Three November Convocations Are Scheduled

G. L. Morris, Scientific Speaker and Lecturer Here on Twelfth

INDIAN BARITONE FEATURED ON PROGRAM

R. A. Stammon, Western Head of Congregational Association Speaks on 24th

Three fine convocations have been scheduled for the month of November according to Dean A. E. Minard, chairman of programs and convocations.

Glenn L. Morris, scientific lecturer, will make his appearance on Wednesday, November 5. He is under the direction of the General Extension division of the University of Minnesota. Morris bridges the gap between the public and the scientist in his laboratory. For the past ten years he has brought to the audiences lecture entertainments in which many new and interesting facts of science are popularized and presented in a strictly non-technical manner. His program is primarily a show, consisting of a series of startling, mysterious demonstrations. Reports say that the stage is literally covered with odd devices such as hand made equipment representing years of experiment. The explanations are said to be remarkably brief and understandable.

Indian Baritone Here

On the 12th of November, Dean Minard has had the good fortune of securing Chief Ho-To-Pi, American Indian Baritone, who is known as the Indian Caruso. He is a descendant of the northern Cheyennes and is a natural musician. At the age of 13 he was sent to Chicago to start his career, studying hard for four and a half years, then going to New York for three years after which he spent five years in Italy. Ho-To-Pi repertoire consists of eighteen operas and 362 songs in seven different languages.

R. A. Stammon to Lecture

R. A. Stammon, head of the Western Congregational association will address the student body on the 24th of November. Dr. Stammon has been interested in young peoples work for several years and has lectured to convocations at many of the colleges throughout the country.

Boys Dormitory Is Vantage Seat For Girls Soccer Games

This is a new angle of the advantages of the boys dormitory. It should certainly boast its desirability. The long windows at the west end make perfectly grand ring-side seats for the girl's gym classes, and if there's anything more entertaining than watching the women playing soccer on the football field, it's watching the girl's play soccer.

They have so many cute tricks in their game. One old favorite is to run half the length of the field as fast as their fur coats will permit them, and then upon reaching the ball, stepping on it and turning an ankle. That play is bound to bring a roar of masculine applause from the 69 west windows of the boys dorm.

Another trick that is real cute is when two girls go after the ball and come charging from opposite directions. They give a manly lunge, and both missing the ball completely, kick each other on the shins. Much consoling and comforting is necessary to induce these heroines back to their posts after a blood curdling scene as this—and after that they aren't much good anyway—their eyes being blinded by the gentle tears.

Much, however, is to be gained from witnessing these skirmishes. Nowhere is there such well-executed confusion.

PUBLIC DISCUSSION DEPARTMENT HAS NEW INSTRUCTOR AT WORK

Miss Bender, who graduated in 1928 is the new interpretative reading and story telling instructor in the department of Public Discussion.

Miss Bender will conduct classes in professional make-up and stage production besides the other classes. In the interpretative reading course the main purpose is to gain correct breath control and perfect diction. In conclusion Miss Bender pointed out the value of the course in relation to a well rounded college course.

Hanson Welcomes Chemists Club At Regular Meeting

Dean I. W. Smith, Minard, Carrick, Dr. Bimley Give Talks on Relationship of Chemistry

The first regular meeting of the Chemist's Club of North Dakota State College for the school year of 1930-31 was held Thursday night, October 16. President Maurice Hanson opened the meeting by welcoming the incoming Freshmen and explaining the object of the Chemist's club; namely, to promote an interest in chemistry and a spirit of co-operation and sociability among the members.

The purpose of the program was to show the relation of Chemistry to other subjects found in the curriculum of the School of Chemistry. This was accomplished in short talks by four men prominent on the campus.

The first of the talks was given by Dean I. W. Smith, Professor of Mathematics and Dean of Men. He showed very clearly that in order to be a good chemist, exactness in reasoning, obtained through the study of mathematics, is essential.

Next Dean Minard, Professor of English and Philosophy and Dean of the School of Science and Literature, explained the need of the study of English in college. He pointed out that an interest in some phase of literature, philosophy, or other study makes the chemist keener in his profession.

