Blue Key Sponsors Tryouts for Mens College Glee Club

Action Follows the Agitation Which Has Existed for Many Years

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON IS TIME SELECTED

Circular Letter States That Success Depends on Interest Shown

Blue Key fraternity announces the sponsoring of tryouts for a college Men's Glee Club, the tryouts to be held Wednesday afternoon at the Alpha Kappa Phi house at 4 p. m.

The action of Blue Key follows agitation for such a musical organization which has existed among the male students of this institution for several years past. Numerous articles and student opinions have appeared in the columns of The Spectrum on this subject. Several formal attempts have been made to organize a glee club, attempts which have failed due to numerous handicaps confronting the endeavors.

Investigations have shown the existence of many promising vocalists among the men students, and it is felt that a large number will turn out for the first meeting.

It is hoped that applicants for positions in the prospective organization will have had some musical experience and some ability to read music, although this latter aim "is not so important," according to a circular letter sent out by the fraternity. The letter goes on to state: "The success of this undertaking will be determined by the number of men who turn out for the tryouts and get behind the club. This can be one of the most interesting activities in college and an institution that is alive has a good Men's Glee Club."

1931 Bison Cover To Be Black and Gold

S. K. Smith Company of Chicago to Create New Course

Incorporated with the Bison seal of the yearbooks for the past three issues, the theme of the 1931 Bison is depicted on the cover selected for the 1931 Bison, according to Amos Wallum, editor of the publication. The S. K. Smith Company of Chicago, who created the cover for the 1930 Bison has been chosen to cover the 1931 issue.

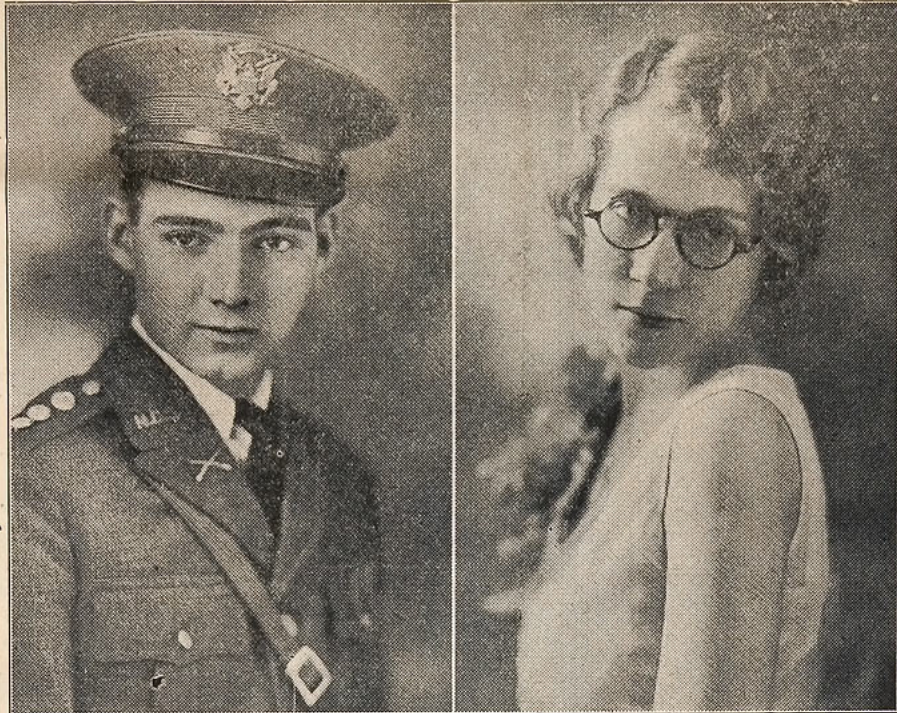

In selecting the cover of the Bison for 1931, the staff has chosen the color black with a background of gold. That these colors will be unlike any ever used for the Bison, is the promise of Mr. Wallum.

MILITARY BALL LEADER AND PARTNER

F. Neal Baldwin is a Captain in the student ROTC unit and is also a member of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity, Kappa Tau Delta, honorary architectural fraternity, and Delta Kappa Sigma social fraternity.

Helen Carstenson has been selected by Captain Baldwin as his partner. She is a member of Phi Omega Pi sorority. Lieutenant Colonel Lawrence Parsons and his partner, Glade Cowles, will be second in line.

Neal Baldwin and Helen Carstenson Lead Grand March at Military Ball

WHOZIT BRING TO MIND?

