Russel Weiser Races To First In Harrier Meet

Downs Crack Minnesota Runner in Gruelling Race to Tape

Bison Lose by Eight Margin

"Meet Is One of Closest Ever Seen" Is Sally's Comment

Outrunning two of the best Big Ten harriers, Russel Weiser came in 25 yards ahead of the nearest competitor to win first place in the State College - Minnesota University cross-country meet last Saturday. Though the "U" won the meet, 33-24, Coach Saalwaechter characterized the meet as one of the closest he has ever seen. Several State runners came in but a yard behind those placing ahead of them.

Russel Weiser's winning run was timed at 19 minutes 5 1/2 seconds. C. North and E. Anderson, high ranking men in the Big Ten meet, took second and third places for the Minnesota university. B. Strain, Minn., and Ray Jodre, No. Dak., placed fourth and fifth respectively. Other State College runners placed as follows: W. Weiser, 7th; Robertson, 8th; Rhines, 12th.

Talented Musicians Enter State College

Richly talented musicians from all parts of North Dakota enter State College each year. The nationally known Gold Star Band, under the direction of Dr. C. S. Putnam, boasts of twenty-three new members. It is composed of fifty-four boys and girls, exclusive of the drum and bugle section. Three of these are outstanding musicians in the state. E. H. Gates, drum major from Devils Lake, was Regimental Sergeant Major of the N. D. National Guard; Oscar Ringdahl, first clarinet, was solo clarinet of the 164th Division at Lisbon; Frank Callinan, Devils Lake, is a talented baritone player.

The bugle and drum corps section is rehearsing twenty-eight. Of these, the four least capable are to be eliminated either this week or next. There is enough material on the campus for a second band of at least twenty-five pieces, but Mr. Putnam has been unable to secure funds for the hire of an assistant. Music Hall is also too small to accommodate more.

Following is a roster of the band members, the twenty-three first appearing being the new members: Jack Aiken, Peter Albrecht, Harold Albrecht, Gordon Baird, R. Berg, Robert Bergseth, Frank Callinan, George Collins, James Lund, Donald Kayes, John Emerson, Hilbert Enleter, E. H. Gates, John Heink, Walter Nelson, Donald Quinn, Oscar Ringdahl, W. Sanders, Chester Smith, Jack Vincent, Iverson Wold, McArdle, and K. Zeller; Donald Best, Walter Bordash, Robert Burrill, Norma Cavette, Ralph Easton, William Euren, Anthony Faber, Lillian Flalner, Francis Fuller, Clare Hallock, Charles Heilman, A. L. Herner, M. W. Hunt, Elwood Kendrick, James Konan, Phil Koppang, Marvin Lund, Theo. Lutz, J. McNally, Richard Noyes, W. J. Pierce, C. C. Putnam, H. Ramberg, L. B. Ravwolt, J. R. Reynolds, Glen Roberts, Geo. Salaba, Wm. Watson, Otto Walhowe, M. Zeller, Gerould Zuelon, and Betty Sheldon.

NOTICE

Don't forget Soccer practice begins today noon, Tuesday, October 15, at 12:30, on the athletic field. All girls interested in athletics are urged to begin practice at once. The interclass games will begin in two weeks.

NOTICE

The Women's Athletic Association will meet in the girl's gymnasium, Wednesday evening, October 16, at seven o'clock.

COLLEGE AND STATE OUT FOR HOMECOMING

Two Thousand copies of College and State, official publication, of the North Dakota State alumni, is to be sent to the alumni of the State within the next few days. This issue contains several homecoming stories and an appeal is made for all alumni to come home at Homecoming time.

The magazine uses the cut made by Chester Comeau, which won first place in the cover contest last spring. The cover is in yellow with the drawing in green and presents the State colors in a very striking manner. The cover depicts the schools of the campus by a symbol as a frame for a unique drawing of Old Main. Between the covers are several stories that will enable the old grads to get a picture of present life on the campus.

