Geologists Organize Society for College Students on Tuesday

Donald Harris Is President; Jones, Tyler Are Faculty Members of Group

To create and stimulate an interest in current geology and the geology of North Dakota, a geology club was organized on this campus at a meeting Tuesday.

Donald Harris was elected president of the newly organized group with Christoph Leonhard, vice president; Gordon Prescott, secretary, and Jack Vincent, treasurer. Faculty members of the club are Stanley A. Tyler and Victor H. Jones, associate professors in the department of geology.

Besides the officers the list of charter members includes: Fred Waldron, Henry Bottemiller, John Pederson and Donald Arthur.

Plans have already been considered by club members to make a number of trips to different points of geological interest. It is the intention of the club to make the trips of scientific and cultural value. At regular meetings about twice each month, club members will discuss topics relating to some geological formation which they have seen or similar formations seen by some person with a knowledge of geology.

Membership in the club will be limited to those students who have completed a course in general geology, or to those who intend to make geology their major study.

DeWolf Hopper Has Scored Many Dramatic, Operatic Successes In Europe and America

MRS. HOPPER TO APPEAR

One of the foremost American comedians, De Wolf Hopper, will appear with his company of players and singers in Festival hall at 8:15 p. m., Tuesday when the second number of the twenty-first annual lyceum series is presented. Featuring highlights of a great comic opera career, the program is entitled, "An Evening with De Wolf Hopper."

Assisting Mr. Hopper in the great feature presentation, "Sixty Minutes of 'The Mikado'," will be a company of associate artists, including Lillian Glaser Hopper, H. C. Howard, Emma Dorsey, Enrico Clausi and Hugo Brandt. Besides singing all of the song hits and telling the story of "The Mikado," the company will give a special presentation of comic and light opera song hits.

Having won much of his success in light opera, Mr. Hopper has starred in many Gilbert and Sullivan roles. In "The Mikado" he has played the part of Koko. He was a member of the original Webers and Field company, and he starred in the revival of "Wang". Among his other outstanding successes are: "Happyland," "The Matinee Idol," "Pinafore," and "Iolanthe."

So outstanding was Hopper when he went to London with the first company of John Philip Sousa's comic opera, "El Captain," that he stayed for eight months instead of the 10 weeks for which he had been contracted.

Dramatizing the part of Old Bill in Bainsfather's "Better 'Ole," Mr. Hopper scored one of his dramatic successes. One of his most famous recitations is "Casey at the Bat." Not only known as a comedian and actor, Hopper is recognized as a radio broadcaster and an after dinner speaker.

For two seasons Francis Wilson starred with De Wolf Hopper in the revival of "Erminie." Lillian Glaser Hopper was the prima donna soprano. Winning for herself the name of "California Nightingale," Mrs. Hopper gained fame in her own state of California, and since then has succeeded in concert and operatic work. Six years ago she was married to De Wolf Hopper.

Freshman Debaters Win Class Title In Final Duel On Thursday

First Year Men Defeat Seniors To Gain Final Decision In Annual Series

ZERBY IS CRITIC JUDGE

Forensic Society Commemorates Abraham Lincoln's Address At Public Debate

Defeating the senior team, William Stewart and Robert Snuff, Fargo, representing the freshman class won the inter-class debate title in the final meet of the 1931 inter-class series in the Little Country Theater Thursday night.

By upholding the negative side of the question, "Resolved, That the University of Chicago system of education should be adopted at North Dakota State college," the first year speakers won the decision from their upperclass opponents, Anthony Faber and Norman Todd. Giving the decision was Paul E. Zerby, instructor in social science. Mr. Zerby criticized the speakers' presentation following the debate.

Because of their victory the freshman team will be awarded the Lincoln Debate club trophy, a plaque bearing a Lincoln head. The names of the winning debaters will be engraved on the trophy. Donald McKechnie, chairman of the committee from the Lincoln Debate club sponsoring the debate series, presided and presented the award.

The debate program was dedicated to Abraham Lincoln in commemoration of his Gettysburg address. Thursday was the exact anniversary of the delivery of Lincoln's address.

