Cayou Injects Homecoming Pep In Rally

Matt Tindall Announces As Pep Fest Is Broadcast

FROSH CHEERLEADER LEADS REMARKABLY

Gold Star Band Aids In Success of Enthusiastic Gathering

The pep rally held in the armory Wednesday evening featured the spirit that will predominate tomorrow when the Bison meet South Dakota State in the annual Homecoming clash. Enthusiasm ran high when Art Cayou, freshman architect from Bismarck, took the helm and led the student body in rousing Bison yells.

The rally was broadcast over WDAY as Matt Tindall, secretary of the Alumni association, announced the proceeding to the Northwest. Dr. Shepperd opened the program with a short talk, wishing success to the team. Mr. Roul Wheam, Dean Bolley, Mr. Probstfield, alumni of State, spoke, urging former grads to return for Homecoming. Mr. Davis of Bismarck, Mr. John Doerr, Mr. Meineke, and Dr. Putnam gave short talks, wishing good luck to the team in their Homecoming encounter.

The cheerleading of Arthur Cayou was the high point of the evening. Cayou is undoubtedly one of the best rooter kings that has ever come to State. His ease of gesture and his pep inspiring banter mark him as a leader of quality.

Coaches Bob Lowe and Casey Finnegan introduced the individual members of the team and expressed their opinions concerning the outcome of the game. The Gold Star Band, led by "Doc" Putnam, played throughout the program and played the Yellow and the Green as the concluding number.

Classes Will Hold Elections Wednesday

At 9:40, Wednesday, October 23, the class officers will be elected to fill positions for the coming year. Victor Madsen, Commissioner of Elections, will preside at the meeting where 550 Frosh will choose their officers.

Acting as assistants to Commissioner Madsen will be Charles Heilman and Frank Carlson. The Sophomore class will meet in the Little Country theater under the supervision of Lawrence Parsons. Juniors are scheduled to meet in Room 26 of the Chemistry building; Horace McGrath will preside. Everett Knutson will preside over the Senior class when it meets in Room 5 of the Chemistry building.

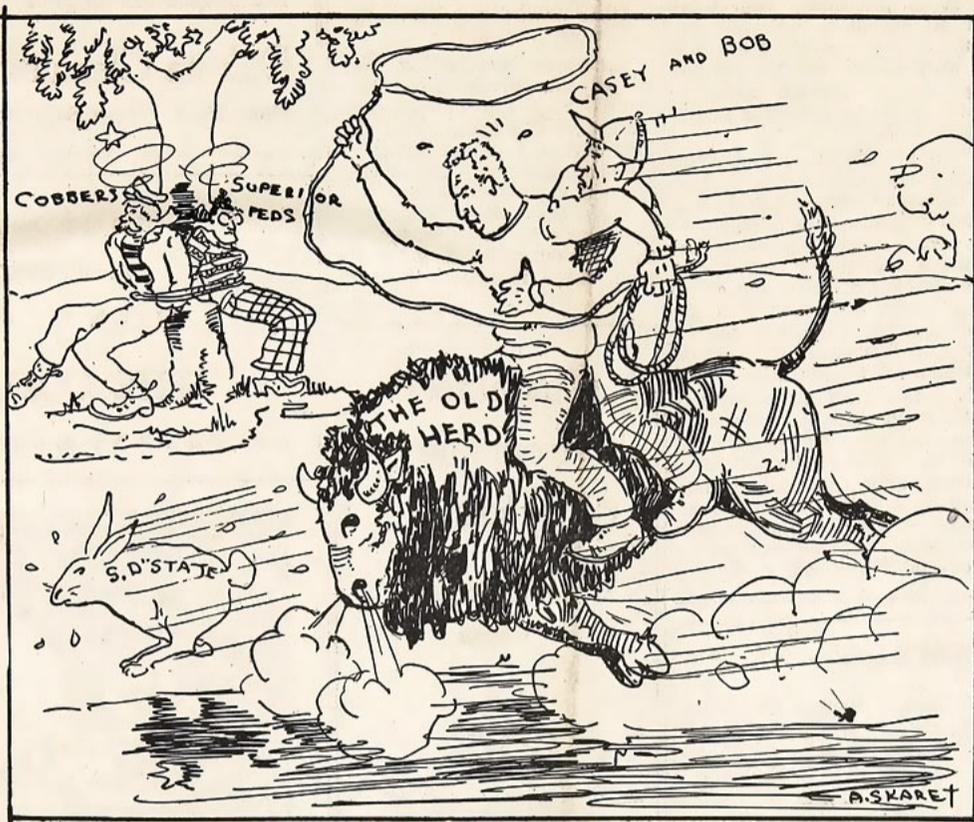

A certificate of eligibility is absolutely required of each candidate. This must be secured from the registrar and be presented to the presiding officer before the vote is taken. The classification of students can be found on page 50 of the 1929-1930 catalogue.

