Dugout Remodeling Decided By Board

Modernistic Plan of Decoration is Included in List of Attractions

Plans for remodeling the interior of the "Y" Dugout are underway as a result of a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Board and Cabinet at the State College last night.

The changes to be made, upon which work commenced today, under the direction of Carl Albrecht, president of the organization, includes a modernistic and novel plan of wall decoration. The design has not yet been announced but Mr. Albrecht said it would be in harmony with the modern trend of ornamentation for college gathering places. Other alterations will be the installation of a ping-pong table, and the providing of space where chess may be played. If sufficient interest is manifested, a series of chess and checker tournaments will be held during the winter.

The building will continue to be a place favored by men, however. No action was taken upon a proposal that the recreation room of the structure be fitted with tables for the sipping of tea.

DRAMATIC GROUP PROGRAMS ARE SET

The executive committee of the Dramatic section of the college Y. W. C. A. met Wednesday, Nov. 12, and worked out programs for the next two meetings. The group holds its meetings on the first and third Wednesdays of each month, at 4:30.

The following program was decided upon for Wednesday, Nov. 19: The Chinese theater, Dorothea Ward; resume of a Chinese play, Katherine Lindley; reading "The Hazing of the Valiant", guest reader, Clark Fredrikson; current topics, Margaret Dadey.

At the following meeting, Wednesday, Dec. 3, Callie Berrigan will talk on the Hindu theater; Dorice Bugge, Tagore; Genevieve Skinner, a reading; Eula Miller and Edna Sullivan, current topics.

COMMUNITY PROGRAM PLANNED AT DAVENPORT

A typical community program will be given by the Little Country Theater Players at Davenport, N. D., Nov. 18, at 8 o'clock. This program will include all types of entertainment that may be utilized by any community.

Leonard Friberg will be "Master of Ceremonies." He will give a talk about the "Neighborhood" and its social value. Several orchestra numbers will be given under the direction of Miss Roseltha Nesheim. An exhibit centering around an "Old Family Album" will be the feature of the program. Miss Lillian Flatner, who is chairman of the committee on the exhibit, promises an outstanding entertainment. Dance numbers, pantomimes, a one-act play, and a "Make-up" demonstration are included in the program for the enjoyment of the Davenport citizens.

State Judging Team Leaves For Chicago To Compete In Show

22 College Teams Vie for Honors at International; Seven Make Trip

To compete in the college judging section at the International Fat Stock Show, Chicago, Nov. 29, six college students accompanied by Prof. Al Severson, coach, left Fargo yesterday morning enroute for the annual Fat Stock Classic. Those making the trip are Wesley Bruns, Oriska; Paul Kasson, Bleisdell; Howard McLeod, West Fargo; Richard Noyes, Cando; Carl Roberts, Egeland, and Chester Wolla, Tioga.

The North Dakota team will judge in competition with 22 other college teams from all parts of the United States and Canada, according to Coach Severson. In this competition each college team will judge 12 rings which include 3 of draft horses, 3 of beef cattle, 3 of sheep and 3 of hogs.

Enroute to Chicago the team will make several stops where the judging training may be continued. These stops will be made at the University of Minnesota, Iowa State College, the University of Illinois, and several shorter visits at large livestock farms along the way.

Cadet Corps Are Feature In Parade

648 cadet members of the North Dakota State College, headed by 68 officer cadets, played a prominent part in the program for Armistice Day, parading six miles and taking in the main thoroughfares of Fargo and Moorhead.

Marching in parade formation, the Cadet Corps showed a marked increase over last year's ranks. According to Sergeant White of the N. D. S. C. Corps, there is a total of 761 members over last year's total of 600 members. The greatest increase is in the Sophomore ranks due to the large number of new Sophomores who have joined this year.

The parade was headed by the National Guard Corps, followed by: The Legion, The Veterans, The Legion Drum Corps, The A. O. U. W., The Ladies' Auxiliary, and the Cadets, who, according to custom, have always made an appearance at the Armistice Day Parade.

