Four-Act Tragedy Is Selected By Edwin Booth Players For Presentation

BENDER DIRECTS CAST

Selection Of Cast Is Almost Complete, According To Director

As their regular spring term production, the Edwin Booth Dramatic club will present "Justice," a four-act play by John Galsworthy. With presentation of the play scheduled for April 19, work of casting the production is rapidly nearing completion, says Miss Alice Bender who will have charge of the dramatic work of the play to be staged under the general supervision of A. G. Arvold.

Selected to interpret leading roles in the tragedy centering about prison life are Grant McCullough as Falder, and Hazel Swanson as Ruth Honeywill. Miss Swanson is the only woman player in the cast and has an important role.

Only a few parts remain to be filled, says Miss Bender. The students already selected for parts are: Lester Wyman, Cokeson; Robert Benton, the cashier; Gerald Garlid, the judge; Leonard Gilles, Cleaver; and Clifford Swanson, Frome.

Three scenes are included in the four acts. The first is laid in the office of James and Walter How. The second is a court room, and act three represents a prison cell. The scene in act four is the same as for act one.

Although rehearsals have already been held in order that the cast may be organized before the Easter recess, definite work on the production will not begin until classes open for the spring term.

300 ATTEND PROGRAM PRESENTED AT DURBIN

More than 300 persons attended the program given by representatives of the Little Country theater of North Dakota State college at Durbin, N. D., Friday night.

Debating the question of centralization of industry, William Stewart, Fargo, and Norman Todd, Williston, upheld the affirmative, while Gerald Stevens and Clifford Maloney, Fargo, spoke on the negative side.

Albert Buchli, Golden Valley, presided and gave a group of cowboy readings. Maurice Peterson, Fargo, presented an illustrated talk on "Birds of North Dakota."

The Alpha Gamma Delta house members entertained the pledges of that sorority at a dinner party at the chapter house Sunday evening.

Brevities Managers Name March 28 Date For Dress Rehearsal

Campus Greek Letter Groups Enter Ticket Selling Contest For Show

With a dress rehearsal scheduled for the Monday before the opening of the spring term, March 28, the 1932 edition of the Bison Brevities is rapidly rounding into shape for the presentation in Festival hall April 11 and 12.

Practices this week have been very light in view of the final examinations, according to Prof. Homer B. Huntoon, director, and James Konen, manager. The managers stated in an interview yesterday, "We believe that the showing of the Brevities will be the most impressive and finished production in the history of the show. Our curtains, costuming and stage equipment is nearly completed. The all-student production as an innovation this year seems entirely successful."

Tickets for the production go on sale immediately after the opening of the spring quarter in charge of William Gray who was appointed by Blue Key to handle the campaign. Greek letter groups will compete again for the sale trophy. Entered in the contest is Kappa Kappa Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, Phi Omega Pi, Kappa Delta, Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Xi Beta, Alpha Sigma Tau, Alpha Tau Omega, Alpha Gamma Rho, Delta Kappa Sigma, Theta Chi, Delta Tau Epsilon, Sigma Phi Delta, Kappa Psi and Kappa Sigma Chi.

Seating arrangements are being improved in Festival hall and it is expected that the capacity will reach 1,100. Dressing rooms are being provided for the student performers in the former rifle rooms off from the main auditorium.

A pit orchestra under the direction of William Euren looms as one of the features of the revue. A 25 piece band has been rehearsing for two months in preparation for the event.

SENIORS ELECT WYARD 1932 PROM MANAGER MONDAY AFTERNOON

Winner of Election Is Senior In Chemistry and Engineering Departments On Campus

NO DATE SET FOR PROM

Appointment Of Committees, Assistants Will Be Made Shortly

Kenneth Wyard, Fargo, was elected manager of the 1932 senior prom of North Dakota State college at a meeting called by William Gray, class president, Monday afternoon.

A senior in the school of chemistry and engineering, Wyard is a member of Delta Kappa Sigma social fraternity having served as treasurer of the organization. He is also a member of Blue Key, national service fraternity; Alpha Phi Omega, honorary fraternity for chemistry students; and the Edwin Booth Dramatic club. Prominent in class activities, Wyard was president of his freshman class and in his junior year was elected class vice president. He has served on the staffs of both The Spectrum and The Bison.

Although no definite date has been set for the ball it is customary to hold the event early in May as the final official formal function for members of the graduating class.

