Preparations Are Made For Seniors At Alum Banquet

Wallum Sets Date For June 13; Bachman Here To Give Address

Fourth Year Men Can Get Tickets From Secretary During Week

Preparations are under way for entertainment of more than 200 seniors who will be inducted into the North Dakota State college alumni and former students association June 13, it was announced today by Everett J. Wallum, association secretary. Alumni activities on this day are a part of commencement proceedings.

A. R. Wije, association president, and Neal Baldwin, senior head, will participate in the induction ceremonial in the Little Country Theatre immediately following the class day exercises scheduled at 4 p. m. The ritual will be seen and heard by the graduating class.

Seniors will not be asked to pledge money for membership in the alumni association, Mr. Wallum states, having already paid $5 at matriculation which makes them eligible for life membership and for a life subscription to College and State, alumni magazine. Life membership in other college associations ranges from $25 to $75.

The only money to be asked of the graduates as far as alumni activities are concerned will be $1, the ticket price for the annual alumni banquet, which this year will be in the nature of a dinner dance in a newly decorated armory. A. G. Arvold is in charge of decorations and will be assisted by Dick Kraft. The dinner, the main course of which will be a steak, precedes the senior swingout at 9 p. m. and the pipe of peace ceremonies at 11:30 p. m.

Harold B. Bachman, '16, Chicago, once leader of the famous "Million Dollar Band", an organization which toured the country after the World war, has been secured to address seniors and alumni at the banquet.

Seniors are also urged to attend the annual business meeting of the alumni governing board which meets in the faculty-alumni clubrooms at 2 p. m., June 13.

As only a limited number can be accommodated at the dinner dance, seniors are asked to obtain their tickets in the alumni office in Main building at once.

Dressed Up Collegians Feature Days Program

Three Prizes Awarded For Best Costumes; Commission To Be Attired

The costume is the thing. Today is the great day for all collegians who like to dress-up for events, as the costuming on All-College day is traditional at State college. As before, the Student Commission is giving prizes for the best costumes of the day. Following the convocation in the armory this morning, there will be a costume review, according to Carl Velue, in charge, to judge all of the students who come arrayed in costume.

To make the trouble of dressing up worthwhile, the Student Commission is awarding three prizes. A cup will be given for the best girl's costume, the best boy's costume, and the funniest costume.

Costuming in the past at State college has been very successful and it is the opinion of the commission that this year's day will be as well attired as any previous All-College day.

IMPORTANT NOTICE!

All students wishing to work on the Spectrum next year should see Marjory Archer before Friday noon.

Engineering Staff Is Holding Contest

The newly elected staff of the State College Engineer, a quarterly engineering journal published by students of the school of mechanic arts, is staging a two weeks' subscription contest. The contest started Monday and will close Saturday, June 6.

It is pointed out by Jack Simons, circulation manager of the publication, that the June issue and the four issues of next year are being offered for one dollar, ordinarily the subscription price for only four issues of the magazine. Freshman and sophomore engineering students are contesting for regular positions on the staff, the students obtaining the most subscriptions sharing the honor. The contest is part of a program instigated by Rae Taylor, editor, and Fred Payne, business manager, by which only those students showing an active interest may gain the appointive positions on the staff.

It is the desire of the new staff to attain a large enough circulation to be eligible for recognition by the Engineering College Magazines Associated, an association participated in by the leading college engineering publications in the country, and for this end it is hoped that the student body of the school of mechanic arts will lend support to the magazine they are sponsors of by taking advantage of this special offer.

May Pageant Under Direction Of Arvold

Queen Will Be Crowned After Elections During College Convocation

In order to make the pageant of the crowning of the May Queen a thing of greater dimensions, Prof. A. G. Arvold of the department of public discussion and social service, has consented to take charge of that event. With the assistance of Miss Alice Bender of the department, Mr. Arvold will present an unusual and colorful event east of the library this afternoon at 3:30.

Following the precedent of last year, the May Queen elected in this morning's vote will be attended by a train of six girls who were eliminated in the primary and final elections for the honor. With two buglers preceding her, the Queen will descend the steps of Old Main and with her train will march to the coronation east of the library. Following the coronation rituals, the Queen will be entertained before her throne. Some of the entertainment will include a Maypole dance and fencing exhibitions.

The Gold Star band under the direction of Dr. C. S. Putnam will furnish the music for the pageant. The crown for the Queen will consist of a wreath.