T. Worden Johnson as editor-in-chief of the publication assures State alumni of a magazine that will be of interest to everyone connected with State College. The magazine is published monthly under the direction of Matt Tindall, secretary of the Alumni Association.

Homecoming Plans Need Cooperation Of Student Body

John E. Doerr in Charge of Float and Costume Committee

With practically everything in the way of plans and preparations completed, the various committees are proceeding to organize the student body and the various campus groups into one solid working force so as to place a truly spectacular display before the eyes of the alumni and Fargo citizens.

Prof. John E. Doerr, in charge of the important committee dealing with floats, costumes, etc. He has named several valuable assistants and has some material on hand to aid the organizations in preparing their floats and costumes. Rules, regulations and prizes will be explained by Prof. at a meeting in Room 303 Science hall, Tuesday at 4 p. m. All group representatives must be there.

Doctor Putnam is making arrangements for an alumni band which will aid in the Bison Roundup. All former Gold Star Band members are urged to make their appearance with instruments. By advising Dr. Putnam of intended participation in this event, alumni may be doubly assured of a place in the band.

Prof. Arvold has completed all arrangements for the alumni banquet, after which the dedication of our Alumni-Faculty rooms will take place.

Fraternities and sororities will hold open house on the Campus from Friday evening until Monday morning.

The rally planned for tomorrow night should receive the attention of everyone. It is the opening event of the week's program.

On Saturday the parade, football game, bonfire, and Bison barbecue will occupy the attention of the student body and townspeople. The Bison Roundup will come to a close with the two dances to be held Saturday evening. A dance for the alumni will be held in the gold room of Old Main. The student dance will be staged in the Armory. Leonard Dahl's Orchestra is on the former program, and Henry Presler and his Vagabonds will entertain in the Armory.

Last minute news will appear in a special Homecoming edition of The Spectrum Friday noon.

Active alumnae members, and pledges of Kappa Kappa Gamma celebrated the 60th anniversary of the founding of the sorority at a "Founder's Day" tea Sunday in the home of Mrs. John Woolledge, 427 Ninth Avenue South from 4 to 6 p. m. Sorority colors, dark blue and light blue, were used in the appointments. Members of the Fargo alumnae group acted as hostesses, and those who assisted Mrs. Woolledge were Mrs. George Black, Mrs. Roy Oliver, and Miss Susan Freeman.

College Alumnus Wins Short Story Fame for N. Dak.

Championed By Ellis Parker Butler and Will James

Championed by such men as Ellis Parker Butler and Will James, a former student of North Dakota State College, has brought fame to a little town called Garrison, somewhere in the plains of North Dakota. The first man in North Dakota to claim a membership in the Authors' League of America, a goal sought by many poets and novelists, and found by only a few, an organization so noted as not only to gain prestige from the names it encompasses, but to accord honor to others not so well known within its ranks, and one of the few writers in this state or any other to claim membership in the Western Writers' Association, Bigelow Neal, sometime member of Dean Minard's Freshman English class, has won for himself distinction and honor by his delightful short stories and nature sketches published in such magazines as the American Boy, The Blue Book, and the Adventure Magazine. Adventure stories, stories of animals and men, of remarkable descriptions of Nature and tensify of plot, have delighted thousands of Mr. Neal's readers. Will James himself, delightful author and illustrator of such tales of cowboy life as "The Drifting Cowboy," "Cowboys, North and South," and "Cow Country", has illustrated some of them.

Dean Minard, his first English instructor, has been the recipient of some very interesting letters from Mr. Neal during the last two or three years, in which he offers to criticize short stories written by students at this college, and to help, if possible, in finding publishers for them. Surely here is encouragement both by example and offers of aid for aspiring writers.

ALPHA KAPPA PHI MOTHERS ENTERTAIN

A silver tea given by the Mothers' Club of the Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity marked the first opening of the new chapter house for public inspection, on Sunday afternoon, October 13. Meses. D. M. Wade, A. E. Minard, Theo. Euren, M. C. Maroney, R. P. Tarbell, and Peter Olsen were in charge of the arrangements, with Meses. P. W. Farnham, Dade, and Olsen, receiving.