A certain member of the junior class of the college claims the medal for "Thinkin' class and school patriotism all-a-time, 24 hours a day and night."

the other day the campus delivery truck passed him on the main stem and he claims that when he noticed the yellow and green of the new license plates he promptly let out a big "Yea Bison!" A closer inspection of the plates revealed the number was 31, his class numerals, so he emitted a "Yea Juniors!"

Homemakers Visit Many Fargo Stores

Shopping Tour Will Start From Ceres Hall at 8:30

Merchants Are Cooperating With Extension Department

Starting from Ceres hall on Thursday, 8:30 a. m., Jan. 16, homemakers in attendance at the 31st annual Farmers and Homemakers week will take a shopping tour through several Fargo stores where exhibits will be displayed and discussed. The tour will terminate at the noon hour.

Fargo merchants are cooperating with the clothing departments of the resident and extension staffs of the college in making the shopping tour a success. It is the plan of those in charge of the tour to "tie up" with the work in the college and state by teaching the selection of standard and quality merchandise. The hygiene and selection side will be stressed with children's garments.

Misses Minnie Anderson and Adelaide Laurie of the college staff, and Misses Julia Brekke, Edna Sommerfeld and Inez LaBossier of the extension division will be on hand during the tour to stimulate and aid in answering questions.

Gamma Tau Sigma meeting tomorrow afternoon at 4:00, Bison office. —President.

Led by Cadet Captain, F. Neal Baldwin and Miss Helen Carstenson with Lieutenant Colonel Lawrence Parsons and his partner, Miss Glade Cowles, second in line, the Grand March of the 15th annual Military Ball will begin at 9 o'clock Friday evening in the Crystal Ballroom.

There will be twelve dances with no extras. The Red Jackets have arranged a special program with several military arrangements being featured. Informal dancing will precede the Grand March and the formal dancing will continue until 12 o'clock. According to the committee in charge an unusual feature is promised that bids fair to excel anything attempted in past affairs.

N. D. U. Sends Representatives
Cadet Colonel Francis T. Hillman and Hollis Selson, who is Second Lieutenant in Scabbard and Blade, will be present representing the University of North Dakota at the Military Ball. Each year both schools invite representatives of the other to attend their annual function.

Tickets are on sale by the Junior and Senior members of the cadet corps and Scabbard and Blade fraternity. The tickets can be purchased down town at the Dakota or the Service Drug stores for $2.50, the same price that they are being sold for on the campus.

According to floor manager, Lloyd Clark, and publicity manager, Everett Knutson, two hundred couples are expected to attend.

GAMMA PHI BETA TO INSTALL FEBRUARY 1

Saturday, Feb. 1, has been set as the date for the installation of Sigm Theta sorority, as a chapter of the national organization of Gamma Phi Beta, according to word received by Mrs. Richard Bower, president of the Fargo alumnae chapter of Gamma Phi Beta.

Miss Elizabeth Davidson Barbout, Evanston, Ill., grand president of Gamma Phi Beta, and Mrs. Sarah Preston Finley, Minneapolis, chairman of expansion for District 2, of which Fargo will be a part, will be present at the installation services. It is also expected that many visiting Gamma Phi Betas will attend.

FLEE LITTLE FLY

Members of the staff of this rag noticed a fly in the Spectrum office on January 13. Now that proves one of two things—either the thermometer has been lying or else someone is drawing them. Of course, there's the Gamma Tau Sigma Rookies.

Five Women Honored Master Homemakers

Are Chosen From Among 34 Outstanding Contestants

National Farm Women's Magazine to Give Recognition

Five rural women of North Dakota will be honored at the annual master farm homemakers recognition banquet to be held in Ceres hall tomorrow evening at 7:00. They are: Mrs. R. Tomlinson, Tokio; Mrs. E. H. Burke, Edmore; Mrs. Roy Johnson, Casselton; Mrs. A. D. Cross, Park River; and Mrs. D. C. McLeod, Crary. They were chosen from among 34 outstanding candidates.

The five women will be publicly honored by The Farmer's Wife, national farm women's magazine, St. Paul, with the cooperation of the home economics extension service at the college.

Mrs. Tomlinson thinks the farm the best place to raise children—"for they can really learn to know their father there." Her ambition is to have her home stand for righteous living, good citizenship and broad tolerance. During the five years that she has been on the school board she has helped plan a new building and obtain trees for a windbreak, free, from the State School of Forestry. Mrs. Tomlinson is active in providing recreation for young people, she planned a community Turkey day, has been superintendent of the homemakers' department at the county fair and a worker in the church, 4-H clubs, parent-teacher association and a homemakers' club.

