Luther Represents School At Students Congress In South

World Renowned Speakers Are Slated for Program of Collegians

ATLANTA IS GUEST From DEC. 28-JAN. 2

Federation Includes More Than 200 Institutions in the United States

Leonard A. Luther, president of the Student Commission, will represent the North Dakota State College at the sixth annual convention of the National Students Federation of America, which is to be held at Atlanta, Georgia, Dec. 28 to Jan. 2.

The N. S. F. is the official association of under-graduate students representing more than 200 colleges and universities throughout the nation. It attempts to serve all students through the medium of their own self government organizations and is used as the central headquarters for student cooperative activity. The federation grew out of a mass meeting of 245 college representatives at Princeton on the World Court in 1925 and since has held five congresses.

An attempt to raise a budget for the next five years which will make it possible for the federation to serve all the colleges with an able staff and develop a nation of wide program, will be made at this year's convention, E. B. Morrow, president of the federation, has announced in a letter to the North Dakota State College commission that there will be a number of world famous speakers besides entertainment furnished by the hosts, Agnes Scott college and Georgia School of Technology. National discussion groups on student problems will also be conducted at the convention.

BARTON ANNOUNCES ANNUAL STATE SHOW

The date for the 37th Annual North Dakota State Poultry show has been set for Feb. 2 to 5, inclusive, according to an announcement by Prof. O. A. Barton, secretary-treasurer, and head of the poultry department here. The show will be held at the city auditorium, Fargo.

Ranking as one of the oldest and best known poultry shows in the country, the North Dakota poultry exhibit for the 1931 season promises to supersede all previous shows in the state, according to officials in charge. A premium list will be available to the poultry breeders and the public about Jan. 1.

Officers of the State Poultry show are V. Champeaux, Hatton, president; J. J. Phelan, Fargo, vice-president, and O. A. Barton, secretary-treasurer.

MORRIS CONVOCATION PROVES INTERESTING

A convocation conducted by Glen Morris, University of Minnesota extension department, in the Armory Wednesday morning proved to be one of the most interesting and best attended assemblies so far this year.

Morris' demonstrations featured work in electricity and physics. Lightning bolts in model form were loosed on the stage and several tricks and phenomena were explained. Alternating currents of 110 volts with low frequency of 60 cycles were used. Morris attempted to promote the theory of investigation into the world of physics and electricity.

Journey's End Will Open Drama Season Here November 25

One of Greatest War Plays Written; Directed by Alice Bender

Beginning the dramatic season, the Edwin Booth Dramatic Club will present "Journey's End", a three act war drama, in the Little Country Theater, Tuesday, Nov. 25, at 8 p. m. This play will be presented with special permission of the copyright owners, and so will be a rare opportunity for the public to witness an unusually good play, according to Miss Alice Bender, who is conducting the rehearsals for the group.

"Journey's End" is a war play. The scene is a dugout along a trench. Fear gradually increases among the men as they see signs of the quickly approaching enemy. Wounded soldiers come in while others go out to their posts; all of which makes the play highly atmospheric. In fact, most critics have declared that it is the very best of war plays because it shows the actual horror and the utter futility and hopelessness of war. A thread of pathos, fright, and grief runs thru the entire three acts. Even in the conversation there is a mood of terrific suffering. The peak of dramatic effect, the climax perhaps, comes when one of the young soldiers pleads with his fellows to shoot him rather than send him out into the lines.

The stage crew under the supervision of Donald Hay and A. G. Arnold is working on the construction of a false ceiling which will be built of wooden beams and planks in the manner of a typical dugout. Members of the cast are Ronald Pearce, Donald Lawrence, Frederick Martin, William Murphy, Morris Erickson, Harry Landa, Clyde Thompson, Kenneth Wyard, and Lester Wyman. The tenth role has not been definitely filled.

Group Will Select Frosh Commission

At a meeting held on Tuesday afternoon the Y. W. C. A. made plans for the organization of a Freshman Commission in January. Jane Canniff, vice-president of the cabinet, will act as chairman of a committee composed of the student leaders of the nine interested groups. This committee will select the commission with the approval of the cabinet.

It was decided to hold a cabinet luncheon meeting on the first Thursday of every month. Other meetings will be called when the president deems them necessary.

