Council Shows Support; Agrees To Sell 30 Tickets Of Show

In a meeting of the Interfraternity Council on Wednesday, April 15, the Council voted unanimously to support the College Y. M. C. A. in its presentation of the "Y-Circus", May 1 in the College Armory.

Mr. D. C. Bayliss, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., outlined the presentation and method of ticket sales, and after a short discussion Horace McGrath made the motion that each fraternity undertake the sale of thirty tickets. The motion was passed unanimously. "I am very gratified at the action of the Council," said Mr. Bayliss. "The Y. M. C. A. appreciates such whole hearted co-operation on the part of the fraternities and will reciprocate whenever possible."

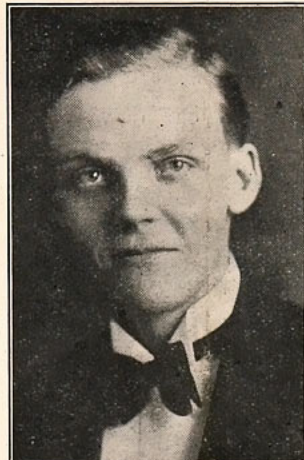

Ticket sales for the Circus-Dance will start on Monday, April 20, according to Lawrence Erickson, ticket manager. Each fraternity will receive its allotment before Monday but actual sales will not begin before that time. The number of tickets to be sold is limited to 500 because of present seating arrangements in the armory.

Melodramatic Scene Featured By Cast In 10 Nights In Barroom

Harold Peterson Heads Cast As Town Drunkard, Old Joe Morgan

The crash of broken glass, thud of drunken bodies, and the shrieks of shocked females will be heard when the Little Country Theatre Players under the direction of A. G. Arvold present that melodrama of strong liquor and weak men, "Ten Nights in a Barroom".

Harold Peterson will head the cast as Joe Morgan, the chief drunkard, and Ruth Barrett will be his long-suffering wife. Mary the child, you remember "Father, dear father, come home with me now" will be played by Dorothea Olson. John Dixon, Walter Shamp, Bill Gray, Ronald Pearce, Tony Faber, Betty Heaton, and Constance West will portray tinhorn gamblers, habitual soaks, wife beaters, and simpering flirts.

As famous a play in its way as was "Uncle Tom's Cabin", and with more influence on the liquor question than the W. C. T. U., full of propaganda and pathos the five act drama packed opera houses for three decades. Like "East Lynne" and "Uncle Tom" it is now being revived the length and breadth of the country, and has played to overflowing houses in Washington State College, University of Kansas, Cornell University, Oregon State College, Minneapolis, and the Civic Theatre of Detroit, where sophisticated audiences "came to laugh and remained to weep."

"We put "Ten Nights in a Barroom" on here," writes the director of drama at Washington State College to Mr. Arvold, "and have not had such audiences for any production in twenty years."

The melodrama here will be staged with all the flavor of the production of the gay Nineties, with specialty numbers between the acts of sobs and gun-play. The class in Advanced Play Production whose project it is, are striving to adhere faithfully to every detail of the older staging, when it is produced for the public, April 28 and 29.

MALONEY, PAULSON WIN DECISION AT HUNTER

Clifford Maloney and Joseph Paulson defeated Morris Erickson and Matt LeFor in a debate at Hunter, N. D., Tuesday evening. The winners upheld the affirmative of the question: "Resolved, that the income tax is preferable to the general property tax in North Dakota." About sixty persons were present at the debate.

The same students, with the exception of Morris Erickson whose place will be taken by Bethel Young, was debated last night at the meeting of the Periscope Club, an association of business men in Fargo.

Parrott To Attend Registrar's Meeting

State College Man Organized First Convention In August, 1910

Alfred H. Parrott, registrar of the North Dakota State College, leaves Friday afternoon to attend the annual convention of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars at Buffalo, New York, April 21 to 24. He will spend Saturday in Chicago visiting the registrars' offices of Chicago University and Northwestern University and at the close of the convention will spend a day with his brother who is vice-director of the New York State Agricultural Experiment station at Geneva, New York.

