Pharmacists Condemn Cut System

N. D. STATE OUTLOOK

That Theater Scramble
Pharmacy Row
The Barbs
Our Game Tomorrow

To recent criticism of the student body's action in entering the Fargo theater last Friday night, let us reply. The management of this theater invited the Homecoming celebrators to perform for the benefit of its audience, and stopped the vitaphone production during the interval necessary for the Bison to exhibit their closely restricted enthusiasm. Under the leadership of the two yell-leaders the students performed and departed in an orderly fashion. So much for that. No attempts were made to crash the gates of the other theaters. Permission to enter was requested of the State theater management, and refused. It seems that the town and campus have recently come under the sway of a group of extreme pacifists who strive to make it exceedingly difficult for any group of students who have become imbued with some of the "old time spirit." Their regime is indicated by the failure of this fall's freshman hazing. The difficulty in arousing the student body to attend games, in the tameness of homecoming celebrations, etc., all of which mark a trend of several years. We seem to exist in a world of "dons and mustn'ts." The old Bison spirit is being suffocated. It moves the grads with shame.

The petition of the pharmacists is a challenge, a true indication of the feeling of the student body. We await with interest the action of the cut committee and its decision.

We wish to take this opportunity of congratulating the non-sorority and non-fraternity groups on the campus for forming an organization. We appreciate that it was done in an impersonal fair-minded, and democratic attitude, not through a wish to spite, but through an earnest desire to improve conditions on the campus, and to make their will felt. The sorority and fraternity group, although a minority in numbers, have become a majority in opinion. That the real majority should have a channel through which it may work is certainly a step forward. There are many conditions on the campus which could be altered for the better, and certainly a little friendly competition is good for those now in power.

Although, due to a technical omission, the first organized effort of this group fell through, we hope and expect that they may succeed in the way they wish to, impassionately and broadmindedly striving for a goal of fair play and improved conditions.

We salute you.

—E. W.

Here's to our football team! Their remarkable exhibition of holding the South Dakota Jack-rabbits to a scoreless tie and outplaying them in straight football deserves every praise. We understand that the University followers have been thrown into a state of confusion by this unexpected turn of events. We expect a victory tomorrow.

HARVEST FESTIVAL PROVES SUCCESSFUL

Decorated with pumpkins, hams strung from the ceiling, corn and autumn leaves, the rooms of the Little Country theater and the Lincoln Log cabin presented an atmosphere of true autumn splendor and harvest feeling for the annual harvest festival presented there Wednesday evening by the class in festivals, under the direction of Miss Bertha Strand.

Seven episodes depicting harvest festivals in as many countries were staged by the class, with colorful costumes and evidence of skilled grouping. The effect was unusually charming.

Students taking part were: Jane Eddy, Mary Eleanor Healy, Harold Peterson, Charles Heilman, Joe Paulson, Agnes Weible, Jane Canniff, Owen Bertelson, Walter Lagerberg, and Frances Wright. Betty Lou Cullpepper, and Jean Miller also participated.

Refreshments were served following the presentation of the pictures in the Lincoln Log cabin. Dancing and fortune telling were also in order. Miss Dorothea Ward provided the music for the dances, and Miss Laura Watkins took the part of the introducer, in a gypsy costume, and told fortunes from a specially decorated booth.

State Debators Ready for Oxford

For the first time, Oxford university, England, will cross the Mississippi river to debate.

The North Dakota State college team composed of Morris Olson, Karl Gerteis and Morris Erickson will oppose Oxford in verbal combat upon the question, "Resolved, that the Installment Plan of Buying is a Danger to American Prosperity."

Members of the Oxford squad are Richard Acland, William Diplock, from England, and Bernard MacKenna, Ireland. These men are studying law and are very active in scholastic affairs.

The contest will be held in the Little Country Theater Wednesday, Oct. 30 at 8 p. m. Students will be admitted upon presentation of registration cards. The general public will be charged a 50 cent fee to defray expenses.

Three Seniors Will Play In Last 'U' Game

Alf Skaret, Pete Gergen, and Cod Ordahl May See First State Victory

The game Saturday at Grand Forks will be the last chance for three great Bison stars to realize the fondest hope of any State College football player, namely to beat the University. Neither Captain Cod Ordahl, Alf Skaret, nor Pete Gergen has played on a Bison team which has beaten the Nodaks, but judging by the attitudes of these boys, they are going to have the pleasure of leading the Yellow and Green warriors in such a win in Memorial Stadium Saturday.