Preliminary work on the ball will begin soon and it is expected that appointment of committees and assistants will be made by the manager in the near future.

Besides electing their prom manager, seniors considered plans for commencement activities in June at their meeting yesterday. Everett Wallum, secretary of the alumni and former students association of the college, outlined plans for commencement activities for the class members.

Play Production Class Gives "Richelieu" Tonight, Wednesday

CELESTE SOWKA

Presentation Is Term Project For Students In Public Discussion Class

ARVOLD IS SUPERVISOR

Class Members Have Charge Of Direction and Promotion Of Five-Act Drama

At eight o'clock this evening the Little Country theater stage curtain will rise on the five-act drama "Richelieu," by Sir Edward Lytton Bulwer, outstanding presentation of the advanced play production class of the college public discussion department. The play will be repeated at the same hour Wednesday afternoon. A. G. Arvold is supervising the play.

Under student direction and with a student cast, the experimental production will be of interest to anyone interested in literature or any phase of stage work. Elaborate costumes and settings have been arranged for the play while new methods of lighting effects will be initiated into use in the Little Country theater stage work. The lights are being run on an 'acting area' plan thus discarding the process of general illumination as has been used previously.

Lyle Phillips as the character "Richelieu," has the outstanding speaking part of the presentation, with Celeste Sowka taking the female lead as "Julie." James Golseth will interpret the hero, De Mauprat; Charles French the villain, Baradas; and James Konen as Louis XIII.

The remainder of the cast follows: Orleans, Edgar Johnson; Huguet, William Grey; Clermont, Carl Freeman; de Beringen, Frank Callinan; Goaler, Fred Myrdahl; Governor, Dorothy Holes; Francois, Grant Pratt; Marion, Roselle Bernard; Joseph, John Dixon; Sec'y of State, Viola Dixon, and Captain of Archers, Frances Nichol.

The scene for the first scene in the first act is a room in Marion's house. Scene two is Richelieu's study. In the second act the scenes are laid in a room in De Mauprat's house and in Richelieu's study. A chamber in Richelieu's castle and a room in the home of Count Baradas are the scenes for act three. The fourth act takes place in the Garden of Louvre, and the final scenes are in the bastille and in a room in the king's palace.

Juniors Select April 29 For Third Formal

Committee Negotiates For Feature Orchestra From Out Of City, Says Loy

With April 29 as the date set for the annual Junior Prom committee members will begin work immediately to make the Prom this year a memorable one, said Melvin (Jimmie) Berdahl yesterday.

As yet no definite place has been secured, but there is a possibility that the third formal event of the social season will be held in the physical education building as were the Military and Charity. The theme of the decorative scheme will depend on the place and the committee is awaiting some definite announcement before making plans.

According to Theodore Loy who is arranging for the music an attempt will be made to secure a feature orchestra from out of the city. Attractive favors and programs will be selected within the next two weeks said Ruth Barrett in charge of favors.

Harold Reardon, Delta Kappa Sigma, left for his home at Jamestown Saturday noon called there by the illness of his father.

No-Cut Again

As we near the end of the second term under the new absence system rumors reach us that all is not well.

There are on the campus it seems certain instructors who have taken it upon themselves to casually disregard the action of the College Council and to refuse to allow the legitimate two cuts to which all students are entitled.

Such an attitude is fair neither to the student nor to the other instructors. The student certainly is deserving of his two cuts or the Council wouldn't have granted them to him. As for the other instructors it seems a bit unfair that they should follow the Council ruling and recognize cuts that disturb their class routine while some individuals on the campus are allowed to make their own rules.

In addition to this we know of other instructors who require a student to prepare extra work in addition to the regular assignments for every cut. Such a procedure is not consistent with the spirit of the ruling.

To us it seems a recognized fact that the new system was adopted because the council realized that there were occasions where cutting was necessary and avoidable and also to use a certain amount of discretion as regards class attendance.

Again we repeat that such action on the part of certain instructors is grossly unfair. We believe these individuals should be forced to comply with the college ruling.

The 11:30 Curfew

With the opening of the last term in two weeks students on this campus will be faced with a heavy social schedule. We are going into that period it seems with the 11:30 curfew law still intact.

In the spring term we will have at least two formal balls, several informal all-colleges, and every Greek letter organization will have at least one if not two parties. We cite these facts to show you that practically every weekend will be occupied with some event. Naturally it will be impossible for us to have every affair on a Friday night and for this reason some of the large parties will undoubtedly have to end at 11:30.