Weeks, Viel Present 1932 Bison To Campus As Afternoon Feature

Guidon, the organization of cadet sponsors in this college has gained a placed of much more prominence this year than in the past few years. For the first time this year the sponsors were given an honorary rank. Miss Mary McLane holds the highest rank, that of lieutenant colonel. Each of the following have been named captains: Misses Ruth Dyson, Helen Frederickson, Lillian Flatner, Annabelle Knowles, Alpha Knight, Charlotte Howland, Bernice Emmons, Ethel Kraft, Gertrude Almos, Doris Sommer, Emily Samuelson, Elizabeth Woolege, Katherine Anderson, and Myrna Ottinger. Attractive capes were also adapted and worn for the first time this year at the inspection.

DISTRIBUTION WILL START PROMPTLY AT 1:00 FROM OFFICE OF REGISTRAR IN ADMINISTRATION BUILDING.

Presenting itself as the main feature of the afternoon program of the annual May day, the 1932 Bison, official yearbook of North Dakota State college, will be distributed to the student body and faculty of the institution this afternoon at 1:15.

Elene Weeks, editor in chief, and Floyd Viel, business manager, both of Fargo, will begin distribution promptly at 1:00 p. m. in the registrar's office, where more than 1200 students will line up to receive their copies of the new annual. Two hundred more copies have been secured by the Board of Publications Control to be sent to North Dakota high schools.

An "All-Campus" theme has been followed throughout the book in the art work and general makeup, typifying the spirit of the modern campus. All art work is professional, with the exception of the architect's drawing of fraternity and sorority houses which will be a feature of the organization section, and which were drawn by senior students in the school of architecture. These students are Chet Comeau, Lakota; Charlotte Howland, Robert Stinson, and Alf Skaret, all of Fargo.

One of the most important features of the book is the traditional "representative senior" section which carries full page pictures of eight men and women who will be graduated from the institution in June, picked by a faculty committee of three. A 16 page feature section of Bison life snapshots appear in place of the usual satire section, which was discarded by the 1931 Bison as a drawback in the judging of yearbook contests. Over 340 pictures of seniors and juniors appear in the classes section, as well as pictures of every organization on the campus.

Engraving and art work was in the hands of the Bureau of Engraving, Minneapolis. Photographs were taken by the Scherling studios, Fargo, and the printing contract was let to the Knight Printing Co., Fargo. Covers were designed and produced by the S. K. Smith Co., Chicago.

Mart Vogel, Perham, Minn., was associate editor of the annual, and Edgar Crewe, Bismarck, assistant manager. Amos Wallum, Lakota, editor of last year's book, was in charge of the classes section, and other editors were: Agnes Weible, Fargo, administration; Kathryn Engbretson, Fargo, Bison life; Clark Fredrikson, Davenport, organizations; Kenneth Wyard, Fargo, athletics; Velva Rudd, Fargo, women's athletics; William Champlin and Ed McArdle, Fargo, advertising; and Don Fredrikson, Helen Clemens, John Dixon, Don Holaday, and James Konen, all of Fargo, special assistants.

Sport Clothes Dance Planned For Evening

Mary Powers, Social Chairman, Is In Charge of Annual Informal Party

Because of the success of the sport dances on All-College day in the past, this year's day will also have a like event, according to Miss Mary Powers, commissioner of social affairs. Sport clothes will be the proper dress, and the party will be as informal as possible.

Special lighting effects are promised by Miss Powers in order to make the armory as attractive as possible for the affair. Other special features will be given besides the awarding of the prizes won during the events of the day.

Dancing will begin at 8:30 and will continue until 11:30. Billy Euren and his Collegians will furnish the dance music as well as special musical attractions. Mr. and Mrs. R. Otterson and Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Bayliss will chaperone the affair.

ALL-COLLEGE DAY

At last an opportunity has come to the students to show genuine college spirit. Today, in accordance with a traditional custom, is a holiday set aside by the college council primarily to foster a spirit of fun and good-will among the faculty and students.

Originally the day took on a more festive aspect manifested first in gaily colored socks and then later in queer, and unique costumes. In more recent years, however, the day has come to be one in which to foster a spirit of good-will on the entire campus rather than one of rather pointless fun enjoyed by crazily costumed freaks.

Today rumors have reached us that this traditional custom may be abolished by the council unless the student body enter into the spirit of the occasion and lend their whole-hearted cooperation to the project.

It would indeed be a shame to do away with one of the few traditions we have. We believe that the day can be made one of fun and of good feeling in keeping with its name—All-College. To accomplish this end enter into the spirit of the occasion. Forget your Greek letter ties for once and become a member of the campus wholly in sympathy with a program which is offering sports and other events of interest to all.

