N. D. S. C. HOMECOMING WITH COOPERATION IS GREAT SUCCESS

Long Parade of Officials, Corps, Queen and Floats Wend Way Down Broadway

BARBECUE IS IN PROGRESS

Commission Entertains Home-comers at All College Dance in New Building Tonight

With alumni, students, faculty and all downtown Fargo co-operating to make the 1931 annual Homecoming a marked success, the North Dakota State college campus is teeming with buoyant life today.

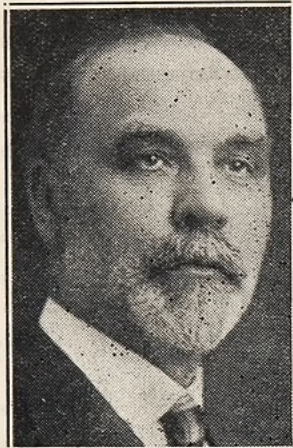

At 10 a. m. a long parade which included college, city and state officials, Homecoming Queen, cadet corps, floats, group costumes, individual costumes and an American Legion Bugle and Drum corps wended through downtown Broadway with thousands of curious Fargoans looking on.

Homecomers, partaking of the Bison barbecue located at the gate of Dacotah field, are buzzing excitedly of coming events, preparations for which have been completed, Everett Wallum, Homecoming chairman, has announced.

As a finale to State's most colorful Homecoming, visitors are awaiting the

The President's Welcome

Homecoming is a joyous occasion and none appreciate the return of the absent son and daughter more than those who have kept the home fires burning.

The institution is in your hands for the day home-comers—enjoy the occasion with us.

—JOHN H. SHEPPERD

All of our American civilization is built upon the home as a foundation and that of our European forbears as well.

College homecoming carries much the same spirit as that of the grown children returning to the family home.

College students are rivals but not competitors. They are frank and free to give one another incisive, constructive criticism just as we do in the home, and they help us to "see ourselves as others see us" and correct our mistakes.

Alumni Have Annual Banquet This Evening

Decorations, Entertainment Will Feature Night Club Idea At Dinner

Alumni will be entertained tonight at the annual banquet in Ceres hall at 6:30. This year the theme will carry out the idea of a Night Club with individual tables and a program of informal dancing rather than the usual banquet speeches.

A. R. Wije, president of the alumni, will be in charge. He will be assisted by Claude Ebbing and Frank Darrow. James Konen is supervising lighting effects and decorations and Professor Huntoon is in charge of the program.

Social fraternities and sororities will furnish numbers for the program. Dances will be given by Grace Swanson, Phi Omega Pi; Mary Healy, Kappa Delta; Frank Clark, Delta Kappa Sigma; and John Hamlet, Alpha Sigma Tau. The Kappa Kappa Sigma quartet and the quartet from the Men's Glee club will present additional numbers. Audrey Houghlum, Gamma Phi Beta, will give a song and dance number and Cy Lonsbrough will be featured in a song number with a band.

Students and their guests are invited in addition to all the alumni. Tickets are one dollar a plate.

"The Prairie Lit" Makes Initial Appearance on Campus
This Morning

Regular Homecoming activities are not the only factors welcoming old grads back to the campus today. The first issue of "The Prairie Lit," a literary publication for North Dakota State college, is being distributed on the campus today by members of Sigma Tau Delta fraternity, national honorary English organization. Omicron Gamma chapter on this campus sponsored publication of the magazine.

Beginning with the parade this morning, the magazine will be on sale on downtown streets, and throughout the day may be secured at the English office in Science hall and in the Main building. Aldyth Pinkham is managing distribution for the fraternity.

Besides having a varied literary content, "The Prairie Lit" contains special features pertaining to Homecoming and college life in general. An athletic section is contained in the magazine with pictures of C. C. Finnegan and the team, and a section devoted to team members. The first page is devoted to a Homecoming welcome.

Another feature of the publication is an account of a set of books owned by Dr. H. L. Walster, dean of the school of agriculture. The books include a number of old volumes largely on agricultural subjects, and the set is a rare collection.

The cover design is black and white and was planned by Ruth Barrett. The design has special significance for Homecoming day and also includes the idea of Sigma Tau Delta activities.

Devoted largely to literary work, "The Prairie Lit" contains prose and poetry compositions by club members and prize winning freshman compositions.