In the address following, Dr. Bimley of the Department of Biology said that the science of Biology progressed only as fast as discoveries relative to it were made by the chemist. He explained that the most simple of muscular movements involves chemical reactions. Physiology, he stated, is a chemical problem.

In the closing address of the program on "The Relation of Chemistry to Chemistry" Dr. Carrick, Dean of the School of Chemistry, showed how the chemist, by broadening himself, is better fitted for life's work. The building blocks of the chemist; namely, the atoms, are so minute that an exactness and fineness of detail is positively essential, he explained. He added that the industrial chemist of Germany before the war was largely responsible for her supremacy.

College Is Host To "Y" Delegates

Student representatives and secretaries of all the college "Y"s in the state met Sunday, Oct. 19, at 9 o'clock in the college "Y" rooms to discuss plans for the 1931 conference. It was decided that the theme of the spring conference would be "Dare We Be Ourselves".

Mr. Roy Hollands, State Student Conference President, Grand Forks; Miss Stella Scurlock, National Student Secretary, New York City; and Mr. Lester Howard, "Y" State Secretary were in charge of the meeting. The Fargo representatives were: Mr. Carl Albright, YMCA President; Miss Margorie Beatty, YWCA President; Mrs. Teet, YWCA Secretary; and Mr. Bayliss, YMCA Secretary.

The Spring Conference will be held in Fargo the first week in May.

Opportunities for social contact, service, and educational work are offered through the college YWCA.

BISON HOMECOMING QUEEN

Over 10,000 students, alumni and followers of the Bison and Sioux are expected to witness the crowning of Miss Emily Samuelson as queen of the Bison Homecoming, according to Matt Tindall, alumni secretary. The coronation will take place between the halves of the University-State battle for the North Central Conference championship.

Miss Samuelson is a member of Phi Omega Pi sorority, Guidon, Women's Athletic Association, Pan-Hellenic council and Commissioner of Social Affairs.

Gigantic Rally Broadcast Over Radio Thursday

"Good News" Feature Made Annual Institution After Success Last Year

INVITATIONS GO OUT FOR HOMECOMING

Yells, Band Selections, Pep Talks, Alumni Addresses On Program

A gigantic pep rally exceeding all others in the history of the college and acting as a curtain raiser for the four day homecoming program will be broadcast from the Armory over station W.D.A.Y. M. E. Tindall urges the student body and Fargo-Moorhead alumni to attend and hopes that the Armory will be packed.

The success of the "Good News" radio broadcast held last year has made it an annual institution. The rally broadcast will reach out to Bison and University followers as an appeal to come to Fargo for the Homecoming Day celebration. The broadcast will start at 8:00 o'clock but the rally will begin warming up at 7:30.

The program will consist of: speeches, traditional yells and songs by Doc Putnam and his Gold Star Band, and novelty numbers by student groups. Speakers will include: members of the State Board of Administration; Frank J. Webb, Alumni Secretary of the N. D. U.; President Shepperd of the College; A. R. Winje, president of the Alumni association; C. C. Finnegan, athletic director; members of the football team; Jack Stewart, ticket sales manager; and athletic stars of other years, "Dutch" Schroeder, Fargo, Dick Bjornson, Chicago, George Hanson, Minneapolis, and Cy Arnold, Fargo.

Architecture Prof Spends Summer In European Studies

Prof. Paul W. Jones, of the architecture department, spent the summer in Europe studying advanced design and sketching at the American School of Music and Fine Arts, located at Fontainebleau, France. His instructor was Achille Ouvre, the foremost engraver and etcher in Europe.

Professor Jones was awarded a diploma, the highest honor conferred upon any student by the school. He was singularly honored by receiving first prize for the best etching done by any student this year. The etching portrayed a street scene in Langeais, France.

