"Doc" Putnam Came To State College 29 Years Ago Yesterday

Veteran Music Director Began Work On Campus As Teacher In Arithmetic Class

By SELDEN CATLIN Monday, January 11, marked a truly great day in the life of Dr. C. S. Putnam, director of music at North Dakota State college.

It was the twenty-ninth anniversary of his arrival to the State college campus as a member of the faculty. Twenty-nine years of honor and achievements. Twenty-nine years of constant application. He has seen our school grow from an institution composed of four small buildings to its present status as one of the most prominent educational centers in the state. He has lived and matured with the oldest of the college's cherished hopes and ambitions.

Being a graduate medical doctor, he practiced for three years in the city of Fargo. In 1903 he suffered the loss of his office by fire. He immediately affiliated with the college and taught his first class of arithmetic in the basement of the south wing of Science hall. He also was instructor in sanitary hygiene. As the time passed, the college enrollment increased and as a result he was forced to devote his entire time to music. From a band of twenty-three members in 1923 he has constantly developed his department until he now has an organization of 95 pieces.

No one on the campus can claim the popularity of "Doc." His erect military figure can readily be sighted leading the Gold Star band at every game, rally or festivity. Always with a ready smile and keen wit, he continues from year to year as the same old "Doc."

He expressed his satisfaction on the progress and improvement of the campus when asked about the college future.

"I predict a steady growth as we come out of the depression we have been through, and as financial and farm conditions improve and as business rebounds and becomes stabilized, students will flock to our school by hundreds," he said.

"As I see it, we have a teaching force and faculty well fitted to the needs of North Dakota as a farming and agricultural state. With that growth the

Students Opposed To Regulation Made By Administration Board

Following Statements Made By Presidents of Various Fraternities

Statements secured from the president of the student commission and the presidents of the various fraternities on the campus comment unfavorably on the new non-resident tuition fee to go into effect next summer.

The following statements were submitted:

"There is no question but that the State Board of Administration is doing non-resident students an injustice in the setting of such a high tuition fee as three hundred dollars when similar institutions in the neighboring states have a much lower non-resident fee. The Board has made a great error."—Erling Thorson, president of the Student Commission.

"It is an unnecessary and improper thing to do. I think that since the Board of Administration has gone to the trouble of raising the fee for non-resident students so high, they may as well put in a law excluding students from outside the state entirely."—William Gray, president of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity and commissioner of athletics.

"I think it is one of the most backward steps ever taken by the Board of Administration. For the past ten years the school has been struggling to reach a high educational standard. It has come close to that during the last few years, but this backward step by the board will set us back at least fifteen years. The loss, besides being educational, will be financial as well."—Anthony Faber, president of Alpha Sigma Tau fraternity.

"In inaugurating the movement of raising non-resident tuition to $300 I believe that in the end the institution will be the biggest sufferer. Not only will it lower the standard of education the school authorities have worked so hard to attain, but it also tends toward making everything on the campus uncosmopolitan. We will be a group settled in our own ideas and ideals. With a very few exceptions the student body here is composed of students who can not afford to attend other institutions of higher learning. BLUE KEY CONDUCTS TRYOUTS FOR LARGE NUMBERS THIS YEAR

Ben Boyden Selected To Coach Toe Dancing Work For This Year's Show

TO TAKE FORM OF REVUE

Final Trials For Show Cast Are Expected To Be Held Early Next Week

Over two hundred students appeared for tryouts conducted by Blue Key fraternity Saturday and Sunday afternoon in beginning work on the 1932 edition of the Bison Brevities.

The entire company will hold dancing practice every evening this week under the direction of Ben Boyden who has been chosen by the management to handle the toe work for the show. At the end of the week the most finished

The final preliminary tryouts for participation in the 1932 edition of the Bison Brevities will be held in Festival hall at 6:30 p. m. today. Any student who has not yet tried out and desires to do so must try out at this time as well as all those who reported for tryouts at the sessions Saturday and Sunday. Costume, stage and scenery workers need not report.

performers will be selected for the chorus and solo parts. About half of the remainder will be given parts in the show.