WALT DAVIDSON MARRIED RECENTLY

Once again an alumnus has embarked on the great adventure. Walt Davidson, class of 1928, and official host and seed analyzer of the Seed Laboratory in Science Hall, was married to Miss Martha Finney of Minneapolis. Mrs. Davidson is a graduate of the Valley City State Teachers College.

Officially Mr. and Mrs. Davidson are at home at 1343 Thirteenth Street North.

Phi Kappa Lambda sorority will hold an open house after the football game Saturday, from 5 to 7 p. m. All campus people as well as out-of-town visitors are cordially invited.

Interesting Convocation Attractions Scheduled

Through the efforts of A. E. Minard, students of State College will be given the opportunity to hear many outstanding lecturers and musical artists at convocations during the year. According to present plans there will be an excellent convocation period every two weeks. The finest attractions are booked for the latter part of this year and the beginning of the winter quarter.

On November 25, Louise Ellex, cellist, will appear at convocation. Doratha Powers, noted violinist, is booked for December 9. Arrangements have been made with the extension department of the University of Minnesota for the appearance of the Tamburtiza Serenaders on January 13, and the Tiffany Male Quartet, February 28. Another musical attraction is the appearance on March 3 of Suzanne Kenyon, soprano. Several important lectures are being arranged and cannot be announced till later.

Bison Squad In Good Condition

Prepared for one of the hardest games of the Bison schedule, the Homecoming clash with the South Dakota State Jackrabbits on Saturday, the North Dakota State Varsity was in good spirits and was showing much determination after a monstrous pep rally Wednesday night.

The Bison squad is in good shape with the exception of Jim Law, Sam Westgate, and Cliff Bowman, according to C. C. (Casey) Finnegan, who has been preparing his charges for tee outstanding home game of the year. The Bison have improved since the opening contest of the season with Concordia college, according to Finnegan, who is optimistic over the outcome of the annual classic which means much to both elevens. South Dakota State, while slightly weaker than last fall, will still present the Bison with a determined assault based on the elongated Wert Engemann, offensive star who can do anything with a football, as he has demonstrated here two years against good Bison elevens.

Today the Bison Frosh are playing the Wahpeton Science Wildcats at Wahpeton, with the prospects good for a close victory for the Frosh, as the Wildcats will present a strong offense.

Alpha Kappa Phi To Dedicate New Fraternity Home

Many Prominent Alumni Will Speak At Banquet

The culmination of ten years of sustained effort and planning will be realized and duly celebrated Saturday evening, October 19, when Alpha Kappa Phi, second oldest fraternity on the North Dakota State College campus, observes its dedicatory services for its new $35,000 fraternity house.

More than sixty of the fraternity's most prominent alumni from out in the state and points east, including Martin S. Hagen, charter member and first president, now manager of the State Hail Insurance Association of Bismarck, will be in attendance with members of the active chapter and pledges. The services, beginning at 8:00, will follow the annual alumni banquet and precede the Homecoming dance. The program of talks will be informally arranged, and the main speakers will be Mr. Hagen, Clifford Booke, president of the active chapter, and Mr. George Mayoue, president of the alumni chapter and master of ceremonies.

A chapter meeting room under the first terrace, artificially lighted and ventilated, the only one of its kind between Minneapolis and the coast, is a feature of the home. The house is located at the corner of Twelfth Street and Twelfth Avenue North, and faces south on a 150 foot lot. It is of all brick construction and is equipped with the latest lighting and heating devices, and houses 32 men.

Amos Wallum, editor of the Bison, is sending out the annual call of the wild of the Bison editor—Juniors and Seniors must begin to register for the pictures! The deadline this year has been set earlier, and no arrangements will be made for pictures after November 1. Bring your $3.00 down to the Bison office, and leave it either with Mr. Wallum or some member of the staff, and you will be given an appointment with the Owl Studio.

