Prospects Bright For Successful Basketball Team

Captain Gergen Expected to Make Strong Bid for Conference Berth

THREE REGULARS LOST BY GRADUATION

Schedule Will Open Here With South Dakota University

North Dakota State College basketball prospects for a place in the sun of the 1929-30 North Central Intercollegiate conference season indicate that the Bison will be active contenders for a top berth. Coach Leonard Saalwaechter counts among his candidates five veterans of known ability with nine outstanding sophomore prospects and several others who have indicated in early workouts that they are going to make a strong bid for places on the varsity. The Bison lost but three of their regulars by graduation this year.

With Captain Pete Gergen reporting in good condition after a stiff football season Sally expects this veteran guard to make a strong bid for conference honors this year. Leo May, outstanding center contender, suffered a bad shoulder injury in football, but his attending physician is confident that May will be in first class condition by the time the team takes to the road next month for a pre-season swing through Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois. Gilly Johnson is counted on to be one of the main defensive players in the Bison first string combination. Cecil Bliss and Johnny Smith have proved their prowess at the forward positions last year while Eric Nordstrom; Joe Blakeslee; Clair Peterson and Leal Thomassen will be the main contenders for the guard positions left vacant by Brady's graduation. Vern Goodwin is the outstanding center man among the sophomore candidates.

Bliss and Smith will find strong rival for the forward berths in Fairhead, Reitz, Walter Olsen, and Carl Hanson, all of whom were outstanding. (Continued on Page 4)

Frosh Debaters Win Class Title

Vogel and McKechnie Lead the Attack Against Unlimited Cuts

Freshman debaters defeated the Juniors to win interclass honors, last Friday evening in the Little Country Theatre. The week preceding they defeated the sophomores in a preliminary debate. In both cases the negative of the question was upheld. "Resolved, That North Dakota State college should adopt an attendance system allowing an unlimited number of unexcused absences from classes" was the topic. The freshmen, Mart Vogel and Don McKechnie, defended last year's cut system against the arguments of Fred Gronvold and Chester Walla, juniors, for unlimited cuts. Loyal Gast, president of the Lincoln Debate Club, presided. Judges were: Dean H. L. Walster, Dr. W. C. Hunter, and Prof. R. Otterson.

BISON WILL MEET ONE OF STRONGEST INDEPENDENT TEAMS

The 1929-30 basketball season for the North Dakota Bison will be formally introduced Saturday, November 30, when the Herd meets a team of former college and independent stars on the Armory floor at 8:15 p. m.

This team, playing under the colors of the Grand Recreation Parlors, undoubtedly is the best aggregation of players which has ever been assembled in this city. The list includes Harry "Red" Blakely, George McPherson, Claudie Miller, George Newgard, and George Hermes, stars of former years from the Bison school; Bobby Rusch, Eddie Powers and Chuck Phillips of Northwestern, Wisconsin and Iowa respectively.

State College Livestock Judging Team

Christmas Festival Planned December 8

The Festival class, under the direction of Prof. Alfred G. Arvold, has chosen Sunday, Dec. 8, as the date for the Fourteenth Annual Christmas Festival. This festival will be held in the Little Country Theater at four o'clock. Children of Fargo and Moorhead and interested adults will be guests of the Public Discussion department.

The planning and directing of the pageant, which is to be one important part of the program, is being worked out by members of the class. The pageant, with representative music and scenes depicting the Christmas time, will open the program. Following this, a social time will be held and refreshments will be served in the Lincoln Log Cabin. Children will be entertained by games and stories. Exhibits are to be held in the library and green room. The advertising is also being taken care of by the members of the class, and hand-made posters are being distributed in conspicuous places.

Plays Chosen For Interclass Contest

The freshman junior, and senior play committees have chosen their selections for the Interclass Play contest which will be held Dec. 5 at 8:15 p. m. in the Little Country Theatre. The Interclass Play contest is an annual affair, last year being won by the senior class with "The Thread of Scarlet" by J. J. Bell.

Bill Heller, Art Cayou, and Lester Peterson, the freshman committee, have chosen "The Ghost of Jerry Bundler" by W. W. Jacobs and Charles Rock.

"The Hand of Siva" by Kenneth Sawyer Goodman has been chosen for the juniors by Ruth Whitney, Katherine Knerr, George Probsfield, Agnes Weible, and Marvin Huckle.

Ruth Boerth and Ralph, acting for the seniors, have chosen "The Waning Moon" by Louise Van Voorhis Armstrong.