Hostesses for the Blue Monday tea on Oct. 25 will be Misses Marjorie Baker, Helen Foster, Eleanor Anderson and Aurora Haas.

With all students who own or have access to any costumes typical of various countries please see Claire Newell as soon as possible.

Frank Clapp of Huron, S. Dak., was a visitor at the Delta Kappa Sigma house on Saturday and Sunday.

Among the alumni spending the weekend at the Theta Chi house are: Curtis Ball, Sydney, Mont.; Morris Erickson, Watford City, N. Dak.; Leo May, Lidgerwood; Stafford Ordahl, Devils Lake, and Lloyd McDonald, Grand Forks.

October 27 also commemorates the birth of former President Theodore Roosevelt, who possessed the qualities and ideals this society fosters.

The national Society of Scabbard and Blade was founded 26 years ago at the University of Wisconsin by five cadet officers. It now has 78 chapters in 46 states and a membership of approximately 18,000.

The purpose of the society is to defend American traditions and ideals, promote the interests of ROTC training, preserve and develop the essential qualities of good and efficient officers and to spread intelligent information concerning the military requirements of our country.

Frosh Basket Ball Gets Under Way Soon

Coach Saalwaechter's Call For Freshmen Meets With Heartly Response

Coach Saalwaechter's call for freshman basketball material last week resulted in an excellent response from the first year men. Up to Wednesday, Oct. 20, there were 23 candidates out for practice with several more evincing their intention of reporting in the near future and an equal number that are expected from the frosh football squad. A majority of the applicants were from North Dakota and Minnesota high schools and have three and four years of actual playing to their credit. Curtis Denenny of Borup, Minn., all district center in 1931, exhibited a smooth performance in Tuesday's practice. Grant Mickelson of Thief River Falls and Paul Whyte of Golden Valley, N. Dak., showed good form in the short scrimmage. A list of the most of the other candidates is as follows:

Grant Mickelson, Thief River Falls; W. Erickson, Red Wing; E. Engebretson, Rolette; John McLoon, Litchfield, Minn.; Max Shafer, Fargo; Dick Fowler, Fargo; Fred Swanson, Mandan; Bill Christianson, Fargo; Ray Baumgartner, Minneapolis. Keith Veitch, Argusville; Douglas Lang, Mandan; Bill Filmore, Fargo; Burt Anderson, Fargo; Army Swanson, Fargo; Don Scott, A. M. A.; Don Robbins, Detroit Lakes, Minn.; Bruce Willson, Leal; Wayne Owens, Englevale; Clifford Albin, Litchfield, Minn.; Kenneth Dick, Elliott; Ceil Boettcher, New England.

Completion of the erection of the 8 baskets and backboards in the new gym was accomplished yesterday with the result that it is in first class condition to accommodate the largest squad of basketballers to report for several years. Basketball interest will assume a new high as the season for the cage game approaches and as the students and players realize from actual experience the advantages of the new physical education building. Coach Saalwaechter is confident that the new building will be a big factor psychologically in promoting the support and interest of the students and of the surrounding country which will in turn be almost certain to aid considerably in producing championship teams. Seating capacity in the new building is estimated at 3,600 and it is expected that there will be standing room only by the time the season is fully under way.

Henry Winch, who is employed at the Crookston Drug, Crookston, Minn., stopped at the Kappa Phi house last Wednesday while on his way to his home at Grafton, N. Dak., called there by the illness of his mother.

Herk DeForges and Hugo Vendt spent the weekend at Detroit Lakes, Minn.

Ceres Hall will hold open house after the Homecoming game Saturday afternoon. Myrtle Klövstad is in charge of the arrangements. Mrs. Williams is supervising the affair.

Cloy Williams, '31, now employed at the Clinic Drug of Jamestown, was a visitor at the Kappa Psi house over the weekend.

Wilbur March, Enderlin, was a guest at the Delta Tau Epsilon house Friday evening.

Dear Elmer:

And here is my first Homecoming and from the way the rest of the girls are getting het up its looks like we'll have a good time. Dates 'n everything.

Going to the game with Lizzie McPhuts, she is only a Photographers daughter but she is well developed.

Hope you sell a lot of those keen ties, mufflers and gloves that I saw in your windows at 308 Bdwy.

Look for me at the game.

Homecoming

Today we are welcoming the old grads who have returned for the annual Homecoming festivities. They have come back to reminisce with their classmates and instructors and we are extending them a sincere welcome.