Fleming Presents Most Novel Poster For Military Ball

Herman Skaret Is Awarded Second Place by the Judges

FIRST TWO PLACES RECEIVE FREE TICKET

Posters Are To Be Displayed During The Week In Store Windows

The Military Ball Poster Contest, which was conducted by the department of architecture and Scabbard and Blade, was won by Florence Fleming, who presented a modernistic picture of a ballroom. Miss Fleming secured her modernistic lighting effects by the use of the spray gun, which is a method highly adapted to commercial art.

Herman Skaret's poster, the main theme of which was a colorful page mounted on a spirited steed, won second place. The prizes offered for the first and second posters were two tickets to the Military Ball.

Other members of the department of architecture whose posters placed in the contest are Chester Comeau, third place; Robert Stinson, fourth place; Horace McGrath, fifth place; and Donald Best, sixth place. Posters were also entered by Alf Skaret, Henry Zwerg, Harold Henning, and Charlotte Howland.

Competition in the contest was very close, according to Mr. Homer Hutton, head of the department of architecture, as exceptionally fine work was done by all participants.

These posters will be displayed in the windows of the leading stores downtown for the balance of the week.

1930 Bison Awarded All-American Rating

University of Minnesota Gives Book Highest Possible Rating

All-American rating, the highest possible rating for yearbooks, was given the 1930 Bison by the University of Minnesota. The winning annual had Jessie McLachlin as editor, while Frank Hannaher was the business manager. The 1929 Bison, with Everett Wallum as editor, also received the rating.

Assisting Miss McLachlin and Mr. Hannaher were Amos Wallum, Adolph Pahl, William Haslam, Florence Fleming, Frances Ross, Edris Probstfield, Everett Wallum, Billie Eastgate, Henry Presler, Charles Arneson, Jayne Sudro, and Georgina Brindle.

The 1930 Bison employed a characteristic modernistic theme with the colors lavender and grey to portray it. The 304 pages used made the book the largest in the history of State College.

Womens Basketball Practices Underway

Delta Psi Kappa Cup Is Sorority Championship Trophy

Inter-sorority basketball practices are now under way according to Elizabeth McDonald, basketball manager for the W. A. A. After a few weeks of practice the tournament will begin.

Because of the large classes in the gymnasium, practices are scheduled from five to six during the first four days of the week and at four o'clock on Fridays. Miss Helen Ballard, instructor of physical education, has direct supervision of all of the practices.

The Delta Psi Kappa cup that is given each year by the women's honorary physical education sorority to the winner of the inter-sorority tournament is at present in the hands of the Sigma Thetas who won possession of the trophy after the smoke of last year's battle had cleared away.

Basketball Season
 It has arrived! North Dakota State is reputed to have one of the strongest teams in the Conference. Four last last year's veterans, May, Bliss, Johnson, and Captain Gergen—men who helped State into the position of a tie for second place in the Conference standings—are back, ably assisted by a host of very promising sophomores. The 1930 team has won all home games. At the present writing this school is tied for first place in the net loop. We anticipate a most successful season. The Lettermen's Club is cooperating in the attempt to make the home games most popular with the student body by sponsoring all-college mixers to be staged at the conclusion of the evening's game. The Winter Term should witness a more united stand of the student body, and numerous occasions on which "we hundreds" realize our common interests.

Military Ball
 We can say without fear of contradiction that the history of former Military Balls lies in that part of the brain dedicated to most pleasant memories. The Spectrum urges all to attend this social function in the interest of yourselves.

Wisdom
 Don't tell your troubles, especially at night, for what seems to the calamity of your young life at midnight will not be half as hard to tackle at seven o'clock the next morning. It never paid to say a mean thing just because someone said one to you. We're all human—forget five times as much as you remember in the way of hurts, insults and slights; and we guarantee you will be ten times as happy. But if someone confides in you be wise enough to keep such confidences to yourself. If you want friends don't boast. Some fine day don't mention casually to your fellow promenader when you see a Marmon pass, "Gee, I wish I were home with my own little Marmon." Don't lie—more than you can help. It's disastrous. Every lie you tell requires more than ten more to get out of it. Of course, use sense and if a girl tells you she bought a green hat, don't tell her she looks hideous in green. Don't try to tell the professors all you know the first two weeks of the term. With two hundred other students trying to do the same thing, you will be a pleasant shock, if you tell him something he hasn't heard before. Yes, if you really want an "A" in your course in "Folksology" keep your mouth shut, discriminately and discreetly.—Selected.

