Gamma Phi Beta, Alpha Kappa Phi Win In Brevities

Kappas Place Second In Large Act Division For Sororities

THETA CHI AWARDED TICKET SALES TROPHY

Kappa Delta First In Curtain Act Performance Of Student Show

Marked by the keenest competition since its innovation three years ago, the third edition of the Bison Brevities with two performances on Monday and Tuesday to packed houses at the Fargo high school auditorium brought trophies to Gamma Phi Beta sorority, Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity, Kappa Delta sorority, and Sigma Phi Delta fraternity.

The Gamma Phi act, "Phantasy", scored a close victory in the sorority large act division. Kappa Kappa Gamma placed second with their "Idea in Blue." "Syncopated Superstitutions" sponsored by Phi Omega Pi was third.

Alpha Kappa Phi won the third successive Brevities trophy with an orchestra act, "Retrospection in Rhythm." Delta Kappa Sigma with "Number Please" was second. Voodoonites of Alpha Sigma Tau placed third.

Kappa Delta was judged best in the curtain act competition. Sigma Phi Delta placed second, and Theta Chi took third.

Review of the Show

Alpha Xi Beta opened the show with a prologue. They were dressed as newsboys and passed among the audience distributing the programs in the form of miniature newspapers.

Alpha Sigma Tau featured a singing chorus stripped to the waist in a revival meeting setting. The singing of the 25 voices and the solos of Burton Kilbourne were outstanding. A dancing trio dressed as stevedores did two clever numbers. Harry Seebart accomplished excellent work as the soloist and was assisted by Don Alstrup and Don Lieb.

"Krazy Kat", a jazz pantomime, appeared as the first curtain act. The dancing of John Bond was good. He was assisted by Dolson Hill, Harold Peterson, Frank Sykora, and Ward Swanson.

Kappas Are Still Blue

In a beautiful setting Kappa Kappa Gamma presented "Idea in Blue." The singing of Eryls Hill, Jeanette McComb and Eleanor Burnett was good. Marian Brainerd as the soloist was the outstanding woman vocalist of the show. Mary Ricker and Ruth Barrett did some nice comedy work. The chorus that danced in the finale

Sternheim Lectures During Convocation

Has Fine Educational Background And Is Author Of Importance

Speaking on "Education in Life", Dr. Emanuel Sternheim, famous educator and experienced lecturer, gave a forty-minute speech during convocation in the armory this morning.

Dr. Sternheim is noted for his ability as a speaker, and came highly recommended to the institution by presidents of other educational systems as an accomplished orator and clear thinker. He is thoroughly informed in the life and thought of Europe, having been born and educated in the universities of England and the continent, and later becoming an American citizen, adding that viewpoint to his understanding. He is constantly traveling, speaking and writing, and has built for himself an enviable reputation as a philosopher.

Sternheim came under the auspices of the general extension division of the University of Minnesota.

CHECKERS, CHESS BEGIN CAMPUS TOURNAMENTS

Checkers and chess will take their place among the recreations and vocations of the campus when two tournaments get under way immediately in the Y. M. C. A., with those drawn for the first rounds heading the bouts.

Those who have been drawn for the first round of the checker tournament are: Fredeen drew a bye, Thompson plays Stewart, Knight plays Pennington, and Adams meets Knobell.

In the chess tournament Knight drew a bye and Taylor meets Fredeen. The winners of these games must be turned in by Monday, March 16. Any others interested may sign up on the bulletin board in the lobby of the Y building.

Scholarship Fund Is Established Here By Honorary Group

Awards Planned For Sophomore And Freshman Women On Recognition Day

A scholarship fund for women students on the campus has been established by the Senior Staff. Conditions regarding the awarding of the gifts have been outlined by staff members.

Plans are being made for the presentation of awards, one to a sophomore woman student and another to a freshman on the Senior Staff on Recognition day.

General tuition for a year's work at the North Dakota State college will be the sophomore award. Selection of the winner will be based on scholarship, character of the applicant, loyalty, leadership, physical soundness and strength, possession of a worthy and definite purpose in life, and need.

Scholarship will be the basis for the freshman award of ten dollars, which will be presented to the freshman girl having the highest scholarship average for the year up until the time of the presentation of the scholarship.