In all of the games played this season, the trio has been outstanding. They reached a height in form against South Dakota State, which, if they can maintain the rest of the season, will undoubtedly warrant them positions on the mythical All-Conference team, and we don't hesitate in saying, that the circuits are few in this country which turn out any better football players than these men. Skaret confirmed his claim last Saturday when he was pitted against Hadler of South Dakota State, who won an All-Conference birth last year. Alf outplayed his opponent from the start, and Coach Kasper was forced to substitute for him early in the game. Ordahl will get his chance to shine this Saturday when he plays opposite Stewart McMillan, the "U's" All-Conference center. Gergen, when used at end, is a defensive star, and when he plays half, is about the cleverest ball-carrier on the squad, so he might be called on to do most anything to help beat the "U."

As Coach Finnegan expressed it, "They are a trio of great ball players, and if all the boys play as good as they did against S. D. S., there isn't one of them who can be denied an All-Conference position."

The "Harvard Crimson" publishes a confidential guide and criticism of courses during the registration period. Regarding one course in Analytic Geometry and Differential Calculus, the paper says: "Most of the students have a complete file of the corrected problems worked out by less fortunate undergraduates of the previous year."

THOUSAND NEW BOOKS ARE FOUND IN LIBRARY

Over a thousand new books have been added to the college library during the summer months, according to Mrs. Ethel McVeety, librarian. Hundreds of interesting subjects are treated by the new books and should prove deservedly popular with the student body. Most of the books are non-fiction.

Among the outstanding volumes are: Carl Kohler's History of Costume, and O'Brien's Short Stories of 1929, which offers a collection of the best magazine fiction for the year. The high tide of burlesque is reached in Choppell's Cruise of the Kawa, a mock adventure story of high life in the South Seas.

Students of history will find ample reading material in Gooch's Germany, On the Trail of the Immigrant, by Steiner, and others.

Why Stop Learning? is the rather unusually titled book by Fisher. Perhaps one novel which will appeal to students because of its local appeal, is Teaching Health in Fargo, by M. A. Brown. In the field of economics there are a varied number of books, among which are: Ranch Operations, by L. Gueria; Profits in Bank Stocks, by W. H. Woodward; Men and Machines, by Stuart Chase.

Class Election Now Disputed

Among the results of Wednesday's class election is the fact that the Sophomores have been thrown into a melee of uncertainty regarding the outcome of a new election which is to be held next Monday noon, at 12:45 in the Little Country Theater. The re-election was called after a dispute arose over the outcome of the Sophomore meeting and is ordered by Victor Madsen, Commissioner of Elections.

Mr. Madsen ruled that since no votes were cast for nominees it could not properly be termed an election. The main difficulty arose over the fact that not all nominees had eligibility cards at the meeting. Regarding these cards, Mr. Madsen makes the following statement:

To Members of the Sophomore Class: Another sophomore election will be held Monday noon, 12:45, in the Little Country Theater, due to the fact that no voting took place during the meeting Wednesday morning. Eligibility cards must be presented at the meeting. (Continued on Page 4)

Petition For Excuse of Cuts Gets Signers

Protest Follows Refusal of Committee to Excuse Cuts Granted by Dean; Committee Meets Tomorrow.

EXPECT MORE OPPOSITION

Students in the School of Pharmacy took the initiative away from the rest of the student body yesterday when they formally presented the Committee of Excuses with a petition requesting more leniency in the present cut system, and thus opened against the attendance ruling a war which has been brewing since the beginning of school.

The cause of the protest came after the committee's refusal to excuse absences which had been sanctioned by the Dean of the School of Pharmacy, W. F. Sudro, when he granted permission to attend the North Dakota Clerks convention of October 14. According to reports a large number of pharmacists felt, with their employers, that it was advantageous to attend this meeting and therefore requested their Dean for his permission to skip classes on that day. Mr. Sudro twice attempted to gain the opinion of the committee on this matter but received no attention. He accordingly allowed the prospective druggists to attend the meeting, believing it in the nature of an extra-curricular activity and certainly worth while.

When the pharmacists applied for excuse slips the committee refused to grant them.

Inasmuch as this committee had not disapproved the meeting, which offered much practical teaching, and because of "the principle of the thing," this group of students have attempted to make their opinions felt through the medium of a petition which was presented to the registrar yesterday. This petition should come to the attention of those to whom it is addressed tomorrow morning.

A copy of this request is printed below:

Attention Excuse Committee:

We, the undersigned pharmacy students, wish to protest the manner in which the absences of those who attended the North Dakota Clerks convention, was handled.