The final debate last night was the result of two preliminary meets in which the freshmen won the decision from the junior team including Lester Wyman and George Simons, and seniors defeated the sophomore speakers, Paul Faber and Waldo Wyatt. The same question was argued in the preliminary debates.

Sponsored each year by the Lincoln Debate club, the inter-class series was won last year by the senior team including Donovan Wardwell and Felix Adams. The senior team defeated the freshmen, Leonard Gilles and Harold Fredrikson, for final honors.

Borrowing

It is amazing to discover with what ease some students appropriate the belongings of their friends without as much as "by your leave" or "thank you."

Naturally an occasional borrowing of clothes, books, money, etc., may be necessary and excusable, but too much borrowing becomes a habit, and a bad one.

Unfortunately life in a fraternity or sorority house has a tendency to encourage the practice. On occasion if one is lucky one has a clean shirt, a decent looking tie, or a pair of hose minus holes—if one is lucky, miserly, or an early riser. But woe unto those who sleep until nine! By that time their overcoat has disappeared from the city, and their hat is across the campus.

Besides appropriating clothes some people unconsciously pick up books to study, to read, or merely to look at. Still unconsciously they carry them off, and unfortunately, still more unconsciously, they neglect to return them.

Like everything else this period of depression has its good points. College people are so broke that everyone wants to borrow money and no one has any to lend.

We can think of no quicker way to lose a friend than to borrow his personal belongings. Proud indeed ought to be the man who can say, "Tis a poor thing, but it is mine now."—But do say "Please" and "Thank You."

A Discarded Myth

When searching for a subject to speak to young people about some speakers unfortunately choose, "The Idealism of Youth" or some such combination of ideas.

After three years in college we are convinced that college people are discarding this myth and are attempting to prepare themselves for a life founded on facts and not on ideals.

There is nothing to be condemned about this practice. In fact we believe it's a good thing. No modern wishes himself back in the Mid-Victorian era when one merely talked about villains and never admitted knowing any, when one covered life with a sugar coating and killed oneself in an attempt to keep from making a face when the sugar wore off.

The world is moving too fast today to go buggy riding. We must climb aboard the bandwagon and go by plane if we intend to work out our own destiny. It takes a broad knowledge of the facts, a brilliant mind to read the consequences in the future, and a gift of diplomacy rather than an assortment of idealistic myths out of a Mid-Victorian novel to solve the problems of world peace, industrialism in India, crime, divorce, and democratized education.

Student Opinion

We are distressed to read of one of our fellow student's distress over the departure of Coach Jack West of the ferocious Sioux for the clime of the sunny south; but our distress passes to astonishment when we read of the almost idolatrous regard that he has for our up-state foes. He refers to them as erstwhile rivals. Now everyone admits that the "U" has a darn good team, powerful in every phase of the game; but we are confident that even they themselves are not as yet wholly persuaded that their "remarkable record" entitles them to look back from an immeasurable distance on the "erstwhile" or has-been Bison Herd, floundering around in a bog of third-rate football, dehorned, detoothed, and apparently, if the record of our rallies is to be accepted, without even a good bellow.

It is true that northwestern football is beginning to receive national recognition, credit for which may be largely due to the success of the "U," but which is at least partially and emphatically attributable to the showing made by North Dakota State college—in spite of one bad slip. Fairness compels us to say that Coach West and his Sioux have been playing exceptional football, but there are a few ingredients mixed in with their spectacular record which are not a credit to any team—and field glasses on top of press boxes is not the worst—at least if these ingredients are not facts they are pretty healthy and persistent rumors. Perhaps W. R. C. would be greatly enlightened if he were to check up on the indicated opinions held by the athletic departments of the Universities of Minnesota and Wisconsin in regard to "certain members of the coaching profession in this part of the country." And he might also bear in mind that it was Coach Casey Finnegan and his Bison Herd, and not some others, who were thought of so well on their eastern trips for their good, clean football that the University of Wisconsin has paid them the high tribute of specially requesting them to come back for another game next fall.

