Bison-Sioux To Resume Feud In Armory Tonight

Teams Evenly Matched For State Championship Game Series

SAALWAECHTER TO MISS THOMASSON, NORDSTROM

Frosh Basketeers, Rifle Teams Will Renew Rivalry This Weekend

(By Jack Grohne)

Despite the fact that North Dakota Dakota University has already beaten the Bison twice this season in basketball, the people of this section of the country are due to see some real entertainment when the Bison and the Sioux engage in battle at the local armory Friday and Saturday nights. Advance dope gathered from comparative scores means very little when these two teams meet. The intense rivalry which prevails between the two teams makes the selection of the probable winner almost impossible.

The two game series played at Grand Forks two weeks ago proved that the teams were of about equal calibre. The winner was not decided in either battle until the final whistle was blown. Last weekend both teams encountered South Dakota University and each lost by the same margin. These games should prove to be the most bitterly fought battles of the season.

Thomasson, Nordstrom Out

Leo Thomasson, regular Bison guard, will not be able to take over his duties because of injuries received in the South Dakota University game last Friday. Leonard T. Saalwaechter, Bison coach, had hopes that the injuries might heal but an examination revealed that his collar-bone had been broken and further participation would be impossible.

Another blow was dealt to the Bison when it was announced that Eric Nordstrom, the flashy forward from Rockford, Illinois, will be unable to play. Eric suffered a deep cut on his shin at Grand Forks two weeks ago and it has not responded to treatment as well as was expected. He was the star of the series last season and "Saaly" had been planning on him to play an important part in the games this weekend.

Architect Drawings On Exhibition Tour

Sixteen Schools Will View Work Of College Architects

A traveling architectural exhibition from the college, which left last Monday, February 24, to visit other educational institutions throughout the Northwest, is the most recent innovation of Professor Homer B. Huntoon, head of the architecture department. This is the first time in the history of the college that the work of the architecture students has been shown in such a traveling exhibit.

Sixteen schools in Minnesota and North Dakota will see these drawings, which are seventy-nine in number. The schools retain the exhibition three days each. An increasing interest shown throughout this area in the architectural projects of the students has prompted this traveling display. All of the drawings are the work of the students from many branches of the department. The exhibition is insured and is sent by express.

NOTICE!

The Sigma Delta Discussion Club will hold its regular meeting on Sunday, March 1, at 6 p. m., in the downstairs dining hall of the I. G. A. Grocery Store. All members are requested to be present.

Mart Vogel, Secretary.

Winners Announced In Poster Contest

Announcement of the winners in the two divisions of the poster contest for the Bison Brevities has been made by the judges. Judges were: Mr. Jones of the architectural department, Miss Elliott of the art department, and Mr. Gavic, window decorator of Herbst department store.

In the Art division first place was awarded to Ruth Barrett, second place to Frances Anderson, and third place to Evelyn South. Honorable mention was given to Mrs. Edith Anderson.

Alf Skaret was awarded first place in the Architectural division. Second place was taken by Harold Henning, third by George Carufel, and honorable mention, Bob Olsen and Horace McGrath.

Delegates From Five Schools Expected For Newspaper Meetings

Publications Coming In For Judging; Will Attend Bison Brevities

Delegates from five colleges and universities in North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska are expected to arrive in Fargo Monday evening and Tuesday morning for the annual convention of the North Central Press conference to be held on North Dakota State College campus, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Acting as hosts to the incoming delegates during their stay in Fargo will be members of Gamma Tau Sigma, honorary journalistic fraternity. Definite plans for the two day convention program are also being arranged by the fraternity. Members of the conference expected to be represented at the meet besides North Dakota State are: Creighton University, Omaha, Neb.; Morningside College, Sioux City, Iowa; North Dakota University, Grand Forks; South Dakota State College, Brookings, and the University of South Dakota, Vermillion.

Inaugurating a new feature in the conference program this year, members of the press league have announced a contest for yearbook publications as well as for college newspapers. Annuals which have already been received for the contest by T. Worden Johnson, head of the department of journalism, are: The 1931 Jack Rabbit, South Dakota State College; The 1931 Bison, North Dakota State College; The 1930 Blue Jay, Creighton University; and The 1931 Coyote, South Dakota University.