This convention was sponsored by the United Drug Co. of Boston, in the interest of the North Dakota Rexall clerks. The students attending this convention, did not do so with the sole intention of deliberately attempting to miss classes. Whether the convention benefitted the students in any way or not may be questioned but the fact still remains, that these students did attend this convention in the interest of pharmacy.

The greatest number of us are employed in drug stores throughout the state. The men owning these stores expressed their desire of having their employees attend this convention. It was in the interest of these stores that the convention was conducted. Letters in the office of the Dean of Pharmacy and letters received by the students from their employers will prove that.

As we understand it, the Dean of Pharmacy wrote to the excuse committee, twice, in the week before the week of the convention, to get their views of the matter. Nothing was said, however, and the bigger part of (Continued on Page 2)

BAVLY'S SUCCESSOR TO ARRIVE MONDAY

L. G. Doerr, assistant professor of mechanical engineering at Iowa State college, will arrive at the North State college next Monday to take over his new duties, succeeding Professor D. M. Bavly, according to R. M. Dolve, dean of the school of mechanic arts.

Professor Doerr is a graduate of mechanical engineering at Purdue university and has been teaching engineering mechanics at Iowa State the past seven years, during which time he has attained his master degree.

the students attended the convention with the assurance that excuses would be granted.

Our education in the pharmacy department may not have been aided in any way by the talks we heard at this convention, but the fact still remains that our employers in the various drug stores throughout the state, handle this merchandise and in the end will be considerably benefitted by our attendance at this convention. We might also add, that these store owners, parents or employers, are the biggest part of the financial upkeep of the Pharmacy students. It is in the interest of North Dakota Drug Stores that the School of Pharmacy is conducted.

Please bear in mind that we believe ourselves to be of at least the average intelligence, and would not take this stand if we did not believe we weren't getting a square deal. It means that the whole group will be docked two points for each of the several absences incurred by attending the convention, and with a seventeen hour schedule, afternoon labs every day, and plenty of science, these points are darn hard to make up.

We wish to have you give this matter your utmost consideration, and want to say that, the antagonism stirred up in the various organizations on the campus against the no-skip regime will seem to be very well founded and receive our heartiest endorsement if these excuses are not granted.

Inquiring Reporter

"I think that this cut system tends to make the student deceitful, because there are always times when a student must cut a class, and it is so fixed now that if that happens he has to lie about it," says Leo May, President of Theta Chi.

Amos Wallum believes that it is treating college students too much like the high school youngsters. "The idea might be fine for the freshmen, but I believe the upperclassmen will have to learn eventually what they can and cannot do, and maintain their self respect and standards. This reliability and development of their own standards cannot be accomplished by ill disguised subservience to rigid rules laid down by other people. It inhibits their development."

STUDENTS DENOUNCE CUT SYSTEM

"I am not for it at all," says Joe Blakeslee. "I think that the amount of cuts allowed under the old system was just about right, if it had been enforced. There are, as everybody knows, always times when a student has to cut a class, and surely at college age they are old enough to be responsible for what they do."

Kenneth Piper, President of Kappa Psi, answers the argument offered in favor of this system, i.e., that college work is similar to jobs taken after graduation and a no-cut system is preparatory for it. He says that in a regular job there are no outside activities as there are on the campus, and therefore no need for time out, and, that there is a fallacy in comparing the college work and the post graduation job on that score.

SIDEWALK HUSHES STOMP OF BISON

The Redmen of the Dakotas have been pushed onto the reservation and now the stomp of the Bison at the college will no longer be heard on the prairies—it will be heard on concrete sidewalks instead.

The spike heels of the coeds and the iron shod heels of the men will click on the new sidewalks that have been laid between Science and Agricultural halls. Students will remember that in the past they traversed a well-defined path between these two buildings that had a tendency in the fall and spring to change itself into a slough of Red River Valley gumbo and adhere closely to the shoes of the travelers.

The completion of these sidewalks is a part of the building program that has been in progress here since last spring.

ATTENTION!

All Juniors and Seniors must get their money into the Bison office for their appointments for pictures to go in the classes section of the annual. The $3.00 must be paid before November 15, or your picture will not be in the yearbook. This is absolutely important. Leave your money with Amos Wallum or Adolph Pahl.

Well, tomorrow, we'll find out if we really are a cow college, as the Nodaks claim, or if it's just a lotta bull.

ANYWAY, THEIR DOPE IS A BUM STEER.

They've got a Lux in the backfield, but that's no sign we're going to get a cleaning.