PAULSON ELECTED HEAD OF COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

Joseph Paulson, Portland, was elected president of the Cosmopolitan club for the ensuing year at the regular meeting of the club in the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening. Other officers elected are: vice-president, Archie Anderson, Devils Lake; secretary, Freda Hertsgard, Fargo; treasurer, Marie Bach, Mylo; executive committee: Jeanette Hooper, Fargo; Clarence Ebert, Mott; and Clifford Maloney, Fargo.

The following were officers during the past year: Arthur Knight, president; Donald McKechnie, vice-president; Ruth Baillard, secretary; and Frances Hedner, treasurer.

Goofy "Good Old" MacSnoof, Spectrum editorial writer and Chief Griper About Campus, says, in his rather buncombe manner, "school is an enormous factory in which the instructors labor at making large and efficient burlap bags." The only thing he left out was the story about the empty bag that couldn't stand upright until she had surrounded a couple of steaks . . . "The state pays a lot of money to teach its young men and women to hold the sack." Well, it ultimately costs some of these college laddies quite a bit of dough for petting privileges at that . . .

We notice, with mingled spasms of awe and trepidation, the topics assigned to the Freshman scribes in the theme contest sponsored by that good old Writers' Kramp Klub, Sigma Tau Delta. Some of the more profound titles read thusly: "Can We Have And Fun With A Dictionary." . . . "If I Could Be A Certain Animal For A Day I Would—" . . . "Is There Anything Stimulating In The Small Towns?" . . . Plenty, if you know the "right" people.

We see by the paper that we're to have an "All-College" day today, whatever that means . . . we read "Gamma Phi Betas will lead off the skits with an unannounced program" . . . they would . . . the Kappas will have a vocal quartet . . . some of the songs will probably be . . . "Hot Dogs, Hot Dogs, I'm Crazy About Hot Dogs, Hot Dogs", or "I'm Dawgone Blue About You", or "I'm All Barkin' Up About You", or instead of singing that heart-rending ballad, "I'm a Kappa Girl" they could sing "I'm a Kanine Girl" . . . the Theta Chis are going to have a saxophone player . . . he will probably play that good old National Fraternity song, "How come you due me like you due?" . . . The Kaydees are going to have the Three Bears in a tap dance . . . they will be all wrapped up in their work . . . Delta Tau Epsilon will present "John Takes a Polish" . . . sounds like good clean fun.

Corbett Resigns As Photographer To Follow Films

Has Been At College For Past Twelve Years; Leaves For Washington, May 30

Roy A. Corbett, institutional photographer here during the past 12 years, has resigned his position to follow commercial moving picture work. He leaves Fargo Saturday, May 30, by car, enroute for Pullman, Wash., where he will do institutional photography for Washington State College the better part of June.

The work at Washington State will be under the supervision of Prof. Stanley A. Smith, nationally known architect and head of the department of architectural engineering. Upon completion of the work at Washington, Mr. Corbett will take up his tasks in the moving picture field. At present he is not certain where he will be located.

A check made of the work done by Mr. Corbett while here shows an average of 2,800 plates per year or a total of approximately 30,000 photographic plates since 1919. These plates include state agricultural scenes besides the regular experiment station and college photography. This work includes everything from microscopic to motion picture work. The total files left in the publications department of the college include about 14,000 different subjects. Many of these photographs have been reproduced in journals and newspapers throughout the United States and Canada while hundreds have been published in North Dakota papers, bulletins, and circulars. Photographs have been one of the principal means of calling the attention of readers to North Dakota's agricultural resources.

Miles Hanelt, Fargo, was a dinner guest of his brother, Leslie, and Phi chapter, Sunday, May 26.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Connolly, New England, were callers at the chapter house on Sunday afternoon.

The exchange plans to function more efficiently next fall and is asking that all students who have books there, to call for them on Thursday, May 28 and Friday, May 29 between the hours of 1:00 and 5:00 p. m.

There are also a few checks that should be called for before next Friday at which time all remaining books will be disposed of as the property of the 'Y' and the checks will be cancelled.

School of Pharmacy

As guardians of the public health, pharmacists must receive the best of training. Throughout North Dakota and certain other parts of the northwest, the druggist is predominantly a graduate of North Dakota State. Pharmacists find employment as retail druggists, directors of hospital or clinic dispensaries, traveling for drug concerns, and as writers and editors for trade publications.