Few Get Diplomas
Diplomas are granted to about 20 per cent of the students. The work each student does is graded from 1 to 20, 20 corresponding to 100 in our marking system. Four hundred points are required for a diploma. If a student receives 13, 14 or 15 of that number is multiplied by the last number appearing in itself. Hence a 15 would add 75 points toward a diploma. A 9, 10, 11, or 12, however, is multiplied by 2.

The American School of Music and Fine Arts, which operates only during the summer months, is a school for American students exclusively. To be admitted to this school for study, one must be recommended by a recognized leader of his profession or by a former student. Only French teachers are employed. The school is operated by the French government.

Weekend Trips

Every weekend the students took trips to the beauty spots of the chateau country around Fontainebleau. The days on the trip were divided one half day for sight-seeing and one half day sketching. Notable among these trips was a visit to Vaux-le-Vicomte, the villa of Mr. Somier, a sugar magnate, reputed to be the wealthiest man in France. A ten day motor trip to the outlying sections of the chateau country included visits to famous cha-

All College Dance Planned For Friday

An All-College dance and rally will be held in the college armory following the big "Good News" broadcast, the opening event on State's 1930 Homecoming program, Thursday night, it was announced by Leonard Luther, president of the student commission, today. Selection of a cheer leader for the year will be made at the rally.

Six judges, members of the faculty, will consider the candidates for rooster king, Luther announces. Besides the one rooster king, two associates will be named by the judges.

The "Good News" broadcast over WDAY will begin at 8 p. m., and continue until 8:30. Novelty feature numbers will intersperse the program of yells, songs, band numbers and talks.

PHI KAPPA PHI MEETS TOMORROW AFTERNOON

Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary scholastic fraternity, holds their regular fall term business meeting tomorrow at four o'clock in the Seminar Room of the Administration building.

The purpose of the meeting as outlined by Benjamin V. McCaul, secretary-treasurer of the organization is to elect new members from the Junior and Senior classes.

Only students ranking in the upper fourth of their class are eligible to membership.

NOTICE!

There will be no Spectrum on Friday. A special Homecoming edition will be distributed at the game Saturday, for the benefit of the the alumni, and Bison and Sioux followers.

HOMECOMING PARADE BULLETIN NO. 3

All organizations and individuals planning to participate in the Homecoming Parade must register your entries with Professor John E. Doerr not later than Thursday, October 23rd.

As a new feature of this year's Homecoming the prize winning float, group in costumes, and individual in costume will parade around Dacotah Field just before the game. The prizes are to be awarded at that time.

Immediately after the parade all entries must return to the Armory at which time the winners will be notified.

Failure to co-operate in these matters will mean that the prizes will not be awarded.

The Homecoming Committee.

LILLIAN FLATNER IS NEW BAND SPONSOR

Miss Lillian Flatner, senior in home economics and a member of Kappa Delta and Phi Upsilon Omicron sororities, was elected Sponsor of the Gold Star Band to succeed Miss Betty Sheldon, Dr. C. S. Putnam, director of the band announced yesterday.

Further changes in the personnel include: Bottemiller was shifted from Bugle and Drum Corps to the Trumpet section of the band. Fredrikson is first clarinet player instead of second. Miss Sommen is second clarinet player instead of third. Miss Roseltha Nesheim is tympani and chimes player. Miss Oscarson is second flute player. Miss Weinberger is playing alto sax.

The first concert this year to be presented by the band is a program before the North Dakota State Teachers Association convention at Fargo High School the evening of Oct. 29. The band will make its first radio appearance Nov. 12.

YOUR HELP, PLEASE

This week the focus of State activities is Homecoming. The project this year is undoubtedly one of the biggest in the history of the institution. The culmination of the three days program will be the battle of battles—North Dakota State and North Dakota University, both represented by the strongest teams ever developed at their schools.

We want a Bison victory and we will get what we want if we work hard enough for it. Your help on putting over this Homecoming as it has never been put over before will make a world of difference. Attend the Rallies, help build floats, entertain the alums and talk it up.

WE QUESTION IT

When an article appeared in a local newspaper on Sunday stating that Miss Emily Samuelson had been chosen as the Homecoming Queen several members of the Student Commission were mildly surprised on noting that their organization was responsible. We do not question the choice but it is the method that rankles.