Musical numbers by members of the fraternity were given during the afternoon. Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. H. L. Bolley and Mrs. Minard, with Misses Dorothy Olsen, Lois Minard, and Dorothy Burton, assisting.

The new home is located at 1155 Twelfth Avenue North, and was erected at a cost of approximately $35,000.

GIRLS GLEE CLUB TO SING AT CONVOCATION

After a little more training and after a few more entrants have enrolled, the Girl's Glee Club will sing at Convocations. Thirty girls are now rehearsing twice a week. The director, Miss Adda Blakeslee, also announces that she will organize a class in sight singing. This will be a class for beginners who wish to learn the basic rudiments in reading music. All interested may see Miss Blakeslee on Mondays and Thursdays.

NOTICE

All campus organizations, schools, and individuals planning to be represented in the Homecoming parade by means of floats, groups in costume, or individuals in costume are requested to confer with the committee on floats and costumes in room 303 Science Hall between the hours of 4 and 6, Tuesday, October 15—TODAY.

NO SORORITY FLOATS IN HOMECOMING PARADE

That no sorority on the campus would participate in the float contest sponsored by the North Dakota State College and alumni association on the occasion of Homecoming was the decision made by the Pan-Hellenic Council at a meeting held Thursday, October 10, in the Little Country Theater. It was understood that most sorority girls are active in putting on a float for one of the schools or the various clubs, and that the floats constructed by the various sororities demanded extra time and effort.

It was also decided that no sorority on the campus shall, in the future, participate in any competitive campus activity without the sanction of the Pan-Hellenic Council. This includes ticket selling, and other forms of competition for prize awards.

Miss Luella Dunn presided, and the treasurer's report was given by Miss Norma Cavett.

Debate Conflicts To Aid In Developing Keen Competition

Paulson and Gerteis Won Yast Year's Interclass Crown

Interclass rivalry will find expression again this fall in the form of debates, according to the plans of the Lincoln Debate Club. Two members from each class are to be chosen by competitive tryouts, and these teams will draw for opponents and sides. The victors of the two preliminary debates will meet in a final contest. The winner will be awarded possession of the debate trophy which is now held by the class of '32.

Concerning the affair, Loy, president of the Lincoln Debate Club, said: "This year the subject for the debates is to be a live, interesting topic, something having a direct bearing upon school life, or some other thing of great popular appeal. The Lincoln Debate Club has several good reasons for sponsoring the affair. It desires to uncover new material for intercollegiate debating teams; it wishes to arouse more student interest in debating. The contest offers, as well, another means of proving class superiority."

"Previous debating experience is unnecessary; any one has a chance to make his class team. Selections are based more on latent ability than on the polish of oratory. Last year the Freshman team, composed of Joe Paulson and Karl Gerteis won the award, defeating the Seniors in the final debate."

Tryouts are scheduled for Thursday afternoon, October 24th, in the Seminar Room, and are in charge of Donald Hay of the Public Discussion Department. Five minute talks on any debatable proposition are to be required by those trying out.

"Y" Committees Discuss Spring Conference Plans

The Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. Conference Committee met last Sunday morning in the College Y to discuss plans for the spring conference to be held in Grand Forks at the University. They chose "What's It All About" for the convention topic.

Committee members present: Hazel Harris, chairman from the N. D. S. C.; James Johnson, vice-chairman from the Ellendale Industrial and Normal School; Richard Heaton, secretary from U. of N. D.; Elsie Byer, Valley City State Teachers College; Archie Crouch from Jamestown College; Margaret Lovell, U. of N. D.; Mrs. Florence Perkert, Minot State Teachers; Mrs. Ada Bek, U. of N. D.; and Lester Howard, State Student Secretary of Y. M. for Minnesota from Minneapolis. Mrs. Leone Johnson and Atterson from the A. C. sat in on the meeting.

The conference is to be for all normal, state teachers colleges, and colleges in North Dakota.