Some find positions in manufacturing companies concerned with the pharmaceutical and toilet goods industries and State and Federal Pharmaceutical control laboratories. Some even teach pharmacy and allied subjects in pharmacy institutions.

School of Education

As superintendents of high schools, county superintendents of rural schools, instructors in colleges, teachers in state teachers colleges, princi-

In conjunction with this work, many teach athletics both in college and high school. Bison grads are coaching in such splendid high schools as Valley City, Mandan, Bismarck, Jamestown, Mohall, Sherwood, Williston, and Ray.

In past years many alumni have found employment with the National Playground Recreational Association of America as directors of all forms of recreation in cities. Many teachers also find business opportunities and finally drift into that line of endeavor.

THETA CHI PLACES SECOND IN CLOSE RACE FOR HONORS

Cecil Graham High Point Man After Clean Sweep In Dashes

After the final adding of points which had been amassed during the two intra-mural track meets held this season, it was found that the Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity with a total of 60 points was the winner of the large loving cup which was awarded by the athletic department. The first meet was held last month and the totals were added to the points gathered in the meet which was run off last Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Theta Chi fraternity won second honors with a total of 51½ points and only ½ of a point separated the two teams before the last event was held and the winners collected 8 counters here to give them the winning margin. Alpha Gamma Rho and Delta Tau Epsilon finished in a tie for third position, each team scoring 50 counters. The others finished as follows: Delta Kappa Sigma, 35; Sigma Phi Delta, 21½; Y. M. C. A., 16½; Alpha Sigma Tau, 15½; and Kappa Sigma Chi, 4.

Graham High Point Man

Cecil Graham of Delta Tau Epsilon with a total of 15 points was the high-point man of the day. He scored first in the 100, 220, and 440 yard dashes. Leo May, varsity weight man, won both of the weight events with ease, tossing out the discus 127 feet and heaving the shot 41 feet 6 inches. Paul Bunt won first place in the javelin with a toss of 154 feet 3 inches. Carman Hunt, freshman jumper beat out August Schwartz in the high jump by jumping 6 feet.

The Alpha Gamma Rho half mile relay team upset the dope by winning over the Theta Chi team in this event. The Theta Chis won the event in the last meet and it will now be necessary to run the relay over to decide the winner of the trophy.

Geology Section On Trip To Ortonville

Members of the historical section of geology 1 made a field trip over the weekend to the Ortonville granite quarries to study the formations presented there.

They follow: Norman Abrahamson, Eleanor Anderson, A. R. Austin, Gordon Bell, Rhoda Clausen, Marguerite Clary, Jack Danstrom, Cecelia Deuser, Alice Eastgate, Elva Eklund, Irene Fredrickson, E. L. Gackle, Ora Hammerud, Dorothy Holes, Martell Haugen, Wallace Haugen, R. V. King, Jack Knight, Waldemar Knudson, George Lehmkuhl, Clair Lynn, Mary McNair, George Nichols, R. E. Olson, W. B. Olson, John Peterson, Erling Pederson, Norman Peterson, Mary Powers, H. H. Presler, Helen Ramstad, N. D. Robinson, Hans Sachse, Walter Shamp, Genevieve Skinner, Helmer Sletvold, A. R. Van Vorst, G. C. Van Tine, Jack Vincent, Francis Wright, and Margaret Dadey.

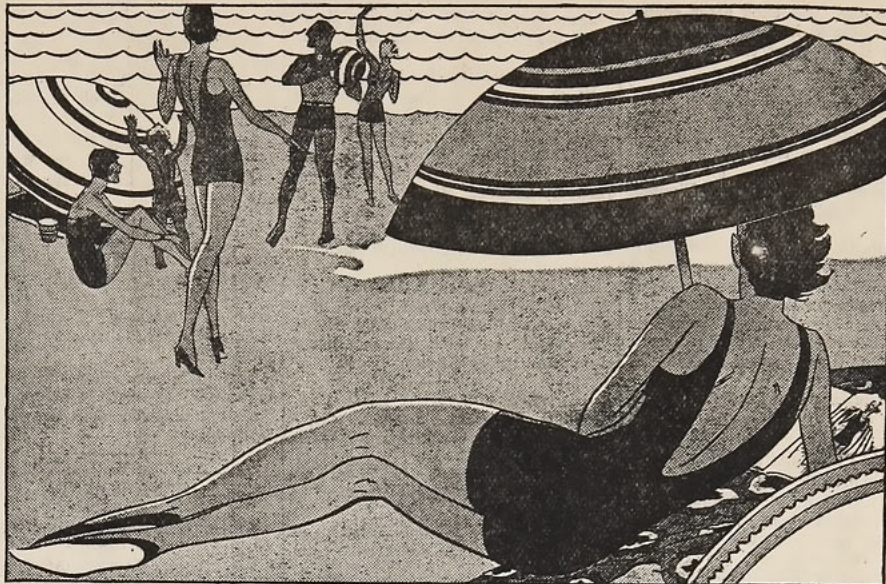

Victor A. Jones and S. A. Tyler of the geology department were in charge with Mrs. S. T. Tyler and Miss Florence Schroeder of the nursery school as guests.

