Harold Fredrikson, Leonard Gilles and Clifford Swanson will uphold the negative side of the question while Gerald Stevens, Clafford Maloney and William Stewart will speak affirmatively. ## Dalziel Gives Three Recitals At College

Entertainments Feature Works Of Burns, Shakespeare, Sir Walter Scott

The works of Sir Walter Scott, Robert Burns and William Shakespeare and other authors were featured in a series of three lecture recitals given by George Morton Dalziel, Glasgow, Scotland, in the Little Country theater yesterday. Mr. Dalziel's appearance here was arranged by A. G. Arvold, founder of the Little Country theater.

Because this year is the centenary of the death of Sir Walter Scott, special attention was given to his works in the lecture recitals which included compositions of various types.

Members of several public discussion classes were guests at an entertainment in the seminar room at eight o'clock yesterday morning. A program was given for students and the general public at 4:15 p. m. in the theater. The recital included readings from Scott, Burns, Shakespeare's clowns, rouses and jesters, as well as a few compositions by other authors.

Concluding the days' program, Mr. Dalziel discussed "The Value of Speech" with illustrations from noted authors at the entertainment last evening.

Making his first American tour, Mr. Dalziel is the founder and director of the City of Glasgow Public Speaking club. In the British Isles he is regarded as a foremost public speaking expert, and as an authority on the dramatic interpretation of Scottish literature and drama. Mr. Dalziel is a graduate of Glasgow Athanaeum and has done dramatic work with Mary St. Quentin of Paris.

The above all-conference basketball team has been selected from the outstanding players in the North Central conference by the sports staff of The Spectrum. The selections are based on playing ability, points scored, and sportsmanship on the playing floor.

Don Arthur, North Dakota State, has been outstanding on the Bison squad throughout the year. Accuracy and offensive play have contributed to his value to the ranks of the yellow and the green.

Fred Felber was honored with first team selection due to his consistent team play and scoring ability.

Bob Weir, North Dakota State, was high scorer of the conference with a total of 76 points. In addition to his contribution of counters he was invaluable in annexing the tipoff in conference matches.

Viv McKay, North Dakota State, perhaps the most versatile player in the entire conference, was chosen because of his stellar performances in the important games of the Bison schedule. His defensive work particularly deserves extreme praise, a dominating feature in the race for conference honors.

PROMINENT ALUMNUS ENTERS NEW BUSINESS

C. A. Williams, prominent alumni member of State college and proprietor of Williams and Barker bakeries, recently announced that he has disposed of his bakery interests in Fargo to become president of a local building and loan association effective today.

Mr. Williams has been active in college alumni circles since his graduation here in 1914. He was born at Fairmont and has been a resident of North Dakota practically all his life. He spent six years as representative for the B. F. Goodrich company at Oklahoma City, one year as branch manager at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, and two and one-half years in the same capacity in Fargo. Leaving that concern in 1920, he purchased the Barker bakery and in 1923 added the present Williams bakery.

Ethel Dahl was a luncheon guest at Gamma Phi Beta Wednesday noon.

Bison Freshmen Win Second Tilt Saturday At Grand Forks

Erling Schrantz Piles Up Big Score In Second Yearling Encounter At U.

The North Dakota State college freshmen continued to show their athletic superiority over the North Dakota university freshmen by virtue of their 27 to 21 basket ball victory at the Nodak armory Saturday afternoon.

The Bison freshmen started their second victory over the Sioux yearlings in an impressive manner as Acey Olson and Grant Mickelson scored from the field soon after the opening whistle. The whole State college team gave a fine exhibition of clever passing, shooting and all around orthodox basketball in the first half and left the court at the intermission with a 16 to 11 lead.

Erling Schrantz continued to pile up the Bison lead thru his ability to connect with the hoop on distant shots during the first ten minutes of the second half. But Herman Witasek, the University pivot man, did some fine one handed shooting and foul shooting in the next ten minutes of play to bring the Nodak freshmen within six points of the Bison. Lyle Stinson led the Bison freshmen in some fine ball handling in the final minutes to stave off any more University scoring threats.

Erling Schrantz was the big scorer for the Bison yearlings with ten points. Lyle Stinson and Grant Mickelson put up a fine exhibition of defensive play. Witasek was the key man in the University attack and made five straight free throws as well as three baskets to lead both teams in individual scoring. Belgen started all the University scoring plays and played a fine defensive game, but he was inclined to dribble too much and marred more effective team play.

Conference Champions

Not for many years has a Bison basketball season ended so successfully. We are fortunate this year in having won the North Central conference championship due to the efforts of a splendid team and its coach.

It was unfortunate that the team could not have established a new record by winning all conference games with a victory last Friday night, but their conference record speaks rather well for their abilities.

It is interesting to note that even this year with a new building, a winning team, and all the other factors that should go into the making of exuberant spirits that there has been a noticeable lack of enthusiasm at rallies and even at the games themselves which seems to rather prove that not even the Rah-Rah collegiate spirit is necessary to boost morale.