Such a situation is not only regrettable but it is provincial and old fashioned. We know there are members of the College Council who do not approve of dancing. They no doubt have good reasons for disapproving. We are not asking them to dance, but we insist that it is stubborn, unfair and not quite sportsmanlike for them to hold fast to their moral prejudices at the expense of some twelve hundred students. It is on these shoulders of the College Council that the blame belongs and not on the shoulders of the Social Committee who of necessity can only recommend and suggest.

Luella Anderson, Alpha Gamma Delta, had as a guest Saturday, her brother, Boots, of Wahpeton.

Orton Halverson, Alpha Tau Omega, spent the weekend at his home in Wahpeton.

Frank Sykora, Breckenridge, spent the weekend at the Theta Chi house.

Dolson Hill, Theta Chi, went to his home in Erie for the weekend.

Ten Members Receive Basketball Sweaters For Season's Service

Five Lettermen Complete Last Season On State College Basketball Court

Ten members of the North Dakota State college basketball team, champions of the North Central conference, will be awarded letters and sweaters for their service on the basketball court during the past season as announced recently by L. T. Saalwaechter, head basketball coach.

Among the men honored are: Viv McKay, Marion; Leal Thomasson, McKay, Marion; Leal Thomasson, Gardar; Eric Nordstrom and George Fairhead, Rockford, Ill.; Donald Arthur and Blair Seitz, Mandan; Walter Olson and Robert Weir, Fargo. Melvin (Jimmie) Berdahl, Hillsboro; and Arnold (Bud) Mickelson, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Five Seniors Graduate

Included in this list of ten lettermen are five seniors who have contributed their last efforts on the hardwood court for their Alma Mater.

Walter Olson, flashy, left handed forward, probably the most consistent player on the squad, will be a big loss to the team when they line up for play next season. He would be eligible for another year of play if he had not participated but a few minutes in a game against the University in the 1930 campaign.

Leal Thomasson, husky guard, who had a knack of getting the ball off the back-board will be missed at the back court position. Leal was fast and generally broke through for a basket or two in each contest.

George Fairhead, elusive quick shooting forward, proved a valuable asset to the team this season when he caged the winning basket in the South Dakota university game at Vermillion. Last year George was the second high scorer in the conference, being beaten out in the closing games by Steve Adkins.

Eric Nordstrom, shifty Bison guard, was a deciding factor in many games on the trip to the championship. He came up from his guard position to lead the team in scoring during some of the games. Last season he did not play up to his regular standard, but he came back this year in impressive style to prove his ability as a basketball player.

Blair Seitz, capable player, was extremely dependable when called upon to substitute for one of the regular players. Blair was a smooth player and the best bounce passer on the squad. He seemed headed for a big season last year until he fractured his ankle and was unable to make the long Christmas trip, and this experience would have made him one of the most valuable men on the squad this year.

The loss of these experienced men will be a severe handicap next year, but "Saaly" will have many capable men to draft from this years freshmen squad to bolster up the attack of his varsity team.

However, three of the All-Conference men from this years championship team will be back to carry on for the team. These players include Donald Arthur, forward; Robert Weir, center; and Viv McKay, guard. Arnold Mickelson and Melvin (Jimmie) Berdahl will both be back with a year of experience added to their credit and will be capable players for next season.

Delmore Smith, Theta Chi, spent the weekend at his home in Fairmont. William Haslam, Fort Totten, was a weekend guest at the Delta Kappa Sigma house.

Dancing Daughters

This is just on dancing; I have heard so many comments lately on dancing. "I wouldn't think of taking her, she can't dance worth sour grapes. Why I'd rather push a steam roller." Merely a masculine remark heard every weekend. Did you ever stop to think that girls have to dance every way under the sun in order to please a few of the weaker sex whose only new thing is their brain. And we doubt if they have gotten them yet.

Partner number one jumps around like a pea on a hot griddle. What can we do but to make ourselves resemble a milk shaker. Miss one of those awful twists and turns, land on your partners foot and what do you get: a sickish sweet smile, and I'm so sorry, in that tone that lets you know it's all your fault. Tear around and smash into another couple and what does he say, Pardon us. US did you get that? Twist, turn, hop, run, turn, twist, lean, stop, run, hop. Blink, another football gone wrong. Another dirty look and by that time you're giving them yourself.

