Haile Chisholm To Receive Honorary Artisans Degree

College Council Votes Award Of Masters To Veteran Iron Worker

RECEPTION, DINNER ARE PLANNED FOR TUESDAY

Has Gained National Fame As Metal Designer Craftsman

Haile Chisholm, grand old man of American iron workers and instructor of forge work in the school of engineering, will receive the honorary degree of Master of Artisans, Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock, in the Little Country Theatre. The College Council voted its approval at their last meeting.

Chisholm is 79 years old and has taught many generations of State College students the art of iron working. His work has gained nationwide recognition especially his Roosevelt memorial gate at the entrance grounds surrounding the Roosevelt Lo... Bismarck. On the campus his work is found in the fixtures and motto of the Lincoln Log Cabin and the massive candeliers in the cabin annex. The fireplace fixtures in the Home Economics Practice House, the screen and andiron in the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity house, and the ornamental exterior iron work of the Theta Chi fraternity house are also examples of his work.

The presentation of the honorary degree will be followed by a reception in the public speaking department to which all college students and friends are invited. Following the reception, Chisholm is to be honored by a dinner in the Lincoln Log Cabin. Among the guests at the dinner will be Lorado Taft, famous sculptor, representatives from the student body and faculty, and officials of the City of Fargo and Cass County.

Scientific Research Group Is Organized

Sigma Xi Club Has 23 Men On State Campus In Local Chapter

To promote interest in scientific research among the faculty and student body here, definite steps have been taken to organize a Sigma Xi club on the campus. In a recent meeting at the college of members of the national organization it was decided that a local club was desirable, and a committee on organization composed of C. E. Mangels, cereal chemist; Dr. C. L. Swisher, professor of physics, and Dr. H. C. Hanson, professor of botany, was appointed.

The purpose of the national society of Sigma Xi, points out Mr. Mangels, is to foster and promote scientific research. The 24 members of the national organization now on the College campus were elected at colleges and universities where they took undergraduate and graduate work. A list of members follows:

A. J. Pinckney, J. E. Chapman, L. R. Waldron, D. J. Griswold, H. C. Hanson, A. D. Stoesz, A. K. Smith, P. F. Trowbridge, John C. Doerr, S. A. Tyler, C. E. Mangels, W. E. Brentzel, C. L. Swisher, L. M. Roderick, F. J. Brinley, A. D. Whedon, E. G. Booth, H. L. Walster, G. A. Lindsey, C. I. Nelson, J. A. Munro, and J. F. Wyckoff.

NOTICE!

General admission Bison Brevities tickets may be exchanged for reserved seat tickets at Sherdahl's. Curtis Ball.

VETERAN COYOTE TEAM HERE TONIGHT

These are the veterans on whom the Coyotes place their hope for a North Central conference basketball title this year. Their reception in the hands of the Bison warriors tonight will determine largely the conference positions of both teams. It is a significant fact to note that Root is the only regular who is under six feet in height.

South Dakota University Will Show Tall, Rangy Basketball Quintet To Saalymen

BLUE KEY ELECTS THREE NEW MEMBERS

Because of outstanding service on the campus, three men students were elected to Blue Key, national honorary service fraternity, at a meeting at 5 p. m., Thursday. Floyd Viel, junior in science and literature, Fargo; Clark Fredrikson, senior in science and literature, Davenport; and Roderick McMillen, junior in agriculture, Bentley, are the students elected to Blue Key membership.

High Point Groups Receive Flat Prizes

Members Of Delta Psi Kappa Make Arrangements For Bridge Tourney

Highest team of every four entered by each fraternity and sorority in the Delta Psi Kappa Bridge Tournament to be held in Ceres Hall at 2:30 p. m., Saturday, will be awarded a flat prize. The high fraternity and sorority team will each win a grand prize which will be something usable in the organization's house.

Each fraternity and sorority has entered at least four teams. During the five rounds the men will play North and South positions and the girls, East and West. At the end of each round the men will progress.

Members of Delta Psi Kappa: Myrna Reynolds, Velva Rudd, Minerva Streed, Lillian Wangness, Ellen Kelly, and Bernice Streit are in charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. Fay Smith, Mrs. Casey Finnegan, Mrs. Robert Lowe, and Miss Dorothy Hatch, patronesses, will be guests.