Newspapers which have been received in the department for the press contest include The Creightonian, Creighton University; The Industrial Collegian, South Dakota State; The South Dakota U.; The Dakota Student, U. N. D.; and The Spectrum, N. D. S.

Although selection of judges for the publications contest had not been completed late Thursday, L. E. George, Hillsboro, president of the North Dakota Editorial association, will come to Fargo, Wednesday, for press meetings and will act as one of the judges. Announcement of the winners will be made at a banquet, Wednesday night.

Outstanding among the entertainment features for the conference will be the Bison Brevities. Delegates will be guests of Blue Key fraternity at the second night performance of the all-college vaudeville show.

The college tumbling team will give a short program of pyramid building, diving board somersaults, and hand balancing, between halves of the Bison-Sioux game tonight, it was announced by Mattingly, coach of the group.

IMPORTANT NOTICE
The Spectrum will not be issued Tuesday due to the staff attending the North Central Press conference, March 3 and 4.

College Bestows Unique Honor On Master Artisan

Reception, Banquet Fete Haile Chisholm After Degree Presentation

Tuesday afternoon in the Little Country Theatre before a packed audience of friends Haile Chisholm, veteran iron worker, was awarded the unique honor which the North Dakota State College is privileged to bestow, the degree of Master of Artisans.

Upon the platform with the well-loved college blacksmith were representatives from the college, the president, Dr. J. H. Shepperd, Dean R. M. Dolve, W. J. Church of the State Board of Administration, Rev. W. C. Sainsbury, pastor of the First Methodist church, and Lorado Taft, famous sculptor, all gathered to do him honor.

Opening the program was a musical number by a trio composed of Jean Pote, Miriam Narum, and Lawrence Forman, followed by an invocation by Reverend Sainsbury. The first speech of the afternoon was made by President Shepperd, who lauded the work of Mr. Chisholm, mentioning the specific articles of handicraft which have made him famous, including perhaps the best known, his gate to the Roosevelt log cabin at Bismarck, and announcing that this degree was the first ever to be given at this college, or to his knowledge, at any other. Mr. Church then spoke, presenting the compliments of the Board of Administration as its representative.

"It gives me great pleasure," said Lorado Taft who, speaking third, made the formal presentation of the degree to Mr. Chisholm, "to have the honor of awarding this degree. Not only am I certain that this distinguished craftsman is fully worthy of it, but I am most happy to see the beginning of recognition for the artist in all kinds of work. No great work of art has ever been, or will ever be, completed without the skillful perfection of beauty of each detail included."

Dr. Shepperd read the resolutions of the North Dakota State Legislature, signed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and Governor Shafer, and of the Supreme Court of North Dakota, congratulating Mr. Chisholm and commending the college for its action in presenting the degree, which was then handed to Mr. Chisholm.

Following the presentation program, a tea and reception were held in the green room of the Little Country Theatre, and at 6:00 he and Mr. Taft were guests of honor at a dinner in the Lincoln log cabin, to which eighty guests were invited, numbering the year of Mr. Chisholm's life.

Mr. Chisholm was born in New York State, coming to Fargo in 1888 and in 1902 came to the college, where he has been instructor in forging since. Mr. Chisholm has become noted for his remarkable works of iron, and has consistently created beautiful objects, achieving for himself state-wide acclaim. He is responsible for a great deal of ironwork on fraternity houses on the campus, and for the chandeliers in the Lincoln Log Cabin.

MINARD GIVES MAIN TALK AT INITIATION

"Making Our Own World" was the topic upon which Dean A. E. Minard of the school of Science and Literature spoke when he gave the principal address of the evening at the Phi Kappa Phi initiation services last night.

The services, which initiated Elsmere Chamberlain, Kathryn Engbreton, Lillian Flatner, Reynold Fredeen, Lois Klinsmann, Glen Schoessow, and Marion South, were conducted in the green room in Main building, followed by a banquet in the Lincoln Log Cabin. Dr. A. D. Whedon was in charge of arrangements, assisted by Miss Harriet Person, with Dr. Hunsaker as toastmaster.

Third Bison Brevities Are Ready For Final Production

BLUE KEY'S ALL-COLLEGE VAUDEVILLE PRESENTATION ASSURED OF FULL HOUSE MONDAY AND TUESDAY EVENINGS ACCORDING TO SHOW MANAGERS

The third edition of the Bison Brevities, State's all-college vaudeville show sponsored by Blue Key service fraternity, is ready for production. Dress rehearsal tomorrow morning at 10 will be the final touch whipping the cast of more than 150 students into shape for the three performances on Monday and Tuesday.