State College Plant Utilizes Much Coal

Facts and Figures Are Compiled By P. Larson, Superintendent Of Local Power Plant

For every student enrolled at North Dakota State college, five and one-third tons of coal are consumed annually to heat all the buildings on the campus, according to figures compiled by Paul Larson, superintendent of the college power plant.

The five and one-third tons make an approximate total of $18.65 spent each year for heating purposes for each student enrolled in the college. About 8,000 tons of coal costing about $3.50 per ton are used each year at the power plant.

North Dakota State college's skyscraper, the new smoke stack, was constructed at a cost of about $7,462, says Mr. Larson. The total amount for expenditures for the new boiler, chimney and addition to the power plant was $50,000.

Because the new chimney exceeds a regulation height, a light will be placed at the top of the smoke stack visible to airplanes, as required by the National Aeronautics laws. The new chimney has the distinction of being the highest construction of its kind in the state. Being 50 feet in height, the new boiler is one of the largest in use in the state.

BISON GRIDDERS SCRAP WITH KANSAS AG MEN IN SEASON'S LAST GAME

Eight Senior Men Don Grid Togs For Last Time In Final Game Tomorrow

FISHER PLAYS AS BACK

Kansas Aggies Rank Among Best Teams in Nation, Records Show

Twenty-five Bison gridmen and Coaches Finnegan and Lowe entrained Wednesday night for Manhattan, Kansas, and the concluding game on the 1931 schedule. The Bison opponents for the final tilt will be Bo McMillan's Kansas State eleven.

The squad arrived in Minneapolis on Thursday morning making their headquarters at the Andrews hotel until mid-afternoon. At three-thirty they continued to Kansas City and thence to Manhattan by bus where they will arrive in time for a short practice on the Kansas State Memorial field. The game is scheduled to start at two o'clock.

Squad Condition Good

All injured members on the squad are reported in good condition with the result that the Bison will have a complete first string line up ready to meet their adversaries from the tornado state. McKay and Shamp, after a two game respite, will take their regular berths in backfield and line respectively. A stubborn hip that was slow to mend kept Jacobson on the sidelines for the last two weeks but it is understood that his long punts and consistent blocking should be much in evidence Saturday. Other minor injuries have responded to treatment and Coach Finnegan reports the squad as a whole to be in first class shape. Johnny Fisher, star of the Bison-Coyote game last week, will be a starter in the Bison backfield against the Kansans.

Kansas Is Strong

Kansas State and its five men defensive backfield presents one of the strongest teams the Bison have met this season. Suffering only two defeats by small margins, and each of those an upset, the McMillanmen have established an enviable reputation for scoring on their opponents in addition to protecting their own goal line. With such men as Auker, weighing 190 pounds and standing six feet one inch at halfback; Graham, 195 pounds, six feet two inches, at fullback; Cronkite, weighing 198 pounds and six feet five inches tall, at end; Wiggins, 188 pounds at the other half, and the rest of the team averaging well over 180 pounds, the Bison will be kept plenty busy trying to score and not be scored on.

However, the prospects for victory for North Dakota State are good. From past experiences it is an established fact that the Bison are most effective when they have the greatest competition. In the game Saturday Kansas State will be favored for a victory, according to the dope resulting from the season's scores, but the Bison have other plans that may be pretty effective in determining the final count.

Eight Finish Careers

Perhaps presenting an even greater incentive to put this particular game in the bag is the fact that eight men on the squad will play their last game of inter-collegiate football, Saturday. Art Hovland, Blair Seitz, Frank Dvorak, Walter Shamp, Rod McMillan, Capt. Cy Lonsbrough, Paul Bunt and Bill Gray are the graduating seniors who will make their last charge for N. D. S. C.

These men have been pillars in carrying the burden of football responsibility and their absences next year will cause vacancies that will be difficult to fill.

The team will leave Manhattan shortly following the game and will arrive in Fargo early Monday.

The Mothers auxiliary of Theta Chi fraternity held their regular meeting in the chapter house Tuesday afternoon.

George Manthey, Theta Chi pledge, was called to Owatonna, Minn., Thursday by the serious illness of a member of his family.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION INITIATES 20 MEMBERS

Twenty women students were admitted into active membership in the Women's Athletic association at initiation services in Ceres Hall Wednesday evening.