The sophomore committee: Elene Weeks, Jane Canniff, Kenneth Wyard, Clara Borden, and Anthony Faber, has chosen "Riders to the Sea" by J. M. Synge.

BIRD BOOK LISTS AVAILABLE HERE

"Please send me pictures of all the male and female birds in the world," is the plea in a letter received by Prof. O. A. Stevens, botanist at the North Dakota Agricultural College, from one ambitious young person who is trying to win a prize in a bird naming contest conducted by a farm magazine. Every day the mail brings similar requests, states Mr. Stevens.

To take care of the inquiries now coming in Mr. Stevens has prepared a list of bird books and guides. This list and the places of publication are available to anyone by writing the publications department at the college.

GRAND LODGE ESSAY OFFERS SCHOLARSHIP

The Grand Lodge Scholarship Award for the best essay on the State Industrial program is being offered again this year. Open to any student of the North Dakota Educational Institutions, the essay may be written on any phase of the subject that appeals to the writer.

NOTICE! TO ALL!

The Office of the Registrar announces that Thanksgiving recess begins tomorrow afternoon at six o'clock and ends Monday morning, December 2, at 8 a. m.

Katherine Knerr Leads Coed Prom

Women's Ball Scheduled for a Week From Next Thursday

"Girls, don't forget to rummage through that old trunk in the attic or down in the basement while you are home for vacation to find something that you can wear to the Coed Prom!" advises Katherine Knerr, manager for the prom which will be held in the college armory at 8:30 p. m., Dec. 4.

The prom, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A., is open to all the girls on the campus, the only requirements being to get another girl for a partner, dress up in anything but your ordinary clothes, and present yourself at the college armory at 8:30 p. m., Dec. 4.

The grand march, which will be led by Katherine Knerr and her partner, who will be chosen very soon, is scheduled to start promptly at 9 p. m. Judging of the costumes will take place during the grand march.

Counties To Send Club Delegates Here

With 31 of North Dakota's 53 counties reporting that their boys' and girls' 4-H clubs will be represented by delegates when the twentieth annual Achievement Institute opens at North Dakota Agricultural College Dec. 10, H. E. Rilling, state club leader, looks for an attendance of more than 300. Several additional counties will also probably have delegates on hand, according to Mr. Rilling, although they have not yet made definite arrangements. The Achievement Institute is a four-day meeting, ending Dec. 13.

Seventeen of the 31 counties signifying their intentions of sending delegates also plan to enter exhibits in the fourth annual show and sale of market classes of club livestock which is scheduled for Dec. 11 to 13 in connection with the Achievement Institute. About 75 head of club livestock, including hogs, beef cattle and sheep, are expected by Mr. Rilling. Prizes and awards are offered the winners of the livestock show, in addition to the attractive prices that many of the prize winning animals bring when put up at public auction at the close of the show.

SPELLING CLASS HAS POOR ATTENDANCE

Protests from the English department have been voiced by Professor K. Kuhn at the lack of cooperation and interest on the part of poor spellers in the special spelling classes held every Monday and Thursday at 4:00. These classes have been held since the seventh of October and the largest attendance they have had is twenty-two, while the general attendance runs about ten or twelve. There is no compulsion in attending these classes which are conducted in a most informal manner. Mr. Kuhn feels that anyone and everyone who finds spelling difficult should start attending.

Ventilating System Goes Into Operation

A ventilating system, a new feature of equipment, has recently been installed in Science Hall, according to Professor A. E. Minard, dean of science and literature at the college. Even though it has not been in operation more than a short time it is proving to be a success.

The cold air which enters under a window from the outdoors is sent thru a heating apparatus where it is warmed and then is forced into the rooms where it circulates near the ceiling of the rooms. The foul air outlet is located near the floor, thereby giving complete circulation. By means of a lever one can flush the room with cold as well as warm air.

The system is provided with a fan driven by a variable speed motor so that a low, medium, or high rate of air velocity is available in forcing the fresh, warmed air through the rooms.

2 Debates Sponsored By Discussion Class

The class in argumentation and debate is sponsoring a series of public debates carried out by members of the class.

The first debate was held yesterday afternoon, November 25, at 4 P. M. in the Seminar Room. "That talking movies are a success" was the subject upheld at this debate by Ole Sand and Lester Peterson, and adversely criticized by Mary Boyle and Fred Gronvold. This debate was conducted according to the Conference Discussion plan of debate. This particular plan is an original one worked out in the class and has for its purpose the making of debate more informal and a mirror of discussion as carried on in committee meetings, etc.