This year's show will carry out the "good news" theme. Programs are in the form of miniature newspapers and will be distributed by members of Alpha Xi Beta sorority in the prologue.

Acts of the Show

Alpha Sigma Tau fraternity will open the show with their act, "Voodoo Nights", featuring a chorus of 25 voices singing songs of the negro. Special musical arrangements and dancing have been secured. A dancing trio and solo number together with a vocal quartette are featured.

Theta Chi fraternity with "Krazy Kat" as their offering will sponsor the first short number. The act is based on the antics and characteristics of "Krazy Kat" of comic strip fame. "Idea in Blue", an act in a colonial setting, presented by Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, will feature singing and dancing that will follow a blues theme.

Kappa Delta will give "On the Bowery", a short act number.

The act is a story of New York bowery life and is arranged entirely in tap steps.

"Retrospection in Rhythm" is the title of the Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity act which is built up around a dance band in the setting of a medieval castle. A soloist and a singing and dancing chorus are also to be included.

"Fantasy" Gamma Phi Act

Gamma Phi Beta sorority will give "Fantasy". It is a story of the musings of a pianist on the themes of evening, night, dawn, and morning. A singing octette, a dancing trio, a cello soloist, and a tap dancing chorus will be included.

"Shooting Star", the act of Sigma Phi Delta fraternity, features crack marksmanship and rifle shooting. Glen Schoessow, State's rifle ace, is to be featured.

Delta Kappa Sigma fraternity will present "Number Please" with a scene laid in a telephone office. Female impersonations and comedy lines together with a finale of five grand pianos and an orchestra complete the act.

Meredith Mattingly will give a solo tumbling comedy act for the YMCA. Phi Omega Phi sorority in "Syncoated Super" present an act built up around a singing trio with a tap dancing trio and a dancing chorus.

The finale will incorporate all the acts and will add the men's and women's glee clubs to the Brevities cast.

TICKET SALES

The ticket sales contest closes tomorrow at one sharp. Any tickets out will be charged to the party in possession of them and will not be credited toward the winning of the cup.

Unsold general admission tickets go on sale tomorrow afternoon at Sherdah's.

A special matinee has been arranged for Fargo high school students. School is to be dismissed at 2:45 in order that the preps may attend. Besides the afternoon performance there will be an evening show on Monday and Tuesday starting at 8.

The method of judging has been announced by the committee in charge and is as follows: Three judges will see the Monday matinee, five different judges will view the show in the evening, and five others, making a total of thirteen, will judge Tuesday evening. The decisions are to be sealed and collected by the manager. They will be opened in the presence of the manager, the president of Blue Key, and a member of Pan-Hellenic.

The entire show is under the direction of Homer B. Huntoon and is managed by Henry Presler. Curt Ball is in charge of the ticket sales which close tomorrow. The publicity is being directed by Amos Wallum. James Koenen is in charge of the stage for the Blue Key production. Musical arrangements are prepared by Birch Horton. Chester Comeau is in charge of the scenery construction and is acting as stage carpenter.

OUR BARS OF SOAP

Lorado Taft in his lecture here on Tuesday evening conclusively proved his statement "that the beginning of appreciation is learning how difficult a thing is."

As we sat there and watched with what apparent ease he modeled a mound of clay into something recognizable and expressive we truly appreciated not only his finished piece of art, but also the difficulty of his task.

A statement such as this has a wider application than merely to that of the art of sculpturing. For example, we doubt if many students ever give much thought to how hard it is for an instructor to teach them anything. They sit back impatiently and criticize the method of instruction without ever attempting to appreciate the teacher's problem. Naturally there is also the other side to consider—we wonder how many professors realize how vaguely and uninterestingly they present subjects—yet they never fail to condemn the student who can't quite follow and, in fact, often carried away by enthusiasm for their subject they fail to appreciate its difficulties.

This criticism is applicable to all human actions. No one can realize how hard it is to be a successful speaker until one has spoken to an audience. You can't even appreciate the pitfalls of editorial writing until you've written one or two—and so, perhaps, we should all experiment a bit more on our bars of soap and, if we fail, gather up the chips, a more truly appreciative person given less to destructive criticism.