The convention of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars is considered one of the largest educational gatherings of the United States. More than 750 colleges and universities of the United States and Canada maintain memberships in the association and about 300 delegates attend the annual conventions. It is nevertheless one of the very young educational associations. It was organized at Detroit, Mich., in August, 1910, when 24 registrars responded to an invitation that had been issued by Mr. Parrott. As a recognition of the services that he had rendered the association, Mr. Parrott was elected its honorary president at the annual meeting at Lexington, Ky., in the spring of 1917.

Essay Contest Gives Collegians Chance For Fifty Dollars In Prizes

"Corporation Farming" Subject For Discussion; June 1 Set As Deadline

Students of North Dakota State College may compete for $50 in prize money offered to winners in the Essay contest on "Corporation Farming" sponsored by the Williams County Farmers Union, it was announced today by W. A. Cleveland, chairman of the committee in charge.

All regularly enrolled under-graduates in attendance at the college are eligible to compete. The essay should be from 2500 to 4000 words in length and the manuscripts are to be typed. The closing date a set by the committee is June 1.

The subject of "Corporation Farming", its challenge and significance to the individual farmer, and its probable effect on readjustment of agriculture is one of the live topics of the present period. It is to stimulate a deeper study of this question by the students here that the Williams County Farmers Union sponsored the contest on this campus, said Cleveland.

Contestants are asked not to limit their discussion to one or two phases, but should consider the broader economic and social aspects of the question. In determining the winner, originality of presentation of ways showing how "Corporation Banking" may or may not assist in putting agriculture on a sound basis, will be taken into consideration.

Students planning to enter the contest are asked to see W. A. Cleveland, L. L. Scranton, or H. F. McColly who are the committee in charge. The prizes are as follows: first, $20; second, $10; third, $5; fourth to eighth, $3 each.

WORSHIP OF THINGS

In this materialistic civilization, we as realists, have set false values on many of the fundamental things of life. The inherent instinct in all to revere and worship has manifested itself during the past century in the worship of things rather than of ideas, of qualities, of abstractions.

The peculiar scheme of education has set a false value on marks. As a result today we have college students worshipping the numerical average, the grade, rather than paying deference to the ability, the intellect that made the grade possible. It was because of this instinct to worship that Anthony Comstock, now a symbol for a certain Puritanical attitude of mind, collected and worshipped Japanese vases.

Many persons possess shelves of rare editions, books with faded, lovely bindings of inestimable value. Yet these book collectors are worshipping the binding, the paper, the engraving and not the words inscribed on the pages. We are taught to revere our country. It is this tendency to instill love for an object that has made the nationally minded rather than worldly minded. Only when we can see the entire earth as a composite, exquisite setting for the drama of life—then only will we be approaching Utopia, the land of contentment and peace.

The Greeks worshipped beauty—not particularly the beauty of the body, of the face, of the soul, that of a building or of a city, but as an ideal expressed in the beauty of the whole. Now we are in dire need of some force that will again instill that love for the abstract, the ability of the student, the genius of the author, the Creator of the earth, some power to set an equilibrium and help us to regain our ideals—our illusions, perhaps.

EUREN CAUGHT IN HORRIBLE ACT!

Putting his drum aside long enough to throw a Bison at the reporter, Bill "Suza" Euren, notorious gunman and prom leader, confirmed rumors that a Gamma Phi would lead the Junior Ball as his partner.

Multitudes thronged the streets this morning after the announcement was made, cheering wildly and throwing each other's hats in the air. (Editor's note: that is life for you in the big city.) Author's note: Who the heck asked you about it?)

Gertie "Junior" Lee, when approached by reporters last evening screamed for the house-mother. After being convinced that the reporters were not Sigs she became her own sweet self again, and in a statement to the press she murmured coyly: "It's okay by me just as long as I don't have to go home with him." Without further comment on her good fortune she dismissed the reporters and delved into her fan mail.

In establishing this precedent, Mr. Euren, musician pluribus, stated: "It has always been the wish of Junior Ball Leaders to secure a gal who can dance, as sometimes one must dance with one's partner and vice versa, as the case may be. This year, of course, things will be different."

Rumors had it today that several Juniors would be in the line of march, but Mr. Euren painted them as cheap, degrading lies.

"They are cheap, degrading lies," was the way he put it.

The Junior Ball is an annual affair sponsored by the Crystal Ballroom and Spectrum, and has perhaps put more students through school than any other single event on the campus. Tickets are on sale at downtown pool halls and telephone booths.