The second debate will be held on Wednesday afternoon, December 4, in the same room. The question of "Resolved, that complete disarmament should be put into effect within five years" will be upheld by Gilbert Ronesvedt and Marvin Jamison, and opposed by Lola Reeves and Albert Buchle. The Congressional type of debate will be used in this discussion.

The members of the class cordially invite any and all interested to come to any of these discussions and to ask questions of the participants following the regular debates.

HIGH SCHOOL DEPT. MOVE INTO SCIENCE

The high school department of the college has been moved from the barracks to the second floor of Science building where classes can be conducted under proper conditions for a first class high school to be maintained, according to Professor Peter J. Iverson, superintendent of the high school.

Professor Iverson's office, four classrooms, and an assembly room are located in Science building. Four classes are held in the Engineering building, two in the Dairy building, and four in the Agriculture building, according to Professor Iverson.

The few disadvantages, such as classes having to be held late in the day because of lack of time and space for the high school department, Professor Iverson hopes to have remedied, he said.

Second Lyceum Course Features Carl Sandburg

is One of America's Most Known Poets and Philosophers

WILL READ SELECTIONS FROM HIS OWN POETRY

'Good Morning America' Is Probably Best Volume of His Works

This evening at 8 o'clock in the armory students of the North Dakota State college will be entertained by Carl Sandburg, one of America's most distinguished modern poets, and one of the most discussed men of literature today. He will give selections from his "Walt Whitman" style of poetry and read snatches from the charming "Rutabaga Stories."

With the exception of Vachel Lindsay and Edwin Markham, we remember no other poet of such world-wide reputation who has stood upon the local stage. Who has not read "Chicago" or some of Sandburg's different definitions of poetry!

Sandburg is essentially a poet of the Middle West, both in environment and subject matter, being a prodigy of Illinois. He has developed a style and technique all his own, although some claim it is similar to Walt Whitman and his democratic principles. A freedom of expression and a broad perception of beauty are some of the characteristics found in his work.

"Good Morning America", the latest creation, is probably the best volume of work which he has published so far, although "Smoke and Steel" and "Slabs of the Sunburnt West" contain a great many poems which have caused much comment in the critic world.

Sandburg, however, is not only a poet, he is a scholar, having written "The Prairie Year", a story of the life of Lincoln. According to New York press reports, Sandburg is fully as delightful and fascinating on the lecture platform as he is in his printed page.

Dramatic Club Initiates Five

Weeks, Welch, Wyard, Nelson, and Heilman Admitted to Membership

Five men and women became members of the Edwin Booth Dramatic Club at initiation ceremonies held Sunday afternoon, Nov. 24, in the Little Country Theatre. They were: Charles Heilman, Ralph Welch, Elene Weeks, Kenneth Wyard, and Emma Nelson.

Members of the club, headed by Ruth Whitney, president, conducted the services, and afterward entertained at a tea held in the Lincoln Log Cabin in honor of the initiates. Members of the club in Play Production and casts of the term play, "The Devil in the Cheese" were special guests.

The club was founded by A. G. Arvold, director of work in Public Discussion, to promote interest in dramatics on the campus, and was named after the famous actor, Edwin Booth. Other members of the club are: Ruth Whitney, Ruth Boerth, Jesse Reynolds, Elsemere Chamberlain, Jane Eddy, Marvin Huckle, and Mabel Wenzel.

SEVERAL ATTEND HOUSE OPENING

A large number attended the Open House held by the Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity at their new home, 1155 Twelfth Avenue North, Sunday from 3 to 6 p. m. Musical entertainment was furnished by several of the members of the fraternity during the afternoon, while the guests were being shown through the house.

Mahatma Gandhi, noted political leader of India, and one of the most arrested men on earth, celebrated his 69th birthday Oct. 2.

SUMMARY

The football season is closed. North Dakota State advanced one step over last year's conference standing, placing third for 1929. Last year found them one rung from the bottom of the ladder.

The mere statement that the Bison moved up one rung of the conference ladder this year does not begin to tell the story of the tremendous improvement in the brand of football played by this year's team over the organization which represented the school last year. Neither does the standing indicate its real strength.

As a matter of fact C. C. "Casey" Finnegan in his first year as coach in a North Central conference brought an aggregation of "also rans" into the ranks of the leaders and must from now on be seriously considered as a contender for the championship.