At present the plan of the show will take the form of a revue. Large acts, curtain acts, and black outs will be so arranged as to give the Brevities audience as fine a show as any shown in former years, according to Prof. Homer B. Huntoon who is directing the production.

The special feature of the 1932 Brevities will be the amount of student directorship and talent going into the revue. From the writing and direction of the acts to the singing and dancing the student is to play a more important part than ever before.

The final trials for the show cast are expected to be held at the beginning of next week.

Senior Staff Spring Surprise

Leap year has started with a bang! The Senior Staff holds no exception to the rules governing this year. They are doing their best to do a little match making and fire lighting. In case you haven't heard, which isn't probable, they are springing (which we have to winter) a great leap year's party next Friday night. Girls, here is your first big chance of the year. Get your man early. The early bird gets the best worm. At least, you ought to be able to get some sort of a date—one kind or another.

Another big attraction comes in the form of prizes, one for the lucky girl and one for the plucky man. Anyway they are worth going a mile for. Look out boys, here she comes!

Of course, the men are going to expect we poor girls to taxi them here and there, but that has been ruled out. Nope, if they get asked they are going to find themselves in a well of good luck. Don't wait until tomorrow. Ask your man now! Tie 'em in a knot and drag them in. Surprises and fun for all. Frolicking, dancing, and tip top music.

Come on girls, here's your chance, Hurry and ask your man to the dance.

Students Think That Proposed Regulation Will Lower Standard

Sorority Presidents Submit Statements Typical of Student Opinion

Voicing the general opinion expressed by other campus representatives the last week since the state Board of Administration made a rule for an increased non-resident tuition fee at North Dakota educational institutions, leaders of women's Greek letter groups at North Dakota State declared themselves opposed to the measure in statements issued last night.

Included in statements given out by sorority executives were:

"Each non-resident student who comes to a North Dakota college brings from five hundred to a thousand or more dollars into the state each year. Why should the Board of Administration charge so high a non-resident fee as to drive this amount of money from the state? Out of state students are a good advertisement for our state institutions. Lowering the standard of this institution will increase the withdrawal of North Dakota students from our colleges as well as out of state students."—Maurine McCurdy, president Alpha Gamma Delta.

"There are many objections to the ruling of the State board that non-resident students be charged a $300 tuition fee. It tends to discourage co-operation and good understanding between states. Other states educate more students for us than we do for them and offer many students opportunities not possible at home. We should be willing to do as much. This ruling will also reduce the size and importance of this institution and of the university at Grand Forks, and will seriously affect our athletic standing."—Doris Lathrop, Alpha Xi Beta.

"It's a drastic move. I think it is entirely out of harmony with the depression. It's not a fair thing to do, neither to the student body nor to the school."—Grace Hunkins, president of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

SPECTRUM TAKES VOTE AMONG NON-RESIDENTS IN OFFICE WEDNESDAY

Moorhead High School Seniors Fill Out Spectrum Questionnaire

VOTE FROM 8 A. M. TO 9 P. M.

Board of Administration Makes No Further Statement Concerning Fee

To determine accurately the probable trend in enrollment among non-resident students at North Dakota State college next year, the Spectrum will take a straw vote tomorrow.

All regularly enrolled non-resident students are asked to come to the Spectrum office in Science hall sometime tomorrow between the hours of 8 a. m. and 9 p. m. to fill out the Spectrum non-resident questionnaire.

Through the co-operation of superintendent S. G. Reinertsen of Moorhead high school, all Moorhead high seniors will fill out similar questionnaires to determine the probable enrollment from Moorhead high school. "Since I have been at Moorhead high school, the number of graduates from this school who entered North Dakota State college has been more than the total number entering the two Moorhead colleges, and I believe the percentage has been steadily increasing for State college," said Mr. Reinertsen in an interview today.

