo, president; Helene Louise Clemens, Fargo, vice president; Lucille McGrath, Fargo, secretary; James Slattery, Helena, Mont., treasurer, and Ruth Clemens, Fargo, social chairman. Ellen Kelly, Fargo, retiring president, gave a short talk welcoming the new officers, Father Ryan gave a talk on "Science and Religion."

Gerald Garlid spent the weekend at his home in Cooperstown.

Adeline Rosendahl spent the weekend at her home in Ypsilanti.

Richard Jordahl and William Sturch spent the weekend at their homes in Lake Park, Minn., and Page, N. D., respectively.

DELEGATES RETURN FROM CONVENTION

Mary Powers and Grace Hunkins returned Sunday from a two day session of the biennial convention of the fourth province of Gamma Phi Beta sorority held this year at the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg.

The next province convention will be held at Iowa State college, Ames, in 1934. Miss Powers, newly elected president, was the official delegate from Alpha Omicron chapter.

STATE COLLEGE VARSITY TRACK TEAM COMPETES IN RELAYS LAST WEEK

Tracksters Have Competitive Tryouts At South Dakota City

The North Dakota State college varsity track team was given its first competitive tryout of the season in the annual Dakota Relays which were held at Sioux Falls on Friday and Saturday of last week. The team returned from the trip on Sunday.

Considering the amount of training and the lack of experience of the candidates, Coach L. T. Saalwaechter was well pleased with the showing made by the team.

Wins Second in Relay

The State college half-mile relay team placed second in that event, finishing up behind South Dakota State college. Myron Pond, Ernest Hall, Gordon Hall, and Jack Grohne ran in the order named, and Grohne ran a fast 220 at anchor man to pick up 20 yards on a Morningside runner to beat him out for second place in the event.

Hunt Scores Wins

Carmen Hunt established himself as one of the outstanding men in the Conference in the high and broad jump events. He tied for first place in the high jump with a leap of 5 feet 11 inches. The take off and pit were in poor condition due to the heavy rain that soaked the field, and this is probably the only reason that the existing record of 6 feet was not tied or broken.

South Dakota State presented a well balanced team and carried off the major honors of the two day meet.

But one more major meet remains on the season's schedule and this is the Conference meet which will be held at Brookings, South Dakota. With the close of the football season, the squad will be increased a great deal and workouts will be scheduled regularly in preparation for the Conference meet.

Special emphasis will also be placed on the interfraternity meet which is scheduled to be run off on May 19, 20, and 21.

SURE—ALL EXCEPT PALMOLIVE! NOTHING TOUCHES AN OLIVE OIL SHAVING CREAM FOR A REAL SHAVE AND FOR KEEPING YOUR FACE FEELING FINE—NOTHING.

LISTEN, JIM. WHEN YOUR BEARD GETS AS TOUGH AS MINE YOU'LL APPRECIATE WHAT IT MEANS TO GET A CLEAN, CLOSE SHAVE—LIKE COLGATE'S GIVES ME.

SEE those "blurbs" coming out of the men's mouths? Can you write one? We're putting up $25,000 in cash for those who can. Get your pencil out—now!

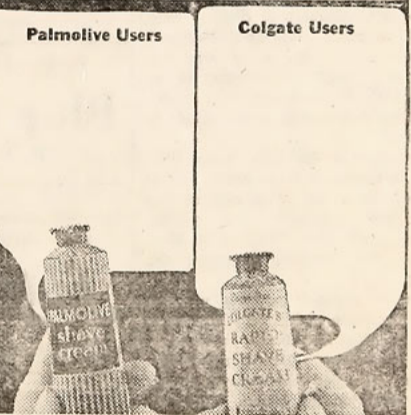

Here's the idea. In a field of 176 competing brands, Colgate's and Palmolive are the two outstanding leaders. They have won an overwhelming preference over all other shaving creams.

We know that Palmolive users swear there's nothing as good as Palmolive. And Colgate shavers claim that Colgate's beats 'em all in a walk.

What we want is your opinion. Do you side with Jim or his Dad in the big Palmolive vs. Colgate's argument? Are you a Colgate fan or a Palmolive booster. Let's hear from you!

In ONE of the empty "blurb" spaces, or on a separate sheet of paper, just say your say. In your own words, write your boost for Colgate's—or for Palmolive—not both. 464 cash prizes each month for the best "blurbs" sent to us!

Here's where you take your shot at some of that $25,000
Jim wants you Palmolive users to back him up. His Dad wants every Colgate shaver's help. If you haven't tried either of these famous shaving creams, start now and get into this $25,000 argument.

Some hints to help you win

Here are some facts about the world's two largest selling shaving creams—Colgate's and Palmolive. Here are some of the reasons why men prefer these famous shaving creams.

- PALMOLIVE
1. Multiplies itself in lather 250 times.
2. Softens the beard in one minute.
3. Maintains its creamy fullness for 10 minutes.
4. Fine after-effects due to olive oil content.

- COLGATE'S
1. Breaks up oil film that covers each hair.
2. Small bubbles get down to the base of the beard; hold water against each hair at skin-line and soak it soft where the razor works.
3. Gives a close, skin-line shave due to small bubble action.
4. Gives a lasting, 24-hour shave.

Here are the prizes for each month—464 in all!

William Kurke Gives Illustrated Lecture As May Festival Feature

Capitol Architect and Designer Discusses New Building Tomorrow Night

ARCHITECTS HOLD OPEN HOUSE UNTIL SATURDAY

Architects' Open House Marks Opening of Annual May Festival Here

William F. Kurke, prominent Fargo architect, and associate designer of the new North Dakota State capitol, has been secured by Homer B. Huntoon, head of the department of architecture, to give a talk on the new capitol as the opening feature of the architects' open house tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

"Mr. Kurke has made a very careful study of the problem in the state and has been very influential in creating the design accepted by the commission. In the course of his talk he will trace the evolution of the capitol building, and will use sketches to illustrate the points of his discussion. He will show many sketches of the design as the building progresses through many stages in the Chicago offices," said Mr. Huntoon today in speaking of the open house arrangements. "We extend to all those who wish to come an invitation to enjoy this discussion by Mr. Kurke, which will take place at 8 o'clock in the department of architecture on the third floor of the engineering building."

Following Mr. Kurke's talk, visitors will be informally shown through the rooms of the department to view the exhibits of freehand sketchings in pen, pencil, and ink, modelling, design problems, and construction work. Visitors will be able to see the students at work, especially the senior architects, who will be working on their thesis problems during the open house exhibition.

Exhibition of work done by students which is not a part of their regular class work will be seen in the form of wall hangings, etchings, and wood blocks, also as a part of the architects' exhibit.

The department of architecture will be open to the public until Saturday noon, May 14. In charge of arrangements is Frank Clark, and he is assisted by Allen Brierly, Edward Mahlum, and Earl Jennings.

"ELECTRIC BULLETS"

THE result of exhaustive wind-tunnel tests of conventional trolley car models revealed that at speeds of 70 and 80 miles per hour, 70 per cent of the total power was consumed in overcoming air resistance. Streamlining saves approximately 20 per cent of the power.

When the Philadelphia and Western Railway Company decided to replace its cars with faster and more efficient equipment, it chose "electric bullets"—new streamlined cars—each powered by 4 G-E 100-hp. motors. The cars, constructed of aluminum alloy, with tapered noses and tails, are much lighter in weight and capable of greater operating efficiency.

In developing transportation apparatus, college-trained General Electric engineers have conducted extensive tests to improve operating conditions. On land, on sea, and in the air, to-day's equipment is safer, swifter, more dependable, and more comfortable.