Whenever two or three members of an organization can get together and decide what is to be done and then do it without the knowledge of the remainder of the body things have come to a very bad pass. The student body elected the Commission to carry out their wishes and they expect that their desires be at least considered. We do not criticize Miss Samuelson for her part in the affair but we do criticize the president of the Commission for allowing such a thing to happen.

The president of any organization is naturally the leader and usually has his own way, but the thing has got to be done diplomatically. Everything would have been all right if the Commission had been called and approved the matter. The way the thing was done was entirely too dictatorial for even the most indifferent to stomach.

We do not expect that 1500 fingers would be mixed up in this pudding of politics but the representatives of the student body have the right to voice their opinions on things that affect their constituents. Possibly the best way the thing could have been accomplished would have been by a general election. Things like this are usually accomplished by that method.

In the future, we expect more matured judgment on matters of vital interest to the college.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

The new men's residence hall is like a day old babe—without a name. Perhaps if we were going to carry out the same idea as was used in the naming of the girl's dorm, we might consider Apollo, Adonis, Zeus or some character of mythology. The general sentiment, however, seems to be toward men who have rendered the school some exceptional service.

Among the suggestions we find the names of former deans and presidents of the institution such as Ladd, Keene, Waldron, and others. The question is of vital importance to every student in the college. May we have some more suggestions?

FOR EFFECT

People will do most anything for effect. Take the modern co-ed for instance. She lets her hair grow, plucks her eyebrows, applies her make-up—all for effect. Then she may smoke, having the habit, or merely to impress people of her sophistication.

The above measures for effect are sometimes discounted but are not in it with the person who puts on a life of make believe just for effect. We once knew a girl that lived in a northern state. She then moved to the southern part of the country with her parents and acquired a marked southern accent. After a few years she returned to her former home and conversed in the most pleasant southern accent imaginable. For several months she continued her make believe and people who knew of her before began to get disgusted. To cap the climax, she was heard to say that the real snowflakes weren't at all like the snow in the movies.

Sophistication or anything else for effect are all right in their places but the thing is continually overdone. As the wisest president of this country once said, "You can't fool all of the people all of the time."

COSMOPOLITANS

When the class elections take place on Wednesday there will more than likely be several big frames entering the battle for supremacy. The Freshman election will probably be very uncertain. Things are liable to happen in the best regulated of frames. Last year the Cosmopolitan Club placed two candidates in office.

There is no reason why the Cosmopolitan organization cannot have pretty much their own way. They are in the majority and if they were once organized sufficiently well they would make it very tough for any of the fraternities on the campus. Organization and leaders are the big points.

Much credit is due to the founder of the organization. Although he never made a fraternity he went ahead and organized a group of non-fraternity men and women and gave them something on which to center their attentions. In the spring election the organization came within an ace of placing its candidates in office.

Cooperation of non-fraternity and sorority men and women with the Cosmopolitans will give them many of the advantages that Greek letter groups have. Social functions are part of the programs of the Cosmopolitans.

JACK STEWART

We feel that Jack Stewart has been one of the important cogs in the football success of the Bison during the year. His work on publicity and ticket sales have made it possible for the athletic department to go ahead with its program of expansion.

We have not heard as yet what is going to become of Stewart after homecoming but we sincerely hope that the Athletic department can see its way clear to retain this most valuable publicity man.