Matt Tindall Issues Call To All Students

Gigantic Pep Rally To Be Broadcast to Northwest By Radio WDAY

100% ATTENDANCE DUE

Plans Made To Outdo Anything Yet Attempted at State College

A huge pep rally, exceeding in proportions anything ever witnessed at North Dakota State College, is the plan of Mr. Matt Tindall and the student body. It is expected that 100% attendance will greet the men in charge of the program which opens at 7:30 o'clock sharp, tomorrow night, when station W D A Y goes on the air to broadcast the proceedings to the Northwest.

Mr. Tindall stated today that there is no need to urge the upperclassmen to attend this event, but that he wishes to make it particularly clear to the freshmen class that tomorrow's rally is of utmost significance. Last year's rally proved to be the biggest of its kind ever staged in the armory. To make tomorrow night's feature an even bigger success, Dr. Shepperd, Mr. J. E. Davis, Mr. A. R. Wije, the Gold Star Band, the football team, and many famous grads will be on hand to aid.

A brief summary of the program is given in the following letter addressed to the student body:

Dear Students: Everybody's coming to our big "Good News" radio party in the armory, Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Every student is urgently requested to aid in telling the folks at home about our big Homecoming on Saturday.

The pep rally starts at 7:30 sharp. We want to get warmed up for a rousing opener when the WDAY operator pulls the switch.

The folks at home, all the old grads and former students of North Dakota State have been notified to tune in for the "Good News" broadcast.

Let's turn out 100% and lift the roof off the armory.

Coaches "Casey" Finnegan and "Bob" Lowe and all the Bison football warriors will be there to tell our radio audience how we are going to bag the S. D. Jackrabbit Saturday.

President Shepperd of the college, J. E. Davis, chairman of the state board of administration, A. R. Wije, president of the Alumni Association, several former Bison gridiron stars and others will be there to contribute their share to this radio program.

Be There.
(Signed) Matt Tindall,
Sec., Alumni Association.

A Finer Bison Is Wallum's Promise

"Remarkable beauty of art work will distinguish the bigger and better 1930 Bison," says Amos Wallum, editor-in-chief of next year's annual. An entirely new idea for the development of the classes section with artistically conceived motifs and decorations and novel method of arrangement will present the pictures of seniors and juniors.

The snap shot pages of the Bison this year will be a complete surprise to the owners of the yearbook. Heretofore snapshots have been treated with more or less negligence, but this year there will be an arrangement, undisclosed as yet even to the staff, which will doubtless startle and certainly affect with much interest the readers of the annual.

"A Bison finer, larger, and more beautiful than any other, the culmination of eight months work will be presented to the student body on next Gay Cat day," says Mr. Wallum, "and with this in view the exceptionally large staff is already beginning work."

HOMEcoming

Plans for Homecoming are now complete, and on Saturday, October 19, they will culminate in a grand celebration for the whole college, the alumni, the faculty, and every one who is in any way connected with the school. The general chairman in charge of the arrangements, namely Matt Tindall, has been working intensively before the opening of this year's term in order that Homecoming might be a success. Yet his efforts and those of his assistants are not enough to insure this success.

It will take the united backing of every N. D. S. C. student to make Homecoming the event it really should be. In the days that are left, it is up to every Bison to respond unquestioningly when he is called on to assist the general committee in any way. Then, this week-end, we take it for granted that the student body will be represented one hundred per cent at every function that has been planned. All the old graduates and other visitors who are here will judge the college by the impression they get of it in the two days they are on the campus, and it is up to us to see that their impression is a good one. Keep this in mind, and boost for Homecoming. Remember the rally tomorrow night.

Editor's Note: "Alcohol: Its Place in College Life," is the title of the article printed below. It is taken from The International Student, and is written by an undergraduate of a British University. This interesting view of the English college life first appeared in a London paper, The New Campaigner.

Alcohol: Its Place in College
 "With the rising generation," as a Liquor Trade Journal aptly remarked, "and whether or not they take to alcohol, rests the future of the Trade commercially, politically and economically."

The solution of many of our great national problems, complicated and entangled as they are in the meshes of the Liquor Trade, must be sought in a more intelligent understanding in our colleges and schools of their scope and independence.