Partner number two: One of these lanky, long stepped, slow moving creatures that sticks his neck out and expects you to see around it. You're so used to hopping by this time that you start out with a big run and nearly strangle the man. Such a pitying glance you do get. Poor girl, I suppose she thinks she can dance. Well, you settle down after about three minutes and let him push you. Not so bad, until some one runs into you and the freak plants his foot on your corn bed and lets it grow there. After a few half meant apologies he withdraws from the field of battle and you stumble to a moveable seat, called a chair, and ease your weary body into it while your foot trobs away to the merry tune of "You Step on My Feet, I Step On Yours".

Partner number three: just one of those one—two—three—four boys. And one—two—three—four you go. It's just about enough to put any sane person in the insane class. However, being sturdy and weather beaten, we of the same class carry on and suffer and hear nothing but one sarcastic remark after the other.

They never question their own dancing whether we like it or not. They just take it for granted that it pleases us. If anything is said I would say the boys get more criticism than the girls, and they should. All they have to do is to dance one way and they can't do that very well. Then they kick if we can't dance at least forty ways. How would it be if we danced one way and made them dance forty. If they're the stronger sex they can't expect us to live up to their reputation just because they can't.

Thunder of the Herd

By J. E. P. H.

One of life's little draymas. Chapter the Foist (1st).

In which a new collyum is born (Goodnight! Sweetheart); also in which proud papa gives the pitching arm a good workout by busting a bottle of clear, cold printer's ink over the peaceful brow of old Shrdla, the linotype machine, and said collyum is duly christened "Thunder of the Herd".

So with no further ado and a voluminists (never collumnists). With a mighty splash he hits the mire; he rises to the surface to find other notorious lepers merrily splashing the ink all about him—Wally Winchel, Heywood Broun, to say absolutely nothing of those old masters of their trade, Cal Coolidge and Ebony Blott.

Damsel Rumor (aged 18) has it that the platinum tornado of Hollywood was recently quoted as saying she wished to be remembered only for her acting and not for her body — obviously a case of a little more of the one and a little less of the other.

Now that George Washington, the father of this, his country, has just clicked by the second century mark and has seen the dejected condition of his chee-ild about all we can say in the way of condolences is that it happens even in the best of families.

Members Of Pep Club Get Sweater Award

New Custom Is Inaugurated On Campus When Members Are Honored

With the giving out of sweaters to active members of the Pep club, a new custom was inaugurated on the campus at their meeting Monday afternoon in the agriculture building.

The constitution of the organization gives the right to members to receive a sweater with attendance at three-fourths of the games of the year. Money received from the Pep club dance given this quarter and fees paid for the sweaters.

James Parkins, president, was re-elected to serve during next year with Donald Murray, secretary, and Arnold Chamberlain, treasurer. A committee of Ted Loy, James Vogel and Greydon Owens was appointed to serve with the officers in arranging a program for the next school year.

The following received sweaters: Albert Ruemmele, Christ Meckler, James Vogel, Harlan Black, Clarence Ebert, Andrew Lynn, Wayne Houtcooper, George Simons, Lloyd Townsend, Quay Wells, Clifford Albin, Lewis Whalen, Howard Renwick, Lee Gress, Grant Solberg, Arnold Kunkel, Max Thiele, Theodore Loy, Donald Murray, Walter Altenbernd, John Southam, Jack Thysell, Carl Freeman, Arnold Chamberlain, Greydon Owens, Wayne Owens, Gale Monson, Lester Wyman, Edgar Johnson, Elmer Bothun, Kenneth Dick, Jay Bjornson, and James Parkins.

McMillen will form one of the feature scraps of the first tourney, fighting for the championship of the heavyweight division. William Dwyer and Harold Miller, first year fighters, will also fight for the supremacy of the second division of the heavyweights.

Two fighters, Ceil Boettcher and Warren Pederson, are scheduled for competition in the lighthavyweight division. Both are tall with long, rangy arms and have shown up well in workouts, Lt. Smith says.

Middleweights will have strong competition with Kenneth Meland and Ed Whittemore and Norman Todd and Swanson listed for scrapping for placement. Walter McKee and Damien McCarten will add to the list of competitors in the middleweight group.

Fred Swanson, Milton Hollister, Oliver Carlson and Bob Thompson are the welterweight contenders. Burt Pinkham and Arnold Kunkel will fight in the lightweight division. Philip Trichter and Ed Dehne, featherweights, and Leo Schwehr and Fred Dyke, bantamweights, complete the card.