To date no statement has been forthcoming from the Board of Administration explaining whether the raised fee will be in effect for students who have already matriculated.

226 Non-Residents Attend North Dakota State This Quarter

Minnesota Has Largest Number Enrolled From Localities Outside of This State

Minnesota, especially Moorhead and Clay county towns, contributes a greater share of North Dakota State college's total of 226 non-resident students, according to official figures released by Registrar A. H. Parrott, today.

Forty-four students cross the river daily from their homes in Moorhead, according to the college records for the winter term. Clay county sends 29 additional students and other Minnesota points send 108 students to North Dakota State college.

Neighboring states of South Dakota and Montana send 16 and 14 respectively. Illinois and Wisconsin contribute 4 students each and Michigan sends 3. Canada, Colorado, Iowa and Nebraska have a single representative each.

A gain of attendance in the college proper of six students over the enrollment of the winter term last has been recorded during the past week, according to Registrar Parrott. North Dakota State college has 1369 students enrolled in full time collegiate courses for this coming term with 85 additional students attending high school and short courses.

No extreme gains or losses were noted in any college school. Science and literature with 323 students continues to hold its position as the largest single school on the campus.

Official figures for each school on the campus are as follows: Agriculture, 169; Chemistry, 111; Chemistry and Engineering, 8; Education, 180; Home Economics, 185; Architectural Engineering, 7; Architecture, 32; Civil Engineering, 49; Mechanical Engineering, 215; Pharmacy, 90; Science and Literature, 323.

Edwin Perry, Kappa Sigma Chi, has returned to school after a term's absence.

Member National College and North Central Press Associations

Time For Expansion

Now that the time is drawing near for the annual conference of the North Central Press association it seems opportune to offer suggestions to enlarge and to better the association.

At the National College Press association meeting this year in Lexington, Kentucky, the organization and reorganization of regional press associations was strongly urged. Delegates were instructed to settle detailed and routine matters at district meetings and present only larger matters for discussion at the national convention.

The editor of the Creightonian, official newspaper for Creighton university, Omaha, Nebraska, a member of the North Central association, in attendance at the national convention, suggested the enlarging of the North Central Press conference to include all colleges and universities in the states of Nebraska and Kansas. This suggestion was enthusiastically endorsed by all four of the North Dakota delegates who further suggested colleges in the state in Montana as a possibility.

At the present time there are rumors afloat regarding the breaking up of the North Central Athletic conference that the member schools may reorganize themselves along more comparative lines.

The enlarging of the press conference could very well be accomplished at the same time. Journalistically the schools in this area would be much strengthened if at least four or six colleges were added to the present conference membership of six.

All institutions suggested have newspapers of comparable size and would benefit, we believe, by just some organization. Feeling that now is the time to act we would suggest that invitations be extended to colleges in the states of Nebraska, Kansas and Montana that they might be present, if interested, at the annual convention in Brookings in March at which time they could be formally admitted.

The Social Calendar

One of the greatest problems facing organizations on the campus at the present time is the securing of desirable dates for social events. The situation is such that if one does not make an effort to secure dates weeks in advance the event must be indefinitely postponed.

This year unusual difficulty was experienced in securing a desirable date for the Charity Ball—so much difficulty in fact that Panhellenic voted to schedule the Ball for next year at the same time. We are also told that now at the beginning of the winter term fraternities and sororities are scheduling their spring formal dates.

To remedy such difficulties we would suggest that the social committee plan the social calendar for the entire year allotting the right number of dates to each organization and present the schedule to the students by the end of the formal fall rushing season.

Dates might be voted according to some set plan as is done at the University of Kentucky or they might be drawn for by lot. In any event the committee would be able to anticipate all affairs and spread them more evenly over the term than they fall this year.