SEVEN INITIATED INTO EDUCATION SORORITY

Seven students were initiated into Phi Beta Nu, honorary educational fraternity at the North Dakota State College in the Faculty-Alumni room in the Main building, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Miss Ethel Renwick, president, was in charge.

Those initiated were: Emilybelle Craig, New Salem; Glen Walrath, Minot; and Joyce Peterson, Jane Caniff, Ruth Myrna Severin, and Elene Weeks, all of Fargo.

ALPHA GAMMA RHO
Carl Roberts and James McCloud left with the Stock Judging team for Chicago Thursday morning.

Glassblowers Here During Convocation Period On Monday

Howell Family Make Appearance Here at Convocation Monday

"Unique, fascinating, and interesting are the Bohemian Glass Blowers," said Dean Minard in speaking of the Howell family scheduled to appear at convocation at 9:40 next Monday morning.

So enthusiastically did the students at the University of Minnesota receive the glass blowers that two convocations were not enough to quell their desire to watch the Howell family perform.

Glass blowing is an ancient art, stated the Howells. It is not commonly known that glass working in its many forms is one of the oldest arts practiced by civilized peoples. Without doubt a product of the long period of high civilization of ancient Egypt, it was passed on to the Romans and brought fame to the City of Venice, and later, to the Bohemian people.

Industry Nearly Forgotten
One of the quaintest and now almost forgotten branches of the industry is that known as "Bohemian Glass Blowing", the making of animals, birds, flowers, ornaments and scientific instruments without the aid of tools or molds.

"Due to the large number of the student body," said Dean Minard, "it is doubtful if any free souvenirs will be given away by the glass blowers." The next appearance of the Howell family in the state will be at the University of North Dakota, following their appearance here.

THIRTEEN INITIATED BY PHARMACY CLUB

This was followed by a program. Donald Alstrop and Paul W. Jones gave informal talks on their respective trips to Minneapolis and Europe for study. Mr. Jones spent the summer in an advanced school of design at Fontainebleau, France; however, he toured for the last month of his vacation.

Mr. K. Henning also gave a short talk on the principles of the honorary architects fraternity, Kappa Tau Delta. He announced the pledging of Donald Alstrop and Allen Brierly who are members of the junior class. A light lunch was served after the meeting.

Frosh, Seniors Take Interclass Debates In First Tourney Round

Championship Meet Scheduled for Nov. 18 According to Erickson

The Freshman and Senior debate teams at North Dakota State College won the first of the interclass debates held in the Seminar Room of the Main Building Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock. P. J. Olson, member of the agronomy department at the college was the critic judge. Donald McKechnie was chairman.

Upholding the affirmative of the question "Resolved: That freshman hazing should be abolished", Leonard Gilles and Harold Fredrikson both of Fargo defeated the Junior team composed of Arthur Raeshke, Goodrich, and Gilbert Rondestvedt, Pekin.

Seniors Down Sophs
In the second debate Felix Adams, Carrington and Donovan Wardwell, Fargo upheld the negative side of the question: "Resolved: That 50 per cent of the students at North Dakota State College are unfit for a college education", and won the decision over the sophomore team, Frank Callinan, Fargo and Al Kendrick, New Rockford.

The class championship will be determined in a debate between the Freshman and Senior teams at the Little Country Theater Nov. 19 at 8 p. m., it was announced by Morris Erickson, president of the Lincoln Debate Club which is sponsoring the debates.

Ho-To-Pi Honored By Service Groups

Chief Ho-To-Pi, known as the "Indian Caruso", was honor guest at a luncheon given by the Blue Key fraternity and Women's Senior Staff in Ceres hall on Wednesday, November 12. Lois Minard, president of the Womens Senior Staff, presided at the luncheon.