It is doubtful if many of the Homecomers remember many definite things learned during their time spent here. However, they have a far more priceless store of memories and knowledge gained from social contacts here at school. It is this experience that brings them back year after year to review their college life.

This year North Dakota State presents a new physical education building for their approval. In addition to the new buildings approximately $7,000 has been spent on campus improvements since the last Homecoming. The old armory has been renovated, several departments have increased facilities and many general improvements have been made.

Despite the financial depression prevalent in the country at this time, the enrollment is the same as last year showing that the people throughout the state are making a greater sacrifice than ever to keep this generation in college. A record of this kind indicates a steadiness in the institution and bodes well for an increased enrollment with the return of normal times.

For the first time in many years we have broken into Big Ten competition in football showing definitely that North Dakota football is at last gaining national recognition. The team playing today tutored by their able coaches, we feel, represents a real achievement for this institution and should be an inspiration to the Homecomers.

Alpha Tau Omega

We should like to take this opportunity to congratulate the 94th chapter of Alpha Tau Omega. It is altogether fitting that the installation of the oldest local fraternity on the campus should coincide with the Homecoming program. Both represent milestones in the progress of this institution.

It is indeed gratifying to realize that ten years of effort on the part of Alpha Kappa Phi have culminated in the affiliation of another national unit on this campus. The Alpha Kappa Phi personally are to be congratulated. More than that the college has just cause for self-congratulation.

The entry of a large national fraternity on this campus at this time is an indication of greater recognition among other universities and colleges in the country. With the affiliation of Alpha Tau Omega we now have chapters of five national fraternities and five national sororities. It is more possible than ever before that before many years have passed we shall witness national installations of all the remaining local groups on the campus.

Arm-Chair Philosophers

According to the more modern version it is more fashionable to practice than to theorize. Experience has shown that it is also more successful in the scientific as in all other fields.

We know several people who might be called "professional grippers." First they destructively criticize everything. Then they build beautiful pictures of veritable Utopias, but they never do anything and we poor mortals are left to make our way along the beaten paths. Every fraternity has a member who occupies the easiest arm-chair in the house and who holds forth at length on "What's Wrong With This Fraternity." Taking permanent possession of the easy chair is the extent of all his fraternal activities.

Then there is the blase individual who can tell every member of the faculty how to conduct his class, every official how to run his department. Yet he himself can't co-operate enough to prepare his assignments.

We will have to admit that we find arm-chair philosophers a bit tiresome. They live in a smoke of their own making—usually pouring forth from their endless cigarettes. As a result their numerous theories rise with the smoke.

The First Homecoming

It was a long awaited event when the first North Dakota State college Homecoming was celebrated in 1921. Traditions established for the first reunion of the "old grads" are being observed on the campus today by students and faculty members as they welcome alumni back to the college. The basic principles of this embryonic festival on October 22, 1921, may well be applied to our 1931 Homecoming although the celebration today in its extent reflects the remarkable growth of our college in the last ten years.

Through The Weekly Spectrum, then edited by M. E. Tindall, a former secretary of the college alumni association, and The College and State, alumni publication which made its initial appearance that year, alumni were invited to return to North Dakota State for their first annual Homecoming. A new college president, Dr. John Lee Coulter, welcomed alumni and former students back to the campus.

More than 300 graduates returned to the campus on that first appointed day to learn what Homecoming was all about. It was a fighting Bison herd that faced South Dakota State's football team on Dacotah field that afternoon, despite the 54 to 0 defeat encountered by the Bison. Led by the college band under the direction of Dr. C. S. Putnam, alumni representations from every class from 1895 to 1920 marched in a parade and snake dance on the football field between halves of the game.

An alumni committee had charge of arrangements for the day. The group included: C. A. Williams, Dr. Frank Darrow, Reynold Coley, Theodore Stoa, Marjorie Lieberg, Mrs. S. Oftedal and L. R. Waldron.

Inaugurated with the first Homecoming was the Bison barbecue, a tradition observed on the campus today. That year the barbecue was conducted in the stock pavilion following the game.

A. G. Arvold was in charge of one of the high lights on the day's program, the annual harvest festival. Staged in the old armory Homecoming night, the festival depicted historical incidents in the life of the college and slides of the football team were shown. Memories of the first Bison team were revived when slides were shown of the team of 1895 managed by H. L. Bolley. Harry Hofman, then president of the student commission administered the oath of allegiance to the class of 1925. The same college song, "The Yellow and the Green," was sung after Dean A. E. Minard and Dr. Putnam had explained the origin of the words and music.