STEVE ADKINS, ROY STEWART, WILLIAM BUCK, JOE CRAKES, LEROY ERICSSON ARE ALL ABOVE SIX FOOT MARK.

That the Bison basketballers will be up against a team of tall ball handlers when they meet the South Dakota University Coyotes tonight can be readily realized from the lineup of Coyote team men and reserves.

Among the regular team men are Steve Adkins, forward, 6 feet 11 inches; Roy Stewart, 6 feet 3 inches; and William Buck, 6 feet 2 inches, centers; Joe Crakes, guard, 6 feet 2 inches; and Leroy Ericsson, guard, 6 feet 1 inch.

First line reserves include: Robert Walker, guard, 6 feet 1 inch; and Giles Maloney, another guard, who stands 6 feet above the floor level.

Berton Root, regular forward, is the only member of the team shorter than 6 feet. Root is 5 feet 10 inches in height. Three substitute forwards, Lyle Espe, Robert Green, and Merton Tice, are the same height as Root.

The midget of the squad, at least in height, is Kenneth Hoppell, substitute guard, who, though he tips the scale at 180 pounds, is 5 feet 9 inches tall.

TICKET MANAGERS TO BE CHECKED BY BALL

Ticket managers of the organizations competing in the drive for the Bison Brevities sales award will meet this afternoon with Curt Ball, head of the ticket committee for the show. The meeting will take place in the library of the architecture department.

The committee is anxious to ascertain the exact number of tickets sold and to supply those who are selling.

COSMOPOLITANS SKATE AFTER REGULAR MEET

After the regular meeting Monday evening the Cosmopolitan Club will have a Roller Skating Party at the rink in the basement of the Crystal Ballroom. Special rates are being given and all non-fraternity students are invited. Those wishing to go will meet at the "Y" at 7:30 sharp.

Brevities Costumes Inspected For Show

Reserved Seats Go On Sale For Third Student Vaudeville Performance

Costumes for the Bison Brevities were inspected last night in the reading room of the college Y. M. C. A., at which time all the individual characters were criticized. The list of critics included Pearl Dinan, dean of women; Prof. John E. Doerr, Miss Nancy Elliott, Miss Esther Latzke, and Miss Adelaide Laurie.

Besides the student ticket sales contestants, Sherdahl's are equipped to furnish both the general admission, and reserved section tickets for the show, it is announced by Henry Presler, general manager of the presentation.

NEWMAN CLUB

The regular business meeting of the Newman Club will be held next Sunday evening, Feb. 22, at the K. C. hall at 5 o'clock sharp.

A short program has been arranged. Mary Healy and Frances Kingsbury are on the lunch committee to serve supper at 6 o'clock.

State Remains In Pennant Chase If Southerners Lose

Walt Olson Returns To Lineup After Leg Injury In University Game

ROOT, ADKINS LEAD SOUTH DAKOTA QUINT

Fairhead, Arthur, Thomasson, May To Start Game For Saalwaechter

Bison hopes for a North Central Conference basketball pennant will be elevated or dashed in the local armory tonight when the Saalymen battle a winning Coyote aggregation from South Dakota University.

No conference defeats and only one setback during this season is the record of the veteran Coyote team, holder of the conference championship last year and now far in the front in this year's race. The University of Nebraska squad, rated as one of the best in the Big Six conference, is the only team to dominate the Coyotes, and that by a single point, thus far this year.

Olson to Play
The announcement that Walt Olson, regular guard and accurate basketball-shooter, will be back in the lineup of the North Dakota team tonight, comes as a ray of light on the State College horizon. Walt suffered a leg injury during the conference game at Grand Forks last Friday which threatened to keep him out of the basketball court for several weeks. Leal Thomasson is scheduled to continue his fine work as stationary defense man.

The starter at center on the Bison team will most likely be Leo May, the only senior basketballer, who has turned in a fine record during every game of the season. Bob Weir, giant sophomore reserve, who has been trying out both in center and guard positions during the weekly practice, has some fine possibilities to show action

Male Trio Appears Before Convocation

Mediocre Program Presented By Three Pleasing Voices Wednesday

Convocation was held Wednesday morning for the purpose of presenting the Apollo Male Trio, a group which combined singing with instrumental novelties, using the celebrated Apollophone, a combination of xylophone and marimba, the saxophone, piano and flute.

They presented a program of semi-classical and popular numbers, including "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise", "Bye Bye Blues", "Sing Something Simple", and more of like calibre.