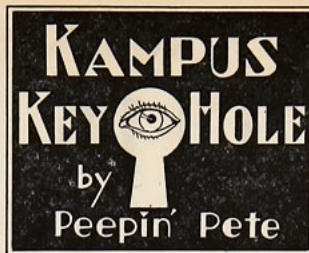

STUDENT OPINION
ADVICE I WOULD GIVE A STUDENT ENTERING COLLEGE:

The first thing, if you have a large enough physique to pass as an upper classman, do so. It will make the seat of your trousers wear at least twice as long and your knees won't become threadbare from crawling down the sidewalk between a row of Sophomores. One thing though, they will always help you, no matter how homely or how good-looking you are or how you are dressed. They will always help you down that line. The Puritans of old were at least allowed to run when they were driven down the gauntlet by the Indians, but now that the Sophomores have taken up the custom, they have resorted to more cruel means and force their unlucky victim to crawl down that long, long line of paddles. If anyone questions your statement of being a junior or senior, or that you are taking post graduate work, just look him over carefully, give him a hard stern glare and pass on, but by all means don't laugh. It will prove disastrous if not fatal, unless the Sophomore is smaller than you. In that case kick him viciously in the shin and walk on as if you had just stopped to talk to an old friend. Sometimes you can win your point by argument, but they often get suspicious upon seeing four or five freshman books under your arm, which you had been up until two thirty the night before studying. If you can convince them, you are lucky, but be careful—they were freshmen once themselves.

If you are too small and look too young to be classed among the seniors, submit humbly to their iron rule. Call them only by their last names preceded by the title of "The Honorable Sir So and So". Lie down and let them walk on your neck or anything else their honorable hearts desire. It is the easiest way out and the only way out. Upon being accused of robbing the bank, admit it. They know you aren't guilty. All they want is to inflict the punishment set forth by the judge, who is one of their fellow classmen. You can no more get out of it than get out of an exam in chemistry, so why try.

It matters little if you have obeyed all of their rules. A freshman was caught walking home from the library one night by a group of sophomores. He admitted he was a freshman, he had on his green cap, he addressed them all by their surnames and had been carrying a few cords of wood to school every day. All of these deeds did no good. They proceeded to take turns sitting on him three at a time, and then paddled him for going to the Crystal Ballroom the night before in a bathing suit, when he had been home doing his English from 8 till 12:30. What is a poor freshman to do? There is no disputing their supreme authority; as will be readily noticed upon experimenting a few times. Often one experiment will prove sufficient, as in my case.

Does one have to be a prevaricator in order to take the "story telling" course in the Public Discussion department?

It would take a train 225 miles long to carry all the concrete in Hoover dam. That's nothing! Look at all th' heavy, hard, and concrete stuff we have to carry in Zerby's classes.

Fans have already started to button up their overcoats, marking time 'till Saturday's big game. Even cold weather is not expected to keep the faithful from cluttering all points of vantage in the stands. Dr. Ballyhoo's serum has been injected vigorously, aiding to advertise a game which needs little advertising, and visitors from far and near will step on the heels of other visitors, all pushing in to pay their homage to King Football. Incidentally they will also pay their $2 a throw. The total result should be the largest "money crowd" in the somewhat athletic history of the state.

SIoux ON WARPATH

The depot agents and night policemen are expected to remain in Grand Forks this Saturday, but all other able bodied citizens will charter some sort of locomotion bound for Fargo.

A special train is coming. So is the University's 80 piece band. They will have leather lunged rooters to burn. Advices from the north yesterday, indicated that over 300 tickets had already been sold in the University city. When the Sioux gang all lands in our midst, no doubt 1,000 would be estimating the crowd mildly.

WHAT'S THE SCORE?

Anyone able to name Saturday's correct score should receive a seat in the hall of fame. It just isn't being done. The odds are even so far as I can figure, with the Bison "due" to stage another of those justly celebrated Finnegan upsets.

"STOP JARRETT"

Casey Finnegan and Bob Lowe started a campaign sometime since to stop the campfire of "Last Minute" "Stop Jarrett". Now we have word Jack West, Sioux coach, that Jarrett will not start Saturday's embroglio.

If so, this is sweet music and more or less of a moral victory for the local boys. Jarrett, if you do not know, is the young man, who scores touchdowns about as fast as your grandma can knit mitts. Only he seems to do it a lot easier.