The program over, chairs were shoved aside, the orchestra tuned up and the first alumni Homecoming dance was in progress—the final event of the first annual Homecoming day.

Truly enough the day was a success. Today the same traditions are in force. The same features in a more elaborate form are being revived today. And tonight, for the 11th time, old grads will dance their Homecoming program to a close.

Kappa Sigma Chi announces the pledging of Gester Johnson, Edinburgh, N. Dak.

Among the Kappa Sigma Chis not attending school at present who will be in town for the Homecoming program are Lynn Jordre, Robert Adams, Ralph Diehl, Omar Watson and Roy Jordre.

Another year has passed on the relentless wings of time—Let us sit and reflect a moment on the glorious events of the past year—but then who the hell cares about the past—we're out to have a good time today—soon we'll be eating buffalo meat—and we wonder if that is true that one of our famous hunting professors caught the bison by the tale and pestered it to death—it is said that his footprints were found fifteen miles apart—You can imagine how he felt if you've ever tried to ride Cyclone Cy Lonsbrough bareback—and Laurant says, "Rabbits, I'm crazy about rabbits and the Edwin Booth club expresses our opinion when they say "Aren't we all?"

Dr. Hunter (in the manner of Lowell Thomas)

Good morning everybody,

Well, I just got back from the S. C. Library, and great things have been happening. I see where Babylon has fallen. You will remember the hanging gardens of Babylon were one of the seven wonders of the world—prior to the erection of the New S. C. smokestack. Yes, the walls and palaces of Babylon are destroyed. Such is life. It's all so futile. We go out and make our N. D. in football only to get a job selling bonds after graduation. When I was in Babylon, it was the most magnificent city in the world. We brag about our cut system, our Ceres Hall and Wesley College, but they all pale into obscurity when placed along side Babylon. Someday old main will fall. If you want to read more about this great event read Thorn-dyke's Ancient Civilization, sold at bookstores everywhere.

Well, so long until tomorrow.

Ladies and Gentlemen, you've just listened to Doc. Hunter, the historical voice of the cow college, coming to you through the Science and Lit. Hook-up about three days a week.

The old teutons used to play football with the skulls of their enemies. The only difference between their games and tomorrow's is that we're going to play with the carcasses of rabbits. I can hardly wait to see the noses gushed with blood and the necks that will be broken.

These Kappa Gamma pot luck suppers just don't go with the girls it seems. We are informed that three of their doughty dames are in line for appendicitis operations.

Welshmen aren't so slow. They're great promoters—the boys were having a little gab fest up at the 6 stupendous, glorious acts of Harvest Haunts. They made friends with our college lasses quite readily, and the following was overheard, "My, but I very much wish I had a car, and then an a ni-ce long ride we could go."

Bison Meet Jackrabbits In Homecoming Game

BISON TO ENCOUNTER SECOND CONFERENCE FOE THIS AFTERNOON

To Meet Jackrabbits of South Dakota State in Homecoming Conquest

BISON READY FOR ACTION

Victory In This Contest Places Bison On Par With North Dakota University

Before what is expected to be one of the largest Homecoming crowds to gather at this institution, the North Dakota State College Bison, tutored by Coaches Casey Finnegan and Bob Lowe, will battle their second North Central Conference opponents of the season when they take the field this afternoon against the Jackrabbits of South Dakota State College.

Reserve Material Strong

The Bison won their first conference encounter last week when they defeated the Morningside College Maroons on Dacotah field by a score of 28-0. Coach Finnegan obtained much valuable information during this fray when he discovered the strength of his reserves. Many of his reserve players were injected into the battle and they carried on in just as capable a manner as the first team. They were adept in all departments of play, having smashed the line, passed, received passes, punted, blocked, run with the ball, and tackled like veterans.

The South Dakota State team has one of the strongest aerial attacks to be presented in this part of the country for a long time. Finnegan has been working his cohorts on the art of pass defense, and he can place a combination of passers on the field that will complete as many passes as any opponent.

The Jackrabbits will bring such stars as Captain Tollefson, end; Palmer, halfback; Riskoi, halfback; and Don Carr, backfield ace. These men have established themselves to be worthy opponents in the games in which they have already played this season.