A Step Ahead!
 For several years there has been a decided need for a Men's Glee Club on the campus. Moreover, we have read in past editions of this publication numerous requests for such an organization, requests that were sincere and seemed to voice a need felt by a large number of students. There is no question but that the subject of a male chorus has been a much discussed one on the campus this year. The Spectrum received numerous Student Opinions on the subject and printed same. We anticipate the success of this attempt to form the desired organization. So far as we have been able to determine, no limit has been fixed on the number of members to be chosen for the club. There is a chance for everyone if he will get in on the ground floor and be present at the tryouts tomorrow afternoon. You do not have to be a musical star, or even a well trained musician. An honest effort on your part and a little confidence besides will make the proposed Glee Club an actuality, and insure for the college a necessary musical organization and plenty of entertainment and benefit for yourself.

MUSICIANS FEATURE CONVOCATION PROGRAM
 Native Jugo Slavian music featured the program given by the Elias Tamburitza players at convocation Monday morning held in the armory before an unusually large audience. The group consisting of Mr. Charles Eliam, his brother and his son and daughter performed for the most part on tamburitzas, native Jugo Slavian instruments which have been perfected by Mr. Elias. The program combined selections from operas and classical music with snatches of modern day jazz. It was brought here under the auspices of the Extension division of the University of Minnesota. Yale University is building a special 200 acre laboratory station in which to breed and study several species of apes. These will include chimpanzes, gorillas, orangoutangs, and gibbons. Though the station is being built in Florida, the studies will be made in the New Haven laboratories, and parts of Central Africa. Observation of the habits, social relations, psycho-biological and life histories of these animals will be made. In the ability to learn its structural and functional aspects, the ape closely resembles Man. Chasing butterflies and moths helped a Cumberland college student to pay his way through college. Incidentally, his collection of 20,000 specimens is valued at $4,000 and he utilized it in public lectures and exhibits.

Ebullitions of Ebony Blott

By Everett Wallum

In competing for honors in the Little International milking contest to be held here this week, members of downtown service clubs will have a tail to tell—to behave.

Monarchs of business will discover that there is room at the top for milkers—even if it is a tight squeeze.

ONE OF THE CONTESTANTS LAST YEAR HAD A HARD TIME PICKING HIS COW. HE SAID HE WANTED TO TRY THAT BOSSY CALLED MAGNESIA, AS HE HAD HEARD A LOT ABOUT MILK OF MAGNESIA.

We confidently predict that a Scotchman will win. Those boys can be plenty tight-fisted.

But if the cow is Scotch, contestants will get nothing but skim milk for their trouble.

THEY NEEDN'T THINK THEY ARE GOING TO WIN JUST BECAUSE THEY'VE GOT LOTS OF PULL.

Fellows who have participated in tugs of war are barred as professionals.

ENTRANTS WILL BE SEARCHED FOR HIDDEN CANS OF CONDENSED MILK BEFORE THE GUN STARTS THE PROCEEDINGS.

They've got a trained bovine that will jump over the moon if someone brings a pint.

Some fellows we've seen can jump higher over less moon than any cow.

They're going to place several bottles of the kind of milk the nice man brings... every... morning... before... each cow. The idea is that the cow will blush with shame and really exert herself.

WE CAN'T HELP WONDERING WHO STARTED THESE MILKING MARATHONS. BUT THAT'S AN UDDER QUESTION.

One year, a cow, very unladylike, bit her milker. Which may or may not prove that she chews her crud.

WE'VE GOT OUR MONEY UP ON THE LIONS, THOUGH THE ROTARIANS HAVE THE BEST CHEERLEADER.

One of the yells is: "Carbohydrates-protein, fat; get that milk right in the vat. RAW! RAW! RAW!"

They've got meters on the cows to register the number of calories in the milk.

A bagpipe is to be played during the contest so the cow will give all the milk she's got if they stop the music.

Anyway, they can't say this column was a lotta bull.

Yale University spends $2 for every dollar that students pay for tuition. Fellowships and loans were given to 1,209 men last year.

Goodwin and May Lead Bison Quint In Coyote Victory

Saaly's Charges Take Well-Earned Victory From South Dakotans

GERGEN AND JOHNSON SMOTHER SCORING TRIES

Win Puts State Tossers In Tie With South Dakota State

Led by Vern Goodwin, speedy sophomore forward, North Dakota State cleared the first hurdle in its race for the Conference basketball title, by defeating the clever South Dakota University Coyotes here Saturday night, 25 to 23.

The game completed the first round of Conference play, and puts the Bison in a tie for first place with South Dakota State, who happens to be the next Conference opponent of the Bison. The two loop leaders will clash in Fargo on Jan. 24.