North Central Press Association Chooses March 4-5 for Meet

Ben-Greet Players Entertain Journalists In Session At Brookings

The North Central Press association will hold its annual convention at South Dakota State college at Brookings, South Dakota, on March 4 and 5, according to word received yesterday from William Spurling, managing editor of the Industrial Collegian, official publication at South Dakota State and secretary of the North Central Press association.

Featured on the entertainment provided for the delegates will be the presentation of Shakespearean dramas by the internationally reputed Ben-Greet players on March 5.

Plans for the two day convention were started early this fall. Meetings on the two-day program call for round table discussions, talks by outside speakers, and other features.

Yearbooks and newspapers from the five schools in the association will be judged at this time. There is some agitation at present to enlarge the conference to include all of Nebraska, Kansas and Montana. It is expected that this issue will be discussed when the conference meets this spring. At the present time the colleges in the association are: the University of North Dakota, North Dakota State, the University of South Dakota, South Dakota State and Creighton University.

Merrihue Comments On State Engineer

National Chairman Praises the Nov.-Dec. Issue of Publication

Willard V. Merrihue, chairman of the Engineering college magazines associated, national organization of the leading college engineering publications, has written a letter to Rea A. Taylor, editor-in-chief of the North Dakota State Engineer, quarterly publication of the students of the school of mechanic arts, praising him on the high quality of the Nov.-Dec. issue of the magazine.

Mr. Merrihue in his letter to Mr. Taylor, says:

"I was charmed and impressed with your Nov.-Dec. issue. Indeed I might be because it compares most favorably with that of any member in our group. The use of the attractive brown on both inside and outside of your cover is a progressive move that is considered the very best practice. Your front-piece is very pleasing to the eye. Your paper stock, typography, and printing are top-notch.

"I am simply amazed at the quality of this issue. Please accept my sincerest congratulations. You are doing much to increase the prestige of your engineering schools."

In publishing the Nov.-Dec. issue of the magazine Mr. Taylor was assisted by Fred Payne, business manager, associate editors, Jack Simonitsch, Ralph Simenson and Edward Comm, circulation manager, and Gordon Strong, advertising manager. Others assisting in the editorial department were Harold Heimark, Oliver Blecken, Allan Brierly, Robert Nettelund, Burton Pinkham and Byron Tharaldson; in departmental were Max Hughes, Hjalmer Johnson, Harold Hauge, Byron Weiss; and in the business department were Erling Hedahl, Norman McKendry, Jack Lee, Idan Flaa, Charles Snyder and Clyde Townsend.

Mr. Taylor in commenting on the letter said that if the student engineering body as a whole will only get back of the magazine and lend its support by way of subscriptions as the staff has in making the style and contents of the magazine worthy of such national praise, the publication will stand a good chance of becoming a member of the Engineering college magazines associated of which Mr. Merrihue is chairman.

Application blanks for petitioning membership into the national organization were received last term. The staff is only waiting for an increased subscription to the magazine by the student engineers before it applies for membership in the national association.

College Band Gives Concert At Central

Group Appears At Fargo High School January 14, Says Putnam

The first activity in the music department for the winter term will be a concert to be given by the Gold Star concert band at the Central high school Thursday morning, January 14.

This concert, which is an annual event for the band, will be a repetition of the program played in convocation in December. Members of the band will be excused from classes Thursday morning in order to play the concert.

Four new students joined the concert band this term. Jack Aiken, who is back from a tour of the Orient, is playing trumpet. John Hafstrom is also a new member of the trumpet section. Russell Paulson is playing baritone saxophone and Marvin Lund has reentered school and is playing oboe.

After the high school concert the concert band will begin working on an altogether new program. The Intermediate Band is also working on a new program which they hope to present to the student body during the winter term.

The class in appreciation of music has an enrollment of over fifty students which is a considerable increase over former terms. Members of this are showing unusual interest in this course, according to Doctor Putnam.

Members of the music department wish to remind students that two quarter hour credit is given to students for private lessons.