No, the parachutes are going to be blanks, not the kind you would want to take with you on your aeroplane ride. In fact they will be used as knapsacks in which the men will carry their books, their lunch, hot coffee, and a tooth brush on weekend parties. This would do away with the satchel. But what a boon this new style trend will be to some of our students like Ame Wallum and other scholars who have one arm longer than the other from carrying over-loaded brief cases.

Second Floor

At The Follies

By the Observer

Music, magic, comedy, and dancing were the constituents of the Flickertail Follies presented by the Greek letter organizations of the U. of N. D. Ten large acts, five front stage acts, and a song contest comprised the show which corresponds to our Brevities. Prof. John E. Howard and John Mader directed the show and Joseph Carlin was production manager.

Lambda Chi Alpha opened the show with a hobo act. A "Memories" theme was carried out effectively. A violin solo was the high spot of the act but was placed too much in the dark to be a feature.

Two comedians, easily the best in the show, next did an act in one which an old laugh gag was combined with a trick cane and some local take-offs to make an effective comedy bit.

Chi Omega pantomimed and sang its way through a familiar Mother Goose act whose feature was a well done Raggedy Ann dance.

"On Revival Day", ATO, presented negro spirituals and plantation melodies with a degree of success on a moonlit stage.

The song contest, staged during the intermission was easily carried off by "Sunshine Blues", a composition of Bonnie Mathison which was sung by the Sigma Alpha Iota trio.

"Trees", the production of Alpha Chi Omega was, in the writer's opinion the best sorority act in the show. The action moved smoothly throughout and the setting and lighting was superior to that shown by any other organization. The music for the act was well done, the solo work being especially good. The aesthetic dancing was not always aesthetic but nevertheless may be considered a good effort.

The Delta Zetas gave an act called "Syncopated Silhouettes" which featured a clever dancer and singer.

Bob Ryan, in a short act, played a marimba with fine technique but evidently had different opinions as to tempo and repeat signs than the orchestra.

The Phi Deltas contributed a great deal toward the success of the show with a Lady Luck act. The setting was very good and the comedy fine. A large chorus executed a hat, cane, and tap dance which was well received by the audience. A gymnastic bit, however, could have well been omitted. On the whole, this act seemed to be the class of the fraternity acts.

The Pi Phis strove to please in a dancing and singing skit but did not seem to click.

Sigma Chi's magician act was obvious but the piano work by Oliver Malm was very good.

The Delta Gam trio entertained with a number of songs which were well received, and merited much applause.

Tau Sigma Rho's oriental act moved too slowly to receive any attention in the judging but the costumes were beautiful, and the setting attractive.

Three pantomimists presented the eternal triangle in a vivid manner. A lumber camp scene was the presentation of the Kappa Sigs. The actions were not only in good taste, but a Scandinavian comedian and banjoist performed well. An Apache dance featuring Ted Meinhover, behemoth, was very clever.

The S. A. E. orchestra closed the show in a peppy band act showing Dana McEnroe and his drums to a good advantage. Eddie Dingman sang well.

Finnegan And Lowe Continue Grid Practices

LARGEST NUMBER ATTEND SEVENTH PRACTICE TODAY

Milton Jacobson Groomed To Fill Shoes Of Leo May As Toe Artist

Selliken Shifted To End; John Fisher, McDonald, Thompson Look Good

Coach "Casey" Finnegan and his assistants have put their large group of candidates through the seventh session of the spring football season.

The largest number of men to ever report for the spring training are working out daily. A large number of varsity lettermen, some promising freshman numerals, and other aspiring candidates make up the personnel of the squad of fifty men.

The practices have shifted from the fundamental type to the more advanced stages of training. Scrimmages, with offensive and defensive play being stressed, have been the most important part of the last sessions. However, signal drill, blocking, tackling, punting, and other fundamental drills are used to a great extent.

During the last few scrimmages a few men have been showing up exceptionally well. Among these are: Milton Jacobson, a giant fullback with a great amount of punting ability. He is being groomed to fill the vacancy left by Leo May in this department. Johnnie Fisher, a flashy halfback, has been zigzagging through the opposition with regularity. Joe Selliken, varsity letterman, has been shifted from pivot position to an end post and has shown much promise in his new role. Bill McDonald, varsity basketball letterman, is seeking laurels in new fields and is now showing up well at a halfback position. James Thompson, 210 pound tackle, is giving the veterans much opposition, and Clarence Ellingson, driving halfback, is performing in a creditable manner.