Liquor and the University
 What place does alcohol hold in university life? What is the attitude of undergraduates and college authorities on this question? These are questions which it might be useful to attempt to answer. The position in relation to the undergrads may be summed up in the one word—ignorance; with regard to the dons in the one word—apathy. The universities are traditionally conservative. Oxford is no exception, and its usual connotation as "the home of lost causes" may partly account for its inaction in seriously considering the drink evil, for none can examine the facts and fail to recognize the import of the modern verdict of science in relation to alcohol. College life at present is so bound up with, and so depends upon, alcohol as one of its constituent factors that it would be difficult to realize the importance of the change that would result from its disappearance.

LOVE TRUTH, BUT PARDON ERROR

The Freshman

The public schoolboy, starting his career at the university, is immediately introduced into an atmosphere in which the idea of a total abstainer is still almost a phenomenon. It would be unfair to say that such a person does not exist, but in colleges varying from a hundred to three hundred students their number may be anything from one to ten. This small minority consists mainly of those who have come up to the university with strong preconceived ideas on the question, having spent their younger days in a family where all alcoholic beverages are taboo.

It is an indisputable fact that, at the present time, no boy entering college life without strong convictions either way could be influenced by his new surroundings to become a total abstainer; on the contrary, it is an extremely common occurrence for the beginning of 'varsity life to mark the beginning of a life which learns to depend more and more upon alcoholic liquors to enable the fresher to take his place among a convivial set of "hearties" who seem, superficially, to represent real college life.

One Man's Experience

So deeply rooted in those who have passed through the 'varsity life is the idea that drinking is the normal thing that a young priest of my acquaintance, knowing my position as an abstainer, remarked to a friend that "he felt sorry for me" because, as he said, "I should be heavily handicapped at the start in taking part in the everyday life of the college." This, however was not my experience; after one heated argument with members of the boat club soon after my arrival in college, followed by a raid that night on my bedroom by seven of their number, all in a state of intoxication, which was carried out without undue temper on either side, I have reason to know that my "views" have not raised any artificial barrier or narrowed my circle of friends.

College Dining Rooms

The reformed public-house finds its counterpart in the college dining hall, where man's generosity exceeds all bounds in the mutual "treating" of each other to drinks. Some popular individuals gather around them as many as four or five pints of various liquors which it is essential, for their own reputation, to carry away inside them. This is one of the recognized ways of showing a friendly attitude towards each other; and, when a crowd of fifty or sixty freshmen come up together at the beginning of the year, there is apparently no easier way of breaking down an Englishman's natural reserve than by starting a friendship over a glass of beer. Even the breach of minor regulations and customs in Hall finds its inevitable punishment in the supply, on the part of the offender, of a large "sconce" cup, filled with many pints of beer or other suitable drink, which passes from mouth to mouth like a loving-cup.

Drinking and Athletics

Drink is the recognized corollary to athletics; success in any form of sport finds its recognition in extra refreshment. The winning of any of the inter-college cups, or a number of bumps in Eights Week, is celebrated by the whole college at a "Bump" supper where drink is almost unlimited, with lively consequential proceedings.

Lack of scientific knowledge is exemplified by the enforcement of an unwritten rule of a pint of beer at dinner as one of the strict and necessary articles of diet when training for all sports, although we have the word of former O. U. Boat Club Secretary to the effect that this rule is not based on any scientific fact, but is merely a tradition which is hard to break.

No College Restrictions

Why should college public opinion be otherwise? Among the countless societies and clubs for the support and examination of every conceivable theory and idea, from the smallest handful of members who meet to discuss the atomic theory of the universe to the Union Society itself, any serious discussion of the use and properties of alcohol is almost unknown. The attitude of the college authorities seems to be one of indifference, except when their own rooms are involved in the damage which is a frequent result of college celebrations. Dons who sit at the high table and consume the most expensive wines can hardly be expected to have a very firm and restraining influence on those with whom they come into contact as tutors; and the same may be said of many college chaplains, who, it must be remembered, have spent their own impressionable years in exactly the same atmosphere. There is no such thing as restriction on the amount of alcohol any undergraduate may have, and the idea of restraining an undergraduate from obtaining twenty bottles of beer from the college buttery and bringing in spirits, if need be, from outside, so that a dozen fellows may have a "blind" together in their room, would be regarded as a gross infringement of the liberty of the individual.