Injuries Are Healed

Injuries that have been prevalent for the last few weeks are about healed and the squad is in excellent condition for the game. George Fairhead and Walt Shamp, who were out of practice for a while are both back in the game. They both played in the Morningside game last week. Roman Meyers who has been kept out of scrimmages with a broken bone in the hand is ready to play again. Thomas Flynn is probably the only player that will not be in tiptop shape. He suffered a sprained ankle the night of the St. Thomas game and it has not responded to treatment as well as was expected.

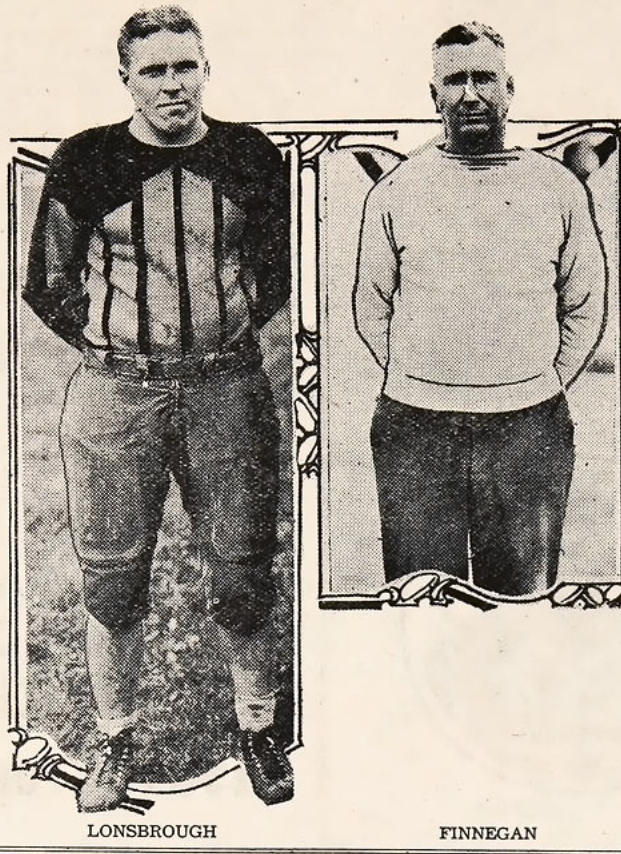

Considering the showings that the Bison have made against such teams as Minnesota, Wisconsin, St. Thomas, and Morningside, the team will be hard to beat by any opponent this season. South Dakota State has been beaten this season, but they have been showing marked improvement from the first of the season and the Buffalomen will be in for no easy day of it. The Jackrabbits have two men in their backfield that have to be watched for they are both ten second men in track.

If the Bison win this contest they will be on a par with North Dakota University, for they have won two conference tilts already this season. The game that will decide which school the Conference bunting will be unfurled over will undoubtedly be the University game that will be played at Grand Forks next week.

Between Halves

By EVERETT WALLUM

To alumni, former students and Bison Boosters, welcome!

We hope you'll see in the football team and in Homecoming entertainment the realization of student hopes in leaner years.

Casey Finnegan and Bob Lowe are sending their Bison gridders on Dacotah field this afternoon in an endeavor to bring alumni their first Homecoming victory since 1924 when Claudie Miller and his mates subdued a stubborn Nodak eleven.

Since then the Bison managed to get two ties, one 3 to 3 contest with South Dakota State in 1925 and a scoreless deadlock with the same outfit in 1929.

While the first tie game was a disappointment, the Bison being doped to win by a huge margin, the second was a moral victory for Casey Finnegan and his "boys".

The Bison have tasted "moral victories" enough in these Homecoming encounters, however, and Finnegan will do his best to present patient alumni with a victory. This year, again as in 1925, the Bison are prim favorites and Buffalo fans are hoping there won't be a repetition of that eventful upset.

From end to end, the Bison will present a formidable defense. The secret of victory or defeat will rest with the secondary's ability to baffle a strong Bunny passing attack. Coach Cy Kasper has a much better team than folks here credit him with and a victory for the Bison by most any score will merely add endorsement to the fact that the Buffalomen are an exceptionally tough aggregation.

Of course we want to go to the University with our best repertoires of yells, it's the game today that will bear the most impression on visitors. Show the alumni we're very much alive.

Students needn't end their pop demonstrations with the football game. Those feeling strong enough to stand another outburst should attend the Bison "night club" banquet in Ceres Hall at 6:30 p. m. tonight. You can get your tickets from Stanley Raymond, once reputed giant tackle fro Grafton, for one buck, no discount and Stan gets no commission.