HOUSE PARTY TO CLOSE BIG SISTER MOVEMENT

The following girls will take the role of upper classmen in the Heart Sister movement to be carried out in Ceres hall from October 21 to November 26. The movement will terminate in a Thanksgiving house-party under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. Each time an upper classman does some kind thing for her freshman sister, she will leave a piece of her picture, and on the night of the party, the final clipping of the picture will complete the whole.

Jackrabbits Are Ready For Fray

Brookings, S. D., Oct. 18.—Their first North Central conference football battle safely tucked away in the win column, the South Dakota State College Jackrabbits are about ready to take their second step in 1929 loop competition when they meet the North Dakota State Bison on Saturday afternoon of this week. The Jackrabbits and coaches will leave here Friday morning for Fargo, where they will tackle the husky Bison in the feature act of the North Dakota State Homecoming celebration.

Coach T. C. "Cy" Kasper has outlined a week of hard drill for his title-aspiring Jackrabbits all this week, and said he plans to take two full teams to the Bison battle grounds. The men to be taken on the trip will depend largely on the showing they make during the week of practice, Cy said. The whole Rabbit team came out of the first loop fray in the best of condition, and there is expected to be keen rivalry evinced as to whom will make the North Dakota trip.

Grand Parade To Go Forward Promptly At 11

Twenty Magnificent Floats Are Entered In Contest

HONORED GUESTS TO HEAD CARAVAN

Police To Escort The Parade Through Downtown District

PRESIDENT'S WELCOME

Dr. J. H. Shepperd, President of the North Dakota State College, welcomes the alumni and former students of the institution to the annual Homecoming activities with these words: "We expect you, we want you, we want to give you a good time, and, to see what our students here can do as an organized group in putting on the Homecoming parade Saturday, we want you to see what progress and growth the college as a whole has made."

"We want to have you feel that this Homecoming is just what the word implies, a real coming home. We'll have a big parade for you, sandwiches of real Bison meat, one of the best football games ever played on Dacotah field, an alumni banquet and an alumni hop in the evening. Come back and look us over. We're expecting you."

It will not be a miniature parade that organizes at State College tomorrow, Homecoming Day, at 11 o'clock. That parade will be a magnificent affair consisting of twenty floats, at least fifteen individuals in gay costume, the Gold Star Band, over three hundred cadets and officers, two hundred honored guests, and alumni including the State board of administration and Governor Shafer, and the faculty.

The command to march will be given promptly at 11 o'clock. All cadets and officers are ordered to appear at the armory at 10:15. To help make the affair a true representation of the institution, it will be the duty of everybody to cooperate and be prompt.

The points of assembly are as follows: Floats on Twelfth Street; groups and individuals in costume near the flag pole; alumni and Board of Administration in front of Main. The parade will be divided into three sections: First, the guest of honor, police escort, Gold Star Band and cadet corps; second, floats, groups and individuals; and third, the faculty and alumni.

"OLD GRAD" BAND TO BE PARADE FEATURE

"My lip ain't what it used to be."

"I haven't used this gob-stock for eight years."

"Hey, Doc, where's my old music case?"

Expressions such as these will be heard in the old music hall when "Doc" Putnam's Alumni Band assembles for the Homecoming Parade this Saturday. Invitations have been sent out to former band members and in lieu of the fact that last year thirty-two musicians returned and marched in the parade, "Doc" expects nearly fifty to respond to the bugle call this year.

"What does it matter," says Dr. Putnam, "if a few of the notes are a bit off and maybe a little blue? The old Bison spirit is there and that's what makes things hum around Homecoming Day."

Last year the "Alum Band" was led in the parade by Emery Putnam and grads as far back as '04 were present.

TO YOU GRADS

Allow The Spectrum to express the pleasure felt by the student body in having you back with us again. To see an enthusiastic body of alumni in our midst gives a pleasant sense of security. We know that you will enjoy your brief stay here and regret, with us, your departure. This weekend is indeed worth while.

You cannot help noticing the tremendous growth this institution is experiencing. It is phenomenal. Not only has registration leaped skyward but the campus limits themselves have expanded. New and larger buildings have sprung from long felt necessity. You will look at them and rejoice. The thought may even occur that finally North Dakota State College has won its due. The situation, however, is very different. The recent building program has merely supplied additions that were needed long ago. This program is several years behind time. One can readily see the crowded conditions which handicap this institution. The paramount necessity is not so much that of classrooms as it is that of a library, a gymnasium, a music hall, and boy's dormitory.

