

N. D. BOYS AND GIRLS HOLD SIXTH ANNUAL 4H ACHIEVEMENT SESSION

College Acts As Host Next Week At Achievement Institute Meeting

MANY FEATURES SLATED

Man And Woman To Be Honored With Honorary Mention As Outstanding Leaders

A club dress revue, a livestock exhibition, a home economics demonstration contest, and special recognition to the outstanding man and woman leader of boys and girls activities, will be among the features of the sixth annual Achievement Institute of 4H club boys and girls to be held on the North Dakota State college campus next week, Dec. 8 to 11.

In the club dress revue 39 girls will model the clothes which they have made and judges will base their opinions on general appearance, suitability to purpose, economic features and workmanship. The entrants are girls who have won first places in contests in their home counties. The contest to be held Wednesday evening will be in conjunction with a banquet sponsored by the Fargo Chamber of Commerce for the 4H club delegates and their leaders.

H. E. Rilling, state club leader announces that 69 North Dakota farm boys and girls will exhibit baby beeves, hogs and lambs which will be judged by E. J. Thompson, D. J. Griswold, and Albert Severson of the college and a representative of the Armour Packing company of Fargo. Prizes ranging up to $12 will be awarded the winners in the different breeds and additional premiums for championship placings will be given. The stock will all be auctioned Dec. 10.

Demonstrations in the contest for home economics will include presentations by Ward county, serving a luncheon; Benson county, salads; Barnes county, vegetable cookery; and Burleigh county, a dressing center, according to Miss Pauline Reynolds, assistant 4H club leader for North Dakota who is in charge of the contest.

Following a custom inaugurated in 1928 a man and a woman will be given honorary mention as the outstanding leaders in club activities. Many conferences have been arranged for the leaders during the days of Dec. 8 to 11 to discuss club work.

Service Fraternity Initiates Four Men

Blue Key Elects Students On Basis of Four Qualities At Last Meeting

Four men were admitted to membership in Blue Key, national honorary service fraternity, at services conducted Thursday night in Ceres hall in conjunction with the regular meeting.

New members initiated at this time are Jack Simonitsch, senior in the school of mechanic arts; Edgar Crewe, senior in the school of chemistry; Don Lawrence, senior in the school of agriculture; and Jack Vincent, junior in the school of science and literature. William Euren, acting president, was in charge of the services.

Election to Blue Key is based on the qualities of leadership, scholarship, activities, and character. These four men were elected by the fraternity at its last regular meeting.

NOTICE

Sigma Tau Delta will meet Sunday at 7 p. m. at 1126 12 street N. All members are urged to be present for the program and short business meeting. Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

NEW BUILDING DEDICATED TONIGHT

PHYSICAL EDUCATION BUILDING DEDICATION DURING GAME TONIGHT

Fowler Introduces Suavain; President Shepperd Will Respond To Address

SUAVAIN IS IN CHARGE

Opening Game In Armory To Be Conducted Between Bison And Minnesota "U"

A desire which has lingered in the hearts of North Dakota State college students for more than a quarter century will be officially consummated tonight in ceremonies dedicating the new physical education building, providing for the first time in the institution's history a real fireproof structure of ample size to insure a practical "athletics for all" program.

NOTICE

Students will be admitted to the game Saturday night at the northeast entrance of the new building. This entrance will also be used exclusively for students at the two games with the University of North Dakota later in the season. The main entrance may be used at all other times.

Presenting the building to the college in this memorable occasion will be Nelson Suavain, chairman of the state board of administration, in simple ceremonies held between halves of the basketball game between the University of Minnesota sharpshooters and Coach Leonard T. Saalwaechter's netmen. Introducing Mr. Suavain will be A. W. Fowler, prominent Fargo lawyer and 1901 Bison graduate who, as a state senator, introduced the bill in the 1929 legislative session. President J. H. Shepperd will respond.

Indications are that the game will attract the largest crowd ever to witness an indoor athletic spectacle at the college. Several hundred honor guests, including northwest institution presidents, athletic directors and state officials, have signified their intention of attending. Those wishing to inspect the building may do so at any time tonight when guides will be posted to conduct visitors through.

While many students lament, for sentimental reasons, the passing of the Old Armory, the desire for a modern physical education plant has been so insistent that rejoicing is general. The Armory has served long and well and in its new capacity as "Festival Hall" will be welcomed by students for years to come. As long ago as 1911, columns of the Spectrum were used to express student hopes for a fireproof gymnasium. Each year a mild campaign would be inaugurated to effect such an acquisition but the most that could be secured were additions to the Armory. The students, however, realizing limitations in the way of finances, carried on, hoping for the time when their dreams could be realized.

That time has come and students can best show their appreciation to the State of North Dakota by making the most of physical education opportunities afforded by the building.

JACK KNAPP HOLDS MAKEUP CLINIC WED.

About seventy-five teachers of the Fargo Public schools, members of dramatic work at the college attended the make-up clinic held in the Little Country theater Dec. 2, under the direction of Jack Knapp.

Characters were made up by various members of the audience among themselves along with several demonstrations by Mr. Knapp. Practically all types of characters were studied including several characters from literature and the more important plays.

DEMPSEY ENDORSES AMATEUR ATHLETIC WORK IN INTERVIEW

Reporter On Spectrum Staff Meets Former Heavyweight Champion of World

By SELDEN CATLIN

"Amateur athletics are indispensable to young men," said the former world champion heavyweight, Jack Dempsey, in an interview with a Spectrum reporter Thursday. "There is no better method of developing co-ordination of mind and body," he continued. "I heartily endorse them and the temperate and regular habits which they promote."

A very congenial manner and an eagerness to put the interviewer at perfect ease characterized the conduct of the famous fighter when approached at his hotel room. The first impression conveyed was of his well developed physique while he enveloped the reporter's hand in his huge grip with a vigorous greeting. He seemed delighted to talk with a student of the North Dakota State college and entered into a spirited conversation that lasted a good half hour. He was well aware of the merits of the North Dakota State football team, having taken notice of the favorable showing they presented against Big Ten schools. When presented with an invitation to visit the school he expressed his desire to do so, but regretted that insufficient time was granted him between workouts.

When asked of his impression of North Dakota he replied, "A very fine country and very fine people." It is his second visit to Fargo, having appeared once before to referee a local bout. "A little out of the way of my tour," he said, "but I enjoy coming out here just the same."

In referring again to college sports he praised the work of the institutions in promoting the building of the young body. "I've boxed off and on since I was eight years old," he said. "and I always keep in tip-top condition. Moderate habits, plenty of sleep and a lot of fresh air is the key to physical perfection."

The Manassa Mauler expressed a reluctance to see the interviewer leave and detained him several minutes to inquire of conditions, financial and social, in the northwest. When told of the severe condition of the western part of the state he expressed his sympathy. "We even feel the depression in our business," he stated with a worried frown.

Delta Tau Epsilon announces the formal initiation of Arlee Hanson, Garrison; John Spaulding, Sherwood; Dean Vigen, Lake Park, Minn.; Robert Darling, Fargo; Harold Hauge, Linton; and Fred Messner of Sanborn, at the chapter house Saturday night, Nov. 21.

Dance In Festival Hall Follows Game

Letterman's Club To Have Clubroom In New Athletic Building

Following the game the Letterman's club will give a dance in Festival hall. Registration cards must be presented by one of a couple. Dancing will start immediately after the game and a charge of twenty-five cents will be made for three dances.

The club meets in the alumni clubrooms Wednesday and perfected plans for the dance. A committee was appointed to arrange for a clubroom in the new physical education building. On the committee are Donald McEssy, Walter Shamp, and Walter Schoenfelder. At the present time the club has a membership of approximately 30 members. Officers are: Verne Goodwin, president; Merlyn Jahr, vice president; and Eric Nordstrom, secretary.

Honorary Sorority Conducts Initiation For Five on Sunday

Eleanor Erickson And Donald MacDonald Take Care Of Arrangements

Phi Upsilon Omicron, national honorary home economics sorority, conducted formal charge services for five women students in the practice house Tuesday.

Formal initiation services will be held in the practice house at 8 a. m. Sunday. Following initiation a breakfast in honor of the new members will be held in Ceres hall. Donald MacDonald is in charge of the arrangements.

Initiates are Misses Helen Miller, Veronta Wepler, Freda Hertsgaard, Isabel and Ruth Barrett. Eleanor Erickson, chapter president, presided at the services Tuesday and will be in charge on Sunday.

Assisting Misses Erickson and MacDonald, other members of the chapter assisting with initiation plans are Marguerite Jennings, Maurine McCurdy, Lois Minard, Betty McMorran and Viola Seaburg.