Casey Finnegan and Cy Lonsbrough will be among the honor guests. There's lots of talk in those two.

Last year at the banquet, Casey was presented with an abbreviated cane—abbreviated because he just came close to winning the homecoming game. Tonight we bet he'll be getting a real long one.

Win or lose, there's nothing more impressive than a student body backing its team. In the game this afternoon and at Grand Forks next Saturday show the spectators that here's one college that backs its team.

Just remember that everyone loves a good winner and a good loser. And a spirit that won't be downed is always a good winner.

And don't forget the Bison barbecue. Munch on your college ambition while watching the human buffalos stampede down the field.

Years til our alumni class of 1896 recovers from his cold.

Alpha Xi Beta pledges have elected Marion Moffit, president; Helen Probstfield vice president; and Gladys Tofte, secretary and treasurer.

Finnegan and Lowe Coach Bison Teams For Three Seasons

Casey-Bob Combination Turns Out Football Teams For Big Ten Competition

Today marks the third Homecoming under grid regime of Athletic Director C. C. Finnegan and Coach Bob Lowe. Today a superior Bison team will again step into the field as a tribute to the organizing and coaching power of the Big Two of North Dakota State college, Casey and Bob.

Bison football stock took a distinct jump out of the depression when the Big Two took over the reins of directing college athletics, here.

The first year with Stafford Ordahl as team captain, the Bison displayed greater strength than seen on the local gridiron for several seasons. It was then evident that the Finnegan-Lowe combination is a good one.

The 1930 Bison, led by fullback Leo May, upheld and advanced the reputation of the new brand of football being played at North Dakota State. Its forward wall and backfield established a reputation throughout the Middle West as outstanding. It was the 1930 Bison that caused widespread comment when they outplayed the touted Michigan State gridders in a battle that was lost through unfortunate breaks at crucial times.

With almost the entire 1930 eleven of Casey men back, the Bison have shown their colors brilliantly in many fields during the 1931 campaign. Under the captaincy of Cy Lonsbrough, the North Dakota State boys have defied precedent and pre-season dope in playing the Minnesota Gophers and the Wisconsin Badgers to close, hard fought games, which were the cause of no little anxiety in the ranks of the Big Ten teams and their coaches.

Bison athletic stock, under the manipulation of Brokers Finnegan and Lowe, defies depression in the Homecoming game today as the Green and Yellow gridders tackle their second conference opponent, South Dakota State. Quotations from the athletic mart place its evaluation at high peaks.

North Dakota State college football prospects are already quoted on the preferred list for coming years under the direction of Messrs. Finnegan and Lowe. National expansion policies are predicted for the Bison from now on.

Albert Reummele was a dinner guest at the Kappa Psi house last Sunday.

Tollefson Is Active In Varsity Football For Last Two Years

Member of Blue Key, Scabbard and Blade, Delta Pi Chi, Honorary Fraternity

Maynard Tollefson, present captain of the South Dakota State Bunnies has been active in varsity football for the past two years. He was active in football and track in high school. He plays end position on the 1931 South Dakota team with surprising effectiveness. The fact that he weighs one hundred and ninety pounds and stands six feet two inches tall has no little influence on his ability to uphold his side of the line. He is the toughest strand in the Bunny defense and plays an excellent offensive game. It is his policy to apply himself without mercy and to direct his bulk in a most advantageous manner.

Tollefson is also a good student being far above the average in his studies. He is majoring in electrical engineering and is a member of Blue Key, Scabbard and Blade, Engineers' Club and Delta Pi Chi, National Honorary Engineering fraternity.

Lonsbrough Has Had Long, Varied Career As College Athlete

Member of Blue Key, Scabbard and Blade, Alpha Kappa Phi, Social Fraternity

Clifton Lonsbrough, versatile captain of the mighty 1931 Bison, is a product of the North Dakota prairies, his birthplace being at Bottineau, N. D. He attended grade school in his home town and also one year of high school before moving to Fargo where he completed his high school course. Not until his junior year did he become active in athletics. He was selected as all-state guard in 1924 and received the honor of all-state fullback in 1925. He was a member of the Fargo High School basketball squad that played to the final round in Alonzo Staggs' National Inter-Scholastic basketball tournament at the University of Chicago in 1926.