In commenting on the relationships between the Indians and the whites, Chief Ho-To-Pi said:

"The Indians as a race are eager to learn the ways of the white man. In all my travels I have never talked to an Indian student who was not content and happy to be in attendance at an Indian school."

He also said that the students of Indian schools realize the struggle the white teacher undergoes to bring out the virtues of the Indian and to teach him the ways of the white man.

Chief Ho-To-Pi also commented on the habits and characteristics of the Indian, bringing out the fact that an Indian could sit still on the hard ground five or six hours at a time and feel comfortable while a white man could not sit still in a soft chair for an hour and feel comfortable.

Twentieth Season Lyceum Course Program Varied

"Man of Many Mysteries" One of Features; Jubilee Singers to Perform

TONY SARG COMES WITH MARIONETTES

Tyrolean Yodlers, Sculptor Make Anniversary Series Outstanding

Marking the 20th season of the Lyceum series at the North Dakota State college an unusual and varied program of entertainment will be presented according to Prof. A. G. Arvold of the Public Discussion department.

Opening the season here Nov. 20 will be Fiechtl's Tyrolean Yodlers, a group of Alpine singers and players in native costumes, who sing and play their songs with the aid of a concert zither, mandolin, and guitar. This group has recorded several numbers for the Victor company.

For those who relish something in the way of sleight-of-hand and baffling tricks, the appearance of Eugene Laurant, billed as the "Man of Many Mysteries", will hold attraction. This magician will appear here the evening of Jan. 14.

Negro Singers Here

One of the foremost in the field of negro spirituals and plantation songs, the Fisk Jubilee Singers from Fisk college, Nashville, Tenn., come here widely heralded by critics. They have recently completed a concert tour abroad in which they appeared before many of the notables of Europe including King George, Mussolini, and others. This attraction is scheduled for Feb. 5.

Sculptor on Program

For the evening of Feb. 24 Professor Arvold has been fortunate in securing Lorada Taft, the famous American sculptor, in a demonstration lecture on "How Statues are Made". This is of particular interest to art students, but Mr. Taft has the faculty of making his subject vividly interesting to everyone.

Tony Sarg's Marionettes need no introduction to delighted audiences who have witnessed performances of "Rip Van Winkle" and "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves" in previous years here. Mr. Sarg has chosen "Alice in Wonderland" as this season's play. The troupe will give two presentations, one in the afternoon and one in the evening of March 4.

Season course tickets for the general public reserved for the five numbers may be secured at the Little Country Theater.

President Sounds Keynote Of Caution

Farm Products as Basic Raw Materials is Subject of Address

"Caution" was the keynote of an address given by President J. H. Shepperd, of the North Dakota State College, from Station WDAY Wednesday evening, 8:45 p. m. President Shepperd was the second speaker in the Industrial Development program recently inaugurated by the Northern Packing Company in line with the work being done by the Greater North Dakota Association for Industrial expansion.

"Farm Products as Basic Raw Materials" was the subject of President Shepperd's address. The President has intimated that due to an "accident of birth" which gave him a large percentage of Scotch blood, his speech is likely to strike a note of caution "as to what will happen if a very thorough survey of conditions is not made before enterprises are started."

"The raw materials are here," said Mr. Shepperd. Wednesday evening he told what they were and some of the possibilities they offer the state.

COMMUNITY CHEST NEEDS YOUR HELP

This week the college fraternities and sororities are being solicited by workers of the Fargo community chest. The chest drive is conducted annually for the purpose of meeting the combined needs of all the charity organizations in the city.

For the past year the school through the YMCA and the YWCA have been receiving help from these sources. The combined contributions from the faculty and the students on the campus has not been near enough to meet the amount given from the Community fund to our organizations. Members of business firms downtown have not felt that it was quite right that they should contribute the major share to the support of our groups, and they were justified.