Alice In Wonderland To Show On Lyceum

Ten People Operate Show That Appears In Armory On Tuesday

"Alice in Wonderland" will be this year's play to be presented by Tong Sarg's marionettes when they return to Fargo in order to appear on the lyceum program in the college armory, Tuesday.

Two performances have been scheduled for the play. A matinee will be presented for school children at 3:45 p. m. and the evening performance will begin at 8:15.

Ten people are required to put up, take down and operate the theater. A large number of puppets are required for the play which centers about the story of Alice, the English girl who goes to sleep and takes a trip to Wonderland.

Short Story Volumes On File At Library

A complete set of volumes of the "Best Short Stories and the Yearbook of the American Short Story" by Edward J. O'Brien dating from 1915 to the present are now on file at the North Dakota State College library, states Miss Harriet Pearson, assistant librarian.

"The Best Plays" by Burns Mantle from 1919 to the present date are also ready for use. They include such plays as: The Strange Interlude, Eugene O'Neil; Croquette, George Abbott and Ann Bridgers; The Racket, Bartlett Cormack; Escape, John Galsworthy; Paris Bound, Philip Barry; and Burlesque, George Manker Waters and Arthur Hopkins.

A yearbook of American poetry called "Anthology of Magazine Verse" by William Stanley Braithwaite has such authors as Robert Frost, Louis Untermeyer, Carl Van Doren, Witter Bynner, Margaret Widdemer, and Sara Teasdale.

Superstitions Are Forgotten By Dramatists

Black cats and the number 13 have no meaning for the class in advanced play production which is producing "He Who Gets Slapped", a four act drama by Leonid Andreyev on Friday, the 13th of March, in the Little Country Theatre. A performance is also planned for Saturday, March 14.

The typical behind-stage setting of an indoor circus is the scene of the story of French show life. The theme centers around a mysterious gentleman that applies for a position as clown in the circus, apparently to forget his past life. The gentleman receives a slap and takes the name, "He Who Gets Slapped." Interpreting this role is Robert Sanderson. He is supported by Vivian Luther who takes the part of Consuelo, the bare-back tango queen.

Manchini, the father of Consuelo, tries to arrange to have his daughter marry a rich baron whom the girl does not love. In the surroundings of the circus she has her friends and does not want to leave. The clown, He, hides his love for Consuelo but urges her not to marry the baron. She is duty bound and the wedding seems inevitable.

An element of mystery runs thru the story and in a scene where He meets the man who has taken away all the happiness He had enjoyed in the outside world, the audience learns that He is of noble blood.

Rather than see Consuelo marry the baron He poisons the girl and poisons himself. The story ends with the general confusion of the circus folk.

Included in the cast are: Claire Newell and Vivian Rice, the musical clowns; Anthony Faber, Briquet, the circus manager; Raymond Gergorson, Manchini; Katherine Lindley, Zinida, the lion-tamer; Ward McCabe, Jackson, John Dixon, Bezano, the bare-back rider; Rod McMillen, Baron Regnard; and Frances Wright, the actress.

Special music and dancing has been arranged for the presentation.

Camp Leadership To Be Offered In Spring

A course in camp leadership will be innovated in the women's physical education department curriculum beginning with the spring term, it is announced by Miss Dorothy Cole, head of the department.

Instructing the class which is being inaugurated in order to train girls for summer camp leader positions, will be Mrs. R. M. Falley, Fargo, a state director of campfire work. Mrs. Falley is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and was an instructor in the department during the last summer session.

The course, which will be known as Physical Education 17, will be a two credit subject and will be offered on Tuesdays and Thursday at 11 o'clock.

READING CLASS GIVES RECITAL ON SUNDAY

A lecture recital and tea will be given by the interpretive reading class of the Public Discussion department at the Little Country Theatre on Sunday, March 14, at 3:00 p. m. Invitations to the tea are limited by students of this course to this affair which makes up a regular part of the course, and it will be presided over by Miss Alice Bender, instructor.

Special music has been arranged for entertainment during intermissions and while tea is being served.

The recital will be made up of interpretive readings chosen from outstanding American poets and authors, both contemporary and of the old school, various members of the class taking part in the program.

Students taking graduate work at North Dakota State college held a banquet in the Lincoln Log Cabin on Wednesday evening, Feb. 25. Monroe Kirk, president of the organization, presided at the meeting and Lorinda Bechtel was in charge of social arrangements.