We hope they're not trying to soft soap us.

IF WE LOSE THE GAME WE CAN BLAME IT ON THE CUT SYSTEM.

If the Nodaks are given an edge, we hope it's sharp enough so... the Smith brothers can shave.

They have a Smith Bros. on the aggregation, so they won't cough up with a blunder.

LT. MERCADE "ROUGHHOUSE" CRAMER HAS COME ALL THE WAY FROM NICARAGUA TO SEE THE BISON-NODAK TUSSELE, SAYING THAT HE WANTS TO SEE A REAL FIGHT.

If long runs will win the game, the old fray's in the bag. A couple of boosters are seriously contemplating taking an extended canter to East Grand Forks.

If we can get a ride up, 'n if somebody has an extra ticket, 'n if we had some place to stay, 'n if somebody would stake us to a feed, we might go up to the "U."

Anyway, they won't have to lock up their frosh athletes when we come up.

ODE TO A SQUEALY PIGSKIN Said Mr. West to Mr. Finnegan: "I thing we're gonna winnaggn." Said Mr. Finnegan to Mr. West: "Now really I don't think you'd best."

ONE THING, ANYWAY: CASEY CAN'T GET ANY MORE GRAY HAIRS.

There is no truth in the rumor that the Sigma Taus' "Toonerville Trolley" in the Homecoming parade was borrowed from the Grand Forks Street Railway company.

We don't mind sending the band to the "U", but we should think the University would help contribute towards its education.

WE'LL BRING UP A COUPLE OF BISON SANDWICHES SO THEY CAN HAVE BRAINS IN THEIR STOMACHS, AT LEAST.

WELL, WE'LL SEE YOU ON THE SPECIAL TRAIN—IF THE CONDUCTOR DOESN'T SEE US FIRST.

Uncertainty Marks "U" Attitude On Homecoming Evening

Grand Forks, N. D.—The largest crowd of Bison supporters that has ever attended a University football game is expected here when North Dakota tangles with Coach Finnegan's Bison Saturday at 2 P. M., in Memorial Stadium.

This is the opinion of the University ticket office which has made plans to accommodate 1,000 Bison rooters in a special section between the 30 and 40 yard lines in the Stadium. Reservations covering Sections G and H have been forwarded to Matt Tindall, alumni secretary at State College, and to Steve Gorman at the Grand Recreation Parlors at Fargo. These will be sold right up until this Friday at 5 P. M. All unsold tickets will be returned to the University from Fargo at that time by Mr. Tindall and Mr. Gorman.

A letter to Bison alumni inviting them to send in their reservations for this special section has been sent out from Grand Forks and it is expected that State College students will mingle with the old timers who cheered the Bison on to victory or defeat in years past.

There is considerable sentiment at the University, a growing belief if you will, which tends to the conclusion that Finnegan's Bison will give the local team their hardest and most interesting conflict of the season. Finnegan's ability to make his team rise to the occasion and his tendency to develop a fighting squad makes University supporters skeptical of the outcome of Saturday's battle.

But no matter who wins, fans who come to Memorial Stadium are destined to see a beautiful football game.

Special rates of a fare and a third have been granted on the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads and University officials have been informed that a special train will carry a great portion of the Fargo crowd to Grand Forks. Several dances, banquets and other festivities have been arranged for the Homecoming visitors.

Coach Finnegan Shows Optimism

Riding on the crest of a new football era, a determined band of North Dakota State college Bison will threaten the University's football supremacy of three years' standing when the two powerful aggregations meet Saturday in the Nodak Homecoming headliner.

The Bison hopefuls will enter the fray on the short end of the wagers, but they were doped to lose last week when they held the strong South Dakota Bunnies to a scoreless tie.

Casey Finnegan, for one, believes the Bison have an excellent chance to hold the Flickertails. The cautious coach puts an "if" in his statement, however.

"If", Casey casually remarked, "the Bison fight as hard against West's team as they fought against the Kaspermen last week, we have a good chance to hold our opponents to a standstill, with the breaks of the game deciding."

"Our lineup will be even stronger than against South Dakota, with no serious casualties on the list and several green men richer by well needed experience. McGrath, Hilts and Goodwin are available for the flank posts, and I can now use Pete Gergen in the backfield, if necessary, leaving a good reserve ballcarrier in Fairhead ready for service."

Casey's optimism, if it may be called that, is tame compared with that expressed by the student body, and, weather permitting, it looks as if another howling band of Bisonites will rend the stadium air.

The snake will serve for a few demonstrations and will then be preserved in alcohol.