The Nodaks, taking advantage of all the breaks coming their way and of the numerous Bison injuries, were the only conference team to out score the boys from Fargo. A comparison of the scores for 1928 and 1929 is in itself an indicator of the team's prowess. In the conference games the Bison fought one game to a 0 to 0 tie, another to a 6 to 6 standstill, won a third 22 to 0, and lost a fourth 14 to 0. Last year the team won 25 points to 71 for their opponents. The close of this season finds the Bison with 28 points to their opponents 20.

Seriously handicapped by injuries, an exceptionally small squad and a difficult schedule, Coach Finnegan and his assistant, Bob Lowe, were forced to point their charges for every game. The chief difficulty, however, was the lack of reserve material. The Bison were actually outnumbered by such smaller schools as Concordia, Superior Normal, and the Moorhead Teachers. They were far outnumbered by the other members of the conference. On account of their lack of reserves the Bison mentors were forced to forego scrimmages at times when they were needed most, and to concentrate on their defensive game when they should have been polishing up on the offensive work. In view of these facts it would seem that the uncouth but typically American expression in Alfred Henry Lewis' "Wolfville" is extremely applicable: "Life an't holdin' a good hand but playin' a poor hand well." We take our hats off to the coaches and players of the 1929 Bison football squad; outscored but never outfought.

State Students Show Ability

Records at Minnesota Display Fact That State Students Rank High

North Dakota State College students who take advanced work at the University of Minnesota do, on the average, better work than those from other colleges and universities, it was discovered in a recent survey made by Dr. Johnson, Dean of the School of Science, Literature, and Art at the University of Minnesota.

In a report received recently by Mr. Alfred H. Parrott, registrar, Dr. Johnson submitted data which he has collected from a survey of 1,433 students who have transferred from 221 different institutions. This report showed that only 25 percent of these students were able to do as high grade work as they did in their original schools. In this group of institutions surveyed, North Dakota State college ranked among the best. Among the 24 transfer students from this school surveyed in compiling this data, it was found that 50 percent of this number displayed scholastic ability as high or higher than at their former school. Only seven other universities or colleges ranked any higher.

Varsity Soccer Team Chosen

The varsity soccer team, an honorary squad consisting of girls outstanding in soccer and sportsmanship shown in the interclass games, consists of the following girls: Georgina Brindle, manager, Esther Greenshields, Frances Hedner, Ellen Johnson, Ruth Lasness, Marjorie Metcalf, Dorothea Olson, Grace Putney, Velva Rudd, Belle Shalit, Minerva Streed and Gwen Lollis.

Upper-classmen won the interclass tournament by beating the Freshmen, 3-2, and tying the Sophomores. The Freshman-Sophomore game was a tie also.

CAMPUS COMMENT

NOTICE!

There has been some talk of an inter fraternity and inter sorority bridge tournament. If enough are interested in it, the Spectrum will find a suitable award to give the winners. Here are some of the suggestions:

1. Each house will have at least two teams that can play a schedule of games.
2. The winner will be judged on percentage of games won and lost.
3. Each group will send two teams into the field to play two other teams on a Sunday afternoon.

4. The tournament will last until two rounds have been played.

The Kappa Deltas, the Sigma Taus, and the Delta Sigs have gone on record as being in favor of it. If there is enough favorable opinion, this bridge tournament will become a reality.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB SEEKS NEW MEMBERS

All non-fraternity men and women are urged by solicitors of The Cosmopolitan club to join the organization. At the meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. Monday, some 40 men and women joined and a score were appointed to sell membership cards. It is expected that the club will have 200 members within two weeks and 400 before the end of the year. There is no limit to membership and no dues.

The organization is primarily not a political one, according to the president. Preparations are being made for a dancing party to be held after the Thanksgiving vacation which will be open only to members of the club. It is hoped that the society will give the members practically the same social life that is enjoyed by Greek-letter students.

"Zoology Department Undergoes Changes," says a Spectrum headline. Evolution, probably.

MAYBE SOME STUDENT GOT A PASSING MARK IN IT—IN WHICH CASE IT IS AN EPOCH-MAKING PHENOMENON.

The only change we noticed in the course was the change we had to pay out for laboratory equipment.

Maybe they caught a freshman changing back into a mule.

WITH ALL THOSE ANIMALS PRESERVED IN ALCOHOL, ANYTHING IS LIABLE TO HAPPEN.

They've got enough bones in the department to promote several games of craps.

We present the porcelain cup cake for scientific research to the freshman who successfully turned his tricycle into a tree.