The program was of very mediocre quality, its redeeming feature being the rather pleasing voices of the trio and a certain smooth vaudeville-like patter. It was fairly well received by the audience, for in spite of its lack of any artistry or depth, it was rather amusing.

The trio is managed by Frank Tierman, manager and baritone of the Tiffany Quartet for the past five years.

SCENERY COMMITTEE WILL BEGIN PAINTING

The scenery committee for the project of the class in advanced play production, "He Who Gets Slapped", will begin work on scene painting on Saturday. The powerful drama will be presented March 13 and 14.

The committee in charge is headed by Robert Sanderson. Katherine Lindley and Frances Wright are assisting.

WE REBEL

We are so exceedingly tired of being preached at, sermonized and moralized about as the representative youth of America that at last we rise in revolt. With only six percent of the people of college age going to college and only ten percent of the six percent getting a degree, we believe we are above the average and hardly representative. Yet in almost every popular magazine from the "American" to the more intellectual "Atlantic Monthly"—at some time or other a startling bold-face title tells us that college people are doomed, that we have no religion, that we are a bunch of snobs and that most of us are wasting our time.

We believe that while we may not have any creed that most of us have some sort of a religion. It certainly isn't our fault if we haven't, for the first requisite the church elders recently demanded of a new minister in a large church in the city, was that he be young, "peppy", and able to draw college people to his services. We take courage from the fact that we are thought worth having. Those same churchmen were not aware, perhaps, that the personality of a minister of a much smaller church in the city draws young people of every denomination to his home every Sunday evening. To be sure these meetings are not given over to praying or the reading of Biblical passages but merely to talking. Yet those of the circle go back Sunday evening after Sunday evening and talk under his able direction and guidance.

It has recently become the fashion to argue the good and bad points of the fraternity system in the country's magazines. It is neither the place nor the purpose to condemn or defend the system at this time. However, we can't help being amused at the personal interviews granted these writers by campus leaders.

The unsuspecting public does not know that when such a person comes to the campus that every fraternity and sorority makes an effort to royally entertain him, to exert a charm, and to make the best possible impression. After such treatment the inspector goes away and writes gloriously of the advantages of the system. On the other hand some man will slip unseen onto the campus and talk to a couple of "bitter barles" and go away filled with righteous indignation at the snobbery of all college men and women. It is for this reason that we are anxiously waiting an expression of the popular reaction to the closing of several national fraternity houses at Michigan the other day for having liquor on the premises. Make no mistake, there will be a reaction broadcast throughout the country within the next few months.

For the third accusation we will have to admit that many college people are wasting their time. However, we don't believe that this is being done consciously, but rather as a result of circumstances and as a result of the age we live in. For example, we are more or less forced into a standard pattern whether we will or not. We are told that an educated person should know this and should study that and like obedient children we do that very thing although we may never get any "kick" out of it for its own sake.

Perhaps the sanest bit of wisdom we have heard since entering college was given by an English professor the other day. His advice was to go and see Greta Garbo rather than Ethel Barrymore if we enjoyed Garbo more, to read a wild-west novel rather than something that bored us; in other words, to be individual.

And so we rebel—and again we repeat that we are exceedingly tired. We resort to optimism and believe that a better day is coming when we will be pointed out as the six percent in whom America can place her greatest hope.

NEWSPAPER PUBLICITY

To publish all of the adverse news of college that is possible seems to be the aim of the press. We refer to the great amount of publicity given recently in regard to the raiding of fraternity houses at the University of Michigan. The work went even so far as to print photographs of some of the houses in question. While the news was undoubtedly true, the public receives the wrong impression of college life from that sort of news.

The parents of the hundreds of thousands of college students throughout the nation are led to believe that that sort of thing is common with all fraternities. We do not want to give the impression that we favor drinking among the Greek circles, nor do we want to say that such a thing does not occur. What we do want to say is that the public is given an unfavorable disposition toward college through such stories.

The press is not alone to blame for the prevalent idea of college. Magazines that profess to print college wit are also partly responsible. Impossible stories are read that are supposed to be representative of college, but instead of pictures of college life they are disfigured brain children of a certain kind of demented being. Sex and drink play only a minute role in the colleges, yet those things are the ones given the largest mentions in the press and humor magazines.