MART VOGEL CHOSEN AS SIGMA DELTA HEAD

Mart Vogel was elected president of the Sigma Delta discussion club at the meeting held in the city YMCA last Sunday evening. Donald Lawrence and Leonard Gilles were elected vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

"Women in Industry" was the subject cussed and discussed at the last meeting. Miss Ethel Renwick lead the discussion. The subject for the discussion to be held April 26 will be "Revolt in India" and will be led by Harold Peterson. James Konen and Constance Heilman are now candidates for membership in the club.

Intramural Tourney For Golfers Planned

Finalists To Represent Bison At Conference Track Meet At Grand Forks

Plans are being made for an intramural golf tournament which will get under way the first part of May, according to "Casey" Finnegan, director of athletics.

Fraternities entering men are asked to sign with Mr. Finnegan or Tony Faber by Wednesday, April 22. A 36 hole qualifying round will decide the eight men to participate in the championship fight at the college. Trophies are offered to the fraternities placing first and second.

The two winners in the intramural tournament will represent the school at the North Central track and field meet to be held at Grand Forks the last part of May. Each school in the conference is to be represented, according to Mr. Finnegan.

Freshman are eligible to compete in the campus tournament but will not be allowed to play on the school team because of the conference ruling. An attractive schedule including two matches with the University is being arranged.

MEN SEEK CONDITION FOR INTRAMURAL MEET

A sharp tang of wintergreen and the occasional click of track shoes announce from the Armory dressing rooms that aspiring fraternity runners are working into shape for the first intra-mural track meet of the season, next Friday and Saturday, April 24 and 25.

Besides the first meet scheduled for next week the Greek trackmen will again compete among themselves at a joint meet to be held May 22 and 23.

These meets are sponsored to develop new material in track, according to Coach Saalwaechter, who suffered a great loss last season with the graduation of Sand, Jordre Konichek, Wollan, Nelson, Weiser, and other track veterans.

BISON SHOOTERS COMPLETE 1931 RIFLERY SEASON

Ed Comm Elected '32 Captain; Larry Ryan Is Team Manager

With the posting of the final team totals in the National Intercollegiate Matches, the election of next year's captain and team manager, and the greasing of the accurate little gallery rifles, the North Dakota State college marksmen early this week completed the 1931 riflery season.

No prospects of final returns in the national competition will be available until about the tenth of May, according to Captain Bart Conny, who feels confident that the college score of 7630 will rank well with those of other colleges in the country.

At the meeting of the team held the fore part of the week, Edward Comm was elected captain and Larry Ryan, manager, of the 1932 squad.

The ten highest ranking scorers in the National Intercollegiate matches were as follows: Lawrence Forman, 771; Gordon Baird, 768; Otto Wolhowe, 766; Larry Ryan, 764; Glenn Schoessow, 762; Raymond Gelnett, 761; Wayne Curtis, 760; Norman McKendry, 754; Hubert Smith, 753; and Ed Comm, 752.

Despite three misses countered against the first ROTC team firing in the Hearst Trophy match, the riflemen were able to tally 907 points out of the possible 1000. The competition records of the team men were: G. Schoessow, 184; Ed Comm, 184; Larry Forman, 181; J. Newton, 180; and L. Ryan, 178.

BRISCOE SET NOTABLE RECORD FOR HIKERS

Pedestrians claiming walking distance records and things like that, should consult a small, white-haired man, C. A. Briscoe, veteran ex-night watchman at the college, before publishing any statements.

For Mr. Briscoe, who walks now with forced slowness, set up a mileage record totalling nearly 96,100 miles during his 20 years as college watchman—and all of the way on his two feet.

"I never missed a mile of the 13 any night during the whole 20 years," Mr. Briscoe says. Included on the 13 mile hike were jaunts up 10 flights of stairs and journeys to many nooks on the campus testing locks and doors and watching that no marauders molested college property.

Mr. Briscoe suffered a general breakdown last year which forced him to end his then unbroken record. His son, Rolla, now makes the rounds every night, following in the countless footsteps of his father.