Through the efforts of the hostess committee, composed of 28 freshman girls, a bulletin board and a question box have been installed in the Y room. At present they are arranging for a cabinet postoffice.

Margaret Dady has been appointed student leader for the ninth newly organized interest group in dramatics. All groups will meet with their respective leaders within the next week and plans for the year's program will be made.

HOLD BOOK EXHIBIT

The story telling classes of the department of dramatics under direction of Miss Bender will conduct a book exhibit in the Little Country theater library in observance of the Children's Book week, Nov. 16-27.

Weeks Scores Apathy Among Upperclassmen In Yearbook Support

Staff in Quandry Over Lack of Interest Shown in Classes Section

"Everything for a bigger and more distinctive 1932 Bison is well under way, but it is very surprising to the staff that nearly all juniors and seniors have not signed up for their pictures in the classes section," Elene Weeks, editor of the book, said yesterday.

"Mr. Viel, Mr. Wallum, and myself are at a loss to know why all juniors and seniors have not put their names on the list are not immediately doing so. It is unthinkable to have a book which is not truly representative of all the students, which it cannot possibly be without the pictures of all the upperclassmen. These books go out through the state, and even the students themselves do not realize how many friends and relatives look for and point out their particular pictures and lists of activities. It is absolutely imperative that each upperclassman take it upon himself or herself to see that his picture is taken before Nov. 15."

According to Miss Weeks, Sigma Phi Delta fraternity and Alpha Xi Beta sorority are heading the list with number of members signed up, and other groups are very slow. The price is $3.00, and a receipt may be bought from your own representative or any other person with a book, or in the Bison office, room 120, Science Hall.

Ball Named Leader For Military Prom

Expects Social Event to Surpass All Other Scabbard and Blade Affairs.

William Ball, class of 1930, was elected at a recent meeting of the Scabbard and Blade, to lead the annual Military Ball. Ball, a member of the Theta Chi fraternity, has taken an active part in Scabbard and Blade activities and under his leadership the fraternity promises the biggest social affair of the year.

Bill has not disclosed the date or the committees for the function as yet but is very enthusiastic over the plans which have already been formulated.

"The Military Ball which has always been the season's greatest affair will be unsurpassed this season. With the entire chapter working on the plans at present we believe that a revolution in campus social affairs will take place with the staging of the gigantic 1930 Military Ball," stated Ball.

WALLUM NAMED BOARD OF PUBLICATION PREXY

Amos Wallum was elected president of the Board of Publications at the regular luncheon meeting of the organization in Ceres Hall Wednesday noon. Leonard Friberg will be vice-president for the year, and Arthur Cayou, secretary.

Dean Walster of the school of Agriculture visited and spoke at the district school fairs at Velva and Rolla during this week.

LOST POCKETBOOKS PROVE MORE MONEY THAN OTHER YEARS

Students at the North Dakota State College must be more prosperous this year than before. At least Mr. Dan Hetland, janitor in Science Hall thinks so judging from two pocketbooks which he recently found and turned in to Dean Minard's office. One of them contained $17 in bills and some change. The other purse was even more well filled, having $18 in it. Mr. Hetland says that as a rule they do not pick up lost articles, as they have no means of returning them to their owners. The owners of the purses were identified by their registration cards which were in the pocketbooks.

JOURNALISM GROUP CHOOSES FOUR MEN

Four men will be pledged to Gamma Tau Sigma, honorary journalism fraternity on Wednesday, Nov. 12. The announcement was made today by Amos Wallum, president of the organization, after a meeting held in the Spectrum office on Wednesday afternoon.

The honored men are: Glenn Richert, junior in the school of agriculture; Harold Peterson, senior in the school of education; William Champin, junior in the school of science and literature; and Robert Connolly, sophomore in the school of science and literature.

Gamma Tau Sigma has as members men who have shown an outstanding interest in journalism. Karl Gerteis, vice-president, and Earl Hodgson, secretary-treasurer are the other officers of the honorary journalism group.

Interclass Debates Get Under Way On Coming Wednesday

Personnel of Teams Announced by Don Hay; Questions Selected

The debate season at North Dakota State College will open next Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock with the preliminary interclass debate in the Seminar Room of the Main Building.