We can not expect to outlaw adverse news and fiction, but we can do much in convincing the people that scandal is not the major part of college. We can tell the people that students are not ruffians nor racketeers, and we can tell them that the college men and women are as gentlemanly and ladylike as the members of the lodges in any home town.

A PROHIBITION REPORT

The findings and recommendations of the Wickersham Law Enforcement Commission on prohibition received only passing notice in a few college newspapers with college editors assuming a critical or jocose attitude.

One college daily comments, "Speaking of the Wickersham report, in reviewing the reactions, the best suggestion to our mind is that President Hoover now appoint another commission to determine just what the report means."

The "Bucknellian" observes, "As college students interested in the problems confronting our government, we are amazed at such a weak and indelicate report as concocted by the Wickersham committee on prohibition being submitted to Congress. Why the eleven members of the committee failed so miserably in their task is beyond us."

"On the fact of it, the report seems to have been hurriedly gotten together, as if in answer to the demand that the commission snow something for its 18 months labor . . ."

"The one good point about the report is that it has brought forth President Hoover's definite dry stand; we have been waiting long the president to declare himself one way or the other.

"All in all, the report rather shakes our faith in the sagacity and judgment of our elders."

The Tulane "Hullabaloo" interpreted the report with a parody applied to its Alma Mater as follows:—

"The Flicker-Sham committee appointed by President Dinwiddie to investigate Tulane University submitted a million page report today after two years of study. The committee of twelve urged retention of the university, but 13 of the group submitted minority reports favoring modification to admit light wine and beers. One committeeman, however, advocated repeal at once. President Dinwiddie in his message to the Board of Administrators, said he wouldn't stand for repeal.

"It's a noble experiment", he said. "All we need is a new faculty, a flock of new buildings, some equipment and a student body and we'll be setting pretty. As for this light wines and beer proposition, it's a lot of blah; people that want light wines and beer are effeminate. What this country needs is real, strong, hard drink. We'll be all softies if they have their way."

IN BRIEF

AT HOME

Battleship "North Dakota", built in 1910 at Quincy, Mass., is up for sale. In accordance with the terms of the London Treaty, this ship must be disposed of by Uncle Sam by the last day of 1936. Here's the chance to get a racing yacht at a bargain. It might beat the Shamrock, at that.

Michigan legislator investigates rumor that fake warrants were used to raid the five Michigan University fraternity houses in a liquor raid at Ann Arbor last week.

Louis Wolheim, famous star of the "silver sheet", died Wednesday of cancer of the stomach, immediately following an operation. Wolheim will be especially remembered in "All Quiet on the Western Front", "The Silver Horde", "Square Shoulders", and "The Ship from Shanghai".

Led by Senator Sheppard of Texas, co-author of the Eighteenth Amendment, and Senator Morrison of North Carolina, Democrat senators were served with notice on the leaders of their party that they would combat any attempt of the wets to dominate the national convention of 1932.

ABROAD

Spain—Encouraged by King Alfonso, Admiral Juan Bautista Anzar succeeds in forming a new cabinet, thus avoiding for the moment another military dictatorship or a republican revolution. The new government plans to hold a national parliamentary election in June.

Palestine—Arabs, very much dissatisfied with the recent favorable position taken by Prime Minister MacDonald of England toward the Jews of Palestine, are to vote on a boycott of Jews in Palestine. This is the latest development growing out of the famous Lord Balfour agreement, which furnished the initiative for the Zionist movement in Jewry.

India—On Tuesday, Feb. 17, Gandhi, leader of the Nationalist Movement in India, had a four hour private conference with Lord Irwin, British Viceroy to India. Gandhi appeared optimistic over the outcome of the chat which he had at Lord Irwin's invitation. The Viceroy is attempting to persuade Gandhi to call off the Passive Resistance Campaign in a Boycott of British trade, and asks him to co-operate with England in the endeavor to carry out the plan for India's future welfare, as outlined by Premier MacDonald at the recent Round Table conference in London. Gandhi, however, insists that economic freedom must accompany political freedom.

Italy—A bill to abolish the jury system in the Courts of Assizes is being presented to the Italian Senate and House of Deputies.

France—Official France is rejoicing in the successful termination of efforts to secure a $72,000,000 International Loan for Germany. This loan, made on security of the German National Railways, will help stave off Germany's having to ask for a moratorium in reparations payments.