The Coyotes came to Fargo fully convinced that they were a good basketball aggregation, because of their sensational victory over North Dakota University Friday night at Grand Forks, and several local fans left the armory Saturday night with the same impression. South Dakota opened the game with a rush and piled up a five point lead before the Bison could hit their stride, but for the remainder of the half, State exhibited a brand of ball which would be a credit to any college team, and literally buried them under a barrage of shots which gave them a 15 to 6 lead at the end of the period. The fine passing, shooting and defensive play displayed by the Bison during this part of the game, gave them the right to claim that the better team won, and also showed the State College students that they can expect victories this year if the boys will maintain the stride they are capable of.

South Dakota played a hard, determined game during the second half, and managed to cut down the lead a few points, but the Yellow and Green defense was hard to get through, and the Bison were still ahead, 24 to 19, with less than two minutes to play.

For a minute, the Bison defense cracked and Walker and Root each scored from the field for the Coyotes, making the score 24 to 23 with but 20 seconds to play. In the wild scramble which followed the tip-off, Cecil Bliss was fouled, and his successful free-throw gave the final score of the game. The summary:

Lieutenant Smith Is Pleased With Fighters

Bollman - Dovorak Go Draws All Eyes To Tournament Opening

When Lieut. Fay Smith looked over his array of boxing material he was well pleased with their showings, and prospects for a well balanced boxing team is promising for inter-collegiate competition.

Among the heavyweights, who will aspire to win the title vacated by Lenny Friberg, who will not return to defend his crown due to injuries received during the recent football season, are Archie Anderson, a veteran of last season who is showing decided improvement with every workout; Ackerman, a powerful Frosh football man, and a host of other promising material that will make it a merry battle for the championship.

In the light heavyweight division there is a gallant array of material. Among the most promising are Lonsborough, last season's champion, and Rod McMillan, a strong contender. These two look like the class of the division so far, but Coach Smith pins strong hopes on such fine scrappers as Bill Gray, Loy, and Altenburg. These three candidates have shown such fine form in the workouts that it will not be at all surprising if they should upset the favorites.

Bollman Heads Middleweights

With Frankie Dovorak fighting the champion, Cliff Bollman, on the season's first card, the race for the title of the middleweight class will be an interesting one. Along with these two veterans is John Bond, who lost a close decision to Dovorak last winter, and who will be back with real determination to annex the crown. Schallen, Dietrich and Lanz have shown enough real ability to convince Smith that they will be strong contenders. Herb Karges, who fought some sizzling encounters during the last campaign, has registered for the winter term and will be back in the harness in a few days.

Vern Skjonsby will have to be in top condition to defend his title successfully, with such promising welters as Schaff, Wurdeman, and C. Anderson, working out daily, with their eyes fixed on the throne of the welterweight division. Johnny Molitar was easily the class of the lightweight contenders last year and is expected to repeat again this year, but Wohlwend, Ward, and Porter are not to be under estimated and should give the much touted Molitar some real competition.

All men desiring to join the Pep club this year are urged to report to Room 12, Engineering building, at 4:30 p. m. on Tuesday, Jan. 14. Approximately forty men will be needed, according to Mr. Olson, secretary.

FIVE WOMEN HONORED AS MASTER HOMEMAKERS

Mrs. Burke believes that children must be taught to obey but that they will do so, with but little punishment, if put on their honor. In that connection, a neighbor says: "Mrs. Burke has the best mannered children in the county." She and her husband homesteaded in Montana 23 years ago with only $500. Their buildings burned once but now they have a 640-acre North Dakota farm nearly paid for and a modern, well equipped home. They have planted 3,000 trees.

Master Farm Family

Mrs. Johnson is the wife of a Master Farmer, her selection giving North Dakota its first "Master Farm Family." She has shown that a town girl can become a successful farmer's wife. She has been a Sunday school teacher for 20 years, president of the Federated Women's club and a leader in the Cass County Farm Council, the parent-teacher association and homemakers' club.

Mrs. Cross thinks that success is in "knowing that you have done your best even if you have not reached your goal." A former teacher, she still attends teacher's institutes to keep abreast of rural school progress. She is a publicity writer for the national W. C. T. U., edits a department of the local newspaper and is project leader in homemakers clubs.

Mrs. McLeod's five children have all attended college or normal school. Her turkeys and chickens helped pay the bill, and are now bringing her $1,000 a year. Her chief ambition is "to raise a well educated, ambitious, successful family."

The five homemakers have two to five children, they live on farms of 230 to 1,200 acres and they make from $150 to $1,000 a year with poultry, dairy and garden products. All of them voted in the last elections.
