

University Editor Comes To Fargo Wednesday To Edit Friday's Issue

Editor's Exchange Between Schools Becomes Future Traditional Custom

BOARD APPROVES PLAN

Reinoehl Suggests Idea of Exchange To Spectrum Editor Early Last Fall

Don Reinoehl, editor-in-chief of the Dakota Student at the University of North Dakota, will come to Fargo Wednesday to edit the Friday's issue of the Spectrum, thereby inaugurating an editor's exchange between the two schools.

The establishment of this editor's exchange was approved by the Board of Publications last fall following a suggestion made by Mr. Reinoehl to the editor here. In the future it is planned to have the editor of The Spectrum edit one issue of The Student and the editor of The Student to edit one issue of The Spectrum every year. This Friday was selected for the first exchange because of the University games here this weekend. The editor of The Spectrum will go to Grand Forks in the near future to complete the exchange for this year.

In addition to being editor of the Dakota Student, Mr. Reinoehl, a senior in the school of arts and science, is serving his second year as president of the University chapter of Sigma Nu fraternity, national social organization, and is a member of Blue Key and Sigma Delta Chi, national honorary and professional journalistic fraternity. He acted as production manager of the 1930 Flickertail Follies, has been on the editorial staffs of several Dakotas, University yearbook, and has taken parts in several productions of Playmakers, local dramatic organization.

With Winniepe as his home, Mr. Reinoehl recently conducted an editorial campaign against the proposed raise in the non-resident tuition fee. He was one of the two University delegates to the National College Press association held in Lexington, Ky., in November.

Lincoln Debate Club Has Lincoln Dinner In Cabin Friday Noon

Club Sponsors Fifteen Minute Radio Debate Over WDAY Friday Afternoon

One of the features of this week will be a Lincoln Day dinner, to be given Friday noon in the Lincoln Log cabin by the Lincoln Debate Club. This is an annual affair, and promises to be especially novel. Attorney W. H. Burnett will speak on a theme appropriate for the occasion, and Don Lawrence, president of the club, will give a short talk.

The menu for the dinner, which has become a tradition with the club, includes many of the things which Abraham Lincoln enjoyed. Miss Pearson, assistant librarian, has checked the details of the menu for authenticity. The dinner will include: ham and eggs, baked beans, corn bread, whole wheat bread, baked potatoes, rice pudding and coffee. Besides the regular members of the club alumni members and members of the college debate squad will be in attendance.

A radio debate, which undoubtedly will attract much outside interest, is scheduled for 4:30 p. m., Friday, over station WDAY. N. D. S. C. debaters will talk for fifteen minutes on the problem of "Unemployment Insurance." Clifford Maloney will uphold the affirmative side, while Harold Frederickson will furnish the opposition. This event is also sponsored by the Lincoln Debate club.

Members of the N. D. S. C. debate squad will conduct a program before the Durbin Farmers Union on Thursday evening. A crowd of about 300 people is expected. Don Lawrence will be the presiding officer for a debate on the "Centralized Control of Industry." Norman Todd and William Stewart are on the affirmative side of the question, and Clifford Maloney and Gerald Stevens will furnish the opposition. Besides the debate, Don Lawrence will give the "Gettysburg Address," and William Stewart will present a reading.

FRATERNITIES ATTEND FOURTH OPEN HOUSE

Kappa Sigma Chi and Sigma Phi Delta fraternities were guests at the fourth of a series of open houses given by the Gamma Phi Beta sorority for fraternities on the campus between the hours of 5 and 7 Sunday.

Yellow daffodils were used in the table appointments. Presiding at the tea tables were Mmes. E. T. Hunkins and S. H. Barry. Theta Chi fraternity will be entertained at the fifth of the series.

Student Commission Sponsors Colonial Ball February 20

Colonial Costumes To Be Worn At All-College Dance As Bi-Centennial Event

An all-college colonial ball will be held on Saturday evening, Feb. 20, as a second phase of the college's three-day Washington Bicentennial celebration, Dr. W. C. Hunter, chairman of the general committee in charge of the commemoration, announced today.