Students Submit Many Musical Compositions For Bison Brevities

Writers Co-operate With Blue Key In First All-College Musical Production

In response to the first call for original skits and musical compositions for the 1932 edition of the Bison Brevities, a number of musical compositions have already been submitted by students, according to James Konen, manager of the all-college musical production sponsored by Blue Key fraternity.

The call for original compositions has been made by Blue Key in its first attempt to put the Bison Brevities on an all-college basis.

At a first meeting of students interested in writing skits and music for the Brevities just before the Thanksgiving holidays, considerable interest in the project was shown, says the production manager. In charge of musical activities for the show this year will be William Euren, a director of three winning acts for Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity in previous editions of the Brevities.

Because many of the students desiring to enter the contest for original writing were unable to attend the first meeting, plans have been made to hold meetings from time to time to aid students in writing the type of compositions desired for the show. Since every composition entered so far is musical in its nature, a special appeal is made by Mr. Konen for comedy skit and lyric entries.

As a special inducement to amateur writers, Blue Key has offered an award of five dollars for every contribution used in the show besides giving full credit to the author or composer.

Engineers Club Has 2nd Annual Banquet

George Lynch Speaks To Ninety Students and Faculty Members Wednesday

The second annual banquet of the Engineers' club, honoring new members, was held Wednesday at 7 p. m. in the Ceres hall dining room. Ralph Simenson, president, was toastmaster. There were ninety student and faculty members in attendance.

The principal feature on the program which followed the dinner was a talk by George Lynch, superintendent of the Fargo division of the Northern States Power company. Mr. Lynch spoke on "The Advantage of Elective Courses to the Graduate Engineer."

R. M. Dolve, dean of the school of mechanic arts, gave a short talk. Mandalyn Remfrey accompanied by Henry Olson gave several vocal solos. Another feature was a solo dance by Lois Rudrud.

Edward Booth was in charge of general arrangements. He was assisted by Paul Deal, finance; Norman McKendry, program; Gordon Strong, appointments, and Grant Solberg, menu.

The new members present were: Craig Armstrong, Emory Braasch, Lloyd Burman, James Coleman, Walter Dunkelberger, Carl Danrot, Irvin Dille, Elmer Ewing, E. H. Elwin, Patrick Grimes, John Gabe, Wilton Gradv, Russell Hagen, Kenneth Hansen, William Haugstad, Hubert Hanson, Boniface Horzan, Carl Jorgenson, Roman Kaess, Robert Lacy, Vernon Lindquist, Allen Locke, Russell McLagan, Sam Moore, Harold Naegli, David Odland, Walter Raleigh, Ole Rice, Alfred Ryder, Joseph Rood, James Servis, Nels Skaar, Robert Stephenson, Dudley Stevens, Earl Turnwall, Lawrence Weshnevski, and Otto Woodward.

PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN FOR 4H CLUB MEETING

A typical community program in honor of the twenty-second annual meeting of the 4H club will be presented in the Little Ounry theater on Tuesday, Dec. 8, at 7 o'clock by the public discussion class of community programs.

This program will consist of a play, athletic events, tap dances, social events, demonstrations, and refreshments will be served after the program. Each member of the public discussion class is on some committee and will take part in the program. The class has been working hard on this program as it is part of the term's work.

About three hundred and fifty members of the 4H club are expected to attend this program as well as officials of the United States Department of Agriculture from Washington, D. C. Boys and girls of this club represent every county in North Dakota.

Reports current at the Delta Tau house concerning the engagement of one of the alums now teaching at Velva, were confirmed recently when Albrecht passed out a box of

VITAMIN EXPERIMENTS MADE IN LABORATORY

Experiments under the direction of Esther Latzke and Prof. F. W. Christensen are in progress in the animal nutrition laboratory here on the vitamin G content of pork and beef, both in cooked and canned form. So far the experiments show that the rats receiving the pork grow much better than those receiving the beef, according to Miss Latzke, which would indicate that pork contains some factor not found in beef. This difference in growth may be due to a greater vitamin G content in the pork or may indicate the existence in pork of some other vitamin which works in close connection with vitamin G.

Vitamin G is a water-soluble food factor usually found in connection with vitamin B. For this reason it was once thought to be a part of B. Sometimes it is called B2. The lack of vitamin G in the rat's diet produces a skin disease, it has been found. Parts of the skin dry up, become scaly and bloody, and the hair falls out. Normally, the ears and feet of the rats are pink and the hair white and sleek. A gradual change in color from pink to white in the ears and feet, a yellowing of the skin and falling out of the hair are the first symptoms of a deficiency of vitamin G.

In humans, a lack of vitamin G causes a disease known as pellagra. It is common in some sections of the southern states where the diet is limited. Milk, meat, and eggs are good sources of vitamin G.

FRESHMAN COMMISSION HAS MEETING WEDNESDAY

The Freshman commission met Wednesday evening at the home of Paula Verne, 402 9th st S., Moorhead. There are 16 in the commission and Paula Verne, Mary McNair and Marion Van Vorst were hostesses.

Election of the new Freshman commission was the main topic of discussion. A list of names was drawn up for approval by the cabinet in their first meeting in January. The names of the commission will be announced Friday, January 15.

Projects for the winter term were also discussed.

Employment Bureau Continues Activities

Continues Organized Manner Of Securing Applicants For Positions

That the North Dakota State college employment bureau is functioning beneficially is seen in its organized manner of securing applicants for positions, states Mrs. Psyche Goodwin, secretary of the employment bureau.

A request of 25 men for a day's work on a farm came to the college employment bureau on Saturday, Nov. 14, 1931 at 8:30 a. m., with the specified requirement that they all be present at 9 a. m. In the allotted half hour the 25 college men were all assembled, packed in a truck and driven off for a full day's employment.

Not only was this order so rushing but it was especially complicated in that the men also had to secure their lunch before they left.

McKOANE, ROONEY ARE MILITARY BALL GUESTS

Malve McKoane and John Rooney represented the local chapter of Scabard and Blade at the Military Ball held in Grand Forks last evening as the first event of the formal season. Their guests were Misses Mazee Cooke and Adeline McKoane.

Novel decorative effects are being arranged by Jack Simonitsch for the Military Ball which will open the formal season here on Jan. 23. The guest list is being compiled by Max Hughes who is in charge of programs, favors, and invitations. Other committee members are Lawrence Ryan, tickets and finances; John Rooney, music; Edgar Crewe, publicity; Albert Olsen, features; Rea Taylor, refreshments; and Hjalmer Johnson, floor manager.

Ray Premeau, Frank Clark and Gordon Heller spent their vacation in Minneapolis. Harold Reardon and Chris Leonard spent the weekend in Jamestown, N. D. Wilbur Olson visited at Beach, N. D., and Cecil Comer was at his home in Rustad, Minn. Edward Dehne went to his home in Bismarck, N. D. Harvey Erlenmeyer also went to Bismarck.

Kappas Hold Bazaar Saturday at Gardner

Ruth Barrett, Eleanor Burnett Serve As Chairmen of Arrangements

Kappa Crafts were the feature of the 1931 edition of the annual holiday bazaar of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. The event was held in the upstairs parlors of the Gardner hotel, December 5, during the hours of nine to six.

Displays of art novelties were featured on modernistic show tables and included decorative wall hangings in batik and block print and scarfs for the home as well as for the costume in varied color combinations. There were tooled leather book covers, handbags, card cases, and cigarette cases, as well as an assortment of worked metal book ends, tea tiles, letter openers, and other pieces of the sort.

The practical side of the display was represented in an array of linens, and novel kitchen aids, with a variety of stuffed toys and wearing apparel for the children.

The girls of the active chapter were in charge of the showing, with Misses Ruth Barrett and Eleanor Burnett as chairmen of special arrangements.

CRYOTA CLUB TO JOIN NATIONAL ASSOCIATION

That the Cryota club will join the National Home Economics association was decided Wednesday evening at the first meeting of the year for the Cryota club, according to Miss Helen Lee, president of the organization. The club is a home economics group, formerly the Home Economics club which changed their name to the Indian word meaning "home" at the meeting.

The program included a talk on the National Home Economics association by Miss Esther Latzke, of Home Economics Research department of the college; a reading by Carol Ladwig, freshman in home economics; and a talk on "Ellen H. Richards" by Miss Helen C. Finlayson, state supervisor of home economics education.

Miss Latzke, Miss Minnie A. Anderson, professor of home economics at the college, and Miss Lucille Horton, assistant professor of home economics were chosen as sponsors for the club.