Germany—Berlin police ban the use of steins of beer at all political gatherings. Due to the past use of the steins as very effective weapons in political arguments, beer will in the future be served in paper cups at all political meetings. The same ruling stipulates that all chairs be screwed to the floor and that no bottles may be carried into the meeting halls.

"Y" TEAMS RUN UP HIGH SCORES

Individual Scoring Records In Vogue As Leads Are Changed

High scores were prevalent in the "Y" league basketball tussles of the past week, in which the Comets pulled up to the Bedbugs in the won and lost column. The Bedbugs suffered their first loss Monday night.

In Wednesday's engagements the Farmhouse quirted down the Bearcats 32 to 18. The Bluejays eked out a 23 to 21 win over the Beavers, and the Comets surprised the league leading Bedbugs with a 23 to 22 victory.

On Tuesday evening the Bluejay-Farmhouse tilt was postponed on account of sickness. The Bedbugs smothered the Bearcats 50 to 4 while the Comets were trouncing the Beavers in two uninteresting games.

Some very good individual scoring performances were turned in by Stefferud, Spalsbury, Aandahl, Larson, and McDaniels.

Referees: Schoenfelder and Forbes. Standings to date are:

	W. L.	Pct.
Bedbugs	4 1	800
Comets	4 1	800
Bluejays	3 1	750
Farmhouse	2 2	500
Beavers	1 4	200
Bearcats	0 5	000

STATE REMAINS IN PENNANT CHASE IF SOUTHERNERS LOSE

against the South Dakota boys before the final gun tonight.

Regulars at Forward
George Fairhead, who leads the conference in individual scoring, and Donald Arthur, whose speed and accuracy distinguished him in games with St. Thomas and the North Dakota University, it is believed, will get first call at the forward posts. However, two sophomores, Viv McKay and Bill McDonald, will make strong bids for the wing positions.

A first line forward reserve was lost to the Bison in the person of "Ikky" Nordstrom, who is likely to be forced out of the play for the remainder of the season because of a deep leg gash, cut by low bleachers at the Sioux-Bison game last Saturday.

With practically all the lettermen from last year's conference winning team back and more experienced than ever, South Dakota University has one of the best teams seen in the North Central conference for several years.

Root, Adkins Star
Steve Adkins and Bert Root, both all-conference forwards last year, the former known as the best scorer in Coyote history, are the wingmen on whom the brunt of the South Dakota offensive drives will be placed tonight.

Two giant Coyote players, Stewart and Buck, both of whom tower over six feet, will vie with each other for the center position against the State College basketballers. Leroy Ericsson, Robert Walker, and Joe Crakes are the three leading candidates for the South Dakota guard positions. Each has shown exceptional defensive ability and will very likely have opportunities to show their playing skill before the final gun ends the embroglio.

South Dakota will have a strong group of reserves with the forwards, Lyle Espe, Robert Greene, Merton Tice, and two guards, Kenneth Hoppell and Giles Maloney.

Tonight's fray promises to be one of the most exciting of the whole basketball season.

BY CHAMPLIN

The two conference representatives from North Dakota will forget their particular rivalry this weekend when the league leading Coyotes invade this territory to play the Bison and Nodaks for the most important contests of the season's race. If they win one game they are assured of at least a tie for first place. But if they are beaten by both of the North quints, the title will rest in this state providing the Nodaks are given credit for their first victory over the Bison, and can win the second game. If the Bison come through with two wins from the University and the Coyotes lose both of this week's games, the title will be divided between the Bison and the Coyotes. It requires a good many ifs to get the title up this way, but that's what we have.

With the Bison as their first opponents on the northern jaunt South Dakota will be up against considerable difficulty in leaving the armory tonight with an unblemished conference record. The fact that they defeated the Bison by a considerable margin on their home floor earlier in the season does not necessarily give them an advantage here, for the Bison are quite capable of upsetting the dope.

Tomorrow night the Injuns from the normal will no doubt have a chance to beat these six foot Coyotes. We hope they do—it might give their "sports" editor something to write about.

At Valley City last Monday the yearling hockey team ran into one of the best in the state when they were defeated 4 to 1. It was rather hard for both teams to get into the same bathtub, and every once in a while the puck would find its way clear of the heap of players and hobble into the net to give the Valley team a counter.

Whether the first game between the Bison and the Nodaks will be replayed depends upon the outcome of the games with South Dakota University. If either North Dakota quint has a chance for the title the game will probably be played over. However, if South Dakota cinches the top position for herself there would be no advantage in scheduling the extra contest.