The affair is to simulate a ball held at Mt. Vernon, Washington's home. The student commission, in whose hands the direction of the work for the ball has been placed, is planning to make the event a costume ball. "We would particularly like to have the students come in costume, but if they feel that they can't spend the money, it will be perfectly all right for them to appear not in costume," said Miss Mary Powers, commissioner of social affairs, today. "Any costume typical of colonial or revolutionary times will be appropriate to wear at the ball—Cavalier, backwoodsman, soldier, statesman, Puritan, Negro, Indian or pirate."

Revolutionary period notables will be portrayed at the ball by faculty members and students. Mart Vogel will come attired as George Washington, and Miss Alice Bender as his wife, Martha Washington. Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Arvold will be present as Benjamin Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Huntoon as Alexander and Mrs. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf Otterson as James and Dolly Madison, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hunter as John and Abigail Adams.

Delta Psi Kappa girls' physical education sorority, will give the feature of the ball when they present a minuet dance, in costume. Girls participating will be Ora Hammerud, Margaret Fleming, Bernice Streit, Alpha Knight, Ellen Kelly, Minerva Streed, Irene Beyer, and Myrna Ottinger. Ruth Clemens will play the accompaniment. Miss Helen Ballard, physical education instructor, is assisting Myrna Ottinger, sorority president, in the preparation of this feature.

The ball is to be held in Festival hall, between the hours of 8:30 and 11:30. Bill Euren's Collegians will furnish the music. All students and faculty members are invited to attend.

NOTICE

Students will use the northeast door in the new physical education building for the games with the University on Friday and Saturday nights.

Society Observes Anniversary Of Founding Of Little Country Theater

BENDER DIRECTS CAST

Faber, Minard Play Two Lead Roles In Three-Act Mystery Drama

With the presentation of "Cock Robin," three-act mystery play by Elmer Rice and Philip Barry, in the Little Country theater at 8 p. m. Wednesday, the Edwin Booth Dramatic club of North Dakota State college will commemorate the eighteenth anniversary of the founding of the Little Country theater by A. G. Arvold, head of the department of public discussion and social service on this campus. "Cock Robin" is being produced under the direction of Miss Alice Bender and is being staged under the general supervision of Mr. Arvold.

One of the leading roles in the drama will be taken by Anthony Faber, Bismarck, senior in the school of science and literature. Faber will interpret the lines of George McAuliffe, the director, of an amateur dramatic company which is staging a rehearsal when one of the members of their company is mysteriously murdered. The murdered man is Hancock Robin, also known as Cock Robin. The part will be interpreted by David Minard, the second major player.

The remainder of the plot is a combination of mystery, romance and comedy in an effort to determine the slayer of Robinson. Although the cast includes a number of experienced players on the campus, there are several new students participating in the play.

Besides Minard and Faber the cast includes: Grant McCullough, Julian Cleveland; Horace Spaulding, Richard Lane; Ward McCabe, John Jessup; Helen Tarplee, Alice Montgomery; Mary Healy, Carlotta Maxwell; Clifford Swanson, Clarke Torrence; Harold Naegeli, Henry Briggs; Jordan Engberg, Doctor Edgar Grace; Claire Newell, Maria Scott, and Helen Skei, Helen Maxwell.

Unusual stage settings are required for the production. The action takes place between the hours of four and ten o'clock of a single day. The scene represents the stage setting of a group of amateur players in the interior of an English grog-shop of the eighteenth century. In the first act, the setting is viewed from the front of the theater. The setting for the second act is viewed from the rear of the stage looking toward the back of the front curtain and the audience. The scene for the final act is the same as for the second.

To celebrate the eighteenth birthday of the Little Country theater, the members of the cast, members of the Edwin Booth club and departmental staff members will gather in the Lincoln Log cabin at 11:30 p. m. for a typical stage supper. Audrey Medley is in charge of general arrangements.

Sixty Couples Attend Party In Y. M. C. A. Gym Saturday

A hockey rink in miniature formed the setting for the party Saturday night at which time the pledge chapter of Alpha Sigma Tau entertained the active chapter at an informal dancing party in the Y gym. The fraternity colors, rose and gray, were used for a false ceiling effect.