A mock initiation was staged preceding the formal service. New members were honored at a supper in Ceres Hall dining room following the initiation. Ora Hammerud was in charge of the initiation. Esther Greenshields headed the committee on supper arrangements.

A total of 125 W. A. A. points are required for membership in the association. The new members fulfilling the qualifications are: Virginia Davis, June Fredeen, Margaret Fleming, Marian Powers, Lillian Stotlar, Eunice Conlon, Helen Miller, Margaret Larsen, Mildred Severson, Cleo Knapp, Audrey Houghlum, Frances Loomis, Theodora Huntley, Ruth Hartman, Dorothy Reynolds, Olive Ringen, Mary McNair, Helen Lee, Irma Jane Hanley, and Frances Plaggmier.

Basketball Forces Are Being Rapidly Rounded Into Shape

Bison Meet University of Minnesota In Opening Game Of Season, Dec. 5

Faced with the problem of developing a winning combination before the inaugural cage appearance of the season, the basketball forces are being rapidly rounded into shape. With seven lettermen back from last year's squad, Coach L. T. Saalwaechter faces the necessity of presenting a well developed team by December 5, when the State college team meets the cagers from the University of Minnesota in the dedication game of the new gymnasium.

Although several of last year's veterans have not reported for practice as yet, Saalwaechter has been holding practices for nearly a month. With Bob Wier at the pivot post, Saaly has built a team composed of Wier, Don Arthur and Walt Olson at forward positions, and Eric Nordstrom and Bliss Littler as guards. This combination excludes Viv McKay, George Fairhead and Blair Seitz, all lettermen of last year but who are at present with the State football squad that plays the Kansas Aggies tomorrow. Art Habener and John Dixon are two other capable performers who will probably be placed on the first squad.

Bob Wier, six foot seven inch pivot man is the tallest man on the team. He played at center last year, alternating with Leo May. This year he will have to fill the post alone due to May's graduation. Arthur, Fairhead, Seitz and Olson, all forwards from last year, except Olson who played at guard, will battle it out for the scoring positions. McKay, Nordstrom and Littler will all contest for the guard duties. Littler is the only sophomore in the present lineup.

An attractive schedule has been made up for this year's squad, so all concerned look forward to an interesting season.

UPPERCLASS TEAM WINS GIRLS' SOCCER TITLE

Because they won three games in the tournament, the upperclass soccer team was named tournament winner when games were completed this men tied two games while the sophomore. During the contest, the freshmen won one.

At the conclusion of the tournament a team of star players was chosen including players from each class team. The varsity team includes: Audrey Houghlum, Paula Verne, Esther Greenshields, Phyllis Tritchler, Janette Greenshields, Frances Hedner, Minerva Streed, Cleo Knapp, Mildred Severson, Margaret Larsen, Frances Plaggmier, Margaret Fleming and Helen Miller.

Blue Key fraternity held a regular dinner meeting in Ceres hall Thursday night.

Irene Hudson will return this weekend from Casselton, where she has been practicing teaching in the high school.

Between Halves

By EVERETT WALLUM

LET'S PAUSE A MINUTE TO HONOR THE EIGHT WHO DON BISON GRID SPANGLES FOR THE LAST TIME TOMORROW.

After all, they've got a few words of commendations coming to them. They've taken bruises and bumps for at least four years, and the worst of those knocks came during long hours of intensive practice when most of the other students could study—or other things too humorous to mention.

If you think the glory more than makes up for the hard knocks in football, try it some time. In fact, very few of them get any glory; most of them aren't noticed unless they pull boners and then they get anything but honeyed words.

Of course the student body hates to see Captain Cy Lonsbrough check in his moleskins. Cy has color which goes with a pleasing and positive personality. He took his responsibilities well; never has there been a more determined leader. Cy is a Fargo high graduate and spent one year on the Michigan University freshman team, on which he was considered one of the best prospects in the Big Ten.

LONSBROUGH WILL BE REMEMBERED OF OTHER THINGS BESIDES FOOTBALL. HIS GOOD NATURE, CHEERFULNESS, SENSE OF HUMOR ARE OUTSTANDING CHARACTERISTICS. HE IS ALSO A GOOD STUDENT.