WELCOME NODAKS

Our guests, the University of North Dakota. Again we will meet them on the basketball court. Our hospitality should leave no doubt in the minds of the Sioux that we have a school down here.

The rivalry may be the bitterest imaginable but after the games are over we can get acquainted and enjoy a little companionship with our fellow Dakotans. We are all citizens of the same state and that is not to be forgotten.

We welcome you, Nodaks. May your weekend here be pleasant.

BISON BREVITIES

The finest vaudeville show presented in the history of the state is the promise of Blue Key. The show is insured a packed house both nights with the tickets nearly sold by noon today. The show is destined to make history.

Without the support of the entire school, the sororities, fraternities, faculty, and other groups the show would have been impossible. Skilled management insures a fine production.

The stage is set, everything is in readiness, bringing on the Bison Brevities of 1931.

Student Opinion

In a recent editorial in The Spectrum, mention was made of the change of organization in the University of Chicago. This editorial stated that as yet little is known about the plan. Thinking that a certain portion of the student body of our institution would be interested in knowing something about the scheme, the writer went to available sources to secure information. This discussion will deal only with the general idea. Before going into the discussion it may be mentioned here that the ideas held at University of Chicago are by no means entirely new, but their organization has brought the thing to a head.

The educational objectives are well stated in a remark made by Dean C. S. Boucher, which follows:

We have two primary objectives in view. First, we desire to protect the superior student against unreasonable lock-step, perfunctory, and time-serving requirements, and to make it possible for him to progress as rapidly in his educational development as his capacity will permit. Secondly, we desire to set up a minimum standard of educational achievement which is not provided in the routine course credit system. We desire to give meaning to the Bachelor's degree: that the student has passed through a real educational development; that he has acquired a respectable amount of general education, and has mastered the factual information, the methods and techniques of at least one large field of thought to the extent that he can marshal the materials and subject-matter of the field, organize it, correlate it, integrate it, and use it in an intelligent and purposeful fashion.

These being the educational objectives, machinery has been set up to bring them into reality. The undergraduate college of Arts, Literature and Science is to be divided into "the College" and the "four Divisions". The "College" corresponds to what is commonly called "Junior College", including what we think of as Freshman and Sophomore years, while the "Divisions" are of the "Senior College" level. The "four upper Divisions" are: the Humanities, which includes Philosophy, Art, Comparative Religion, Oriental Languages, New Testament, Comparative Philology, Greek, Latin, Romance, Germanics, and English; the Social Sciences, which includes Geography, Home Economics, Anthropology, Sociology, History, Political Science, Economics, Education and Psychology; the Physical sciences, which includes Geology, Chemistry, Physics, Astronomy, Military Science, and Mathematics; and the Biological Sciences, which includes the Graduate School of Medicine, Pathology, Hygiene and Bacteriology, Physiological Chemistry, Physiology, Anatomy, Zoology, Physical Culture and Botany.

The functions of the "College" are to provide appropriate opportunities for each student to acquire the minimum essentials (and as much more as he may desire) of a general education, and to prepare himself adequately for work in the Division or Professional School in which he may elect to pursue his advanced study. Whenever a student has acquired a respectable minimum of general education and some special preparation for advanced work, he may leave the "College" and begin work in any one of the "upper Divisions" which he may choose. The measurement of these attainments, necessary for admission to a higher "Division" for advanced study, will be by examinations and NOT by course credits. A student may, with the consent of his Dean take these examinations at any time they may be offered, which will probably be at the end of each quarter.

After leaving the "College", the student selects one of the "Divisions" for concentration as his major field. Though each student in an upper division is expected to concentrate fairly intensively on some primary interest in the division he may have chosen, he is also encouraged to pursue secondary interests in other "Divisions". For example, a student who is interested primarily in Mathematics or Physics, or Bacteriology, is encouraged to cross over into the Humanities Division for work in Literature or the Fine Arts, if he is interested in doing so. If a student wishes to secure only a general education without specializing, he may take his exit by passing the examinations, at which time a certificate will be given indicating such completion.