Approximately 60 couples attended the dance chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Homer Huntoon and Mr. and Mrs. George Mayoue. Bill Euren and his Collegians furnished the music. Jay Lynch and Kenneth Nickerson were in general charge.

The Guest Editor

This week the editor of the Dakota Student at the University of North Dakota comes here to edit the Friday's issue of the Spectrum, thereby inaugurating an editor's exchange which we hope will be made a permanent custom for the two schools.

Within the last decade interest in college journalism has been growing until it now receives major interest among college students. It contains a great deal of practical training within its field and affords, perhaps, chances for more contacts than any other college activity.

Such an exchange as this one therefore, should give the editors a practical insight into the problems of the two respective papers.

In addition to this factor an exchange at such a time as this is appropriate on the eve of the annual basketball clash between the two schools. At no other time does the latent rivalry reach such heights. For the most part it is a pointless rivalry and carried to extremes which leave nothing but bad impressions in the minds of our visitors.

The Student editor comes in an official capacity as well as in a journalistic one. For one weekend he will be the guest of this institution. The impression he carries back to Grand Forks will be apparent in the attitude his paper takes toward North Dakota State in the future. It is up to us to make him realize that this institution is comparable to if not better than the University.

"Cock Robin"

To commemorate the 18th anniversary of the founding of the Little Country Theater the Edwin Booth Dramatic club is producing "Cock Robin" tomorrow night.

There is perhaps no other department on the campus holding as much interest for students than this one under the direction of A. G. Arvold. Assuredly there is none so well known both at home and abroad.

Of unmeasurable value the Little Country Theater, established at first on a theory, has fostered interest in the dramatic arts for nearly two decades, lending distinction and charm to a school which has primarily concerned itself with vocational pursuits.

"Cock Robin," to be presented tomorrow night is the major production of the winter term, and as a mystery play by two modern playwrights will give variety to the long list of productions successfully staged during these eighteen years in the Little Country Theater.

Bad Manners

People in a mob invariably forget the common courtesies. Perhaps it's the mob action undirected by thought or this hurried manner in which we live.

To refer to cases in point: Why must ninety percent of the audience at a basketball game put their coats and hats and gloves and golashes on two minutes before the game is over? What difference will two minutes make when they have already spent an hour? How disconcerting it must be to the team to have their audience walk out on them feebly mumbling the words to the "Yellow and the Green" into their coat collars.

And then at convocations and at lyceum programs why must we push our elbows into other people's ribs and why must one step all over someone else's feet to reach the door one second ahead of the next person?

All ready we can visualize the crowd in the physical education building Friday and Saturday nights—clamoring and pushing to get in and then clamoring and pushing to get out again. No wonder a Frenchman called us "the most ill-mannered people in the world."

Over-Organization

We are beginning to wonder if we shall ever be allowed to be self-sufficient, to have the use of this leisure time that modern inventions have given us. A continual hurried dash from meeting to meeting, from committee to committee has firmly convinced us that this campus and ninety per cent of all those in America are over-organized.

Just last night we heard of a faculty adviser who was so disappointed with the size of the audience at a meeting of a newly organized club that he was thinking of disbanding it—and he thought we'd feel badly!

Right now there is no place on this campus for another organization. Every night in the week is occupied with two or three club meetings—even Sunday, originally intended for a day of rest, is crowded with teas, and discussion groups.

Before a group is ever formed the end is well in sight. A few individuals find a field with no honorary society to recognize its shining lights. They propose the formation of just such a group to some man in authority and presto—we have a new honorary organization. Then before this group is even firmly established locally we hear talk of national affiliation. The group petitions and presto—we have a "national" and are therefore to be respected. Along with this move we take on a great deal of expense and obligations that have no place in our hurried existence and perhaps differ so greatly from our local aims that they hold no interest for us.

If a member is intelligent and frank he will admit that these organizations are useless, that he is bored and attends the meetings just often enough to keep active membership and then looks at his watch all the time he's there.