A birthday cake was served at dinner at the Delta Tau house Sunday, the occasion being Elroy Johnson's birthday. Honorary members present were Professors Goodearl and Wenger.

Black's have decided that the young ladies attending the N. D. S. C. are exactly the type that the store likes to serve, both when they are in school and after they have graduated. Because of this we have made a study of the clothes that university people like best, the prices they want to pay, and how they like to do their shopping. Black's desire to cater to the whims of the college girls and to have on hand the type of clothes that they enjoy wearing.

So that we may know the definite likes and dislikes of the student, the girls representing the various college groups have been appointed to "Black's College Board." With their assistance we will be able to have the clothes the college girls want, at the time they desire them, and at the prices they enjoy paying.

"Meet me at Black's"

Where could be a more appropriate meeting place? Black's is the hub of Fargo's shopping thousands. It is the store of enviable reputation for variety and exclusiveness in fashions. So say to student friends: "Meet me at Black's."

The "College Board"

is in touch with the store. Let them know what you desire and Black's will leave no stone unturned to get it for you. We know the smart addresses in New York and Paris—for we choose our fashions at the smartest places.

Senior Players Win Class Dramatic Meet With One-Act Drama

Juniors Place Second In Annual Contest; "The Siege" Is Winning Production

Presentation of "The Siege," a one act drama by Colin Clements Campbell, brought first honors in the 12th annual interclass play contest to the senior class when the four groups competed in the Little Country theater Thursday night. Second honors went to the juniors with their presentation of "Joe," a one act drama by Jane Dransfield.

Judging the four acts were Father Patrick Ramsbottom and Mmes. Ralph Weible and W. W. Fuller. Ruth Barrett was chairman.

Playing the leading role of Bonab in "The Siege," was Claire Newell, whose work was outstanding. Malve McKeane directed the cast which also included Lois Minard and Audrey Medley.

Fred Anderson as Joe, an idiot, and Jean Pote as Lou Cosgrove, Joe's mother, did outstanding work in the junior production. Elizabeth Olsen, John Dixon, Mary Healy and Lester Wyman were other members of the cast. Jean Pote was the director.

A tragedy by Eugene O'Neil, "Ile," was the sophomore presentation. David Minard was outstanding in the role of Captain Keeney, and Betty Mackin as Mrs. Keeney had the other leading role. The cast also included James Erickson, Maitland Wyard, John Hyland, Ronald Ostrander, Jordan Engberg, Edward Mahlum, George Toman, and Arthur Habener. Erllys Hill was director.

"Chloe," a play by Jack Stuart Knapp, was the freshman entry. Helen Solow was cast in the leading role of "Chloe." Nita Oleson, Marian Stern, Delevin Ross, and Robert Saunders were other members of the cast directed by James Nichols and Corrine Lawrence.

Food Laboratories Conclude Project

Sophomores Conduct Problem; Work Concerned With Breakfast Dishes

The preparation and serving of breakfast was the problem started in the home economics food laboratories by the members of the sophomore foods class last week. The first group of breakfasts was served last Tuesday and the series was concluded this week.

Two partners, one group, drew the number of another group, so that each two girls serve and are served once. The project requires planning of the breakfast, budgeting of time, and cooking and serving the food. The students are allowed to prepare anything which they have cooked within the laboratory since the fall term opened. The work during this quarter has been concerned chiefly with the preparation of breakfast dishes. Miss Constance Leeb, in charge, states that she is pleased with the general results so far obtained by the girls in this first organized project.

EXTENSION SERVICE HAS NEW FORESTER

John Taylor, Douglas, North Dakota, has been appointed forester for the North Dakota State extension service to replace L. S. Matthew who recently resigned to become forestry instructor in the State School of Forestry at Bottineau, according to C. F. Monroe, extension director. Taylor is a graduate of the state forestry school and has had experience with the United States forestry service. He has already taken over the work with the extension service and school of forestry with headquarters at Bottineau.

Farm forestry work in North Dakota which is being conducted by county agents and by the State College extension service in cooperation with the State School of Forestry, is centered in the developing of farm tree plantings for windbreak and general utility purposes Director Monroe says. Hundreds of farms in the state have been improved with tree plantings with this aid, and demands for the services of the extension forester by farmers are increasing.

Members of the poultry judging team were dinner guests at the Delta Tau house Thanksgiving day.

Cabinets Plan Party At Joint Meeting

Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. Entertain Kiddies At Annual Party Dec. 12

To make final plans for the annual Kiddies Christmas party given by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. Dec. 12 at 5:30 p. m., in Ceres hall, the two cabinets held a joint supper meeting Thursday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Hunter.

Marguerite Jennings and Gerald Garlid were in general charge. Jane Canniff and Leo Anderson led the discussions following the supper.

To entertain these children who might not have a pleasant Christmas, the N. D. S. C. Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. are having the annual "Kiddies Party" on Dec. 12 at 5:30 p. m. in the Ceres Hall dining room. Erllys Hill and Gordon Prescott have general charge of the arrangements with Elva Eklund, Anne Howie, Harry Hanson, and Donald McKechnie to assist them.

The dinner and a gift will be given to each child. In addition to these, the two sponsoring organizations will have candy and apples for the little visitors to take home with them. The committees are now working on novel games and entertainment for the evening.

In previous years, each student has brought a present for his guest. This year, however, the presents will be purchased by the organizations. One ticket will admit the student and his guest. The price of the tickets has not been decided, but it will include the dinner and the gift.

Children invited to this party are secured through Rev. O. E. McCracken, superintendent of the Fargo Union Mission.

ART CLUB EXHIBITS JAPANESE PRINTS

A collection of Japanese prints are being exhibited by the Art club through the courtesy of the E. T. Shima company of New York.

Fujiyama, the sacred volcano, birds, actors, the rice fields, and numerous scenes of Japan are depicted on the rice paper used by the Japanese artists.

The works of H'rashigi, Koho, Shotei, Shozan, Hiroaki, Yeisen, Kuniyochin, Shosou, and others are found in the collection.

The exhibit also includes several novelty necklaces from Japan.

These prints will be on sale in the art studio for the next two weeks.

ART CLUB ADMITS NEW MEMBERS NEXT TUESDAY

Formal initiation services for 23 new members will be conducted by the Art club in the art studio Tuesday evening. Miss Betty McMoran is in general charge assisted by Cally Berrigan, favors; Doris Lathrop, refreshments; Marjorie Miller, decorations, and Ruth Barrett, invitations.

Invitations were sent to the following: Paula Verne, Irene Gast, Erllys Hill, Marion Van Vorst, Martha and Cecilia Dueser, Jeanette McComb, Prudence Yeager, Sally Hunkins, Margaret Olson, Helen Lee, Eula Miller, Frances Kingsbury, Katherine Lindley, Jean McMillan, Adeline Rosendahl, Betty Murphy, Veronta Weppeler, Eva Sherwood, Helen Miller, Jean Pote, Charlotte Howland and Aldythe Pinkham.

Lyle Phillips Wins Play Contest Given By Production Class

Frances Nichol Writes Comedy Placing Second By Vote Of Audience Tuesday

A one-act drama, "Lignite," brought first honors to Lyle Phillips, author and director, when seven original one-act plays were presented in the Little Country theater Tuesday night by the class in play production under the supervision of A. G. Arvold. The audience selected "Arbitration," a comedy by Frances Nichol, for second honors. Life on a North Dakota farm was portrayed in "Lignite" by a cast including Charles French, Mrs. Stella Hohncke, Milton Lee, Malve McKeane, and Frances Nichol.

"Arbitration" was a comedy of domestic life in a modern American home. Interpreting the play was a cast including Viola Dixon, Wayne Hallock, Florence Wilson, Betty Mackin, Horace Spaulding, Marian Miller, and Lyle Phillips.

Other original plays presented and their casts were: "During That Minute" by Viola Dixon—Mrs. Stella Hohncke, Dorothy Holes, Milton Lee, and Irene Fredrickson. "Reverie" by Dorothy Holes—Lloyd Rawalt, Clair Hansen, Fred Martilla, Dorothy Holes, Betty Mackin, Frances McLean, and Selden Catlin. "Lady Kyrie's Dream" by Irene Fredrickson—Celeste Sowka, Betty Kinney and James Konen. "Gertrude's Operation" by Lucille Van Hook—Cecelia Deuser, Charles French, Gerald Stevens, Fred Martilla and Milton Lee. "Your Move" by Mrs. Stella Hohncke—Agnes Campbell, Mary Clark, Malve McKeane, Lyle Phillips, Dorothy Holes and Celeste Sowka.