"HOSS" IS BACK

Debonair "Hoss" McGrath, your sartorial delight, has thrown away his cane and limp, and resumed the ferocious football tactics which once made him the pride and joy of Finnegan's heart. McGrath's bad back is bad no more. Two hurrahs and a tiger. For "Hoss" is a nice player and will be a hard nut for the "U" to crack Saturday. Incidentally, "Peck" McEssy, the roly-poly boy friend, and Joe Blakeslee, who started the year at regular half, are also back in the harness. This helps the Bison.

"PA AND MA DAY"

Let's make Saturday "Pa and Ma Day". Call up the folks and have them come in for the game. Don't let them miss the biggest contest of the past ten years. They can be seated in the student section.

Bison Continue Title Stampede In Delayed Win

Morningside Holds State Scoreless for Three Quarters at Sioux City

TWO TOUCHDOWNS IN FINAL PERIOD

McKay, Lonsbrough Make Long Runs for Counters at Homecoming

The Bison continued their title march by winning from a surprisingly strong Morningside team at Sioux City last Saturday. Casey did not use the large number of men that he had planned to put into the fray as the Herd had their hands full from the start of the game.

For three periods the Methodists held the Bison scoreless, but the untiring efforts of the comeback men could not be denied and they pushed across two counters in the final quarter. Scores of 0 to 0 which were telegraphed to Fargo for a total of three times did not give the Staters such a rosy outlook. Then when that last period came in, what a climax there was to the suspense.

Morningside had the better of the State College in the passing game completing 3 out of 5 while the Bison could complete but 1 of 6.

In the number of first downs the Bison held the upper hand gaining 9 to 8 for Morningside.

That last quarter, which gave the game to the Yellow and Green, was all agog with the plunging of the Bison backs and the thrilling 55 yard run of Lonsbrough's. With about 10 minutes of the game left McKay plowed his way through the line from the 3 yard marker for the first score of the contest.

Six points looked pretty good to most of the Bison, but Cy thought they might as well have another touchdown. Consequently he proceeded to carry out his intentions. As a result, in a few minutes Cy was across the goal line with the ball in his arm after a dash of 55 yards that began teaus such as: Chambord, Chinon, Emboise, and Azoy Lervilleau. Professor Jones traveled privately for three weeks in Southern France, Italy, and Switzerland. Salient points were: Nice, Monte Carlo, Genoa, Turin, Pisa, Milan, Florence, Rome, Naples, and Venice. He says "Venice was different from all the other cities I visited. Artistically, Florence was outstanding among all the cities. I was amazed at the general prosperity of Italy. As a rule, everyone was prosperous looking and well dressed." Other places of interest which he visited are: the Isle of Capri near Naples, the lakes of Geneva and Constance in Switzerland, and Mont St. Michael off the coast of Brittany on an island which is accessible from the mainland by a causeway.

Professor Jones sailed for France from New York City June 17, and returned to New York Sept. 25 on the French Line "Rochambeau". The trip to New York and return was made by automobile. He returned with 3,000 to 4,000 postcards, some 50 works of design and sketching, and a desire to return to Europe in the near future.

Tryouts for the fall term play and other plays of the Edwin Booth Dramatic Club, are to be held at the Little Country Theatre on Tuesday (today) October 21, between the hours of 3 and 6 p. m. All students interested in dramatics are asked to try out.

The officers who will serve during the school year are Clark Fredrikson, president; Elene Weeks, vice-president; Dorothea Olson, secretary and treasurer; Don Lawrence, keeper of the chest; and Claire Newell, publicity manager.

A harvest scene was the theme of a dance given by Kappa Kappa Gamma in honor of their pledges Friday night at the Park Recreation building.

Corn stalks, pumpkins and other devices portrayed the autumnal spirit. A large fireplace added considerably to the atmosphere while the orchestra pit was enclosed by logs making a very realistic woodland setting.

A Whale of an Idea

Yep, that's what all North Dakota State co-eds say about our new Miss Marie Campus Shop, second floor front. It makes us feel pretty good, too, the way the girls are taking to this cute little department where collegiate frocks in Parisian styles are only sixteen dollars. Not only this, but there are comfortable chairs which make the Campus Shop an ideal place to wait for your friends.