College students are rapidly becoming activity hounds—replacing what was known in the earlier college days as pink tea hounds. We are activity mad ever urged on by the desire to be a "man about the campus" or by the promoters in our Greek letter organizations.

As a result of this activities pursuit we have a man belonging to five organizations and being a good member in none—a man doing five things and none of them well.

It is little wonder that European students give the air of leisure. Their organization for the most part centers around dormitory groupings, or informal groups of people with common interests. They have no elaborate system of national organization with paid executive secretaries. Probably as a consequence of this very thing they are more self-sufficient than we are, more resourceful in amusing themselves, and not so dependent on the society of others.

This campus is over organized and we shall be dismayed if the Council recognizes any more groups this year. The best thing that could happen to us now would be the combining of all professional honoraries into one organization with no meetings and the disbanding of all miscellaneous groups. Then perhaps we might have one evening a week to read about the Disarmament conference or the Sino-Jap situation!

New Methods

The bottle dropped, the crowd roared and cheered and the band struck up "How Dry I Am." The poor unfortunate girl who with her escort passed the fatal spot at that moment suffered deep humiliation. How could she explain to that crowd—gone wild—that the bottle didn't belong to her party. She hurriedly stumbled up the bleachers and hid miserably behind a screw sticking out of the board. The cur! She gnashed her teeth and tied her hair in knots.

At least we find newer and better methods being used. What ingenious college student would have thought of putting a straw into the inside pocket containing the bottle, and gently lead it up to the buccal cavity. Well, it was done—about three seats from the college president and many other college officials. The man quickly gathered his scattered wits, reassembled them, gracefully sat down again and lit a Murad. Just a case of over excitement with lack of premeditation.

But the show must go on. A noble Roman dashed out into the entry and returned with a mop to repair damages. Alcohol vapors permeated the air. The game went on with many a burst of laughter.

Student Opinion

We, as students, know depression is reigning the world. We know there is a lack of positions. We know hard times are here. We know wages have been cut. We know about one tenth of the graduating class will obtain positions. We know all this and a lot more. We are willing to go on and study and try to keep things moving. The papers are full of all this, the theaters show reel after reel, the audiotrions furnish speaker after speaker, and we're sick of it.

Why, then, was it necessary to bring M. E. McCurdy, secretary of the N. D. Educational association out to the college last week and discourage 250 seniors. In my opinion it was a crime—any man allowed to get up before a group of college students and take the very heart out of them. These students have for four years been preparing themselves for their future. Then to have a speaker come in and to tell them how wages have all been cut to nothing, how they can never possibly get a job, and if they did it would be worth nothing. All this and more to students who have been taking money sacrificed by their parents for their education. Students who are going to be depended on to help the family in the next year. Where is there any incentive in a speech like that for young people to continue a college education. Why, anyone would want to quit after that. Many more talks and they will. You feel as though everything is for nothing. You work extra hours, you study extra time, you try to do your best, and what do you get. THAT! A fourth year speaker from an educational association telling you it's no use.

What does he want us to do? Quit? Sit around home and let your mind wander. Nine times out of ten you will get another man, driven by desperation to crime. There are too many young people coming up in our courts every day without having any more. Where would anyone end sitting at home doing nothing day after day. If some one would give a helping hand in this depression crisis wouldn't it be better than to give the under dog a downward shove? We are willing to pay taxes to keep up a school, we are willing to pay in tuition for attending the same school, why would we have to be discouraged by speakers telling us there will be nothing after we have gone through four years?

—S. L. H.

Something new in journalism is being tried out at the University of Vermont. The advance story of the grid game between Vermont and Middlebury held at the Vermont Field was to be written by the sport editor of the Middlebury paper and vice versa. Both institutions hope to add more interest to the game by this procedure and also get the hopes and views of the opposing team directly through their own publicity organs.

Our college gentlemen of today who are unceasingly complaining of the tough time they are having in school with their studies might do well to review the past. In years gone by at Yale in order to enter as an unconditioned freshman one had to have studied four books of Caesar, seven orations of Cicero, the first six books of the Aeneid, Greek grammar, three books of the Anabasis, four books of the Iliad, higher arithmetic, and a thorough knowledge of grammar and geography. The same requirements were demanded at Buchtel college now the University of Akron.