NEW MEAT BULLETINS PREPARED BY LATZKE

The new meat bulletins by Esther Latzke, research worker in home economics, have just come from the press. They are an experimental piece of work done as a national co-operative project on meats. The method developed by the work is used by all the cooperating stations as a standard method of testing the quality of meat growing under different conditions, states Miss Latzke.

The pamphlet called "Standardizing Methods of Roasting Beef in Experimental Cookery" contains technical information and detailed data on the project. The other leaflet "Roast Beef" is a popular one and discusses the rare, medium, and well done roast giving oven temperatures and methods of roasting.

Bison Debators To Meet South Dakota State This Evening

Vogel, Maloney, McKechnie Will Represent N. D. S. In Non-decision Affair

Debating on the question, "Resolved, that the nations of the world should adopt a policy of free trade", North Dakota State college will meet a team from South Dakota State in a non-decision debate in the Little Country Theatre at 8 p. m., today.

The affirmative side of the question will be upheld by South Dakota speakers including: Walter Slocum, Chris Mortenson, and Holger Peterson. Upton S. Palmer, head of the department of speech at the South Dakota school, will accompany the team to Fargo. The local negative speakers will be: Donald McKechnie, Clifford Maloney, and Mart Vogel. Chester Wolla will be chairman.

The ninth annual dual debate meet with the West Central School and Station, Morris, Minn., was staged by teams from the agricultural and mechanic arts high school, Thursday. The chain store question was debated with Morris speakers upholding the affirmative, in the Little Country Theatre debate. Clarence Humphrey, Donovan Wardwell, and Richard Armstrong were the negative speakers.

The college high school upheld the affirmative in the debate at Morris. The team included: Sanford Running, Martin Erickson, and Stanley Vejtsa. Harold Peterson, senior in education, has coached the teams.

Lamp Made From Rifle Given Arvold

Dick Kraft and Al Johnson Are Donors Of Unique Gift To Professor

A unique bridge lamp made of an army rifle and bayonets was presented Tuesday, Feb. 24 at the North Dakota State College to Prof. A. G. Arvold from Mr. Al Johnson and Mr. Richard Kraft.

The lamp which was designed and made by Mr. Johnson consists of an army rifle as the main stem, two bayonets and the butt end of the rifle form a stand, a bent barrel of another rifle to which the lamp shade is attached makes up the top of the lamp with an extra bayonet at the top. It stands about four feet high.

Mr. Johnson is well known in Fargo and is connected with the Emory and Schave played their last game for the interdependent of buildings and grounds at the State College.

BLUE KEY INITIATES THREE NEW MEMBERS

Initiation services for three men students were conducted by Blue Key fraternity, honorary service organization, at a banquet in Ceres hall on Thursday evening.

The new members are: Floyd Viel, junior in science and literature; Roderick McMillen, junior in agriculture; and Clark Fredrikson, senior in science and literature.

Hodgson Chosen Conference Head At Press Meeting

South Dakota State Gets 1932 Meeting Of Newspaper Men In Loop

CONVENTION GUESTS OF GAMMA TAU SIGMA

Fourteen Delegates Registered; Publications Judged During Session

Earl Hodgson, business manager of The Spectrum, was elected president of the North Central Press association succeeding Joseph Murphy, Creighton University, Omaha, Neb., at a banquet Wednesday night, which formally closed the 1931 convention held on the North Dakota State College campus, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Coyote Best Annual

The Coyote, South Dakota university's annual, and The Creightonian, official newspaper at Creighton, were awarded honors as best all-around publications in the conference. Second honors for yearbooks went to The 1931 Jack Rabbit, South Dakota State college, and third, The 1931 Bison. An award for the best front page of a newspaper was given to Creighton university. The Volante, South Dakota university, won honors for the best editorial.

Presentation awards were made by T. Worden Johnson, head of the department of journalism. Besides Mr. Johnson, the judges were: L. E. George, Hillsboro, past president of the North Dakota Editorial association, and Richard Hackenberg of The Moorhead Daily News.

An invitation from South Dakota State college to hold the 1932 convention at Brookings was accepted by the association. William Spurling, South Dakota State, newly elected secretary of the conference, will be in charge of arrangements for next year's meeting.