Paul Bunt was eligible for only two years of varsity, having played on the Northern Normal team in his home town of Aberdeen, S. D. Paul played end in high school, but his backfield possibilities were soon spotted. He turned out to be an excellent passer and blocker and this year took more than his share of ball carrying. Many consider Paul the most consistent man on the team and he has the valuable football trait of coolness in play. His best game, perhaps, was against Minnesota University.

PAUL SAYS HE ISN'T THROUGH WITH ATHLETICS YET. HE'S GOING TO MAKE HIS FIRST TRY FOR A BASKETBALL LETTER. HE'S ALSO QUITE A JAVELIN THROWER IN TRACK.

For sheer determination it is hard to surpass Art Hovland of Maddock. Injected for a few minutes in the Minnesota game Art gave the fans a treat in guard play. He is one of the most modest boys on the squad so you may not hear much about him, but you can take Finnegan's word for it that he has no superior as a guard right now. He has the admiration of his teammates and that's something—in football.

Another small town boy who made good is Rod McMillan of Mott. Rod came unheralded to college, but with a fighting spirit which could not be downed. He was first noticed in the Bison-U frosh game when his play caused fans to run along the sidelines shouting "who is he?" They found out and from that time on his sterling line play demanded attention. He was all-conference tackle last year and was shifted to end this year.

Frankie Dvorak, Center, is another example of perseverance and fight. Frankie, you know, is the boy Casey puts in at guard when the line weakens. Besides football he likes to cut up cappers in the squared ring and is middleweight champion of the college.

There isn't a more likeable chap than Walt Shamp, biggest and most jovial man on the team and what a tackle!

Varsity, First Year Basketball Players Will Clash Tonight

Teams Furnish Entertainment For Lions Club; Not Open To Faculty, Students

The North Dakota State college varsity and freshman basketball teams will make their first competitive appearance of the season when they clash in a thirty minute game in the new physical education building tonight, Coach Leonard T. Saalwaechter announced today.

Being played for the entertainment of the Fargo Lions club and their partners, the game tonight will not be open to fans, students and faculty. The battle is a feature of the program of the Lions club dinner-dance.

Students and fans will be able to watch the 1931-32 Bison and Baby Bison in action in the very near future, according to the Bison basketball mentor, who has promised another exhibition game between the two squads to be played several days prior to the dedication of the physical education building on Dec. 5.

The game tonight will give Leonard Saalwaechter an opportunity to see the varsity under fire for the first time this season. Several changes may result in the lineup and new plays may be developed as the basketball mentor sees the brand of ball the varsity will exhibit. Much strength will be needed to hold off the attacks of the University of Minnesota basketball players at the dedication game on December 5, "Saaly" says.

Phi Chapter of Theta Chi fraternity announces the formal pledging of James Slattery and John Bell, Helena, Mont., and Walter Jamieson. Services for Slattery and Bell were conducted in the chapter house Tuesday night. Jamieson was pledged Wednesday.

Walt played the best game of his career at tackle this year. He is a Fargo high graduate. Wait until track season and watch him put the shot.

BILL GRAY OF VALLEY CITY ISN'T SO HEAVY BUT HIS FIGHT MORE THAN MAKES UP FOR THIS. HE PLAYED ONE YEAR AT VALLEY CITY TEACHERS. AS A ROVING CENTER, HE WAS LARGELY INSTRUMENTAL IN STOPPING PASS ATTACKS.

Shoved out of the spotlight by Cy Lonsbrough, Blair Seitz of Mandan kept coming out anyway. Being understudy for Cy is no soft job and Blair handled it in excellent fashion. Whenever used Blair came through with mighty lunges through the opposing line. He plays basketball, too.

Conny Urges Novices To Try Out For Team

All Men Are Eligible For Team; Tryouts To Be Shortly After Thanksgiving

If you can hit the "broad side of a barn" with an air rifle you should try out for the North Dakota State college rifle team, Captain J. B. Conny said today.