A University of Oregon student accepted the challenge of fellow students and swallowed one dozen raw eggs at one sitting in a campus cafe.

PHILOSOPHY FOR FEW, PROFESSOR DECLARES

New Haven, Conn. — (IP)—"That sweet delight," Philosophy, is not for the masses, Professor Morris Cohen of the New York University department of philosophy told the annual meeting of the American Philosophical Society here last week.

"God forbid that it should ever become utilitarian," he said. "That would degrade it as utilitarianism degrades loves or music of a beautiful sunset. It is the chief d'oeuvre, the piece de resistance of the mental board, a delight, to be tasted by the few elect only."

SORORITY GIRLS PLEDGE 15 CENT FOOD LIMIT

Columbus, Ohio—(IP)—With their right hands firmly planted on an economic book, members of Theta Phi Alpha sorority at Ohio State university took an oath not to eat more than 15 cents worth when their boy friends take them into campus "beaneries."

The decision followed a national controversy over the decision of the Delta Gamma sorority girls at the University of Missouri to pledge themselves to a 5-cent soda fountain bill when on a date with a college man.

The thrill of Harvard students gained by a report that unchaperoned women would be allowed to visit Elliot House, a student dormitory, vanished as university officials denied the report.

BISON DEFEAT COYOTES IN THRILLING BATTLE LAST SATURDAY NIGHT

Walt Olson Tosses Free Throw To Give Bison Three Point Margin

PLAY U. N. D. THIS WEEK

Adkins And Buck Lead Attack For South Dakota Invaders In Conference Tilt

In one of the most thrilling games of the season, the State college basketball team eked out a 34-31 victory over the South Dakota University Coyotes last Saturday. During the last ten minutes of this hectic battle, the capacity crowd was treated to thrill after thrill. A comfortable lead of 11 points dwindled to a difference of 2 with but one minute of the game left, but a free throw by Walt Olson with five seconds to go cinched the game for the Bison.

Scoring 13 goals to 11 for the Bison, the Coyotes outscored the local team from the field. The uncanny free throwing ability of the Buffalomen proved to be the vital factor in their victory. The Sallymen gathered 12 points from the gift toss line, while the Coyotes collected but five.

Play University Friday

The Bison are still in undisputed possession of first place in the conference championship race with five victories and no defeats. North Dakota university is in second place with four victories and one setback. The game this Friday evening will be a big factor in the championship hopes of the Bison. If the Bison win this contest, the Sallymen will have the championship won.

After calling time out with 11 minutes of the second half gone and the score standing 26-20, the Bison rallied and brought the count 31-20. At this point the Coyotes' scoring threat began and lead by Adkins, Buck and Walker the Bison lead vanished to but two points difference.

Leading the attack for the Bison were Weir, Olson and Arthur. They collected all but three of the total points of the team. McKay was especially effective at a guard post and caused the opposing forwards no little trouble by his clever dribbling and floor play. Weir was high point man for the Bison with a total of 12 points. He was closely followed by Olson with 11 points and Arthur with a total of 8 counters.

Steve Adkins and Buck led the attack for the opponents. Adkins, who has failed to hit his high scoring pace thus far this season, collected 9 points during the second half to lead his team in scoring.

Coach L. T. Saalwaechter will send his chargers through two hard games this weekend when they clash with the University of North Dakota on the local court.

Marksmen Face Group Of Competitive Matches

Ten Rifle Teams Compete With Bison In This Week's Contests

One of the largest groups on any of the weekly competitive match schedules face the Bison marksmen this week, the second week of the Postal competition, according to Capt. J. B. Conny, coach.

Ten college rifle teams will fire in competition with the Bison during this week. Rifery teams of fifteen men will be used by each college with each man firing under a definite schedule and set of rules.

Competing with the North Dakota State college shots are those from the University of South Dakota, Davidson college, Montana State college, Syracuse university, University of Wisconsin, Kempper Military school, University of Maryland, Colorado School of

Between Halves

By EVERETT WALLUM

As the years pass it seems Bison-Sioux athletic contests are becoming more and more crucial as far as championships go. Before, the significant battle was in football. This year it is in both football and basketball.