Many Great Speakers

Among the guest speakers on this year's convention program were: C. E. Brown, Fargo, and Sidney W. Hooper, city editor of The Fargo Forum. Besides business meetings on Tuesday and Wednesday, round table discussions were held for delegates interested in the different phases of college publications. A series of luncheons and banquets were also given in honor of the delegates and Blue Key fraternity was host to the out of town visitors at the second night performance of the Bison Brevities.

With every school in the conference except Morningside college represented at the meet, 14 out of town delegates were registered. They are: Joseph Murphy, Creighton; Evon Lauster, Donald Craig, William Spurling, Gardner Gross, and John Kass, South Dakota State; Thomas Hart and Adrian Krier, University of South Dakota; Lorene Johnson, Gladys Trent, Alvin Austin, Joseph Carlin, Henry Frank, and Harold Billigmeier, University of North Dakota.

YMCA READING ROOM IS NEWLY DECORATED

A redecoration of the Y. M. C. A. reading room has been completed, according to Carl Albrecht, president of the organization.

Beside a refinishing of the walls, new draperies and furniture have been added. Three new reading lamps are expected to improve accommodations according to Albrecht.

Students are forbidden to drive their dates to dances in autos at the University of Indiana.

SAALY

As long as Leonard T. Saalwaechter is coaching North Dakota State College athletic teams, Bison fans can be assured of carefully trained representatives. This year Saaly has been handicapped in his basketball season. His squad lacked experience and he had only one Senior on his squad.

The team took on some very difficult teams during their pre-season trip and although only a few of the games were won, the Bison never lost by more than eight or ten points. Saaly taught the men to fight, to play together and when the season opened the inexperienced team won their first conference game. The thundering herd succeeded in tripping every one of its conference opponents with the exception of the University of South Dakota who won the loop bunting.

The prospects for next year are as bright as they have been in some time. The team needs the coaching of a man like Saaly who works hard and who thinks of nothing but the good of his charges. When the next season rolls around we predict a championship team to play in our new field house.

UTOPIA

The last frontier has been successfully swept away. Physically there are no new worlds to conquer. There are some of us who just faintly regret the fading of the Cimarron era and with it the passing of the Yancey Cravats. Amidst our regrets we're inclined to agree with authoritative historians who believe that the world is approaching the acme of civilization and that within the next seventy years we shall fall as Rome did.

Inclined to agree, we say, and yet in our brighter moments we feel assured that youth is working out its salvation according to another principle. The idealism and hope of college people instinctively rebel at the thought of reaching the peak within its own livelihood. It is the glamorous that attracts and draws us. We are always searching for something a bit better than our fathers had.

And so we refuse to accept this doctrine of the rise and fall for lack of physical stamina. In its stead we offer the doctrine of the ever-rising, ever-broadening intellectual horizon. Perhaps within the next seventy years due to intellectual stamina our civilization will become one of introspection rather than that of retrospection.

There may be no new countries, but how can we deplore that fact when we thrill at new achievements in the fields of aviation and radio? In the arts it is our own reaction that becomes the important thing. To the Victorian with his aesthetic taste modern art, modern music, and modern anything is deplorable. He fails to see that it is expressive of our intellectual immaturity and satisfying to ourselves and for that alone it is praiseworthy.

At the end of seventy years of this intellectual progress then, may be a bit more mature, a bit more given to admiring the Sabra Cravats of life rather than the Yanceys, a bit nearer to Utopia.

AN OBSERVATION

A preliminary wait of some two hours before the basketball game last week gave us somewhat of an insight into our deplorable state of dependibility on other people and other things.

Occasionally above the constant chatter on all sides we heard a bid of "three no trump", "four spades" and as many "bys" from the many bridge-players that established their games as if by magic as soon as they were settled. We admired their foresight in bringing decks of cards and our envy knew no bounds when we espied a table at one end of the armory.

Turning our attention from these individuals we spotted several magazines including everything from "College Humor" (very appropriate) to the latest edition of the "Saturday Review of Literature" (which may have been just as appropriate).

And as we sat and meditated and envied (having neither cards, nor reading matter, nor ambition) we wondered if it was ever thus. We wish we might have seen the first basketball game with the University as well as the last one.

SO LONG, PRESSMEN!

With the closing of the North Central Press conference we feel that we have made some real friends in the visiting journalists from other schools. The two days have brought nothing but pleasure to the members of both The Spectrum and the Bison staffs who entertained the guests.

The contacts that we make in college are the ones that will aid us in the years following graduation. We feel that the contacts that the journalists made at this meeting will always be remembered.