The First Chapter

The first chapter in the newly inaugurated annual editor's exchange was completed last Friday with the editing of the Dakota Student at the University of North Dakota by the Spectrum editor.

We believe that the plan is still only in the formative stages and that it will take many years of exchange editorship to promote the sincere and genuine good feeling between the two student bodies that was aimed at in this first chapter. Much credit for the success of the venture and for inauguration belongs to the present Student editor who first suggested the plan and outlined it to the Board here.

The Spectrum editor has nothing but praise to offer to the University for the treatment accorded her during the last weekend. Staff members, students and officials were most courteous and considerate and lent their most enthusiastic efforts that the exchange might be a success.

A box of candy was received at the Gamma Phi Beta house this weekend from Selden Catlin announcing his engagement to Dorothy Holes.

Backstage Struggle With "Richelieu"

"Yep, you'll make a sub-well despot—a cardboard king attired in purple outing flannel, sitting on a pasteboard throne. The king sitting I mean, not the flannel." So says Lyle Phillips, a la Cardinal Richelieu, as he flips back his beautiful carmine cambric robe. Jimmy Konen, being Louis XIII in name only, agrees placidly. "Joseph, come forth!" commands the cardinal. Enter Johnny Dixon with what he supposes to be the gious mien befitting a monk who aspires to be a bishop.

The rehearsal goes on. "Say, that's not the way to read that line. You've got the emphasis on the wrong word," shouts Director Clarke.

"What do you think this is? Grand Opera?" mutters Baradas, the deep eyed villain of the piece, a part carried by our own Charlie French. Snickers from the wings.

And still the scene proceeds. Curly-headed Grant Pratt, the page, flings himself on one knee at Richelieu's feet and implores to be killed. "Quick, boy! the packet," fumes the Cardinal.

"The dispatch?" quavers the page, getting the accent on the first syllable.

"Hey, say dis-Patch," yells the coach, making the work sound more like a patch than a message.

The patter of little feet is heard. Enter the breathless Julie, known about the campus as Celeste Sowka. Phillips, still the suave Cardinal, offers her a wrinkled handkerchief to wipe away her tears, which the heroine needs must always be shedding. Exit Julie.

Enter Bill Gray, perambulating as Huguet, one of the tricky plotters in the deal with French. Shakes his fist at Phillips. Exits. Enter Mauprat, the hero, played by one Jimmy Golsch.

"Gr-r-r," he growls, gnashing his teeth. "Death to the Cardinal!"

"Butcher! Your friends trick you. Be MY man," commands Richelieu.

"O. K., Card," replies Jimmy with one eye on his darling wife, the aforesaid Miss Sowka.

"There's danger! Put by the woman," pants the Cardinal.

At seven o'clock, hoarse and crabby, cast and director plod homeward.

Bison Quint Lays Aside Suits At End Of Successful Season

Team Fails To Establish New Record By Losing Two Games At U.

By JACK GROHNKE

Having completed a most successful basketball season, the Bison team will lay aside their suits for another year. The first undisputed conference championship was the results of the labors of the team and Coach L. T. Saalwaechter, and they can be justly proud of their endeavors.

Five seniors will be lost to the squad this season and their absence will be keenly felt when the team assembles for the 1933 season. George Fairhead and Eric Nordstrom Rockford, Illinois; Blair Seitz, Mandan; Leo Thomasson, Gardner; and Walter Olson, Fargo, have all contributed their last efforts for their Alma Mater on the basketball court.

Arthur, Weir on First Team

Another honor came to the team when Bob Weir, high scorer in the conference, and Donald Arthur, flashy Bison forward, were selected on the Sioux City Journal All-Conference first team.

Trying to set up a record never established by any other team in the conference, the Bison failed when the University won over them on Friday night by the score of 32-24. If the Saalymen had won on Friday, they would have gone through the Conference season undefeated for the new record. With but one defeat in eight starts, the Bison finish the season with a percentage of 875 for the championship.

The Bison were not up to their regular playing form on Friday night and the Nodaks took advantage of the fact to carry off the victory. The Sioux cagers had rung up 8 points before the Bison made a counter. Later in the opening period, the Saalymen began to steady down and left the floor on the short end of a 16-11 score.

During the second period, the Sioux continued their good play and widened the gap to 32-24 for the final count. Bernard Smith counted three field goals for his team during the second half to lead the attack.

McKay, Wier Lead Attack

Viv McKay and Bob Weir were outstanding for the Bison collecting 7 and 11 points respectively. McKay played brilliantly at his guard post besides being one of the leading scorers.

Rough Game Saturday

Saturday evening, the game turned into a fierce battle with no holds being barred. So rough were the tactics, that two Nodak players and one Bison were put out of the game before the first half was over, and the game finally ended 20-19 in favor of the Sioux.