At a preliminary meeting held Tuesday, many novice riflemen tried out for the team. All men on the campus are eligible for the team and tryouts will be about a month after Thanksgiving. Immediately after Thanksgiving vacation the practice shooting will start and a month later there will be a competitive match. The team is picked from the 20 highest scores and these men will represent North Dakota State college in all matches.

During the course of the year the team has various matches. Some of these are: two shoulder to shoulder matches with the university, postal matches, and at the end of the season there are intercollegiate matches. The team for these matches is composed of ten men. There is also the Hearst match which is sponsored by the Hearst Publishing company. The winners of this match receive a trip to Washington, D. C. Two years ago the team from this college won this match.

If you think you can hit anything and would like to try out for this activity, report to Captain Conny or manager Larry Ryan.

Ruth Westergaard and Mildred Peterson were dinner guests at the Phi Omega Pi sorority house Monday night.

"Seventh Heaven" Cast Does Exceptional Work In Presenting Drama

Arvold, Knapp Direct Players In Three Act Production By Austin Strong

A cast composed largely of first year students at North Dakota State college upheld the dramatic reputation of the Little Country Theater players Tuesday night when they presented "Seventh Heaven," the famous three act drama by Austin Strong. Produced under the general direction of A. G. Arvold, the play was directed by Jack Stuart Knapp, graduate student at the college and field drama director for the National Recreation association.

Stage settings were particularly interesting in the production and exemplified the possibilities offered by typical Little Country theater. The first act took place in a Paris street, where Chico, the sewer cleaner, actually descended to the sewer and came up from the hole when his work was finished. An actual "flivver cab" run by Boul, the cab driver, was on the stage. The street scene included the exterior of Pere Chevillon's church and the entrance to the wine dealer's place of business. The last two acts included some good lighting effects.

Corrine Lawrence, Fargo, evidently found her place in amateur acting when she was cast in the role of Diane, the heroine. In her interpretation of this character, Miss Lawrence did exceptional work in bringing out much of the emotional quality of the play. Lyle Phillips, Fargo, as the self-confident Chico, who believed that he was "truly a remarkable man," offered a clever interpretation of the leading male character. A good deal of the humor of the plot was dependent upon Boul, played by Elroy Johnson, Detroit Lakes, Minn., who displayed good work throughout.

Exceptionally good character interpretations among members of the supporting cast were given by Gerald Stevens, Fargo, as the Rat; Frances Nichol, Fargo, as Nana, Diane's evil sister; Grant McCullough, Fargo, as Pere Chevillon; Jane Nichols, Fargo, as Arlette, the bar maid, and Audrey Medley, Wimbledon, as Aunt Valentine. Leonard Gilles, Fargo, as a street cleaner; Horace Spaulding, Jamestown, as Recan; John McCormick, jr., Fargo, as Brissac; Carl Freeman, Fargo, as Blonde; Frank Callinan, Fargo, as sergeant of the police, and John Tobiason, Fargo, as Uncle Georges, did good work as members of the supporting cast. The production staff included members of the cast.

Between acts there was music by a chorus from the Men's Glee club and piano number by Frederick Martin, Fargo. Dorothea Olson, president of the Edwin Booth Dramatic club, was chairman.—G. G.

DAIRY INSTALLS NEW PIECES OF MACHINERY

Two new pieces of machinery, a removable coil pasteurizer and a stainless steel cheese vat, have been installed in the dairy department at North Dakota Agricultural college, according to Prof. Chris Jensen, head of the division of dairy manufacturing.

The new process of pasteurization consists of lowering a coil containing hot or cold water into a can of milk, and allowing it to remain until sufficient pasteurization has occurred. This method saves much time, points out Mr. Jensen, as several cans of milk can be pasteurized at the same time.

The new cheese vat is approximately three feet wide and eight feet long. It has an advantage over the old type as it keeps a shiny luster and never alters the taste or value of the cheese in any way.

Sigma Psi chapter of Kappa Delta sorority will conduct second degree services for Mildred Thorstad in the chapter apartment tonight. Virginia Davis, chapter president, will be in charge of the service.

Mildred Thorstad has resumed her studies at the college after returning here from her home at Hillsboro where she was called by the death of her sister.