Dr. Roderick Makes Tuberculin Serum

Descendants of Germs Imported From Holland Used In Preparing Serum

Descendants of germs imported from Holland 20 years ago are being used by Dr. L. M. Roderick of the veterinary department here to make a serum, tuberculin, which is used as a tuberculosis test for cattle in the state.

The germs have been cultivated in test tubes from generation to generation.

In preparing the tuberculin, cultures of the tuberculosis germs are planted in a broth made of beef extract, sodium phosphate, and peptones. This is put in a sterilized flask, sealed, and kept at a warm temperature for three months. During this time the germs increase from a very few to millions. The flask is then placed in a steam bath which destroys the germs but leaves the products of growth.

After filtering and concentrating the broth, it is sent out to veterinarians all over North Dakota who make T. B. tests on cattle.

ART I CLASSES DESIGN PATTERNS FOR PRINTS

A "regular circus" has been created by the students in the Art I classes in making designs for block prints.

The patterns, developed from a border to an all-over design, show nearly every type of beast, bird, or fish, whether known or unknown.

Table runners or scarfs, hangings, and neck scarfs will be made from the linoleum cuts.

Making History

This weekend North Dakota State college is making history. The formal dedication of her new physical education building is at hand, and her alumni and students will have cause to remember the event.

Perhaps in the future the event will bring to each of us a different memory. Each person at the dedication ceremonies will carry away a different impression, but it will be a lasting one.

We shall have occasion to remember famous basketball tilts, all college parties, formal balls, good times and bad times—all held in this one building.

Above all this weekend we should pay homage to those persons whose untiring efforts have made the building possible, to those persons who have cherished the dream for a quarter of a century and are perhaps no longer able to witness its fulfillment, to those persons who shall use it in the future for various purposes.

Now that the hour is at hand we must concentrate our energies toward making the best possible use of the building and toward assimilating it and making it a part of our campus.

N. C. P. A.

At last an organized effort is being made on the part of college journalists to work together to accomplish the true aims and purposes of a good college newspaper. The recent enthusiastic discussions at the annual meeting of the National College Press Association would indicate that not only is the effort being made, but also that there is a fair chance of a great deal being done for college journalism through just such a medium.

In the news columns of The Spectrum today appears a copy of the resolutions adopted at this session of the convention. Resolution six received much comment. Some delegates are experiencing much difficulty in securing administrative co-operation and are subject to expulsion or suspension from college because of stands taken at various times for student rights. Other delegates expressed surprise that administrative interference should have part in a purely student enterprise such as a college newspaper.

The association was fortunate this year in having such a capable host as the University of Kentucky. The famed southern hospitality was bountifully extended to the northern delegates who could not help observing and commenting on the differences in the viewpoints and attitudes of the Southern hosts. They were well worth observing and we feel that it would be well worth while to get to know them better each year through just such a medium as this convention or any other national meeting.

"An Understanding Heart"

With so many desirable qualities to wish and strive for, it is a bit difficult to judge which is the most valuable.

Solomon purported to be the wisest man, asked for "an understanding heart."

The quality of perfect understanding is invaluable and unweighable and is the prized possession of very few. If we are fortunate, perhaps once during a lifetime we will meet a person who never condemns, who listens patiently, who never questions, and who considers carefully. Such a person would understand and for that reason would not condemn.

Today we need understanding hearts. We need people that understand the collegiate viewpoint, people that understand the spectator's viewpoint. We need leaders that understand the Japanese, the Chinese, the Soviets, Al Capone, Herbert Hoover, Chicago, Sherwood Anderson, James Joyce, Carl Sandburg, Gandhi, Einstein, Heywood Broun, Aimee Semple McPherson, and America.

When we understand we shall no longer condemn. Until that time—?

In the Library

In memory of their son, Charles M. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Hall gave the pictures in the west reading room of the N. D. S. C. library during the years of 1905, 1906 and 1907 because of their son's interest in science, according to file records obtained from Miss Harriet Pearson.

After the return of Mr. and Mrs. Hall from Virginia in 1905 they wished to give something to the library in memory of their son, who died in 1903 and during the years 1905, 1906 and 1907 they gave the pictures in the west reading room. Charles M. Hall was always anxious to have all of Darwin's, Spencer's and Huxley's works, so his parents chose his pictures.

On the wall of this room hangs the portrait of Spencer which had to be obtained in England, while Dr. Max Batt, a former professor, selected D. Dante's picture in Fargo which hangs on the north wall. An enlarged portrait of Charles M. Hall may be seen on the northwest wall of this same room.

The following are a few facts concerning the life of Charles M. Hall as it appeared in The Spectrum of Feb. 15, 1903, in volume 7.

"Mr. Hall was peculiarly endeared to the faculty especially those members who have been here a long time, having been associated with the school almost from the beginning.

"Charles M. Hall entered as a student in January, 1892, and was a member of the first regular class enrolled. He graduated with honor with the first class—a class of five. During his entire course he maintained a record of which any student might well be proud. He was a faithful, hardworking student, with a happy, congenial disposition; a loyal and true friend, and always working for the advancement of his class and the school.

"He was a member of the first football team—a team without defeat; a member also of our first track team. In all his contests and all the meets with which he was connected, he insisted on fairness, and never won from his opponent by trickery.

"After graduation he was retained as assistant in the chemical laboratory, and his ambition, faithfulness and thoroughness lead to promotion until he died at the age of 32, full of ambition and zeal for the work to which he was to devote his life, and had he lived to carry out his ambitions, he would have ranked among the greatest of men."

Bisonette Beginners

Coach L. T. Saalwaetcher and his quintet of Bison basketballers had better look to their laurels lest they be taken by surprise. This was the ultimatum of Coaches Ballard and Buck, tutors of girls' basketball at North Dakota State college, after casually observing the initial practice of the Bisonette beginners, Tuesday, Dec. 1.

Boy friends are beginning to wonder where girl friends go when classes are over, but if they asked any coed, she would tell them that it's to basketball practice. The two coaches predict that after the first few weeks of workouts, a fine group of class teams will be organized. Already the girls are grasping the fundamentals of basketball and the men had better respect their ability lest the Bisonettes issue a challenge which might end in a reverse score.

Bison Briefs

By BILL

Now that we've given up turkey and gone back to good old sausage and buckwheat cakes—and exams, gutter rags are scarce—the only recent thing of any importance was the new directory—you know, never say die—say diet, diary or directory—this latest book of the month contains everything from alfalfa to Omega and also some of the years best addresses—of course over at Ceres hall there is a writhing mass of feminine loveliness prepared for their big party last night—they say those things are more fun than an appendicitis operation and a better babies contest rolled into one—what we can't understand is how they're going to hold the N. C. I. tennis championships on our sand piles—somebody will have to do a lot of work on our semblances of courts.

Ach—NO!

What do you think of the U. of Cal. coeds demanding that men, if they drink, must be good drinkers? What do they mean by "good"? Two quarts is enough for anyone to carry (so they say). Besides, there's a ruling here that a student can't even be present where intoxicating liquors are sold. Besides, we're not going to perforate our stomachs just because of the women in the case. Just because Edgar Allen Poe imbibed the popular beverages of the day is no sign we're going to wreck our fine phizeeks with Moorhead's Moon. It's liable to w up. There are cheaper ways of getting sick than by drinking. It's hard enough for the collich boys to keep up their 90% averages without going on debauches, although a debauch seems to help the conversation and swing of a party to a considerable extent. It adds to the general "on with the dance, let joy be unrefined" spirit. No, rum is the devil's drink, girls. Can you think of any more pitiable sight than a man with a little snifter on, trying to adjust his watch by the time on Old Main?

Communication

Dear Bill:
Wish you'd write something exciting and wild for a virile young man from the wild and woolly west (Marmarth, N. D.) I detest so much of this collegiate junk. The trouble with you is, that you've got the "smoothie complex" worse than some of those Princeton sissies. Of course, cling to your ideals, such as they are, but try to give the publick something pash. Try to cut out some of that Sunday School picnic effect!

Yours,
Mustang Sam.

"You—you villain, move an inch and I'll blow your bloomin' brains out—stick your lousy mudhooks up or you're as good as dead."
"What's up? Who in the devil are you. Ta h--l with ya."

BANG! BANG! BANG! Three shots rang out into the midnight air. As the dark, masked figure slumped down into a corner of the Ceres Hall fire-escape, muffled, blood curdling, shrill yells were heard in the dormitory; then followed vile oaths from the wounded man: (censored); then quiet.