Members of the interclass debate teams are announced by Donald Hay, instructor in the department of public discussion, who is faculty advisor for the Lincoln Debate Club, sponsors of debate. The Senior team is composed of Donovan Wardwell, Fargo, and Felix Adams, Carrington; the Junior team, Gilbert Rondsvedt, Pekin and Arthur Raeshke, Goodrich; the Sophomore team, Frank Callinan, Fargo, and Al Kendrick, New Rockford; and the Freshman team, Leonard Gilles and Harold Fredrikson, both of Fargo.

The questions for debate in these interclass contests are: "Resolved that Freshman Hazing Should be Abolished" and "Resolved that 50 percent of the students at North Dakota State College are Misfits."

A critic judge for the preliminary debate will be selected soon by members of the Lincoln Debate Club with Morris Erickson, president, in charge.

Aggies To Compete For Judging Squad

In preparation for the National Livestock Collegiate Judging contest which is to be held Nov. 29 at the International Livestock exposition, Chicago, a squad of North Dakota State college men, coached by Albert Severson, are hard at work to qualify for the stock judging team.

Each year about twenty teams from different parts of the country enter the contest. Each team is composed of five men and one alternate. The team which will represent North Dakota State this year will be selected this week from the following list of candidates: Wesley Bruns, Oriska; Hardis Elefson, Stanley; Carl Goranson, Oberon; Arthur Holen, Montevideo, Minn.; Linell Johnson, Adrian Paul Kasson, Blaisdell; Howard McLeod, West Fargo; Richard Noyes, Cando; Carl Roberts, Egeland; and Chester Wolla, Tioga.

These men have had intensive livestock judging work since Sept. 15, having visited some of the leading livestock farms in this vicinity for practice work.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA MEETS

Alpha Phi Omega, honorary chemistry fraternity, held a meeting in the chapter rooms on Wednesday evening, Nov. 5.

Plans were made for the decoration and furnishing of the new chapter rooms so that meetings and other activities of the group may take place there soon. A series of lectures on various topics was planned as a part of the program for the year.

It was decided at the meeting that the pledges to Alpha Phi Omega would be chosen at the next regular meeting of the fraternity.

College To Hear Play-By-Play Of Michigan Game

Leased Wire Secured From Lansing Stadium to Armory

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR INTERMISSIONS

Bison in Splendid Condition for Fray with Strong Eleven

Play-by-play reports of the Michigan State-Bison football game, which is to be played Saturday afternoon at Lansing, Mich., will be announced starting at one o'clock in the college Armory, according to Leonard Luther, president of the Student Commission.

A nominal charge of 10 cents to defray Western Union reports coming direct from the Lansing Stadium will be made at the door, Mr. Luther said. Michigan State will provide the Bison with hardest test of the season. Coached by Sleepy Jim Crowley, one of Notre Dame's famous "Four Horsemen", the Spartans have gone merrily on toward achieving national recognition. By tying University of Michigan, which is almost a certainty to win or tie the Big Ten title, and by winning from Colgate, one of the east's strongest teams, Michigan State has won recognition.

However, the Bison are in splendid condition and will give the Michigan boys a tough struggle. Play-by-play reports, accordingly should be fraught with interest, Mr. Luther said yesterday. Reports will arrive in the Athletic office at the Armory by direct wire and they will then be megaphoned to the crowd by Jack Stewart.

Dr. C. S. Putnam has agreed to have the Gold Star band on hand to enliven proceedings. Cheer leaders will lead some yells, and Luther has arranged some special features for between-halves and time-outs.

Scholarship Awards Go To Jordre, Moore

Hundred Dollar Checks Await Junior and Senior Winners

Awards for Masonic scholarship winners have been received by T. W. Thordarson, college representative on the selection committee. Roy Jordre, senior in the school of agriculture, and James Moore, sophomore in the school of pharmacy are the recipients. The Shiloh Lodge No. 1, A. F. & A. M. make the award annually.

In awarding the scholarships of one hundred dollars each, need is the most important factor with scholastic standing, personality, campus activities, and leadership playing important parts in the selection.

This is fourth year that the award has been made. The scholarship is open to sophomores and juniors and is awarded at the close of the spring term to the outstanding members of each class picked by the committee in charge.