Boxing will start at 8 o'clock both evenings, according to Coach Smith. Students will be admitted to the matches by presentation of their ticket books but an admission will be charged for others attending the shows, Thursday and Friday.

Carl Hansen, Alpha Tau Omega, has returned from his home in Willmar.

Ray Greenwood, Alpha Tau Omega, spent the weekend in Jamestown.

Tournament

North Dakota State college made a good showing in the Golden Gloves tourney last weekend, although the Bison did not win a championship in either of the four divisions entered, according to Coach Fay Smith.

Two of the college fighters went to the semifinal events and Walter Jahnke, freshman welterweight, went to the championship round before being turned from the title in the Minneapolis matches.

Jahnke Does Well

Although fighting for his first year of collegiate boxing, Walter Jahnke had the best record of any of the Bison boxing delegation to the Twin City matches. Jahnke won three hard battles in the elimination match before fighting a close match with Billy Rowell of the University of Minnesota, who took the championship out of his grasp. Rowell had won two fights by defaults and a third fight in two rounds, which fact had given him a marked advantage over Jahnke, who had the tougher schedule of fights.

Rod McMillen, captain of the college boxing team, advanced into the semifinal events to be turned from a try at the championship by a decision in favor of "Pinky" McPartland, substitute fullback at the University of Minnesota. The decision was roundly booed by the fans, who considered the match a draw affair, worthy of an extra round.

In the semifinal matches of the heavyweight division, Ronald Ostrander won a first round over Driscoll, scrapper representing a Minneapolis athletic club. Driscoll caught Ostrander off guard in the second round to win a technical knockout over the Bison football lineman.

Ed Dehne, battling featherweight, picked Owen Trickey, who won the championship, as his first contestant in the Golden Gloves tourney. Dehne gave Trickey one of his hardest fights of the tournament, losing by a decision, according to Lt. Smith, who watched the fights from a ringside seat.

The Bison found themselves handicapped for candidates to the Golden Gloves this year with Ted Loy, light-heavyweight, Frank Dvorak, middleweight, Roman Pung, welterweight, and Bob Ward, lightweight, each a leader in his division, unable to make the trip.

Fargo and Wahpeton high school basketball teams will clash at the N. D. S. The Fargo quint represents the first district and the Wahpeton five earned their way to the regional tilt by carrying off honors in the district two meet last week.

The winner of the coming game will journey to Bismarck to enter the state tournament to be held there Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

A tournament arranged for last week in the district one class was postponed because of the withdrawal of all teams but Fargo, thus automatically giving them the district title and the right to participate in future meets.

Admission for the Saturday game will be fifty cents for adults and twenty-five cents for children. A special price of twenty-five cents has been advanced for students of the college who wish to witness the game.

Donald Andrews, Hillsboro, was a guest at the Alpha Sigma Tau house over the weekend.

Milton Jacobson, Alpha Sigma Tau, spent the weekend in Minneapolis.

Between Halves

By EVERETT WALLUM

The title of this column seems rather inappropriate right now with boxing and track copping the limelight. But we are consoled by the fact that the oyster season is still on and there's nothing like what's between the half shells.

WE WERE ATTRACTED BY PHOTOS IN A MINNEAPOLIS SUNDAY PAPER SHOWING TWO BISON BOXERS IN THE GOLDEN GLOVES TOURNEY IN VARIOUS STAGES OF DROPPING DECISIONS. THIS MUST HAVE BEEN SOME COMFORT TO MEMBERS OF THE MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY FOOTBALL TEAM WHO HAD A DIFFICULT TIME LAST FALL GETTING ANY KIND OF A DECISION ON THE GRIDIRON.

Walter Jahnke, it seems, won his way into the hearts of Mill City fight fans. The New Rockford freshman didn't win the championship but he displayed some of the most beautiful boxing the tourney witnessed.

We were even more attracted by another photo in the same paper. That was one of George McPherson, one-time Bison cage captain and one of the best centers the college has produced. George posed in a basketball uniform, across the jersey of which was emblazoned "Holy Cross." They call him "Big Mac" in Minneapolis, too. He formerly lived in Fargo.