An Important Fact

It would be unfortunate, and contrary to my intention, if the recital of the above conditions should convey an impression that all undergraduates are always drinking. A few—a very few—abstain altogether; a few drink heavily; with the great majority excessive drinking is occasional. The important fact is that the free use of alcoholic beverages is the normal condition of university life.

The Future

The future leaders of the nation are mainly to be found in the universities of today, and social students cannot fail to reflect that men trained in this atmosphere, who go out in the service of the church and the state, can hardly be expected to give a lead, or, indeed, even to understand that there is a grave drink problem which calls for solution underlying the great social problems of today.

FIRST ALL-COLLEGE VERY WELL ATTENDED

Despite a handicap of bad weather conditions a splendid crowd turned out for the first all-college party which was held in the armory Friday night, under the auspices of the student commission.

Grace Reynolds, social commissioner, was hostess for the evening to members of the student body and their guests, and members of the faculty who attended. No one was admitted without presentation of his registration card, so that complications arising in the past from an influx of non-college men and women might be avoided.

Dancing was in order from 8:30 to 11:30.

Letter To Editor Describes States 1929 Prospects

Same Team To Meet N. D. S. C. On Oct. 19 In Homecoming Game

Brookings, S. D.—Gloom overspread the South Dakota State College practice field today when Coach Kasper returned from the first workout of the Jack Rabbits. It was not just the gloom intended for the public, either. It was the genuine gray article.

Coach Kasper has 11 lettermen back, including Englemann, Jenison and Hadler, brown, tough and hard from the harvest field, and around these three, who were selected for the all-conference eleven last year, he will attempt to build his team.

Several strong backfield men are lost to the team, however, through ineligibility, graduation, and the fact some are unable to return. The place of Schafer, at the halfback position is hard to fill, Kasper admitted. Practically all the punting and kicking originated from him last year and the task will be to groom one, two, or even three men to take his place. Two veteran ends, Krug and Eggers, are gone, and there is a tough battle ahead among the candidates for their places. Herting, who has seen considerable service, and two sophomires, Wheeler and Tollefson, will fight it out for the wing positions.

Harding and Baker, who were a power at fullback are gone, and the only prospects are Nelson, a 150-pound man from last year's frosh team, and Bill Henry, a 140-pound halfback.

Lettermen who have reported for practice are Adler, guard; Herting, end; Englemann, halfback; Jenison, tackle; R. Schultz, halfback; Thorsen, guard; Hadler, guard; Parks, quarterback; Lowe, center; Larson, guard; Christie, tackle.

Ebullitions of Ebony Blott

By Everett Wallum

It seems that two of our freshman athletes went to the university.

The boys shouldn't be barred from athletes, they should receive condidences.

AND YOU CAN'T BLAME THE UPSTARTERS; IT WAS PROBABLY THE ONLY WAY THEY COULD GET ATHLETES THAT WERE ANY GOOD.

Now we'll be worried to death for fear the Nodaks will send a couple of their men down to make up for it.

It is significant that none of them have been after our co-eds.

NEXT TIME THEY ASK FOR ATHLETES, WE'LL SEND 'EM THE FROSH WHO THINKS A POLE VAULT IS A JAIL IN WARSAW.

They took a couple of our boys last year, too. We're beginning to wonder if it's an indemnity or a game.

They tried to get Walt Shamp and Tiny. Law... but this time their resources failed, the freight on these two boys exceeding their building appropriations.

Chris Culpepper says they won't get him, his announcing duties not permitting.