This year with the aid of President Shepperd, the downtown committee is extending itself to a thorough soliciting on the campus. Every faculty member and every member of sororities and fraternities has been or will be asked to do their bit. The quota will not be large but will be enough to help the Christian Associations with their work.

We can not help but feel that a few among the faculty and in some of the social groups do not approve of the community chest. Modern society has taken the outlook of helping the weak and this is the purpose of the Chest. With business conditions not as good as they might be, business men are being asked for their support. Faculty members with steady salaries should feel much more able to contribute than the ordinary business man. An instructor at least is assured of something definite.

The ordinary Greek letter man or woman may not be quite as fortunate as the instructor and the committee in charge has taken this into consideration. The quota for each member will be about a quarter of a dollar. Although many live outside the city of Fargo, they spend most of their time going to school. If they break any laws they are under the authority of the police. If their property is in danger they come under the protection of the community fire department. We cannot expect to isolate ourselves as a college from the community or its welfare, of which the Community Chest plays an important part.

STUDENT DIRECTORIES

The middle of November is here and there are still no student directories on the campus. Last year they appeared much earlier and we feel a great need for them.

The directories are quite indispensable in looking up the names of the new students and will be appreciated when they do appear in the near future.

A JOURNALISM DEPARTMENT

The past years have seen the progress of this college from that of one of agriculture only to one of several separate schools. As yet the school does not offer a B. A. degree. It is true that the majority of those enrolled are seeking a B. S. degree which will signify that they are prepared along purely technical lines, still there are some in a rapidly growing minority who would like to take more work at this school which would lead to a B. A. degree on some other campus.

For example the courses in journalism are counted as English credit at the present time. All those seeking to prepare themselves for any journalistic activities are registered in the School of Science and Literature. This is as it should be, but it is not even possible to obtain a minor in journalism at the present time. Only one part time instructor is employed and he is asked to teach several courses of widely different significance. The sum total of credit that may be obtained from these courses is fifteen hours, hardly enough to give the student more than a bare insight into the rapidly growing field of newspaper work.

To increase the staff and the number and variety of courses offered would not only be of great merit to the students themselves, but it also raise the standing of the college in the minds of prospective journalists throughout the state who are forced to go outside the state for an intensive training. An immediate benefit would be noticed in the standard of publications, and in the caliber of the editors.

STUDENT OPINION

We noticed in a recent edition of the Spectrum that Doc Putnam referred to our Student Opinion of several days ago as constructive criticism. We were very much gratified. We sincerely intended the opinion to be of a constructive nature. As we continued reading what Doc had to say, we began to detect a bit of irony in his opening sentence. It is with regret we learn that our criticism was not accepted in the spirit with which it was given.

We wish to correct a few points which Doc apparently fails to understand in our observations. We did not state that "our very best friends" from the U did not like to hear the Team Song played fifty-seven or even twenty-seven times. In fact, it is our opinion that the University rooters don't give a hoot what we play any more than we care what they play. The fact we were attempting to convey was that the student body will not sing the song so many times and do justice to it. If the band can and will play it fifty-seven times well and good. We are of the opinion that the Team Song is not sung with enough spirit. We felt that you were of the same opinion, Doc, as we recall many pep rallies in which you have asked the student body why they fail to sing the song as the band plays it. We were attempting, in a gentlemanly manner, to answer this "why".

Now about this sportsmanship proposition. Excuse us Doc, if we omit a hearty snicker and a chuckle at your figure of speech in the last Spectrum. The tactics of a football team in attempting to gain supremacy over its rival are hardly comparable to those of bands and rooting sections. When Leo May sees Red Jarrett coming around end we would not have him do as you suggest, Doc; no indeed. Our mental faculties may be slightly contorted, but hardly to such a great extent. In fact, Doc, we would have Leo smack Jarrett down, smear him, bust him, or what have you? That is playing the game and if Leo did not attempt to do one of these things he would be a poor sportsman. On the other hand, Doc, have you ever observed a battle of music, in which one band or orchestra attempts to outplay another? This is not done by seeing who can most successfully keep their rivals from being heard. No; the band which wins in a battle of music is the one which outplays its rival in spirit, in quality, in pep. We are satisfied that our band and routine sections are superior to those organizations from the upstate school. If it were our wish to drown out the U band we could do this quite effectively with a bunch of fog horns, we would not need a band. Outplay them, Doc, the band can and does do it; but don't drown them out, that is not true sportsmanship. May we add that this is an opinion? The best of us may be wrong, but we know many students who share our views.