Did you know that our competent marksmen trainer has some new pupils? The Fargo city commission has asked him to give the Fargo police a few pointers on the handling and firing of a pistol. Believe it or not he found that he had some very good talent with which to work.

Mr. "Casey" Finnegan evidently thought he hadn't done enough by arranging such an attractive football schedule for next fall, for he has already started on the 1932 schedule by signing for a game with the Army.

Ruth Boerth Stands Out As Leading Performer
In Comedy

With almost professional finish and poise the exceptional cast which interpreted "Holiday" presented that clever three-act comedy to two unusually large and appreciative audiences on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings under the direction of Miss Alice Bender.

The play, a sophisticated drama satirizing the importance of Big Business in American Life, is one of the most successful of Philip Barry's outstanding productions, and played with great success on Broadway for nearly two seasons, and then filmed with Ann Harding and Mary Astor playing the leading feminine roles, and was then judged one of the ten most outstanding pictures of last year. It is one of the most modern things which has been attempted in this theatre.

The cast, headed by Ruth Boerth as Linda Seton, charming, vivacious and unconventional daughter of the wealthy Seton family; Leonard Luther as Johnny Case, the young man who refused to conform to the rigid rules for living set up by those around him; and Elene Weeks as Julia Seton, the uncompromising and conventional sister of Linda, who is engaged to marry Johnny Case, sustained very good interpretations. They were strongly supported by Malve McKeane as Ned; Mart Vogel, Edward Seton; Ruth Whitney, Mrs. Seton Cram; Bruce Robertson, her husband; Helen Jensen and Bob Olsen, Nick and Susan Potter; Jack Thysell, Henry; and Dorothea Olson, Delia.

Set in the drawing room and playroom of the Seton mansion on Fifth Avenue, the theme concerned itself with the engagement of Julia to Case, who, finally, finding himself overwhelmed by the conventionality which he was supposed to become a part of, left for Europe on his holiday, followed by Linda, who really understood him.

It was generally conceded by those viewing the production that it had an artistry and spirit which is most unusual in amateur presentations.

The Luger Furniture store, Herbst Department store, and Stone's Music store cooperated with the management in making the play possible. It was sponsored by the Edwin Booth Dramatic Club as its winter term play.

Architects Receive
New Etching Press

An etching press, complete in every detail, was installed last week in the press room of the architectural department. It was purchased from the Northcraft Engraving Company of Minneapolis and is the only press of its kind in this section of the country. The machine is a late model and makes a valuable addition to the department of Architecture of the North Dakota State College.

With this press, 5,000 pounds of pressure per square inch may be exerted on the plates to be etched, while the press itself weighs close to a half ton. Mr. Paul Jones, instructor of the etching class in the department of Architecture, stated that with this machine, the students will be in a position to turn out productions of their individual etchings which are now being prepared on brass plates.

Plans For Wesley
College Building
Being Completed

Proposed Structure May Be Erected Before The Fall term

The North Dakota State Alumni Board of Control passed a resolution favoring the construction of a building to house the Wesley School of Religion on the site east of Ceres Hall it was announced late yesterday by Everett J. Wallum, alumni secretary.

The school of religion owns the five lots on which it is planned to construct the building. The lots are valued at $15,000 and are the property of Wesley College. Besides this property, the college owns other real estate in Fargo valued at another $15,000.

The estimated cost of the proposed building is between $35,000 and $45,000. Dr. Walter Airheart, head of the college on the campus, will spend the entire spring term in securing subscriptions and contributions to the fund. He has been granted a leave of absence from his college work. Dr. Airheart is allowing $10,000 for interest on the investment, deferred subscription payments, and the necessary maintenance. His first objective is to secure enough money to carry the building for the first four years.

The small building, 44x65, will be constructed of red brick trimmed in gray sandstone and will have three stories. The second floor will be divided into an office, two class rooms, and an apartment for the supervisor. The first floor just above the street level will provide small apartments for college people; the revenue will be used to take care of the maintenance.

A small lecture hall, seating perhaps 175, people will occupy the third floor of the structure. It will be used for chapel and small convocations.

Construction of the building will begin as soon as subscriptions and promises insure its completion. If it is possible, Dr. Airheart hopes that the building will be completed by next fall.