After a long pause, Nick Carter, (alias Adrian Fox), the campus copper, climbed cautiously up to the form which was emitting gurgling sounds, and writhing in his own blood. Even as he did so, the rats scurried away from his carcass, for they had begun their inevitable gruesome salvaging. And then, could it be him? Surely not! But yes, it was Peepin' Pete. So he had been back again. Another man had paid dearly for a few brief moments of window peeking. The law had won over another chiseler.

The Fox chewed nervously on several spikes, twisted numerous horseshoes out of shape, and tore two Sears and Roebuck catalogues into shreds as the crowd began to gather around him. All he had to say was, "I hate to spatter a man's brains all over the campus, but the work must go on—we must keep our campus free from scandal. We can't let our fine girls be scared into St. Vitus dance. Do not thank me, it was only my duty, and all the credit goes to my gallant party (with apologies to Admiral Byrd)." And such is the life on the prairies, dear children. How's that Mustang?

Little Rambles With Serious Thinkers:
"We are in the midst of a great depression."—Prof. Zerby.

"N. D. State should have shorter Thanksgiving vacations."—Lotta Bunk.

"Sarg. Culpepper should rid the campus of this horrible menace of brats throwing snow at weary students homework plodding their weary weighs."—Anonymous.

"Girls should not be taught to shoot the rifle—soon they'll be robbin' us men of the sacred privilege of pipe smoking—too!"—The McClusky Terror.

"These city yaps around this campus always talking about going out to do some "munching," gripe me—everywhere I go I hear the gentle hum of the lounge lizard courting its mate."—Also Anonymous.

Last Lines: "I think you better be going—you know we have school tomorrow."
"Oh, come on—don't be chicken."

FABER GOES TO GRAND FORKS FOR EXAMINATION

Anthony Faber, North Dakota State's only applicant for the Rhodes Scholarship, left Friday for Grand Forks where he appeared before the state committee on Rhodes Scholarships.

President Kane of the University of North Dakota aided by Prof. H. E. Clefthon and F. D. Gray of the University of Minnesota will choose the two most fitted applicants who will appear before the district committee who will award the scholarships which will be tenable at the University of Oxford. Other applicants are J. Ernest Smith from Jamestown college; Durward Balch, Don McCarthy, Willis Sheperd, Gilbert Stewart and George White from the University of Grand Forks.

This is the second consecutive year in which Anthony Faber has been the applicant from the North Dakota State college.

MINNESOTA U MAKES INITIAL APPEARANCE IN FARGO TONIGHT

Minnesota Has Strong Team But Saalwaechter Has Much Confidence In Bison

PLAY DEDICATION GAME

Several Not Yet In Condition For Play Because Of Football Season

The University of Minnesota basketball squad will make their first journey as a team to the N. D. S. C. campus tonight to assist in the dedication of the new gym and to exhibit a brand of floor strategy that may, or may not, be effective against Coach Saalwaechter's charges. With five veterans and a promising number of sophomore reserves, a Gopher lineup that represents one of the best basketball arrays in recent years will face the Bison on the new court Saturday.

However, with all its reputation and reported passing strategy the Minnesota U strikes no great qualms of fear in Coach Leonard Saalwaechter for the fate of his cagemen in the coming fray. With a squad primarily composed of veterans from last year and a strong supporting cast of reliable performers, "Saaly" has high hopes of an early season upset and a successful start to an undefeated season.

Bison Strong

After five weeks of rigorous practice the Bison squad has developed a fast and smooth working quintet. Bob Weir, the Fargo Man Mountain, has a practical cinch on the pivot position and well deserves the berth. His height labels him a dangerous man on rebound shots and makes him equally effective in the passing offensive. Arthur is a probable starter at one forward, while Fairhead and Olson have an even chance for the other. Fast, and with an accurate eye for the basket, these three men represent unusual talent at the offensive positions. Nordstrom and Thomasson are reasonably sure of a starting berth at guard, with Viv McKay a strong reserve. Due to the long football season, McKay has been unable to report for practice and is consequently not in finished condition. However his excellent work of last year marks him a valuable man as the season progresses, Flynn, Seitz and Michaelson bolster the regular five, although Michaelson will be ineligible until Christmas. Fans may be disappointed to hear that Bliss Littler, a most effective sophomore guard, will be unable to start today due to an injury suffered earlier in the season. Valuable material in Bunt and Berdahl will also not be available due to the over lapping football season.

Minnesota Powerful

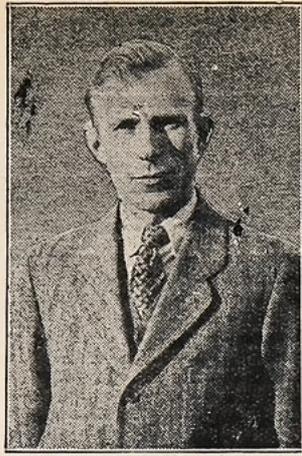

According to Coach McMillan of the University of Minnesota, his team has evidently finally succeeded in mastering his short pass and fast breaking offensive. It is expected that McMillan will start his first string tonight. With Captain Mike Ceilusak, one of the Big Ten's greatest guards, and Virgil Licht, another seasoned defensive man, the Gopher mentor expects to prevent the Bison scoring machine from catching its proper stride. Glen Bethel is the likely starter at center for the invaders, with Engebretson and Cliff Sommar at forwards. A wealth of reserve material adds even a greater strength to this formidable five.

Action Assured

Although Saalwaechter has great confidence in his netmen, he anticipates a severe game. Two years ago the Bison played Minnesota at Minneapolis and came out on the short end of a 41 to 19 score. The last two years have witnessed great developments in N. D. S. C. athletics, which is certain to be evidenced in this evening's tilt.

Added to the attraction of a game with a Big Ten team that promises plenty of action, is the dedication program in recognition of the new physical education building and as a result a capacity crowd is expected. Snow has been cleared to allow ample parking space for fans and the conveniences of suitable ticket sales offices and systematic seating will do away with waiting lines and other disorders previously evident before college games.

Those from Sigma Phi Delta spending Thanksgiving at their respective homes were: Andrew Lynn and Albert Ruemmelly, Ashley; Gordon Strong, Ralph Simonson and Kenneth Brandby, Valley City; Forbes Satre, Courtney; Harold Naegli, Fergus Falls; Lester Blessum, Rugby; Vernon Lindquist, Tower City; Thomas Quam, Dahlen; and Robert Boyd, Underwood.

BOXING CANDIDATES BEGIN TRAINING WORK AT MONDAY SESSION

Lt. Fay Smith Issues First Call For Bison Boxers Today

SIoux, COYOTES WORKING

Three Major Tournaments Are Scheduled For Coming Fight Season

Next week will mark the beginning of training for the Bison boxers, according to Lt. Fay Smith, who is issuing his first call for candidates for the ring, today.

Several promising contenders are already working out in preparation for the intramural matches, which series will be scheduled soon, Coach Smith says. A large squad of fighters are expected to be on hand Monday for the first boxing classes of the 1931-32 season.

Sioux Are Training

With an intercollegiate tourney scheduled with the Bison boxers, the Sioux leather pushers have been in training for several weeks. A number of promising contenders have reported for workouts at the University with the introduction of intramural boxing at that school for the first time this year.

Reports indicate that the University of South Dakota battlers, anxious to avenge the defeat given them in the first boxing tournament in the North Central conference by the Bison, are preparing for the coming fight season in a businesslike manner. The Bison will fight with the Coyote contenders at Vermillion this year.

Wrestling Offered

Instructions in wrestling will be offered to wrestling candidates along with the boxing instruction, according to Lt. Smith, who has spent a number of summers at Camp Perry, Ohio, in the training of New York City policemen in the tricks of wrestling and self defense. Several exhibition bouts may be staged during the coming intramural season.

Three major boxing tournaments are already scheduled for the North Dakota State college contenders for the coming season. Besides the intramural matches which have been held during the past three years, the Bison scrappers will tangle with the University of North Dakota fighters in the Physical Education building at this college, with the University of South Dakota champions at Vermillion, S. D., and the Bison will participate in the major Golden Gloves tourney at Minneapolis late in the spring.

Many candidates are urged to come out at once in order to get into fighting trim before the Christmas holidays, Lt. Smith says. All workouts will be held in the Physical Education building, utilizing the broad stage, the running track in the basement, and the various boxing appliances that will be put up for the college fighters.

On Monday, Nov. 23, at 5 p. m., the class in Public Speaking held a banquet in the Lincoln Log cabin. The dinner was held for the purpose of aiding in the understanding and use of speeches. After the banquet the group was divided into seven sections, each with a toastmaster and representing some organization on the campus. 90 persons attended the banquet and a total of 84 speeches were given.