Winners of the honor in previous years have been: Allan Meinecke and Marvin Spielman in 1927; Archie Solberg and Arthur Walde in 1928; and Ole Sands and Chester Rhines in 1929.

ART CLUB SPONSORS SALE OF JAP PRINTS

A sale of Japanese prints is sponsored this year by the Art Club from Nov. 22 to Dec. 5. In the collection are prints from masters including Harunobu, Torii Kinyonobu, Utamaro, and Hiroshige I as well as many other artists of note.

Miss Dorothy Hatch, head of the Art Department, promises a wide range of prices and sizes from which to choose. Some will be small, suitable for Christmas Cards, while others will be large enough for wall decorations. Prices will vary from five cents to three dollars and fifty cents. The collection also will include three original panels.

A BETTER UNDERSTANDING

The rivalry between University and State has reached the highest peak since the two schools were organized. The Grand Forks team succeeded in winning a well earned 14-7 victory on Homecoming and should be well pleased with the outcome. There is a possibility that the two schools will meet in a second encounter on Thanksgiving Day.

The point that we wanted to bring up, however, concerns a few nasty remarks that were made after that Homecoming game in a column called Kasual Kampus Komment that appeared in the October 28 issue of the Dakota Student. We feel that the writer of the column was somewhat prejudiced when he said that the all-college party following the game here was nothing more than an unending line of drunken stags that continually insulted partisans of the University. Our hospitality was insulted and if we thought for a moment that the writer was in earnest we would have answered the accusation immediately.

After a couple of weeks we can look at the matter in a different light and hope that it was a mistake. We would hate to think that we were half as bad as that column made us out to be. Of course we do not pretend to have the superiority complexes that our sister institution has but, nevertheless, we try to be good sports.

We feel that true sportsmanship is shown in the relationship of the two South Dakota schools. We hope that a better understanding between the two North Dakota schools can be realized.

A WOMENS JOURNALISM GROUP

Women on the campus who have shown interest in journalism have received little recognition for their efforts. They have worked on either the Spectrum or the Bison and have little to show for it save their name on the masthead or in the annual.

This year as far as interest in Journalism, women are pushing the men to one side. Although the enrollment ratio is almost 3 to 1 for the men, women outnumber the men about 2 to 1 in the field. Perhaps the reason for this situation can be explained in the fact that Journalism is required in the department of home economics.

Gamma Tau Sigma, although given a black eye last year by the college council when its publication of the Bull Bison was prohibited, is the honorary organization for men journalists. Its efforts to promote good journalism at this school have not been without success. This year they are sponsoring a conference press convention that will be held at this school some time during the winter term.

There is, however, no similar organization women journalists. The Spectrum feels that there is a distinct need for such a group. Perhaps a sister organization to Gamma Tau Sigma could attract enough interest to insure its formation.

COOPERATION, UPPERCLASSMEN

It is the practice of the student body to put out a lot of propaganda on college spirit before the big athletic contests, and whenever an important event is about to come, we will say nothing against this practice because it is really a fine thing. The trouble is that when the students get a chance to display spirit for a time that has some length, they fail to take advantage of it.

A few weeks ago the editor of the Bison issued a call for the Juniors and Seniors to sign up for their pictures and pay their three dollars for the classes section. In making inquiries in the annual office we find that about twenty five out of four hundred upperclassmen have heeded the call. And they say that State College has the "Real" spirit.

Putting out a year book in any institution is a task that requires real cooperation from every one concerned, it is a work that takes time and has worries. Why not carry the Bison spirit from the field and take it to other places where it is sorely needed? People who have been registered in the college for two or three years should know that the spirit and cooperation is needed in the making of an annual as well as it is needed in contests.

Every editor of an annual has the secret desire of putting out a book that borders as closely as possible to one hundred per cent representative. Without the help of the student body this is impossible. What is the classes who fail to lend their aid to give the college a symbol that will last forever for the 1931 spirit that possessed the campus? Remember that the spirit of the college will be reflected in the yearbook, and so the success of the publication rests with each individual who will have his picture in the classes section.

Duty calls the upperclassmen, and it is up to them to see to it that the 1932 Bison is the "Bigger Better Bison."