SCIENTISTS ARE DISMAYED UPON FINDING THAT NO ALCOHOL PRESERVED ANIMALS HAVE BEEN CAUGHT SAYING WHOOPEE—EVEN INCOHERENTLY.

A strike has been threatened by some of the more refined animals who like theirs in ginger ale.

The skunk, however, wants his raw.

A PARROT REFUSED TO BE DISSECTED. "I DON'T BELIEVE $.. SECTS," SHE SQUAWKED.

An incubator will be added—probably to induce some of the students to come out of their shell and do a little work.

Or maybe they want to be a little more eggsact in their experiments.

A ROOM HAS BEEN SET ASIDE FOR THE MUSEUM. WHEN WE WANT TO MUSE WE'LL GO SOME PLACE WHERE THERE AREN'T A LOT OF STUFFED ANIMALS.

What we're interested in is a stuffed turkey.

Science is wonderful, but we can't help marvel at the reasoning of the man who crossed the airedale with the bicycle innertube to get a hot dog.

BUT THE FELLOW WHO CROSSED DEAN SMITH'S PATH WITH AN AUDIBLE OATH TO GET HELL DESERVES ONLY SYMPATHY.

A politician's only interest in science is whether or not we will cross his name with a flourish to get a vote.

Montana State Gains Victory In Snowstorm

Ninety Yard Run in First Quarter Accounts for Lone Score

GERGEN'S PASSING IS AGAIN A FEATURE

Bison Warriors Will Lay Aside Moleskins Till Next Season

Playing on a snow covered field and in a snowstorm that was almost blinding at times, Montana State edged out a 6 to 0 victory over the powerful and determined Bison football team.

The Bison started their second string in the opening periods, and at this time in the early part of the first quarter, that Harold Sadler, a substitute quarterback, eluded the Bison tacklers and scampered 90 yards down the slippery field for the touchdown. This was the only substantial gain that the Bobcats could force past the Bison during the entire contest.

It was a different story in the second half of the contest, for during this period the Bison really found themselves and completely outplayed their opponents. With Gergen heaving the passes on many successful attempts, and Lonsbrough dashing off tackle for several substantial gains the Bison were down to the Bobcat's five yard line where they lost the ball on a disputed penalty. Later in the third quarter Cy Lonsbrough was loose over tackle for 23 yards which appeared to be an open chance for a score until he lost his footing and was tackled by the Montana safety man.

In the last quarter both teams sent into action numerous passes with the Bison having a decided edge. The statistics show that the Bison gained eleven first downs to Montana's two. The play of Leo Thomasson and Ordahl were the bright spots in the Dakota defence.

ing freshman performers last year. Sam Westgate, one of the most promising frosh candidates for center last season, will not be in uniform this year. A broken leg early in the football season will keep him on the bench.

With Minnesota university; Augsburg; Marquette; DePaul, Loyola and St. Thomas booked for the December excursion afield, the Bison expect to return for the opening of the conference schedule with South Dakota university at Fargo on Jan. 11 well prepared to put on a finished exhibition of the net game. To give the home fans some idea of their relative strength before tackling their N. C. I. rivals, Saalwaechter has added Montana university to the season schedule. METZINGER RECEIVES NEW PHILOLOGY BOOK
A volume entitled Studies in English Philology, written in honor of the 65th birthday of Dr. Frederick Klaeber, professor of comparative and English philology at the University of Minnesota, was recently received by Dr. Leon Metzinger of the modern language department. Dr. Klaeber is a scholar of world renown in the field philology.
The book contains thirty-nine articles contributed by American, German, Canadian, English, and Scandinavian scholars in the field of philology. Oxford, Ghent, Berlin, and Leipzig are among the universities represented.
The subscription by friends of Dr. Klaeber made possible the printing of 500 copies of the volume. The educated world is taking part in the making of the book for Dr. Klaeber, according to Dr. Metzinger.

Cafeteria Feeds Almost Three Hundred Students
Practically 300 students of the North Dakota State College are served daily at the Cafeteria at Ceres Hall, according to the manager, Miss R. Rogers.
This cafeteria serves as an accommodation to the numerous students that live out of the city, and also to those students that have their homes a long distance from the school. The students can receive meals here that will compare with the best, and at a very reasonable rate. The students that work in the cafeteria, are paid a nominal fee for their services, which enables the management to put out the meals at such a low cost.
The cafeteria is open from 7 to 8:15 in the morning and at noon from 11:30 to 12:30, and in the evening from 5:30 to 6:30.