There is one thing about a convention, it makes us realize that there is more than one school in the world. We lose some of our self-centered ideas and think in terms of the conference schools and the schools of the nation.

We are very happy to exchange our ideas with you, guests of Gamma Tau Sigma!

CAMPUS SCANDALS

It might be said with a certain degree of truth that this campus is degenerating into a society fit for any fiction-like interpretation of an old ladies home.

The somewhat trite expression, "What do you know", is coming back with renewed vigor and meaning. The chase for "gore" is paramount in every mind and each fraternal group is running a neck-to-neck chase to beat their rival to something "really good,"—or so it would seem.

And yet they say that some of us are bored, uninterested, egotistical individuals. Certainly the attitude of a certain fair majority of State's students doesn't carry out this assertion heard and read so often in current matter.

To point to a case or two of recent interest we might first mention the Brevities. Naturally in any competitive contest there is bound to be more than a good share of rivalry and jealousy and disagreement with the judges' decision. People fail to take into count that a large representative group of judges are hard to secure. We feel sincerely sure, however, that they met a difficult situation and met it well. For this reason then feelings of prejudice and envy must be discarded in the belief that the best man won.

To conclude we mention, in passing, the Press Conference that was held there this week. Criticism is always shouted the loudest from persons who know the least about the situation. Again this has held true and rumors have been scattered vicariously around by "gossip instigators"—disregard them and rest assured that Gamma Tau Sigma as hosts to the delegates feels satisfied that the Press Conference left a broadening and lasting effect on the minds of all those who attended its meetings—an effort that cannot be erased by malicious statements.

SENIOR STAFF

The Senior Staff is to be congratulated upon their efforts to promote scholarship on the campus. Although the award itself does not amount to very much, the principle behind is one that will lead women of the lower classes to high endeavors.

We feel that some organization could well undertake the task of establishing another loan fund on this campus. The loan fund now maintained by the college which has been the result of constant good management of the authorities in charge is taxed heavily each year by petitioning students.

There are times in the college years of every student that it is necessary to obtain money on short notice. More funds of this nature would enable more people to enjoy a college education.

We do not advocate that a student should borrow continually to enable him to attend college because that would place too great a tax on any loan fund. It is a fact, however, that every year thousands of students go to college on money that is borrowed and is repaid during the summer months or after college life.

A college education can become a heavy financial burden. Any organization that gives financial aid to students is not only helping the future citizens of America but is an instrument in seeing that everybody gets a fair chance.

Here and There

Two vacuum cleaners have been installed at the University of Utah to groom 74 horses of the R. O. T. C.

A large, well-built barn will be remodeled as a semi-permanent educational building for a new women's college to be opened in September at North Bennington, Vermont.

The intercollegiate prohibition association has announced a prize essay contest open to all college students in the United States, for which a first prize of $500 or a trip to Europe is offered.

A roadhouse near the University of Colorado has arranged for students to ride in taxis free of charge to dances there.

Two coeds of the New Jersey College for Women were suspended for being caught in a raid in a speak-easy.

The faculty of the University of Rochester recently voted to do away with all 8 a. m. classes, having decided it was better for the students to sleep in their own rooms instead of the classrooms.

There is an almanac in the British museum which was issued during the reign of Rameses the Great, and is about 3,000 years old.

It costs the City of New York $930,000 a day to operate its public school system and the figure is expected to reach a million dollars daily in the near future.

An agreement has been made to resume dual athletic competition between Harvard and Princeton in all sports but football.

A new world language called "Anglic", based on modern English but in simplified spelling, has been launched by a Swedish professor.

"A Coed's Diary" which appeared in the last issue of the Chicago Phoenix, University of Chicago humor magazine, so infuriated the coeds that they have refused to subscribe to the magazine.

After August 15, 1931, coeds in the state of Ohio will have to return fraternity pins to their original owners or spend a month or so in jail, for a law on the Ohio statute books declares that "Whoever, not being entitled to do so under the rules and regulations thereof, wears the badge or button of a society or organization of ten years' standing in this state, shall be fined not more than $20, or imprisoned not more than 30 days, or both."

Last year there were more college students in the United States than in all the rest of the world combined. There were 1,237,000 students enrolled in colleges and universities in this country.

Everything is said twice in the New Mexico house of representatives, once in English and once in Spanish.