STUDENT OPINION

I have long had the urge to write a student opinion criticizing a number of things which have been griping me throughout the entire course of my two years and one half term in school. The editors plea for student opinion in the last issue of the Spectrum gave me the proper impetus to put forth my ideas on how things should be done. To begin with, allow me to state that I fully believe that I am as loyal a Bison as you will find at the institution. Allow me to say further that I have the utmost respect for Dr. Putnam both as a man and as a band director.

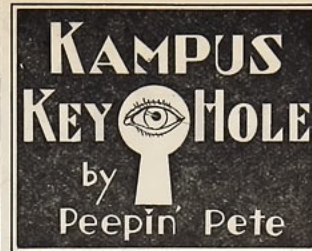

Now to get down to cases. At a pep rally some time this fall, I fail to recall just men, Dr. Putnam announced that at the game the preceding Saturday, the Team Song had been played fifty-seven times. He seemed to very proud of this achievement and even suggested that we try to break this record at some of the subsequent games. I had no idea that the song had actually been played so great a number of times. At the game in question I had counted only twenty-seven times. Now Doc, if I, or any other student at North Dakota State College were capable of singing the Team Song fifty-seven, or even twenty-seven times during the course of one football game we should try for a record and get our names in the papers along with the flag-pole sitters, coffee drinkers and marathon dancers. One just cannot call on the vocal cords for such supreme effort and expect to get response.

Furthermore, what does the Team Song mean if it is played every two or three minutes during a game? I cannot tell you just what it means to the team, but I can guess. It comes to effect them in much the same way as the lash effects a horse which is continually whipped. They no longer feel its urge. I have in mind one game in which for a time the Team Song was played just as each play was started on the field. My idea is that this is a song which in supreme moments should be sung to give the team the feeling that the student body is behind them, singing their song, helping them push that ball the last five yards for a touchdown. If the song were used only at such crucial moments I am sure, Doc, that you would never be disappointed in the manner in which the student body sang it.

Another problem which has had me in a state of quandry all fall is the fate of the song we learned last winter just before the close of the basketball season. I do not recall the name of it, but I can assure you that I know the words. It started something like this, "On Bison, on to the fray, State is backing you, - - -." Not once in a pep rally this year have I heard this song played. I will not say for sure that it has not been played at football games, but to the best of my knowledge it has not. What is wrong with this song, Doc? I like it very much, in fact, I think that it is the best song we have. My knowledge of music is very limited, but to me it seems to have plenty of pep, a rousing melody, and words a great deal more pleasing to the ear than some of the other songs we use a great deal. This song seems to belong a little more exclusively to North Dakota State than do words set to the music of the Army or the Navy song.

Just one thing more to get off my chest, Doc. I am probably a peculiar person, but I am rather a crank on sportsmanship. I consider it an exhibition of very poor sportsmanship when at a game with out upstate rivals our band cuts into theirs when they are playing for their team. This type of support for our team does nothing to help them win the game; it does not even antagonize the University rooters, it merely makes them think that State College is composed of a bunch of poor sports. I am not conjecturing on this. A number of my very best friends were unfortunate enough to choose the U as their Alma Mater in spite of my efforts to convince them of the error of their ways. From these students I have heard many times the opinion of the student body at the U on the manner in which our band cuts in on theirs while they are playing. I am for whole-hearted sportsmanship even when we are playing our bitterest rivals.

Signed F. C. S. '32.

LOCAL BOY MAKES GOOD

Artists and poets expect to die un-sung, but radio tenors, football coaches and columnists crave their publics. Without the sweet spirit of publicity to sanctify their labors, life is as empty as a moral victory on Homecoming afternoon. Kicks and jeers it may be, but anything is better than oblivion.

We were beginning to fear that we were destined to be one of those whom fickle fame and fate and fortune slipped so nimbly by. Then quite by accident last week we stumbled on the magic formula for that long sought success. We commented in our blunt and boyish fashion on that somewhat wholesale hospitality practiced by the Lake Park O'Learys. Whereupon the sun promptly rose upon a better world.