We noticed that J. W. P., contrary to Dr. Putnam, referred to our criticisms as destructive. All we have to suggest to J. W. P. is that he confer with one of the English instructors at the school, obtain a working definition of the term "destructive criticism", and then favor our Student Opinion with a second perusal. F. C. S. '32.

I want to say just this: I completely agree with what F. C. S. '32 said in last Friday's Spectrum. It is exactly what I've been wanting to say for three years. Furthermore, contrary to what was stated by J. W. P. '32, it was not destructive, but constructive criticism, since action taken along these lines would lead to a better reputation for fair play and good sportsmanship than North Dakota State now enjoys. R. M. W. '31.

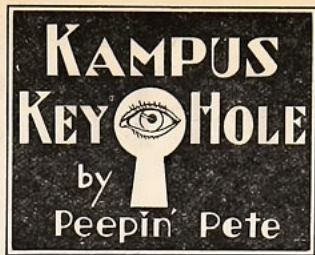

Some one has said that human nature was a funny thing and he, who thus said, spoke truly. It seems, that every time that we have a good convocation, there are a certain few who persist upon making unnecessary noises by moving around and talking. This is, we believe, quite unnecessary as it makes it impossible for those who want to enjoy the program unable to hear what is being said or sung or otherwise. Some one might say that it is impossible to hear even though there was no noise. In answer to this we say it may be but, if it is, we suggest that you try and make the best of it. Others might say that it is impossible to see and that they have to move after the program has started. This is true and we all know that our facilities for proper seating are inadequate but let us try and make the best of that also until our new auditorium is ready for use.

It is seldom that we have the opportunity to hear a voice with the wonderful qualities such as Chief Ho-To-Pi's voice has and such a program, even though it didn't include all the latest jazz pieces, should be listened to with appreciation by everyone attending.

Here are a few tips for those who persist in disturbing the majority of listeners:

1. If you don't want to stay through the whole program, don't come.
2. If you are unable to stay for the whole program, sit near the entrance where your leaving will not disturb, but better yet, don't come at all.
3. Do not talk during the musical number or speech but talk during the intermission.
4. Treat the entertainer with courtesy.
5. If you do not care for the program after it has started, stay anyway and give the other fellows a chance to hear it.

If you are one of these people, try and improve your attitude toward our convocation entertainers. Signed: G. P., F. D., R. C.

Some dear little thing contributes a sweet smelling bit of high school journalism to our very, very learned contemporary, the Dakota Student, which, as you may know, cometh to edify us twice a week from so-called institution of higher learning, the University of Grand Forks and North Dakota. The writer of this was griped, so she said, by the low specimens of animal life that frequent the campus of N. D. State. The key sentence of this badly burnt offering on the altar of inter-school good feeling was "Every time I go to Fargo I become gladder and gladder that I went to the University of North Dakota."

And so you're glad that you're going to the U, are you, sweetheart? O. K., Baby, that makes it unanimous. After reading your burst of girlish bombast, we're glad you're up there, too.

Reading from the same inspirational source we learn that Rudy Valee, the megaphone lover, has agreed (at a price) to pick the fairest flower of North Dakota co-eds to be crowned "Miss Arctic of the Nodak Poll". And the band will play and the children down front will all join in the theme song "Frigidaire Mama, Don't You Frostbite Me."