As mentioned previously, exit from the College is NOT based upon the amount of time one has spent and NOT upon the number of credits one has piled up, but rather is based upon the comprehensive examination which is to be taken on the field of general Education, when the student and the Dean feel that the student has taken on sufficient to make a respectable showing on the examination. This will permit the student to go as rapidly as his ability will permit, supposedly doing away with the undesirable "lock-step" procedure now prevalent. As to the nature of the examinations which will be given, Dean Boucher says:

The battery of examinations administered at the end of the College period for admission to an upper Division for advanced study will include at least three types, and in some instances four types: the new type of multiple choice and short answer, the essay or discussion type, the problem type, and in doubtful cases a supplementary oral examination. In the administration of the problem type we propose to give the student a problem in the field of major interest, supply him with all the books or laboratory equipment, or both, that he may think necessary for the solution of the problem, and then give him a day or perhaps even two days in which to work out and write up his solution, discussion, and conclusions. We believe that no one of these types is adequate for all purposes; we believe that at least three, and in some instances, four types are necessary to test the different forms of mastery which the student should demonstrate that he has attained, for admission to advanced study, and to give the student full opportunity to exhibit his powers.

This system does not infer that examinations will be done away with within the courses, for the instructors will carry on their class procedure as they see fit, but the examinations will be used only as instructional devices, not for the purpose of granting exit from the course or the awarding of credit. Quarterly reports will be made by the instructors to the Dean to indicate the progress of the students. Dean Boucher make a rather significant statement, which follows:

The divorce of the examining, marking and credit awarding function from the instructional function is certain to establish more wholesome relationships between the instructor and student. The student will immediately recognize that he and the instructor are working in a common cause—the educational development of the student—that they are not opponents in the game, but are team-mates, both striving to prepare the student to put himself successfully against the examining board.

At the present time, the plan is to use the new scheme only in going from the "College" to the "Divisions", not for graduation with a Bachelor's degree. Eventually they expect to apply it not only to the Bachelor's degree, but also to the Master's and Doctor's degree. They expect to start this reorganization with the starting of the Fall term, 1931.

The plan will be watched with enthusiasm by persons charged with the carrying on of higher education, for it is designed to remove some of the evils of our present-day educational organizations. Perhaps it may be classed as a "noble experiment".

squad hard the first part of the week and allowed them to rest on Thursday. The remainder of the squad is reported to be in excellent condition for the fray and ready to force the Sioux to earn every point they make. Coach Clem Letich will bring a band of basketballers who will be determined to annex the state championship on the opening night. The Bison will be just as determined to win both games and gain a tie for state laurels.

Lineup Not Named

The Bison has released no lineup for the encounter but Leo May, George Fairhead, Donald Arthur, Walt Olson, Viv McKay, Bill McDonald, August Schwartz, and Blair Seitz will undoubtedly see plenty of action before the series draws to a close.

It was announced Wednesday that Fred Felber, star University center, might be eligible for these games. He was announced ineligible earlier in the season on account of scholastic difficulties.

Jarrett, DuChene, and Schave, the former Grand Forks high school combination, will be given a chance to show their wares before the local fans. Gillson, Lowe, Wexler, Secord, and Webster will also help in trying to down the Bison.

Freshmen Play
Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Baby Bison will encounter the Sioux Paposes for the second time this season. The score in the other engagement was in favor of the University team, but Coach Lowe expects his band of basket tossers to gain revenge in this battle.

Conny Picks Six

A select squad of six North Dakota State College sharpshooters, the same team that defeated the University rifle squad in a shoulder to shoulder match on their own range with the margin of 126 points when the Bison invaded the Sioux camp two weeks ago, will shoot a similar match on the Bison range Friday afternoon at one o'clock.

Members of the Yellow and Green rifle group include Alvin Lee, Glen Schoessow, Lawrence Ryan, Otto Wolhowe, Ed Comm, and Wayne Curtis, according to Captain J. B. Conny, coach. The scores of the highest ranking five from both school teams will be counted in the competition.

ALPHA KAPPA PHI

George Mayoue, Al Severson, and Leonard Severson were guests at the Alpha Kappa Phi house Wednesday evening.

Owen Bertleson, Ortonville, Minn., was a guest Wednesday evening. He was en route to Bemidji.

ENGINEERS CLUB MEETING

A meeting of the Engineers Club was held Wednesday night and a film was shown named, "Blasting the Waterways of America", which showed the deepening and widening of waterways by the use of dynamite. After the film, Wayne Curtis, a member of the junior class of engineers, gave a talk entitled, "Preservation of woods by artificial methods." Following the talk, lunch was served.