LIBRARY RECEIVES NEW SET OF BOOKS

"The Pageant of America," a pictorial history of the United States is the new set of books added to the college library. The set was published by the Yale University Press from 1925-1929. Ralph Henry Gabriel of the department of history at Yale University was the editor.

The set consists of fifteen volumes with more than 11,000 illustrations. The series extends from the first mention of legendary Vinland to the present day.

The volumes have a pleasing appearance with an exceptionally rich binding stamped in gold and are large in order to give full effect to the illustrations. The paper and ink used have been manufactured expressly for these books.

Some of the topics covered in the series are: Lure of Frontier, March of Commerce, American Spirit, Letters and Architecture, American Stage and American Sport.

The purpose of the Pageant of America is to instill action and reality into American history.

BISON BATTLE COBBERS IN ANNUAL ENCOUNTER ON HOME COURT AT 8

Arthur Still Unable To Play; Olson Declared To Be Ineligible

DOUBTFUL OF INCOME

Bison Out To Avenge One Point Defeat Given By Cobbers Last Season

Playing their second game in three days with the absence of the two regular forwards, the State College Bison are not so optimistic over the outcome of the annual battle with the Concordia College Cobbers this evening in the new physical education building at 8 o'clock.

Coach L. T. Saalwaechter will undoubtedly resort to the same players which he used against the Morningside Maroons on Saturday evening. The team failed to hit a good pace in that game and should be due to perform in a much better manner.

Olson, Arthur Out

Donald Arthur, star forward, has not been able to report for practice since he fractured a small bone in his foot and will not be able to see action for some time. Walt Olson, running mate for Arthur, was declared ineligible and will not be able to compete in tonight's game. With the absence of these stellar players the team will suffer a severe handicap.

Viv McKay has been shifted from his regular guard post to a forward position, and it has been hard to change his style of play to fit the forward wall. With the experience he gained in the Morningside game, he should fit in better and the whole team should perform in a different style.

The Bison will be out to avenge the one point defeat that they received at the hands of the Cobbers last season. Moorhead has twice defeated practically the same as last year, and the Bison will be extended to the limit if they win this encounter.

If comparative scores mean anything, the Sallymen are much superior to the Cobbers. Moorhead has twice defeated the Clevelems, and State college drubbed the Ped by the score of 40-29. The Cobbers have not been playing up to their regular standard so far this season, and they are about due to show a reversal of form.

When these two teams line up for the opening whistle the fans will be assured of plenty of good basketball and an evening that will be packed with thrills.

RIFLE TEAM TRYOUTS BEGIN TOMORROW

The annual tryouts for the State College Rifle team will begin on Wednesday, January 13, and will continue through Saturday, January 23, according to Capt. J. B. Conny, coach. The twenty men having the highest scores at the close of the tryouts will comprise the 1932 rifle team.

Prizes, to be furnished by the North Dakota State College Rifle club, and to be competed for in the tryouts, are two gold medals, one to be awarded to the highest scorer among all competitors, and the other to be given the best scorer among the "tryos," or first year competitors. Silver and bronze medals will be second and third prizes, respectively, in each group.

There will be a meeting of all men interested in trying out for the rifle team at the range this afternoon.

On resignation of Milton Lee as president of the Pep club, James Parkins was elected as his successor at a meeting held Friday, Jan. 8.

We want your answer to the non-resident questionnaire. Call at The Spectrum office sometime tomorrow if you are a non-resident student.

Bison Defeat Maroons In First Conference Basketball Encounter

North Dakota State Piles Up 33-24 Score Over Morningside

North Dakota State college successfully completed their first conference game of the season by defeating the Morningside Maroons 33 to 24 in a ragged battle at the new gym Saturday night.

The first ten minutes of the game were featured by inaccurate passing and poor shooting by both teams. Morningside assumed an early lead of two points but a field goal by Fairhead and another by Nordstrom put the Bison in the lead which they retained for the rest of the game. Midway in the first half, Wyant, Morningside guard, sunk two shots from the center of the floor and a personal foul on Weir gave Koberg two free throws which made the score 16 to 14 for the Buffalomen. Recognizing the threat the Bison presented an extra spurt and with a field goal from the side by Fairhead and a setup by Weir they carried the score out of immediate danger. The half ended 2 to 15 for Saalwaechter's charges.