A tepid tabloid review

Of that little playlet "From Sax to Sex" starring Rudy the Valee Soon to be enacted on the campus of the N. D. U.

Maybe Rudy can be persuaded to perpetrate a Nodak Stein Song and croon it into the hearts of all the adoring kitchen wenches and smitten skultery maids throughout the length and breadth of the land of the free and the home of the True Story. Of course thus far the University has no Stein song available but there is a Klipstein on the football team and to all reports there are a great many festive steins in circulation in the quaint and cloistered atmosphere of Yeast Grand Forx. So sit waiting by the radio (adv), it won't be long now.

And the final act of this little drama of clean life in the great West will no doubt be for the U to call Rudy in and confer upon him that much coveted degree of D D D, doctor of davenport duty, in pursuit of which so many University boys have burned the midnight gasoline and jeopardized their health and bank accounts by excessive home work through seven or eight long years of college studies.

The tide rises, the tide falls, love comes, blossoms and withers when she starts talking baby talk, but the Team Song remains to haunt us through a long eternity. As the exhausted band bravely blew another blast that November afternoon and commenced to stagger through the millionth rendering of the old favorite we murmured,

Games may come
And games may go
Tears may start
And protests grow

But the song goes on forever,
Good old band, good old Doc, good old tradition. Just let us suggest a new set of words for the old familiar tune:

On brave old S C band
On Through the fray

Play it fifty times again
No matter what they say.
Dear sweet spirit of music, butchered to make a Bison holiday!

Slowly the math prof raised stricken eyes from the last of the exam papers. In the cheerful world outside the sun shone, a bird sang, but in his professional world black ruin stared him in the face. He was disgraced. From the desk drawer he drew a revolver, placed it to his brow and deliberately blew out his brains. He couldn't stand the shame, the ignominy, the scorn of his colleagues, the laughter of the world. His professional reputation was ruined. The entire class had passed.

NO METAL CAN TOUCH YOU

The Dean introduced the Chief,
an' the pie-Anna played on!
The lights went out,
an' the pie-Anna played on!
The crowd waited,
an' the pie-Anna played on!
The late Chief Ho-To-Pi strode forth,
an' the pie-Anna played on!

The last line: I gotta go in now.

Math Instructors Give Tea For Women Students

A tea was given for women students in the department of mathematics from 4 to 5:30 p. m. Wednesday, in the mathematics office. Miss Thompson and Miss Grimes were hostesses assisted by the upper class women students in the department.

Ethel Renwick and Callista Berrigan were in charge of the entertainment which centered around mathematical ideas. Numerous posters were placed about the room and each guest was asked to identify the mathematical term symbolized. The naming of geometric figures represented in a drawing of a large Gothic window was another feature of the entertainment.

Lois Klinsmann and Mary Hassel were in charge of refreshments. Joyce Peterson and Callista Berrigan poured.

Bison Seek Second Place Over South Dakota

Conference Tie Hinges On Games Played Saturday

University Confronts Coyotes at Vermillion; Sioux Defeat Possible

THANKSGIVING GAME MAY DECIDE TITLE

Entire Football Squad Chosen to Make Southern Trip by Bus

With the prize of an assured second place and a possible tie for first in the North Central conference dangling before them, the Thundering Herd of this college will attempt to tromp to victory over the South Dakota State Jackrabbits tomorrow afternoon at the latter's home gridiron.

South Dakota State College is the only contender between the Bison and second place in the conference football rating. In the event of the Bison defeat Saturday the two teams will be tied for second position; the victory of the Herd will not only clinch the second place for this school, but will make way for a possible tie for first with the University of North Dakota depending on the outcome of the Sioux-Coyote (South Dakota University) game at Vermillion the same day. If the Coyote pigskin-toters can smash the Sioux line the championship of the conference will rest with the victor in the Thanksgiving game of the two North Dakota schools. Though South Dakota State has a reputedly tough team Casey Finnegan feels confidence in the strength of his team in the favorable outcome of Saturday's contest.