IF THEY WERE LOOKING FOR PASSING TIMBER IN THEIR QUEST FOR FOOTBALL MATERIAL, HOW COME THEY DIDN'T TAKE THE ARMORY? THE OLD THUMB-NAIL SKETCH OF WHAT GOSSIPERS SIT ON IN A SMALL TOWN GROCERY SHOULD HAVE PASSED LONG AGO.

One of our world-wise seniors wishes they would have nabbed him three years ago. Grand Forks is 90 miles closer to Winnipeg.

BUT MAYBE HE CAN'T SWIM. HO, HUM!

However, we rest contented that clutching Nodaks have been unable to get our goat.

OGEEGOSH! WE JUST THOUGHT OF THE TERRIBLE CONSEQUENCES IF OUR DEAR LEGISLATURE SHOULD DISCOVER THAT THE NORTHERN SEMINARY IS TRAINING KLEPTOMANIACS!

We're afraid the University takes us too literally when we tell them the campus is theirs when they come down to visit.

Which shows it pays to be polite only when you haven't anything that can be taken.

If they'd come down here and take a couple of our examinations, we'd be repaid.

Bison Mentors Plan Attack For S. D. State

Moorhead State Teachers Are Humbled on Muddy Dacotah Field

Fairhead Performance Capable

Many Substitutes Show Much Promise in Saturday's Skirmish

With their conference schedule facing the Bison mentors in their faces, the North Dakota State football squad began planning an attack for South Dakota State, who will furnish the opposition on Saturday, Homecoming, having defeated the Moorhead State Teachers college, 21 to 6.

The University of North Dakota will be the next team on the schedule followed by Morningside, Mount St. Charles, South Dakota University, and Montana State, in the order named.

Experimenting to give the Bison reserves all possible experience before the toughest part of the schedule is undertaken, Finnegan and Lowe discovered several capable performers. George Fairhead, Rockford, Ill., entered the game in place of Sam Westgate in the backfield, and proved to Finnegan that he was a capable performer, making up in fight what he did not possess in weight.

Working in at ends, Horace McGrath and Vern Goodwin showed promise when Pete Gergen and Bill Hilts did not appear in suits and Finnegan added two good ends to his list for future reference.

Joe Blakeslee and Leo May took the scoring duties in hand with assistance from Lonsbrough, who added the extra points, and Fairhead.

Near the close of the game Pariseau, Smith, and Goodwin, aided by substitutes, opened up an attack which threatened to score twice, but ended 15 yards from the Peds' goal. The summary:

Bison Frosh Baby Nodaks In Deadlock

Spectacular Bison Line Play Stops Baby Nodak Backs

In the first game of a doubleheader, the Freshman football team from the State university staged a last minute rally to gain a tie with the Bison yearlings. The game was played on Dacotah field which had hardly recuperated from a rain storm. The water hazards on the thirty yard line might have been made an excellent place to practice mashie shots had the football game been postponed. Paul Bunt's aim with punts was as good as could be expected of any golfer. However, he kept the Nodak representatives in the middle of this mud-puddle a good share of the afternoon.

The conditions of the field made it hard for either team to show any high class football, the result was a defensive battle with no scoring threats made until the last quarter. At this time, the State frosh, aided by a penalty and some hard tackling, drove the Flickers back to their own fifteen yard line where Jacobson was forced to punt. The kick was short and wide, falling into the arms of Vivien McKay, who, in the prettiest run of the game, dashed thirty-three yards around the right side of the line, to score the first touchdown of the game. Bunt's drop-kick was low, and the score remained 6 to 0 for the Bison.

The touchdown seemed to stimulate the Nodaks, for they started an offensive thrust which carried them to the Bison fifteen yard line where they lost the ball on downs. Bunt kicked short, and another short drive brought the infant Nomads of the North to within scoring distance again, but the Yellow and Green line held for three downs, making a pass inevitable. Jacobson dropped back and dropped a short pass over the goal line. It was knocked down by Ellingson, but Hupler was under it before it hit the ground, and the University tied the score at six all. The kick was low and the contest was left in doubt. The Bison chose to receive and they opened up a pass attack which was effective, but the final gun halted their march toward the visitors' goal.