The Gamma Phi Beta octet sang for the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. George Hawks at the First Presbyterian church Monday evening.

Old Armory Court Ushered Out With Opening of Game

First Game Played On Armory Court Thirty-one Years Ago On Regular Schedule

The Old Armory will be forever ushered from the minds of the followers of basketball at the North Dakota State college, as they come to the new physical education building tonight. The Bison are engaging in their first real basketball tilt of the season now as they line up against the powerful University of Minnesota.

Since January 5, 1900, the basketball activities of this school have been confined to the now ancient armory. On that date, the Bison ushered in the new sport to this school.

Basketball was first introduced in this institution in 1894, but it was confined to only a few students and no games were played. In 1898 a league was formed, which contained Fargo Y. M. C. A., Fargo college, and State college. Many of the players had never seen a game of basketball before they came to school, so the brand of ball played was extremely mediocre.

The year of 1900 marks the real start of the game, for a regular schedule was arranged and the games were played in the Armory. The advancement of the sport was rapid and became popular. The Bison team became the city champions in 1901 and have had a strong quintet each year following that.

The real progress of the team will be manifested tonight and our chances for winning a conference championship can be possibly decided at that time.

The new building contains three regulation sized courts in comparison to the one small floor in the Old Armory. The seating facilities have been improved greatly and an immense throng of spectators can be seated with ease.

The Minnesota team comes to this game with a reputation of being one of the strongest teams to ever represent that institution and the Bison are in for a hard night of play.

After 31 years of active basketball service the antiquated court has been abandoned for one which serves the purpose to a much better advantage.

SEVERAL TURN OUT FOR FIRST RIFLERY PRACTICE

At the first meeting this year on Wednesday evening 70 women turned out for riflery according to Eleanor Johnson, chairman of riflery for the Women's Athletic association which sponsors the sport. "We didn't expect as many at the first practice and we hope the interest will be continued," said Miss Johnson yesterday.

Invitations have been received from Louisiana State college and Ripon college to shoot telegraphic matches during the winter term. Plans are also being made to form sorority teams of three or four women for an inter-sorority competition later in the season. Riflery practice will be held every Wednesday from 7 to 9 p. m. in the rifle range in Festival hall. Major E. A. Lathrop is in general charge assisted by Captain J. McChrystal, Edward Comm, and Lawrence Forman. The competition is open to all women on the campus and points are given toward membership in the Women's Athletic association.

Jeanette McComb spent the Thanksgiving vacation visiting friends in Minneapolis.

Tennis Tournament Awarded N. D. S. At Chicago Conference

Casey Finnegan Attends North Central Conference Meeting Held Last Week

The annual North Central tennis championship tournament was awarded to North Dakota State at a meeting last week of the North Central Conference athletic representatives in Chicago. The tournament will be held here May 27-28, 1932.

Football schedules for conference games for next season were also made up at this meeting which Casey Finnegan, Bison football coach, attended.

The following schedule of conference games has been arranged for next year:

- Oct. 14—N. D. S. vs Morningside at Sioux City, Iowa.
- Oct. 21—U. of N. D. at Grand Forks.
- Oct. 28—S. D. State at Fargo
- Nov. 21—S. D. U. at Vermillion.

Large Number Try Out for Rifle Team

Conny, McChrystal, Smith and Last Year's Team Are Conducting Coaching

"That greater interest than ever is being shown in the rifle team is evinced by the one hundred and two men who have reported for that activity this term," says Captain Bart Conny, rifle team coach. "More men are reporting daily, and it is expected that the total number of candidates trying out for positions on the rifle team will total nearly 150. This is quite the largest number of men to ever signify their intentions of trying out for the team," Conny added.

The rifle team aspirants are shooting daily. The range is open from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. on all week days except Saturday, when it is open from 9 a. m. till noon. Captain Conny, assisted by Captain H. J. McChrystal and Lt. Fay Smith, is coaching the new rifle men. Members of last year's rifle team, including Edward Comm, Lawrence Forman, Kenneth Piper, Otto Wolhowe, Norman Peterson, and James Newton, are also helping with the coaching duties.

To determine the members of the 1932 State college rifle team, a college rifle sweepstakes will be held sometime in January, in which all aspirants to the rifle team will participate. The twenty highest ranking shooters will then comprise the regular rifle team. Due to the lack of sufficient funds to complete the new rifle range in the Physical Education building, the old shooting gallery in Festival hall will be used this year.

SENIOR STAFF HONORS TEN IN EACH CLASS

The ten women in each class who have the highest averages at the end of the term will be given special recognition by publication of their names in The Spectrum, according to Virginia Davis, president of the Senior Staff. In doing this the Senior Staff is following the policy of Mortar Board chapters who are interested in high scholarship and outstanding work done by women on this campus.

The Senior Staff has also decided to publish a news letter which is to be sent to all the alumnae of the organization and will include the names of those women receiving special honors.

TWO SOCIAL GROUPS HOLD ANNUAL BAZAARS

Christmas bazaars were held today by two social sororities on the campus. Alpha Xi Beta and Alpha Gamma Delta held affairs in the Dacotah hotel and in the Tea Cup Inn, respectively.

Plans for the Alpha Xi Beta bazaar were made yesterday at a meeting of the mothers' club in the sorority chapter rooms, 721 College st, with Mesdames A. M. Renwick and A. F. De-Otte as hostesses.

Tooled leather goods, batik, tied and dyed articles were included in the articles offered for sale by Alpha Gamma Delta between the hours of 10 a. m. and 6 p. m. In addition there were practical and novelty gift things. Mrs. Kenneth Farney was in charge assisted by Mrs. Rudolph Otterson and Miss Suzanne Martin.

Between Halves

By EVERETT WALLUM

It strikes us the student body is pretty quiet for the eve of the greatest home basketball attraction in history.

It's getting so we can't get a squeak out of anybody unless we're playing the University of North Dakota or get let out of exams.

All of which indicates a trend of youth or something.

STILL, MAYBE IT'S A GOOD TREND. LACK OF NOISE SOMETIMES MEANS A LOT OF THINKING.

And while we're thinking, let's take a look at our basketball squad which "Saaly" has rounded up for the edification of students, alumni and others who like to sit where it's warm while watching exciting play.

There's more truth than poetry in "Sally's" statement that much of the season's success will depend on Bob Weir, 6 feet 7 inch center. Bob, whose home is in Fargo, is the only really tall man on the squad. In college basketball height is most desirable and it's pretty hard to improve on Bob in this respect.

Olson and Thomasson are the next tallest man, about 6 ft. each, but this height is quite ordinary in basketball. Bob, then, with more than a half foot advantage on his own men will be the key man in under basket play.

BOB PICKED UP CONSIDERABLE WEIGHT WHILE FIGHTING FOREST FIRES THIS LAST SUMMER AND HAS SHOWN GREAT IMPROVEMENT OVER THIS TIME LAST YEAR. HE IS EXHIBITING MORE SPEED AND DRIVE THAN FORMERLY. WITH PROPER DEVELOPING HE SHOULD BE ONE OF THE GREATEST CENTERS IN BISON HISTORY.

Last winter on the holiday invasion through Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois, Weir displayed flashes of that form which lead fans to believe he will come through in fine style. Of the ten games he was high scorer in seven of them. Sports editors thought he was one of the best prospects they had ever seen.

Weir is a definite starter at center. Of the other four starters you'll have to take your pick from a possible six. At forward there'll be Olson, Arthur or Fairhead. At guard, Thomasson, Nordstrom or McKay.

It was believed for a while that McKay would be unable to see service until after the Xmas vacation. He got out early this week, however, and has done so well that Saalwaechter has decided to let him play part of the game, anyway.

VIV IS THE TYPE THAT INJECTS PEP INTO ANY GAME, WHETHER IT'S BASKETBALL, FOOTBALL RUMMY OR SMEAR. HE HAILS FROM MARION, N. D., WHERE HE PLAYED ON A CONSOLIDATED TEAM FOR THREE YEARS. HE THEN WENT TO VALLEY CITY FOR HIS LAST SEASON OF COMPETITION. CLAUDE TOOK HIM IN HAND, WON THE STATE CHAMPIONSHIP WHILE VIV GOT ALL-STATE CENTER.

Fairhead and Nordstrom are from Rockford, Ill. George was second high scorer in the conference last year and is by far the fastest and most deceptive player in the loop. "Ikky" at guard is small but exceedingly fast and a good shot. Olson, a revamped guard, has been showing worlds of stuff at forward this year. He is from Fargo.