After graduating, Cy entered the University of Michigan and played regular first string fullback on the freshman team. The varsity coach at the time stated that Lonsbrough was one of the most prominent backfield performers ever to be out for Michigan football. In the fall of 1928 he enrolled at North Dakota State and was a prominent member of the renowned freshman team that whipped the North Dakota University Frosh 13 to 7.

Lonsbrough has played three years of varsity football at the college, the maximum of any college athlete. He was selected all-conference halfback in 1930, a worthy recognition of his exploits on the gridiron.

During the 1931 season Cy has continued to build up the enviable reputation he has earned as a football player. His line bucks and off tackle smashes are the thorns in the sides of the Bison opponents. He is an exceptional punter and responds in an encouraging manner when the thundering herd find themselves on a fourth down and too many yards to go.

A commendable trait that makes him dear to the hearts of State followers is his consistency in ground gaining. Seldom is the time that there isn't a three yard gain at least when he carries the ball, and they vary from three yards up. He is endowed with plenty of 'push' as others teams will testify. He gets pretty well mused up on some of those pile-driving assaults at the center of the line but he never fails to come up with an eight inch smile and a willingness to do the same thing again. Lonsbrough was the man to score on Minnesota this fall and he did it in just such a manner. In this game and the one against the University of Wisconsin his stellar playing came under the surveillance of several well versed football followers who praised his work and proclaimed him to be of Big Ten calibre without question.

Lonsbrough's activities are not entirely confined to the gridiron. He maintains a good average as a scholar being enrolled in the school of education and majoring in economics. He is a member of the Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity, Blue Key, and Scabbard and Blade.

During Moment of Darkness
Wednesday Evening

If the program presented Wednesday night by the Welsh Imperial Singers, the first number of the 21st annual lyceum series, is representative of the entire 1931-32 lyceum season, there is a wealth of entertainment in store for patrons of this year's program.

Dressed in red coats and buff trousers, the chorus of a dozen men under the direction of R. Festyn Davies presented a gay, colorful appearance as they sang their varied program ranging from gay balads and old folk melodies to hymns and heavier chorus numbers. In each instance the music as it came from Mr. Davies' chorus seemed to be the product of a group much larger than a chorus of a dozen men. Norman Evans, was the accompanist.

While lights throughout the nation were dimmed in memory of Thomas A. Edison Wednesday night, the lyceum audience sat in silence for a moment at 9 p. m. listening to tribute sung in memory of Edison by the Welsh singers. Their offering was the old hymn, "In the Sweet By and By," by Protheroe.

A brilliant introduction to the concert was the opening number, "March of the Men of Harlech." Selected from a repertoire of 100 numbers were chorus arrangements such as: "Killarney" by Balfe; "Crossing the Plain" by Price; "The Lost Chord" by Sullivan; "Pilgrims Chorus" by Wagner; "Farewell to the Highlands" by Pawson, and "O Peaceful Night" by Edward German.

Enthusiastically received were the six soloists for the evening: Harry Williams, Jabez Trevor, Elwyn Edwards, Henry Jones, Jack Newbury, and Morlais Wrench.

In their final number, Mr. Davies and his chorus bade goodnight to the audience by singing, "All Through the Night," in the Welsh language. The arrangement by Rogers ended with soft organ-like humming.—G. G.

At "Boardin' House" Supper
In Lincoln Log Cabin

Something new in the line of fall festivals was presented by the class in festivals under the direction of A. G. Arvold Wednesday night when the Welsh Imperial Singers were honor guests of the class at a typical "boardin' house" supper as the main feature of the festival project.

About 60 guests were served at the sundown supper in the Lincoln Log cabin. Mary Clark and Mary Healy were in charge. During the supper Jack Vincent, president of the public speaking board of control, introduced R. Festyn Davies and his Welsh Imperial Singers. Mr. Davies gave a short talk.

Harvest products decorated the supper tables. In the center of the main table there was a large cornucopia filled with fruit.

Preceding the supper guests were entertained in the green room decorated as a modern model ballroom. Decorations were in keeping with the Hallow'en idea. Prudence Yager was the pianist. Catherine Donahue headed the committee in charge of the room.

A Sunday school class was in session in the seminar room reproduced as "Pea Body Pew." Marjorie DePuy was in charge. Jeanette Lee was the pianist.

Books especially pertaining to festivals were on display in the Little Country theatre library. Sara O'Connor was chairman of the library committee.