Donald Pearce served as guide for the trip, having been over the ground as a student of Professor Doerr in the last year geology class.

The field trip taken by the geology 1 class, May 23-24, was unique in the fact that formations were studied showing both the oldest and latest developments of geologic time. On the way to the Ortonville quarries several stops were made to study the beaches of the old Lake Agassiz of which the Red river is the last remaining remnant.

Many interesting sidelights were given by Mr. Jones of the geology department regarding the lake and various developments that have taken place from time to time. Attention was called to the fact that the present Red river valley, formerly the bottom of Lake Agassiz, is so flat sight of objects are lost in the distance by the curvature of the earth rather than being obscured by hills or rolling ground.

On the return trip a study was made on the old River Warren valley and of the place where the point of drainage flows north from Lake Traverse to the Hudson Bay and south from Big Stone lake to the Gulf of Mexico.

JANTZEN

The Preferred Swimming Suit

Many, indeed, are the reasons for Jantzen worldwide popularity. The appeal of its permanent fit is universal. There's never a wrinkle, wet or dry. Tightly knitted from pure long fibred wool, by the famous Jantzen-stitch process, it retains its shape always. Its remarkable elasticity gives you perfect freedom in the water.

Simply sparkling with style. You will find Jantzen suits the latest, the most authentic beach modes. Smart simplicity is the keynote of Jantzen style lithe, slenderizing lines a distinguishing characteristic.

And the Jantzen colors so rich and alluring. Vivid hues or pastels, to suit every type, to suit every taste. The colors of today and tomorrow . . . correct, colorfast. But see the new colors and models, they are here now.

As an instance of Jantzen style leadership, witness the Jantzen Shouldaire . . . the suit designed for smart sun bathers. An ingenious tie holds the front in place while the shoulder straps are dropped for an even coat of shoulder tan . . . a suit entirely new in style inspiration.

Molitor And McMillen Honored By Boxers, Captains For '31, '32

Honorary Captaincy Given As Recognition For Ability In Fistic Art

Honored by their boxing teammates with the respective positions of next year's team captaincy and an honorary captaincy for the past fight season, Rod McMillen and John Molitor, veteran scrappers, hold positions unique in college history.

Just as the past season marks the first intercollegiate fight tourney in North Central Conference history (in which the Bison boxers contested both the Sioux and Coyote battlers, from North Dakota and South Dakota Universities, respectively), so the recent election of captain and the selection of honorary captain for the 1931 season by the college boxers marks an innovation at this school.

"Ram" Rod Is Captain

Lighthweight titleholder McMillen will act as team captain during the next season, it is announced by Lt. Fay Smith, who, as boxing instructor, had charge of polling the votes of the college scrappers, his fight pupils for the past three years. Rod, an all-conference linesman on the college football team, was heavyweight champion in 1930 and annexed the crown in the second heaviest division during the past season. He has one year of varsity competition left before his graduation.

Fight fans have expressed the opinion that the honorary captaincy is just recognition to the ability and conscientious work of John Molitor, who will retire as college lightweight champion at his graduation in June. John, known for his cleverness and ring ability, has been a "top-notch" throughout his three years of collegiate fighting in the lightweight ranks. For the past two years he has advanced into the semi-finals at the Golden Gloves amateur fighters' tourney at Minneapolis only to be turned away from the championship by slight margins.

Only Molitor and Bill Hiltz, heavyweight titleholder, will be lost out of the Bison fight team through graduation this June, according to Lt. Smith, who already has return fights with the champions of both North and South Dakota universities booked for 1932.

Five varsity tennis men are completing the last rounds of a round robin tennis tournament to decide the four men that will make the trip to Brookings tomorrow to attend the conference tennis tournament held there Friday and Saturday.

They include John Dixon and Birch Horton, Fargo; John Walker, Moorhead; Tony Faber, Bismarck; and Myron Wurdeman, Mandan. The team will stay at the Dudley hotel when they arrive and will be guests of South Dakota State at the tournament.