THAT PICTURE MADE US STOP TO WONDER WHAT HAPPENS TO ALL THE STAR ATHLETES AFTER THEY RECEIVE THEIR DIPLOMAS AND DROP OUT OF THE CHARMED COLLEGIATE ATHLETIC PICTURE. SOMEDAY WE'RE GOING TO CHECK UP ON FORMER BISON GREATS. THEY AREN'T ALL BOND SALESMEN.

Critics who, for some reason or other, believe the majority of college athletes have no aim in life and go to college only to participate in athletics should take a glance at Bison alumni files. Bison athletes have been remarkably successful in many walks of life.

Quite naturally, many athletes take up coaching. Coaching takes considerable study and there's much risk to the profession. An instructor of subjects other than physical education is secure in his job, a coach is subject to the whims of a fickle public.

Bison graduates in this profession have been successful. In the high schools of North Dakota we encounter such names as Claudie Miller, Valley City; George Hays, Bismarck; Joe Cutting, Williston; Cod Ordahl, Devils Lake, and Johnny Mach, Mohall. There are many others who have achieved coaching success. Earl Bute, athletic director of Wahpeton Science, is a Bison graduate.

Claudie has won a state championship in basketball; Hays' Bismarck Demons were runnersup for the cage title last year; Joe Cutting for years dominated the North Dakota high school football stage when he tutored the Williston preps; Cod Ordahl helped coach Devils Lake's tough grid team of last fall, and Johnny Mach, although in a small school, has enjoyed consistent success. ### Advanced Community Program Class Gives Norse Interpretation

Songs, Lecture and Exhibition Feature Program Having Scandinavian Theme

Scandinavian festivities and home life marked the theme of the presentation "In the Land of the Midnight Sun" at the Little Country theater last night. The advanced community program class sponsored the Norse affair.

The program opened under the direction of Vivian Luther with four reels of motion pictures of scenery and action in Denmark. A tableau depicting typical home life in Denmark was the next number of the program in which Rhoda Marr acted the part of a Danish woman and Aura Charbonneau as the reader of a short skit.

A tableau was then presented of an ice scene in Greenland. Unusual lighting effects and quaint costumes were featured. A reel of pictures in Iceland was accompanied by native Icelandic phonograph records which Mr. Arvold obtained on his recent trip to that country. A piano solo of Norwegian music was played by Miss Evelyn Johnson.

A feature of the evening was an illustrated lecture given by Mr. Jacob Stefferud, manager of the Norwegian-American Steamship lines. Colored slides of native scenes provided the topic for Mr. Stefferud's talk.

The Orpheus society of Fargo sang several Swedish and Norwegian songs. The chorus was composed of thirty-five members.

Colorful country folk dances were heartily received by the audience. Ray and John Carlson, youthful singers, rendered characteristic folk songs that were greatly appreciated.

A picturesque exhibition of Norse laces, fancywork, spinning wheels, cutlery, dishes, costumes and various other articles attracted considerable attention. Miniature sailing vessels of intricate design were worthy of particular note. All the exhibitions were of Scandinavian origin.

The program, which was well attended, was concluded with a typical Norse luncheon served in the Lincoln Log cabin.

Lofgren Is Speaker At Convocation Next Wednesday Morning

Aide To Admiral Richard Byrd Will Relate Experiences To College Audience

Presenting the human story of the Byrd South Polar expedition, Charles E. Lofgren will speak at a convocation, Wednesday in Festival hall at 9:40, says Dean A. E. Minard of the convocation committee.

The story will include such problems as that presented by food. Quantities taken on the expedition were, among other items, 4,000 pounds of ham, 6,000 pounds of bacon, 15,000 dozen eggs, 1,200 pounds of cookies and 250 pounds of baking powder.

Other problems Mr. Lofgren will discuss will be those of radio broadcasts, heating in the 40 to 70 degree-below-zero weather, entertainment, and exploration, in the Little America civilization 350 miles from other human life.

Sent out under the exclusive management of The Pond Bureau, Mr. Lofgren is on a tour of the United States and speaks of the little detail works which had to be carefully planned to make the expedition a success. He devotes his time to such things as the repair shop, dining, nightwatchman, and mascots.

Mr. Lofgren, chief yeoman of the U. S. Navy (retired), was personnel officer of the Byrd expedition not only during the time spent in the arctic, but during eight months of strenuous preparation when the foundation for the success of the expedition was laid. Of this period Admiral Byrd has said, "My companions rallied around me and put all they had into the fight."