It is about time the Bison took one of these deciding embroglios and there'll be quite a crowd on hand Friday night to see whether the Buffalomen can capture their first undisputed North Central pennant.

A WIN FRIDAY WOULD VIRTUALLY CINCH A BISON CHAMPIONSHIP, NEEDING ONLY TO DEFEAT SOUTH DAKOTA'S JACKRABBITS THE FOLLOWING WEEKEND FOR UNDISPUTED HONORS.

If the Bison suffer a lapse such as occurred in the Coyote battle, they can hardly hope to win Friday. During the South Dakota rally it seemed practically every Bison was bewildered, unable to take the situation in hand. The insertion of Thomasson, cool guard from the North, helped steady the yellow and green quint. Thomasson also was a great help in getting the ball from the bankboard.

It has been so long since the Bison have taken a championship that the proximity of that goal may have upset them. We certainly hope they are over any stage-fright now.

Coach Letich's boys have everything to gain and little to lose in Friday's game. This peculiar basketball race which left the championship scramble to two North Dakota entries will reach a thrilling climax Friday.

The Bison lapse in the Coyote game had one good result anyway. It resulted in a thrilling battle that kept the fans agog and left them weak from excitement.

THE TOUTED BATTLE OF THE GIANTS (WEIR VS. MEINHOVER) WILL NOT BE THE FIRST APPEARANCE OF THE TWO. THEY DISPORTED THEMSELVES IN HIGH SCHOOL TOURNAMENT DAYS WHEN FARGO AND BISMARCK HAD DIFFERENCES.

When either one of them play over their heads they are way, way up.

What has been more or less sidetracked in the news lately is the fact that the Bison and Sioux series also has considerable bearing on the state championship. Best three out of four is the verdict. If they both win two they'll have to middleaisle it.

The all-important game of the series is Friday. A win for the Bison will mean a championship and a head start towards the state title. A Sioux victory will mean a probable Sioux championship for both state and conference.

It's enough to make all true Bison fans attend revival meetings all this week. A little fasting won't hurt either.

Baby Bison and Sioux Schedule Fight Meet

Freshman Boxing Forms Newest Rivalry Between First Year Athletes

A new phase in rivalry between the University of North Dakota and North Dakota State college will be introduced this year when a separate boxing tournament will be held at Grand Forks between the freshman fighters of both institutions during the first part of April, according to word received from the college athletic department.

Arrangements have been made by the athletic heads of both schools to hold the bouts of the yearling boxers with no set date as yet decided upon. The bouts will be held some time soon after the varsity boxing tournament in Fargo, between the upperclass scrappers from the rival colleges.

Prospective challengers in the lighter weights are a scarcity in the freshman ranks at North Dakota State college, Lt. Fay Smith says. A number of the lighter mitt handlers will have to be recruited from the freshman class to complete a needed gap in the frosh boxing team.

Coyote Tourney Date Set Ahead One Month Because of Weather

Director Backman Promises Big Show At Conference Fight Event

Because of the continually stormy weather that has chilled ears and blocked roads since the first of February, the Bison boxers will not leave for their early scheduled conference tourney at South Dakota University this weekend.

A request was received late yesterday by Lt. Fay Smith, Bison fighting tutor, from Stanley Backman, athletic director of the southern school, to change the date of the tourney from February 12 to March 4. This arrangement is most satisfactory to the Bison, Lt. Smith says.

The proposed change in the date for the boxing tourney came as the result of the difficulties encountered by the University of South Dakota basketball team in making the bus trip to the two North Dakota colleges on their team trip this past weekend. Cold temperatures and blocked roads afforded great difficulties in traveling for the players and their coach, Rube Hoy.

"We are going to put on a real show when the Bison come down for their fight tourney here," Director Backman announced in his letter. "Because of the unsuitable weather we would hesitate advertising the bouts with the Bison with the constant threat of having to postpone the matches with all preparations made. The Coyote boxers will be ready for the Bison when they come to Vermillion on March 4."