Fouling Prevalent

During the last period the Maroons again threatened but were unable to overtake the Bison lead. In the last ten minutes the action increased considerably and Referee Rogers was forced to call several fouls for roughness. The game ended as Fairhead was fouled as he made a difficult overhand shot from the side.

Bison Defense Good

For the most part of the game the Bison defense was impenetrable. Morningside frequently gained possession of the ball in their own section of the court only to have it intercepted or lost out of bounds when they attempted to work in for a close shot. The Maroons exhibited a good style of floor play and handled the ball cleverly but were forced to confine their aggressiveness to long shots. Wyant, although forced out on fouls, and Koberg, guard, played best ball for the visitors.

Passing Poor

The Bison passing was considerably below the usual standard as constant interceptions testified. Both Fairhead and McKay broke down the floor with perfect opportunity for open shots but muffed the ball under the basket. The loss of the accurate shooting of Walt Olson and Don Arthur, neither of whom were in uniform, was keenly felt. If the Bison had made good a larger percentage of their set up shots the final score would have been considerably greater in their favor.

Overcome Threats

The Yellow and Green warriors had an edge on the Morningside team during most of the fray, being able to step out at critical moments and gain the necessary points. They took advantage of their foul shooting to aid greatly in establishing a substantial margin over the invaders.

Fairhead annexed the scoring honors for State college, making four field goals and completing five of seven gift shots. Nordstrom and Thomasson were effective at guard positions.

The Bison made no substitutions.

MORNINGSIDE'S SHOWING IN HOLDING THE BISON TO A NINE POINT MARGIN INDICATES THE CONFERENCE CAGE RACE WILL BE A FREE-FOR-ALL AFFAIR REMINISCENT OF A FEW YEARS BACK BEFORE SOUTH DAKOTA U DOMINATED THE LOOP.

The Coyotes appear to have struck an early season dose of lethargy. South Dakota State has a more impressive practice record and we believe the Bunnies will take at least one game from their rivals.

Clem Letich's action in giving his sophomores the break will probably be the making of another great Sioux quintet. His youngsters easily outpointed Morningside, paving the way for heated discussions on the probable outcome of Bison-Nodak series.

Bison success hinges on—you've guessed it—the return to action of Olson and Arthur. Arthur, undoubtedly, will be back in time for the critical southern trip but Olsons' reappearance seems to be problematical.

The permanent loss of Olson would be a crushing blow to Bison pennant hopes. He is not only one of the most seasoned men on the squad but his shooting and cooperation in team play has been an important factor in success thus far. His absence would also leave a moral effect retarding the team's progress.

Bison fans disappointed at the team's offensive lapse last Saturday must consider that Fairhead and McKay have had very little experience in game competition this year. McKay, especially, was placed in a tough spot, being drilled at guard for weeks, then being forced to take over a forward post.

FAIRHEAD GOT OFF TO A GOOD START IN THE CONFERENCE SCORING RACE, TALLYING 12 POINTS IN THE OPENER. GEORGE NEVER HITS HIS STRIDE UNTIL ABOUT THIS TIME. HE IS UNDOUBTEDLY THE FASTEST CAGER IN THE LOOP, HIS ONLY WEAKNESS BEING OVERHASTE IN SHOOTING.

Just the opposite in this respect is Bob Weir, his coolness in aiming at the basket has nettled many an opponent. Bob shoots many baskets which fans term "lucky." Last spring and early this fall Bob spent many hours, most of them alone, practicing onehanded thrusts from difficult angles.