Donald Arthur, Mandan, the surprise member of last year's squad, came out of the second team ranks to win undisputed first team mention. "Ducky" is perhaps the best shot on the team and is effective in under basket play.

Leo Thomasson, Gardar, won high school recognition while playing for the Park River Aggies. His defensive play leaves little to be desired, is good at

College Band Gives Convocation Concert

Concert Group Gives Fall Term Program in Festival Hall Thursday Morning

An almost capacity house greeted the Gold Star concert band of North Dakota State college when the group presented its fall term convocation concert under the direction of Dr. C. S. Putnam in Festival hall Thursday morning.

A special arrangement of the popular number, "Ol' Man River," by Dr. Putnam, was among the band numbers especially well received by the audience. Another feature of the concert was a fantasy, "Two Pair of Slippers," by four trombone players, Phillip Koppang, Howard Trangsrud, Neil Trace and Hans Guloien.

Opening the program was the North Dakota hymn. Concert numbers included: March, "With Sword and Lance," by Starke; Overture, "Euryanthe," Carl von Weber; and Ancient Hebrew Melody, "Kol Nidrei," based on the version by Max Bruch. The band completed their program with "The Yellow and the Green."

The personnel of the concert band includes: flutes—Amy Oscarson and Mildred Thorstad; clarinets—George Collings, William Matson, Oscar Ringdahl, Donald Fredrickson, Norma Cavett, James Lund, Maurice Kappel, Kenneth Brandby, Dean Erlandson, Owen Jones, Elwood Thomason, Edward McArdle, Warren Covert; alto clarinet—Russell Freyer; bass clarinet—Herk des Forges; bassoon—Victor Smaltz; saxophones—E. G. Larson, Elizabeth Russell, George E. Sullivan and Vaughn Morris; trumpets—William Euren, Benjamin Bernmel, John Lund, Harold Albrecht, John Hafstrom; French horns—George Hart, Cleaver Sorenson, Alven McGillivray, Sydney Basham; baritones—Paul Deal, Iverson Wold; trombones—Phillip Koppang, Neil Trace, Hans Guloien, Howard Trangsrud; basses—Frank Callinan, Forrest Swisher, Lloyd Owen; drums—Jack Vincent, C. C. Putnam, Hilbert Engelter; tympani—Paul Rosel.

GAMMA PHI MOTHERS ENTERTAIN THURSDAY

At the first meeting of the year the active chapter mothers of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority entertained the pledge members at a luncheon in the chapter house Thursday noon. Following the luncheon a business meeting was held at which plans were laid for the coming year and the new officers were elected.

Officers for this year are Mrs. E. C. Fleming, president; Mrs. S. H. Barry, vice president; Mrs. A. E. Minard, secretary; and Mrs. A. N. Jensen, treasurer.

Out-of-town mothers were Mesdames V. R. Holes, Hunter, and H. W. Miller, Casselton. In charge of the luncheon were Mrs. E. T. Hunkins and Mrs. R. W. Pote.

Short Course Term Is Jan. 5-March 15

Courses In Agriculture Are Offered Annually In Winter Term

Hundreds of young men of North Dakota, graduates of the eighth grade, or with only partial high school training, will find an opportunity to use the winter profitably by pursuing the practical short courses in agriculture which begin here Jan. 5 and end Mar. 20, according to Dr. H. L. Walster, dean of the school of agriculture.

Practical training in livestock judging, feeding and management is stressed, states Dr. Walster. The Student is made familiar with the important animal diseases and their control. Special attention is given to power farming including the choice and use and repair of tractors, combines, and large scale tillage machinery. The making of butter and cheese, and the testing of milk and cream are given emphasis. The management of the soil and the selection and use of manures and fertilizers are included in the program to contribute their share to the needs of a changing agriculture.

"Crops and crop judging; weeds and weed control, and insects and insect control; subjects which interest every practical farm boy, are presented in the light of most recent knowledge," says Dr. Walster.

The farm business is spread out on a farm account book which the student learns to keep; he learns to read market news understandingly in an up-to-date course on marketing, and he ties together the technical agricultural facts learned in his other courses in a well co-ordinated course in farm management.

"For the younger student deficient in arithmetic or English, opportunity is afforded to improve himself while at the same time he may pursue practical subjects. For the mechanical minded youth the forge shop, the wood shop, and the farm repairs shop, and the machinery laboratory offer opportunity for the development of more skill.

"Young men who have pursued one or more terms in the Winter Short course at the State college are found in positions of leadership all over the state. They are officers in Farmers' Community clubs; Farmers' Unions, Cooperative Elevator associations, Cooperative Shipping associations, and various other noteworthy fields. They are managing the best herds and flocks in the state. They are producing prize winning crops of high quality."

Gamma Phi's spending the Thanksgiving weekend out of town were: Sally Hunkins, Minneapolis; Ruth Henderson, Jamestown; Lorraine Brakke and Helen Fredrickson, Davenport; Dorothy Holes, Hunter; Frances Loomis, New Rockford; Olive Ringen, Betty Mackin, Frances McLean, Louise Lyman, Irma Jane and Lewista Hanley, Mandan; Evelyn Davis, Detroit Lakes, and Madelon Miller, Casselton.

Plans Perfected For Future 'Y' Activities At Cabinet Meeting

Organizations Have Kiddies' Party, Coed Prom, Sleigh Ride And All-College Party

Plans for the annual Kiddies party on Dec. 12, an all-college party on Jan. 8, annual Coed Prom, and a cabinet sleighride were laid last night by members of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. in a joint supper meeting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Hunter.

Marguerite Jennings, social chairman of the Y. W. C. A. will lead the annual Coed Prom this year on a date to be announced in the near future. Donald McKechnie is making arrangements for the all-college party which the Y will sponsor on the first weekend of the winter term.

In addition to these plans made for future events, ticket sales and final arrangements for the annual Kiddies party were discussed at the meeting. Fraternities, sororities and the Cosmopolitan club will cooperate with the Y to make the party a success. Tickets will be sold to any desiring to come and bring a child as their guest. Inexpensive gifts, candy and nuts will also be distributed at the close of the party.

Joint meetings of a social as well as a business nature will be held occasionally that the two cabinets may work more cooperatively.

SOCIAL SCIENCE GROUP PLANS COMING PROGRAM

Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary fraternity of history and social science, will have a program dealing principally with the Red Cross and poor relief at its next regular meeting, Thursday, Dec. 10.

Arranging the program is Dr. A. H. Benton assisted by Sylvia Panimon, Clara Carlson, Mary Healy, and Professor E. A. Willson. The following program has been arranged: Cass County Hospital, Clara Carlson; Cass County Poor Relief, Professor R. Otterson and Grace Hunkins; Red Cross Local Activities, John Bond; Mothers' Pensions in Cass County, Virginia Davis; City Health Office, Esther Greenshields.

Demonstration Teams Compete In Contests

Girls From Four Districts Vie For State Honors, State Leader Announces

North Dakota's 1931 4H home economics demonstration champions will be decided at the State college Dec. 8 to 11 when championship demonstration teams from four districts will vie for state honors, Pauline Reynolds, assistant state 4H leader, announced. Champs of the four districts include teams from Ward, Benson, Barnes and Burleigh counties, these championships having been decided at the state fairs in Minot, Grand Forks, Fargo and Mandan. The contest is to be held in connection with the 4H Achievement Institute program.

Members of the four demonstration teams are as follows: Ward county—Florence Skardstad and Elizabeth Walton, Glenburn; Benson county—Jean Graves and Frances Chance, Tokio; Barnes county—Edna Carlson and Eleanor Skonnard, Luverne; and Burleigh county, Madeline Boren and Mary Ellen Reese, McKenzie.

The demonstrations to be given at the institute program are: Ward county, serving a luncheon; the Benson team will demonstrate salads; vegetable cookery is to be the Barnes demonstration, and the Burleigh team will demonstrate a dressing center, according to Miss Reynolds.

Albert Letich and Jack Robertson spent Sunday evening at the Alpha Tau Omega house.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Miller, Valley City, were visitors at the A. T. O. house during the weekend.

Arthur Lawrence and Gunder Christenson of the University of North Dakota, visited the A. T. O. house during Thanksgiving vacation.

Demon Lundeen of Stephen, Minn., visited at the Alpha Gamma Rho house Sunday.

John Plath visited the Gamma Rho house Sunday on his way to Grand Forks.