For the first time this season practically the entire football squad was elected to make the trip for an outside game. The group which left Fargo by bus Thursday included Captain May, Lonsbrough, Bunt, McKay, Hiltz, Orness, McMillan, Gray, Jahr, Schoenfelder, Westgate, Thomasson, Schamp, Dvorak, Selliken, Goodwin, Paris, Berdahl, Blakeslee, Ellingson, McEssy, Hovland, Bollman, Murner, Pariseau, and McGrath.

The present standings of the North Central conference football teams are:

	W.	L.	Pct.
N. D. University	3	0	1.000
N. D. State	2	1	.667
S. D. State	1	2	.333

WOMEN DEBATERS MEET YESTERDAY TO ORGANIZE

The girls of the North Dakota State College who are interested in debate held a meeting yesterday at 4 o'clock in the library of the Little Country Theater to discuss the possibilities of organizing a girls collegiate debating team. Although this is not the first time girls have debated at this college this is the first time they have organized a team of girls alone and from all reports the idea seems quite popular.

As yet a schedule has not been arranged but Mr. Hoy promises a very interesting one with out of town groups as well as clubs in Fargo.

An egg so tiny it would take 1125 of them to make a standard dozen won a prize as the smallest egg at a recent poultry show. It weighed .6 of a gram.

FIFTEEN WOMEN MAKE VARSITY SOCCER TEAM

Fifteen State College girls have been chosen as members of the Varsity Soccer team by their class captains and Minerva Streed, manager. This honor entitles each girl to 100 points towards W. A. A., honorary athletic association on the campus for women. Those who made the team are: Ethel Gerard, Phyllis Tritchler, Dorice Bugge, Grace South, Mona Davis, Katherine Anderson, Lorraine Scribbins, Frances Anderson, Marjorie Metcalf, Velva Rudd, Irene Beyer, Dorothea Olson, Esther Greenshields, Frances Hedner, and Minerva Streed.

Gamma Rhos Sigs Are Undefeated In Tourney

Leaders Show Powerful Offense in Pre-Season Trials in Armory

The third week of play in the interfraternity basketball tournament finds but two of the nine teams still undefeated, the Delta Sigs and Gamma Rhos. Trailing only a short way behind are the Delta Tau Epsilons with four wins and one defeat, that coming at the hands of the Gamma Rhos. The Kappa Phis have also lost but one contest.

At the present time it would be hard to pick the winner, but the showing of the first three teams has been very good. The Delta Sigs especially have been quite impressive with their four overwhelming wins. The Gamma Rhos have barely pulled through with two of their victories but have the ability to stay at the top of the race. Since their defeat by the Gamma Rhos the Tau Eps do not look as formidable as they did when they were winning by substantial margins.

This pre-season tournament seems to be a success with a fine array of basketeers from which Saaly may pick some needed recruits for his squad.

The standings including Wednesday night's games:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Delta Kappa Sigma	4	0	1.000
Alpha Gamma Rho	3	0	1.000
Delta Tau Epsilon	4	1	.800
Alpha Kappa Phi	2	1	.667
Theta Chi	2	2	.500
Kappa Psi	1	3	.250
Alpha Sigma Tau	0	2	.000
Sigma Phi Delta	0	3	.000
Kappa Sigma Chi	0	4	.000

Baby Bison Losers In Freak Contest

Virginia College Team Gains Victory Over Freshman Squad Tuesday

Because an opposing substitute intercepted a passed ball on his own two yard line and raced 98 yards for a freak touchdown, the North Dakota State College freshman football squad suffered a 7-0 defeat at the hands of the Virginia Junior College gridders Tuesday afternoon.

That the Junior College team was decidedly weaker on line plunges and defense was demonstrated by the fact that they only completed three first downs to the Bison's 15. The Bison team continually pushed the play far into the enemy territory coming within a few yards of their goal a number of times only to be repulsed by the desperate opposition of the Virginia linesmen.