Finnegan Schedules Nine Games for 1932

Bison Play Five Games on Home Field; Oklahoma University Is Here October 14

Arrangements have been completed for an outstanding football schedule for the 1932 season according to Casey Finnegan in an announcement Saturday. With five games, three at night, to be played on the local field, next fall's program constitutes one of the most interesting in the history of the school.

A contest here with a renowned Oklahoma City University on October 14 occupies the most prominent spot in the list of games carded. Oklahoma City won twelve games during the 1931 campaign.

On November 4th the Bison will play George Washington university at Washington and the following week they do battle with the nationally prominent Army eleven at West Point. A game with South Dakota on October 8 will be played at Brookings.

Besides the Oklahoma City game the home contacts will include the usual opener with Concordia on September 23. South Dakota U on September 20, North Dakota U on October 22, and Moorhead Teachers on October 29.

A previously scheduled game with Wisconsin has been changed to accommodate the Oklahoma tilt by shifting South Dakota University to the Badger date.

Finnegan revealed that considerable correspondence was exchanged with Davis-Elkins in arrangement for an indoor game at Atlantic City on November 4, but the Bison engaged George Washington university for this date. The concluding game will be with

Ski Association Invites Rosenberg To Olympic Tryouts

Architecture Student Holds General Championships In Ski Jumping

Among the new students enrolling for the winter quarter at State college is one Kaare Rosenberg, 818 12th St. No., Fargo. He is registered in the school of architecture, but his special vocation is ski jumping and his past record testifies that he is far from being a novice.

So prominent is his list of past performances that the National Ski association of America saw fit to invite him as a participant in the Olympic tryouts at Canton, South Dakota, as a representative from the central district. The nation is divided into five sections: Eastern, Central, Rocky Mountain, Pacific Coast and Arrow Head, which includes northern Minnesota. Mr. Rosenberg was chosen as one of four to represent the territory from the Rockies to Chicago.

Lack of snow at Canton has made the proposed tryouts impossible and new arrangements have to be made for a national meet in the future, but the fact remains that a present student of N. D. S. C. is recognized as one of the few exceptional skii jumpers of the northwest.

Mr. Rosenberg was born in Oslo, Norway, and came to America in 1921. He attended Central high school at Fargo and graduated in the winter of 1930. Ski jumping is his heritage and accepting such he started the sport at an early age.

A few of his conquests are as follows. In 1926 he won the national boys contest with first place at Duluth, Minnesota. In 1928 he was proclaimed northwestern junior champion at a meet at Minneapolis and he also placed third in the junior class in the national tournament at Red Wing, Minnesota. 1929 saw him as winner in the junior division of the Central territory. In 1930 he placed third in the National Collegiate event at Canton and he received second place in the Men's Class B division at Canton in 1931.

His local triumphs are equally as prominent. He was presented with the Fargo Clinic trophy for three consecutive years and it is now a permanent possession of Mr. Rosenberg in recognition of his unusual ability. At Kathryn, N. D., he annexed first in the junior class and he duplicated the feat at Valley City in the same year.

His capability at this difficult sport can well be imagined when he is picked as a prospect for the Olympic games that are held every four years. This winter they will be at Lake Placid, New York, from February 6 to the 13. The Olympics are international competitive events.

CONTEST FOR ORIGINAL COMPOSITIONS CLOSES

music department will also receive rapid advancement. All musical organizations will enlarge and the college will become the musical center it has every right to expect."

"I, personally, am looking ahead to many years of active service with the incentive of continued study to keep abreast of the times musically and to forge ahead.

"I am young, yet, at heart. Calendar years mean very little in a man's life. Heart, spirit and ambition alone indicate a man's real age. I felt younger yesterday morning than I did when I first started here 29 years ago," he finished.

STUDENTS EXPRESS OPPOSITION TO STATE BOARD REGULATION

lars is a sizeable sum for anyone in this position to expend just for tuition alone. Why restrict our school to only those who live in North Dakota when our sister states have the privilege of doing the same thing? When this case arises where are the students from North Dakota going to get their advanced education in law, medicine, surgery and the other professional fields?