Almost before the ink was dry we met that charming debutante in person. She drove us into a corner, where we, being large and a trifle ungainly, could neither fight nor run. Blushingly she whispered in our ear suggesting with a girlish gurgle that we betake ourselves to a much, much warmer locality, and adding in a rush of old Irish generosity that we might take our whole fraternity along for all she cared. And then she went and all the sunshine went with her.

We hate to be bragging thusly, but it was a big moment and we wanted you to know. Blessings on thee, little girl, you may be just another Kay Dee to some people, but to us you'll always be our Wild Irish Rose.

We see skeletons are being worked into several dancing parties of recent date. We like to rattle skeletons ourselves.

"Well we're all here folks. It is a lovely day, but it is hard for me to describe the tenseness that seems to permeate the entire atmosphere of this crowd gathered here this afternoon. Everyone seems to be on edge for the titanic struggle. Well here we go—Doc Hunter kicking off for the pros. Oh! Oh! Oh! What a pretty one! Right over the heads of Fraters and into dead territory. Kipped Delter is going hard after it

She has it! No—it's a lateral pass to Delter Snig. He's up! He's down! Sunde nailed him on that with "Do youse guys take chemistry and why?" The Fraters are going into a huddle. They'd better—it looks tough all around. Wait a minute! Slappa Thi going in for Kappa or is it Sigma Tuffer? We can't see from here. Anyway it's a swell old racket and we wish you were here. Thundering Herd Enroute To Meet Strong Spartans

Twenty-Three Men and Coaches Make Trip to East Lansing

MICHIGAN STATE HAS BEEN BEATEN

Powerful Bison Offense May Mean Victory for Dakotans

The Thundering Herd composed of 23 men with their coaches, Finnegan and Lowe, left Wednesday afternoon for East Lansing, Mich., where they will meet the strong Michigan State team on Saturday.

Casey has his squad in great shape for the contest, and is hopeful of a victory. The Bison have shown that they are a scoring threat at all times and have functioned quite well on defense at frequent intervals. Although the Bison' opponents have held Michigan University to a tie they demonstrated that they were not unbeatable by losing to Georgetown last week by a score of 14 to 13. At least they can be scored upon, and if the Bison offense is at its best there is no telling what will happen.

After two afternoons of scrimmage this week the upset coach picked 23 men to accompany Bob Lowe and him on the trip. The squad includes Gray and Selliken, centers; Jahr, Orness, Dvorak and McMillan, guards; Schoenfelder, Shamp, McGrath, and Tang, tackles; Hiltz, Westgate, Berdahl, and Thomasson, ends; Lonsbrough and McEssy, quarterbacks; Bunt, McKay, Ellingson, Goodwin, and Blakeslee, halfbacks; and May and Pariseau, fullbacks.

Delta Tau Epsilon Leaders In Tourney

Delta Kappa Sigma, Gamma Rhos Have Clean Slate in Fall Tourney

Delta Tau Epsilon, the youngest fraternity on the campus, is the surprise team of the fall play of the Inter-fraternity basketball league, by keeping pace with the Gamma Rhos and the Delta Sigs for the league leadership. Neither of these teams has met defeat thus far.

The Tau Eps have wins over the Sigma Taus 18 to 5; the Delta Chis 29 to 12; and the Sigma Phi Deltas 29 to 15. The Sigs have also three games to their credit having taken Kappa Phi 25 to 9; Kappa Sigma Chi 29 to 14; and Kappa Psi 25 to 6. The Gamma Rhos have played but once, but they were impressive with their victory of 30 to 8 over the Sigma Taus.

The banks of G-E floodlights at Georgia Tech's Grant Field can be adjusted to illuminate track meets as well as football games.

G-E Floodlighting Wins Favor for Football - Hockey - Track - Baseball - Tennis

G-E floodlighting equipment has a winning record. Its victories are counted in terms of pleased spectators, increased attendance, satisfied coaches and players.

The development of G-E athletic-field floodlighting equipment was planned with every consideration for the fundamental and special playing conditions it must meet. That is why the big Novalux projectors give ample and evenly diffused light over the entire playing area.

The development of General Electric floodlighting equipment has largely been the work of college-trained men in the G-E organization—other college-trained men are largely responsible for the continuing leadership of General Electric in furnishing the many other products which bear the G-E monogram.