Take the case of the library. The limitations of this building are far within the limitations of an educational system of this size. This can be seen at a glance and need not be elaborated upon. As for the gymnasium, our present armory has been a source of concern to classes of five or six years ago. The music hall could be expanded once again and still be crowded. Ask Dr. Putnam about this. The boys' dormitory lacks everything but the basement.

We need not go into this further. You know as well as we do that the necessities spoken of are genuine. What we want you grads to do as you go out again over the state, is to talk to your legislative representatives and present the situation in its true light. If each alumnus will do this the battle for more buildings is won.

THE GIRL WHO EARNS HER WAY

"It is practically impossible for all except a very few unusual young women to attempt to work their way through college without serious injury to their health or academic standing or both."

This statement, coming from Miss Virginia Gildersleeve, dean of Barnard College, should carry much weight. Miss Gildersleeve believes that the burden of carrying a debt is far better than the methods of self-support and impairment of health that are such familiar factors in the efforts of thousands of co-eds to obtain a college education.

Yet few girls are willing to obligate themselves to eradicate long standing debts years after they have been graduated. Notwithstanding countless denials, most girls look forward to marriage. They really want a home, something that they can preside over and really call their own domain. The problem of securing a mate may be a distant one, but it is an all-important one to even the young co-ed. To be fair to the man, they do not wish to impose an added debt upon his shoulders.

Miss Olive Brossow, a contributor to the current American Mercury, has well substantiated the remarks of Miss Gildersleeve. She "worked her way through" Northland College. Perhaps her case is unusual, but the sacrifices she made were great. Long before she entered college she worked, during her four years there she worked, and her reward was cum laude. In her own words:

"At times I wonder just what college has given me. In a worldly way, I am much poorer than when I started, for I was then several hundred dollars to the good, and now I am—well—financially embarrassed. . . . It is said that those who work their way through college get the most out of it. This may be true, but if it is, then it is so, not because they have worked their way, but in spite of it; because they had the brains and the strength to make good."

The girl who must earn her way is to be admired and encouraged. Her's is a most discouraging task, far more difficult than that of a man. At New York University an intelligent girl may fare better than her sister co-ed in a small college town in the matter of securing employment. Yet an earnest attempt should be made to dissuade girls from coming to college unless they have borrowed or earned enough money to see them through their freshman year.

HOME COMING TOMORROW! THIS MEANS THE POOLHALLS WILL BE MORE CROWDED THAN EVER.

Instead of killing the fatted calf, the students will probably be commenting on the co-eds, as usual.

The reason some of these parade exhibitions are called floats is because they are full of hot air.

Automotive school homecomers are now practicing their yell: Beep! Beep!

Grads of the school of engineering will greet their old classmates: "Wheel, wheel, plee steam etcha! Do you think you lever come back?"

And the Ag veteran will chortle to his old co-partner of '99: W"hat hoe! Drop that sulky look and soil my hands by forking over that five you owe me. Have you seed the old rakes we used to raise cane with? My what a rye face. Can't you say anything? And you used to have such a wagon tongue. Don't be chicken! Hick, hick, hick.

AND THE SCIENCE AND LIT, GRAD ALWAYS CALM AND UNRUFFLED, WILL GREET SERENELY: "HOWSHA HELLSHARYA? WELL, I HOPE TO KICK MY GRANMAWRSH TEEESH OUT. 'RAY FER ELFUNTS; O PAR' ME. SHA BISHON, AINTSH IT?"

...But to return to the serious: We must remember that our dear alumni all come back with love in their hearts—and calsonine in their hip pockets.

Last year, one of our old grads stepped off the train, started to catch up with the parade which just passed the station, and he won the prize for the funniest costume.

THE CLASS OF 1896 WILL BE HERE IN FULL FORCE, ACCORDING TO A TELEGRAM RECEIVED FROM HIM LAST NIGHT.

LIFE'S LITTLE TRAGEDIES THE FIRST HOMECOMER ARRIVED ON THE CAMPUS THIS MORNING, TOOK ONE LOOK AT THE ARMORY AND MUTTERED: "GOSH, THAT'S WHY I LEFT."

All grads who skip Homecoming will have two points deducted from the pens in their office.

"Why have Homecoming?" one frosh blurted out. "Who died?"

THE SORORITIES AREN'T GOING TO HAVE ANY FLOATS THIS YEAR. WE'VE ALWAYS CONTENDED THAT THE GIRLS SHOULD STICK TO THE SINK.

Probably they wouldn't know what to do with a cup. It's so hard to make gum stick on those shiny surfaces.

Carry a Cane for Homecoming.—ACBookstore.