"The argument can be carried to the athletic side of school life as well as the social side, which, of course, would include the fraternities.

"I am of the opinion that someone has overlooked all of the many angles of the question in favor of some outstanding point that may have been brought to his attention by the present current conditions existing not only in our state, but in the nation as well. A hasty remedy to any situation, and one as drastic as this, never would meet the success expected of it."—Walter R. Shamp, president of Epsilon Delta of Alpha Tau Omega.

"It's too bad. It's terrible. I don't think that the Board of Administration is justified in doing such a thing. Why should North Dakota schools have such a high fee as compared to those of other states? If I were a junior or sophomore, I wouldn't think of coming back next year."—Verne Goodwin, president of Delta Kappa Sigma fraternity.

"In raising the non-resident fee to $300 per year the State Board of Administration evidently is unaware of the fact that there are any advantages in the intermingling of non-resident students with the resident students of our state, that these 1,116 non-resident students bring in and spend locally a goodly sum of money during their four years at North Dakota institutions, and that there is an element of pride and sportsmanship in playing a fair exchange with our neighboring states.

"Raising the present non-resident fee is not objectionable, but a three hundred dollar amount seems rather absurd."—Edgar Johnson, president, Delta Tau Epsilon.

"It appears to me to be an unjust proposition. A large number of our students, many of them prominent in school activities, will be forced to stay away. It will in this way be both an educational and economic loss to the school."—Carl Velleu, president of Kappa Psi fraternity and commissioner of judiciary.

"The new fee will tend to destroy educational relations with neighboring states. I don't think that the Board of Administration can have any excusable grounds in taking such a step. I only hope that the Board will reconsider the measure."—Ralph Willert, president of Kappa Sigma Chi fraternity.

"The placing of excessive tuition rates on non-residents will no doubt hinder the growth of the institution. The financial returns from the few non-resident students paying a high tuition will not compare with the financial returns of a large number of non-resident students paying small fees. The social life of the student is greatly enriched by intermingling of social ideas from other parts of the country, and this effect will be lost if the fee goes into effect."—Hjalmar Johnson, president of Sigma Phi Delta fraternity.

"It is not anything for the student body to be troubled about, for such a move is not logical. I don't think the ruling will hold. I am confident that those who have the interests of the school will see to that."—Max Hughes, president of Theta Chi fraternity.

NOTICE STUDENTS IN ENGINEERING AND ARCHITECTURE

There will be an organization meeting of the North Dakota State college chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers in Room 22 of the Engineering building, Tuesday, Jan 12 at 4:00 P. M. Although this organization promotes interest in and discusses problems that are chiefly those of the civil engineer, the close relationship of these problems to those of other engineers and of architects is recognized, and, to encourage cooperation, eligibility is extended to all students in these courses.

MANY STUDENTS BELIEVE PROPOSED LEGISLATION WILL LOWER STANDARD

dence fees for state institutions in North Dakota is, I believe, the greatest and perhaps the only backward step our colleges have been forced to take. It would seem that should the plan go into effect the very foundation upon which our colleges and organizations are based—a wider and better understanding of our fellowmen and the elimination of provincialism—would be broken down. In the past national organizations have looked on North Dakota State and the university as fertile fields for expansion, growing institutions. Had they anticipated that our institutions were to become smaller—which will undoubtedly be the result of this new policy in regard to non-residence fees—they certainly would not have countenanced the granting of any charters in this state."—Virginia Davis, president of Sigma Psi chapter of Kappa Delta sorority.

"It doesn't seem to me to be the thing to do. I think it would be better if the fees were left as they are. I wouldn't return next year if I were an out-of-the-state student. I hope the board's decision will be changed."—Ora Hammerud, president of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

"I think the fee is much too high. It'll take away a lot of financial business from the school as well as from the state. If I were a non-resident sophomore or junior, I wouldn't see it fit to return next year."—Joyce Peterson, president of Phi Omega Pi sorority.