VETERINARIAN ATTENDS MEETINGS IN CHICAGO

Dr. Lee M. Roderick, head of the department of veterinary science, North Dakota State college, left Fargo on Thanksgiving day enroute to Chicago, where he spent the first week in December at the regular meetings of the Official Research Workers in Animal Diseases, and the United States Livestock Sanitary board. He also spent one day in research at the University of Chicago library.

Enroute to Chicago and on his return Dr. Roderick made short stops at his old home at Brodhead, Wis.

Dan Bailey and Ralph Erickson, alumni, visited the Kappa Psi house over Thanksgiving vacation.

The Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity announces the formal pledging of Benjamin Matzek.

The members of the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity were guests Monday night of the management of the Public Theaters at the Fargo Theater. A Dutch treat was enjoyed at the Golden Maid afterwards.

It is with pleasure we note N. D. S. C. progress in athletics. The business firms of Fargo wish to extend their Sincere Congratulations to the Bison upon this fine New Physical Education Building--

N. C. P. A. HOLDS NEXT SESSION AT TUALANE DURING MARDI GRAS

District of Columbia And 19 States Send 46 Delegates To Press Conference

U. OF KENTUCKY IS HOST

Four Students Go Greatest Distance To Represent North Dakota At Meet

After selecting Tualane university, New Orleans, as its next meeting place the business sessions of the National College Press association were brought to a formal close Nov. 21. The 1933 convention will be held on the Monday and Wednesday before and after Mardi Gras.

Officers elected include: The Hullahaloo, Tualane university, president. The Crimson and White, University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, vice president; William S. Mallsby, University of Pittsburgh, executive secretary; and Prof. Victor R. Portman, University of Kentucky, Prof. William Simmons, Tualane university, and Prof. Kenneth Olson, University of Minnesota, members of the board of directors for a term of two years, and the Buchtelite, University of Akron, Akron, Ohio, the Daily Cardinal, University of Wisconsin, and the Maroon, Colgate university, Hamilton, N. Y., student members serving for a term of one year.

In addition to the business sessions held on Friday and Saturday a social program was arranged by the journalism department of the University of Kentucky, Sigma Delta Chi fraternity, and Theta Sigma Phi sorority. Delegates were entertained at a banquet Friday night, taken on a sight seeing tour Saturday afternoon, entertained at a tea at the president's home Saturday afternoon, and at a dinner dance Saturday evening.

Nineteen states and the District of Columbia were represented by 46 delegates from different sections of the United States. North Dakota was represented by Mart Vogel and Marjory Archer, State college, and Don Reineohl and Hal Crawford, State university, who had the distinction of coming the farthest distance to the convention.

Resolutions passed at the convention were submitted by a committee composed of Marshall Hurt, Tualane university, Frank Kallfelz, University of Pittsburgh; Chet Anderson, Marshall college, and Marjory Archer, North Dakota State, chairman. In the following resolutions discussion at the convention centered about number six.

1. Be it resolved that the N. C. P. A. meeting in its annual session at the University of Kentucky at Lexington wishes to thank the University of Kentucky, and the co-operating agencies in furthering the success of the association.
2. Be it resolved that the N. C. P. A. establish a national news service to be available weekly to member papers, this service to be made possible by each member forwarding its publication immediately on date of issue to the national executive secretary.
3. Be it resolved that the N. C. P. A. notify all advertising agencies with whose service they are dissatisfied on behalf of the members of the association.
4. Be it resolved that all members of the N. C. P. A. cooperate to the best of their ability with all advertising agencies to promote legitimate national advertising among the members of N. C. P. A.
5. Be it resolved that the program of the 1932 convention in-

GAMMA PHIS HONOR PATRONESS AT TEA

Gamma Phi Beta sorority will entertain at tea tomorrow for Miss Nancy Elliot, a patroness, who will leave Fargo in the near future. The hours will be from 3 to 5 p. m. with Miss Helen Lee in charge of the arrangements, assisted by Misses Frances Loomis and Ruth Henderson.

Appointments will be in green and white with Mrs. Paul Pearson, president of the alumnae chapter, presiding at the tea table. A program of musical numbers will be presented by the sorority octet, Miss Rhoda Marr, soloist, and Misses Mary Powers, Dorothea Ward, Mirium Narum and Marcella Ike, pianists.

Invitations have been extended to members of the alumnae chapter, sorority patronesses, faculty members and representatives from other sororities on the campus.

Bison Heads Extend Deadline for Cuts

Organization Members Urged To Make Their Groups Well Represented

In order to accommodate the students, the Bison photographer in conjunction with the heads of the publication have extended the deadline for individual pictures until the holidays. "This extension is made so that all the classes may be well represented in an effort to make the 1933 Bison the most representative annual in the history of the college," said Edgar Crewe, business manager, yesterday.

Receipt slips may be purchased at The Bison office or from the fraternity and sorority representatives for two dollars rather than the former price of three dollars. Organization members are urged to sign up at once that their group may be well represented.

According to Mart Vogel, editor, the contract for the printing was let to the Knight Printing company last week.

clude a complete critical survey by experts of publications submitted by members. Both the editorial and business sides of the publications, as observed by the unbiased reader, shall be included in this survey. (Resolution submitted by Daily Cardinal.)

6. Be it resolved that the N. C. P. A. go on record as being strongly opposed to college or university administrative interference or censorship in any form, because we believe that absolute freedom of the collegiate press must be maintained to carry out the principles and purposes of a college newspaper; namely, to reflect student life and to mold student thought along constructive lines.

Conard Speaks for Phi Kappa Phi Fall Banquet, Initiation

Nine Seniors Elected This Fall Initiated Into Group At Services

With "Scholarship and Idealism" as his topic, Rev. Ralph Conard, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, Fargo, was the principal speaker at the fall term initiation and banquet of Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholastic society, Thursday in the Ceres hall dining room at 6:30 o'clock.

Initiation ceremonies were held for nine seniors, who were elected to the society earlier in the fall term. The initiates were: Carl Hoyem, Christine, mechanical engineering; Grace Hunkins, Fargo, education; Wesley Bruns, Oriska, agriculture; Fannie Zimmerman, Fargo, science and literature; Harold Lundgren, Fargo, chemistry; Sylvia Panimon, Fargo, education. Lyle Phillips, Fargo, science and literature; Alvin Schroeder McClusky, mechanical engineering; and Frank Seebart, Lakota, chemistry.

Rev. Conard's talk and the banquet followed the initiation. About forty people attended the program, including all faculty members of Phi Kappa Phi that were able to attend, and their wives. Dean L. L. Carrick, president of the local chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, acted as toastmaster. Dr. C. I. Nelson was chairman of the committee in charge of the affair.

Phi Kappa Phi was founded at the University of Maine in 1898. The local chapter was established in 1913.

HALL GIRLS ENTERTAIN AT PARTY FRIDAY NIGHT

An informal dancing party was held in Festival hall last night from 8:30 to 11:30, given by the Ceres hall club.

The chaperons for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. West and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Higdon, while Mrs. A. M. Williams, preceptress of Ceres hall, and Miss Pearl Dinan, dean of women, were guests at the party.

General arrangements were under the direction of Rosella Bernard. Assisting her were Luella Anderson, programs, and Betty McMoran, features.

During the evening punch was served. Billy Euren and his Collegians furnished the music.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Sigma Delta, national discussion club, will hold its regular meeting Sunday, Dec. 6, in the Alley Casino at 6:30 p.m. Fredrick Martin will lead the discussion on Dino Grandi and Mussolini.

Scabbard and Blade will hold the last Cadet Hop before the holidays on Thursday, Dec. 10, in Festival hall. If the students wish to have these hops continued next term a better attendance must be shown next week than in the past.

The Newman club will hold its last regular meeting of the term at the K. C. hall at 7:30 p. m. Sunday. Plans for activities during the winter term will be made and all members are urged to be present.

Practices for women's basketball are scheduled for Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday of next week from four to five. Instruction in rules and plays will be given to those girls who have never played basketball or who have played according to boys' rules.

Riflery for women has started and will continue through the winter quarter. Instruction and practices are held in Festival hall at 7 o'clock on Wednesday evenings.

It is requested by the Women's Athletic association that all girls who think they have 125 athletic points make a list of their athletic activities and the number of points earned for each. These points determine membership in W. A. A.

TWO PLEDGED BY SIGMA ALPHA IOTA ON TUESDAY

Misses Mildred Thorstad and Constance Heilman were pledged to Omicron chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, national musical society preceding Founders day service Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. J. C. Vincent.

Talks were given on the sorority convention and the national founders. Mrs. Vincent and Miss Mary Powers were hostesses.

Mr. Ernest Mortenson, school of education, 1925, is now a student in the Harvard Law School.