The defeating play occurred in the latter part of the second quarter. Joe Germ, the substitute Virginia end, snatched a Baby Bison pass practically on his own goal line and with the help of hastily gathered interference ran the whole length of the field for a touchdown.

The State College freshmen had the best chance to score in the final quarter when the ball was carried within the one yard line of the enemy goal. The team was held for downs and a hurried punt on the part of the Virginia team again sent the ball out of the dangerous scoring territory.

FLOUR MILL TRIP PLANNED FOR FRIDAY

A trip through the College Flour Mill is planned for Friday afternoon, November 14, by the girls in Home Economics 2, according to Miss Hazel Thomas, instructor in Home Economics. There will be two groups going, one at 1 o'clock and the other at four. About sixty girls, under the leadership of Miss Thomas, are scheduled to make the trip.

The purpose of this trip, points out Miss Thomas, is to study the various blendings of flour and its subsequent effect on baking. Loaves of bread, demonstrating the results of the different blends will be on exhibition. Miss Thomas states that the trip promises to be an extremely interesting one to those specializing in foods and nutrition.

Fifty ambitious youths of Montana State came trouncing hilariously into the newly organized class in tap dancing for their first lesson. The teacher says she is swamped, but her students are apt pupils.

Seniors In Home Ec. Practice Teaching

Twenty - Two Girls Acquire Practical Training in Schools

Twenty-two state college seniors in Home Economics are practice teaching in Fargo, Moorhead, and Casselton this term, according to Miss Lucile Horton, instructor. These girls receive the benefit of being in the natural environment for teaching, points out Miss Horton, and they come in contact with many problems which they will have to deal with later on.

At the Sacred Heart Academy, Mildred Briggs, Moorhead, has charge of the advanced clothing class and will later teach child care. In the foods department Naomi Larson, Fargo, and Ruth Semingson of Crosby are the instructors. The high school foods class at the North Dakota State College is in the care of Ruby Steedman, Larimore, and Blanche Fletcher of Westhope. At the Moorhead high school Emily and Mabel Samuelson both of Underwood, teach the eighth grade food's work, while the seventh grade clothing class is taught by Clarice Gullickson, Montpelier, and Gladys Nessel of Maddock.

One of the things which Home Economics girls look forward to is that of practice teaching at Casselton, states Miss Horton. There the seniors are placed in the natural teaching surroundings and obtain a two week's experience in a full day's program including freshman foods, advanced clothing, and related science. Barbara Barney of Casselton is at Casselton at the present time. Others who have been there are: Kathryn Grant, Glyndon, Minn.; Marjorie Beattie, Lidgerwood; Marion South, Casselton; Almehda Cosgrove, Fargo. Gertrude Almos of Ambrose will go to Casselton after the Thanksgiving holidays.

ALPHA SIGMA TAU

William Kauffman and Otto Beltz from Hillsboro were visitors at the house Wednesday.

COLLEGE POSTOFFICE HANDLES MUCH MAIL

The postoffice at North Dakota State College handles more mail than the average small town in North Dakota according to John Pannebaker, Postmaster.

If this postoffice were given a classification according to its cancelled stamp receipts it would be a second class office while most of the small town postoffices in the state come in the third and fourth classes. The college postoffice rents approximately 260 boxes and handles mail for a large percentage of the 1490 students, besides that of 300 faculty members and employees.

The amount of mail handled by this postoffice increases every year, and has more than doubled in the past eight years. This year the amount of mail coming onto the campus grew considerably due, to a large extent, to the opening of the men's dormitory as this brought to State College post-office mail that had previously been scattered throughout Fargo.

The Heights Student Council has adopted the idea of wearing blazers while each member is on the campus, for the purpose of letting the rest of the student know who he is. In this manner any one wishing to receive information concerning the activities about school may simply rap a member on the shoulder and put his question to him.