Line Play Outstanding

The Flickertails presented probably the largest freshman line ever assembled in this conference, and their giant tackles Jongeward and Urevig, rendered the Bison off-tackle plays useless. The University line could not aid their own ball carriers, however, and several times the Baby Bison linemen broke through and threw the upstate backs for substantial losses. This was in fact the feature of the game. It would be hard to pick out the weakness in the Bison line, and it would be equally as difficult to select a star for all the boys were in there charging low, hard, and fast, making plenty of tackles. Bunt and Furgeson at the ends showed fine spirit and might be considered as outstanding. In the back-field, Jacobson presented the most promise for the Baby Nodaks. Vivien McKay was the outstanding ball carrier for the State frosh.

This is the first of a series of two games to be played between the two teams. The last one will be in two weeks at Grand Forks. The summary:

PAUSE AND REFRESH YOURSELF

IT'S REALLY A SHAME TO INTERRUPT THE PROFESSOR'S CHASE OF THE DIURNAL LEPIDOPTERA AND TURN THE BULL ON HIM BUT YOU HAVE TO BLAME THE ARTIST FOR THAT.

Obviously, few of us have the chance — or temerity — to make matadors out of ourselves. But even in the normal course of human events, there's nothing so welcome as a refreshing pause. Happily there's a soda fountain or refreshment stand — with plenty of ice-cold Coca-Cola ready — around the corner from anywhere. With its delicious taste and cool after-sense of refreshment, it makes a little minute long enough for a big rest.

CHEMISTS HOLD FIRST MEETING

The Chemist's Club held their first regular meeting in Room 26 in the Chemistry building, Thursday, October 10. A larger number of students were present than at any first meeting the club organized. The old members together with the freshman members totaled seventy.

The Chemists decided to enter a float in the Homecoming parade. Jerry Martin was appointed as chairman of the committee in charge with Julsrud and Minard as chief assistants.

Dean Carrick delivered the principal address. His remarks were directed for the Freshmen, his most salient point being that he desired all Freshmen enter the School of Chemistry to "conduct themselves as gentlemen."

Amos Van Worst, president of the organization, gave a short talk on the future of the club. Lawrence Forman entertained the club with four violin solos. After adjournment of the meeting, refreshments were served.

Students in our science courses hear much of the atom. On August 10, 1929, the voice of the atom, the smallest voice in the world, was heard by radio listeners, having been broadcast by the Research Laboratory of the General Electric Company. The voice of the atoms could be heard as a series of loud clicks. We are told not all atoms are capable of making themselves heard, but those who can belong to the so-called radioactive elements. The discovery of these elements has opened up a vast new field to physical science. All that remains now is for the atom to tell us via the radio where it came from and how it started the ball rolling.

The aims, materials and methods of teaching and supervising agriculture are obtained by studying in the Department of Agricultural Education under the direction of Prof. E. H. Jones and his two assistants, L. L. Scranton and G. C. Cook. Each year students working in this department are engaged as assistants to state and county agents for training in extension work under men and women experienced in the several extension activities. Many graduates with qualifications from this division are placed as Smith-Hughes instructors in schools throughout the Northwestern states.

Research and survey problems for future vocational agricultural teachers are carried out. During the week of May festival time, this department takes an active part in locating, instructing and entertaining the high-school visitors.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA ALUMNI GIVE TEA

Fargo alumnae of Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity were hostesses to active members and pledges of the local chapters and visiting alumnae at a Founders' Day tea held in the home of Mrs. John Wooledge, 427 Ninth Avenue South. Assisting Mrs. Wooledge were Mrs. George Black, Mrs. Roy Oliver, and Miss Susan Freeman. Appointments were carried out in dark and light blue, the fraternity colors, and the hours were from 4 to 6.

October 13 marked the 59th anniversary of the founding of the fraternity at Monmouth College, Monmouth, Illinois, in 1870. Kappa Kappa Gamma is the second oldest women's fraternity in existence, Kappa Alpha Theta having precedence in age by a few months.