Wedded bliss and higher education can be combined successfully, at least, at the University of Oregon. Out of a total of 3,095 students, 119 are married.

The undefeated Swarthmore tennis team of 1930 was awarded the championship of the Middle Atlantic State College Athletic conference at a meeting of the conference in Philadelphia.

STATE LOSES LAST GAME TO SIOUX IN ANCIENT ARMORY

Leo May, Glenn Jarrett, And Curt Schave Played
Last Game

By Jack Grohne

The North Dakota State College basketball team lost its final stand in the now ancient armory. North Dakota University and the local team each gained a victory in the last series of the season.

After having scored a close 18 to 15 victory on the opening night the Bison were turned back 30 to 24 in the second engagement.

Friday night both teams played a very good brand of ball, but the Saalymen were more consistent in the shots from in and around the foul circle. Leo May, star center proved to be the big factor in the victory for the Bison. He entered the game after 11 minutes of the first half had been played and immediately the team play began to improve. He scored the first Bison tally 2 minutes later and this started the local team to victory. Leo counted four times from the field and sunk a free throw to lead his teammates in scoring.

Saturday Game Slow

Saturday night's game was less interesting to watch due to the fact that the defenses of both teams did not play up to their usual standard. Neither team displayed the ability that they had shown in previous encounters and mistakes were numerous on the part of both.

Walt Olson and Viv McKay led the Bison attack in the closing contest. Olson demonstrated some of the best guarding to be witnessed on the local court in a long time. McKay, sophomore guard led his teammates in scoring and caused the Nodaks no little trouble.

Trio Finish Careers

This series marked the close of the basketball careers of three of the most outstanding athletes in the conference. The Bison lose Leo May by graduation, and Glenn Jarrett and Curt Schave played their last game for the University. May has been the most outstanding man on the Bison squad this season and has proven that he is one of the best centers in the loop. Jarrett and Schave have been very important factors in the successes of the Nodaks this season and their loss will be keenly felt. These three stars are also capable track men and will close their college athletic careers in May.

A national project on experimental meats under the direction of Esther Latzke is being carried on by two senior girls in the advanced nutrition class: Rae Sanderson and Dorothy Conley. The experiment is to determine the vitamin content of beef and pork when raw, cooked, or canned. The project will be completed some time in the near future.

work at the piano was an artist in the winning Gamma Phi act. She accompanied the singing of the octette, a group of wonderfully blended voices. Jean Pote gave an excellent performance with a cello solo. The dancing of the sun chorus and the finale brought the act to a fitting close, giving the Gamma Phi group first place.

Meredith Mattingly gave a clever and entertaining exhibition of tumbling in the Y. M. C. A. act, "Fumblin' Tumblin'."

"Number Please", the act of Delta Kappa Sigma fraternity, with original melodies by Art Cayou and Birch Horton drew more laughs from the audience than any of the other performances. A men's dancing chorus dressed in ballet costumes was the most humorous part of the show. Art Cayou sang well, Frank Clark danced, and Rollin Moore played the piano. The finale found the switchboards but pianos played by the telephone operators with Wayne Herreid, Tom Conny, Bob Bergseth, and Cecil Comer in charge.

Schoessow Outstanding

Glen Schoessow with his demonstration of marksmanship in the Sigma Phi Delta act, "The Shooting Star", showed remarkable skill.

"Syncopated Superstitions", the act of Phi Omega Pi was introduced by an excellent trio singing in close harmony, Eleanor Erickson, Dorothy Chard, and Bernice Emmons. A skeleton tap dance trio, Mary McLane, Alpha Knight, and Veronta Wepler carried out the idea of superstitions. A big black cat and other cleverly designed scenery was featured. In the finale the bad luck idea changed to one of good luck and the entire chorus sang.

The finale combined the men's glee club under the direction of Homer B. Huntoon with the best voices of the third edition of the Brevities. A special drop with feature lighting aided the closing number of the annual student vaudeville show.—ATF.

TESTED BY HOME ECS

Two senior girls in home economics, M. Rue and L. Minard, under the direction of Constance Leeb are carrying out an experiment in the research laboratory. The object is to try to determine whether it makes any difference to roast in sheet iron, sheet aluminum, cast iron, or enamel containers. Exact data is taken on the length of time, the appearance, and the flavor of the roast in the different kinds of vessels. This is a part of the national project on meat cookery.