Just six days after the Bison-Coyote boxing tourney the Olympic boxing tryouts will begin at Minneapolis, according to information just received by Lt. Smith. The Olympic matches are to be run off in two days, March 10 and 11, at the larger of the Twin Cities.

Inter-fraternity boxing will be begun the week following the South Dakota State college basketball game here, Feb. 12, as had been planned before the postponement of the tourney with the University of South Dakota. A steady succession of matches will be run off under the big lights in the new physical education building until winners are selected.

New York—(IP)—Speaking before the session of the Institute of Arts and Sciences here, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, warned that nations must develop national and international consciousness, national and international consciousness of civilization. The world is at an important climax right now, he said, with the future depending a great deal on present day leadership.

Bison Sextette Play Spectacular Hockey In Overtime Battle

Falcons Administer First Defeat To Baby Bison Team Last Week

Wins did not come so easily for the two State college hockey teams in last week's play of the Fargo-Moorhead Amateur Hockey league. The Baby Bison were beaten by the Falcons in a 3 to 2 upset, and the Bison varsity team was tied 2 to 2 by the Rockets in games last Thursday night. The Bison-Rocket game was spectacular, two overtime periods failing to result in a breakage of the tie.

The defeat by the Falcons marked the first for the Baby Bison pucksters. The Baby Bison are expected to take the championship of the league, having lost but one game and won three, without tying any. If they can defeat the bottom-of-the-list M. S. T. C. Dragons, they have the championship cinched. The Bison and Rockets, as a result of their tie, will in this event hold second place honors. The standings in the league now are as follows:

Team	Won	Lost	Tied	Pct.
Baby Bison	3	1	0	.750
Bison	3	1	1	.750
Rockets	3	1	1	.750
Falcons	3	2	0	.600

Delta Kappa Sigma and Kappa Sigma Chi fraternities, with ten points apiece, are tied for third place as a result of an upset game, also played Friday afternoon, in which the Delta Sigs won, 7 to 2. The final standings of the league are as follows:

DEPTH SOUNDERS FOR AIRCRAFT

WITH the application of electricity to aircraft instruments, another chapter was written in the annals of air transportation. To-day's ship is not only swifter but safer and more dependable. Modern depth-sounding devices indicate instantly the height of the ship above the ground surface. A unique feature of General Electric's recently purchased monoplane is the almost completely electrified instrument panel.

The most recently developed instrument is the sonic altimeter, which provides a quick means of indicating changes in height above ground. Sound from an intermittently operated air whistle is directed downward. The echo is picked up in a receiving megaphone, and the sound is heard through a stethoscope. The elapsed time between the sound and the echo determines the height. Tests show that water, buildings, woods, etc., produce echoes that are different and characteristic.

Besides developing a complete system of aircraft instruments, college-trained General Electric engineers have pioneered in every electrical field—on land, on sea, and in the air.

Students May Become Associate Members of Sigma Xi Fraternity

Candidates Must Do Competent Work In Scientific Research Fields

It is now possible for undergraduate students at colleges and universities to become associate members of Sigma Xi, honorary scientific research fraternity. A resolution to that effect was passed recently at the annual meeting of the group, held at New Orleans, Louisiana.

This measure represents a definite forward step by Sigma Xi, which hitherto has been very conservative in this respect, according to Dr. H. C. Hanson of the botany department, who was a delegate from North Dakota State to the meeting. It will stimulate and conserve research talent and ability among undergraduate students, and is in a direct line with the object of the society, Dr. Hanson pointed out.

To be elected to associate membership in Sigma Xi, a student must have done suitable research work, and demonstrate that he has research talent. The fact that Sigma Xi has a club on this campus will facilitate the receipt of such an honor by a North Dakota State college student. Should a local committee decide that a student is doing competent enough research work to warrant his becoming a member, they will send his name, along with evidence of his work, to a national commission, which will act on it as they see fit.

Sigma Xi has 58 chapters and 28 clubs at colleges and universities in the United States. C. E. Mangels is president, and Dr. Hanson, secretary-treasurer, of the club here. The object of the society is the promotion of scientific research.