The University played hard during the first half to go off of the floor with a 13-8 lead. Viv McKay and Walt Olson threatened the Nodak lead late in the second half and brought the score to 20-19 where it remained until the end of the game.

The defensive play of both teams was outstanding in this battle and the Bison outscored the University by two points from the field. The Nodaks collected a total of 10 points from the free throw line while the Bison netted only 7 points in this manner, and this proved the margin of victory for the Sioux.

Poor shooting form of the Bison was the reason for their defeat. Setups missed by McKay and Thomasson rolled around the hoop only to drop off of the rim. A general let down by the team after being crowned champions might be a cause for their adverse form.

McKay Outstanding

Scoring three out of the six field goals for his team, Viv McKay again lead the attack for the Bison. He was assigned to guard Bernard Smith, high scoring guard, and held him to but one field goal. McKay gathered six points to lead both teams in individual scoring and seemed to stand up well on the rough tactics used against him.

Intramural Boxing Tourny Dates Set For April 16 To 18

Lieutenant Fay Smith Begins Line Up of Fighters In First Round

With the date of the first intramurals in the boxing tourny at North Dakota set ahead to April 16, 17 and 18, competitors in the first round of scrapping are already being lined up by Lt. Fay Smith for the Golden Gloves contests.

A number of newcomers will meet their first experiences in the boxing ring at the Bison intramurals, which will prove the test and ability for prospective scrappers. Several veterans in each division will resume hostilities and rivalries of other years between themselves for honor in each weight.

Rated as experienced heavyweights are Rod McMillen and Ronald Ostrander, both burly battlers who are matched for intramural competition. Among the newcomers boxers in the heavyweight section are Harvey Erlenmeyer and Harold Miller, both football linemen.

Newcomers in the lighthweight group, who are matched for scrapping in the intramurals are Kaslow and Arnold Schneider and Cecil Boettcher and Wayne Pederson. Ed. Whitmore is an experienced boxer in this second heaviest weight.

First year middleweight fights will be arranged between McCarten and Van Hook, McKee and Hodgson and Todd versus Swanson.

The welterweight section may prove of interest to fight fans with a number of promising newcomers coming into the section. John Sealf and Roman Pung hold the lead as veteran champion and runnerup. Fred Swanson and Oliver Carlson, Selmer Quam and Robert Thompson, and Milton Hollister and Ray Baumgartner are lined up for the first round of competition to settle the question of who will contest for honors in the veteran class.

Lightweights who are already lined up in preparation for future competition are Burt Pinkham and Arnold Kunkel. Weshnevski, well known for previous appearances in the Bison ring,

Numerous first class scrappers will not see action during the first round of the intramurals, according to Lt. Smith, who has a number of tentative lineups planned for the competition in the Golden Gloves tournys later on. Contests will be arranged after the outcomes of the fights listed above are history.

Lawritson Returns From Conventions In Washington, D. C.

Instructor Attends Meetings of N. E. A. And Kappa Delta Pi

Glenn N. Lawritson, instructor in education at the State college, returned from attending the convention of Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education association, which took place in Washington, D. C., February 22, 23, and 24, Monday morning.

The convention was composed of delegates from the eighty-seven chapters located in various parts of the United States. The convention opened Monday morning with the reports from the officers as to the organization's activities during the last two years. Tuesday the business of the convention consisted of revision of the old constitution. Tuesday evening the dinner at which Dr. Kilpatrick was speaker was held. The subject was "Changing Education to Meet Social Changes." The speech centered around the inadequacy of the present day educational methods to meet the present situation. About 400 attended the dinner which was held in the Hotel Washington. This banquet was considered by Mr. Lawritson to be one of the high points of the convention.

On Wednesday, Miss Florence Strameyer, first vice president, conducted a series of round tables at which discussions of the activities of local chapters and possible activities of these chapters. There was also an election of officers. All officers were re-elected with the exception of the consular who has retired from the teaching profession.

Wednesday evening the University of Chicago dinner was held, at which dinner Dr. Wilbur, secretary of the Interior, and Dr. Hutchins, president of Chicago University, were the chief speakers. In his speech Dr. Hutchins discussed the new method of holding classes, which has been installed in the University of Chicago the last year. The principle of the plan is that no student is compelled to attend classes during the year but must take a series of examinations at the end of his sophomore, junior, and senior years. According to Dr. Hutchins the plan is working well, both from the view of the student and the instructor.

Beside the convention Mr. Lawritson attended two sessions of the National Educational association which was meeting in Washington at the same time. He also took sightseeing tours around the city and out to Mt. Vernon, home of George Washington.

Sunday Mr. Lawritson was visiting the various buildings and monuments of importance when he came to one building where a huge crowd was waiting to go up to the top in the elevator. He decided that he would walk up and get to the top before the elevator. Upon arriving at the top he found that he had climbed 889 steps and that the building was 550 feet high.

Jeanette McComb and Emilybelle Craig spent the weekend at the University of North Dakota.
