DEBATERS RETURN FROM MANITOBA SUN.

Harold Fog and Glenn Smith returned from the Manitoba Agricultural college Sunday evening after debating the northerners Friday night on the farm relief question. They brought back some very fine reports on the hospitality shown them while at Manitoba and the trip was successful with the exception of one little detail. The Manitobians defeated them in their debate.

Karl Gerteis and Loyal Gaest debated a Manitoba team in the seminar room on Friday evening of last week before some thirty people. The debate was a non-decision affair. Considerable light was thrown on different phases of farm relief, legislation and co-operative marketing.

Saalwaechter To Lose Three Stars By Graduation

Coach Saalwaechter Deserves Much Credit For Team's Record

By MILO HOISVEEN

When Coach Saalwaechter calls his basketball candidates together for the 1930 campaign he will be minus the services of Captain Bobby Hahn, Matt Braus and John Brady, three brilliant performers during the past season, lost to the Bison cause by graduation. All three athletes have seen much action on the basketball court during their final year.

Captain Hahn, for the past three years a star in the Bison lineup, made it difficult for opposing coaches and critics to leave his name from the Bison quint while a sophomore and has been found at the forward post since his first year. Hahn has been named on several all-conference teams during the past two years and will more than likely be selected on honor teams for his work during the past year. Through his work on the Bison court during the 1928 season Hahn was selected to fulfill the captaincy for the 1929 season.

Matt Braus a veteran of three seasons played the greatest ball of his college career in the past year. During each season the Bison center improved greatly and had Braus another year of conference competition left there is no doubt but what he would be classed as one of the greatest Bison centers in the history of the college.

The career of John Brady as a Bison cager is cut somewhat short because of the two years of college competition which Brady had while a student at Wahpeton Science. Brady, a guard and a willing worker, gave conference forwards no end of trouble in negotiating with the Bison goal, and Bison fans bemoan the fact that the sore-thatched guard had but one year basketball to be played for the Bison.

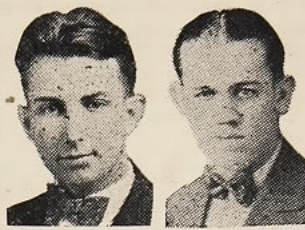

There is no end to the credit to Coach Saalwaechter in developing the teams which made such a creditable showing for this college during the 1929 season. At the beginning of the season Saaly was faced with anything but bright aspects in regards to putting out a team which would finish well up in the conference column. The team started out at a slow pace but gained momentum as the season progressed and had the breaks been more favorable to the Bison there is little doubt but what the conference honors would be resting at this institution. Sally's quint defeated every team in the conference and gained the second place honors in the loop.

GAMMA RHO FORMAL TO BE ON APRIL 6

Epsilon chapter of Alpha Gamma Rho will hold their 17th annual spring formal on Saturday, April 6th, at the Elks Temple.

Arthur Ziegler is in charge of the arrangements and has as his assistants Leonard Luther, Paul Abrahamson, Martin Altenberg, and Wm. Frey.

Debate Winners

Harold Fog and Raymond Gregorson represented the senior class in the contest for the argumentative supremacy of the college classes.

Tippett Addresses Students Monday

Two Religious Convocations On Tomorrow Morning's Schedule

"There are three groups of individuals," L. Donald H. Tippett, pastor and head worker of the Church of All Nations, New York, told the student body at convocation Monday morning.

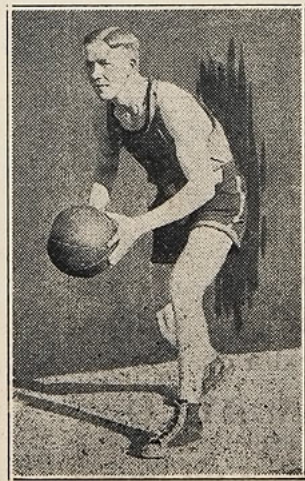

The first group is always looking back into their past for what Mr. Tippett calls their "golden age," their supreme achievement; the second group looks forward to the future for theirs, and the third group is in the presence of opportunity and does not realize it.

According to Mr. Tippett, everyone falls into one of these groups. In the first group he sees tragedy, in the second group fall those people who are always making excuses for their failures, and the third group surpasses most young people. To the last group he gave his advice: "The task of today is tremendously important, for as you live today you are building your tomorrow; as you do today's job well you are preparing yourself to build your golden age; for the man who plays life as a game, not for the joy of winning, but for the joy of the game, will some day find his golden age."

This convocation talk by Mr. Tippett was the formal opening of Fargo's Religious emphasis week. Tomorrow morning the second convocation of the week will be held at 9:40 a.m., with the women assembling in the Little Country Theatre and the men in the armory.

Miss Ethel L. Perry, representative of Juvenile Court and Minneapolis Church Federation, will address the women in the Little Country Theatre. Miss Perry served with the Y.M.C.A. in France during the World War, and since has engaged in business, Girl Scout, Church and Mission work.

Dr. H. N. Geistweit, pastor of First Baptist Church of Des Moines, Iowa, will speak to the men in the armory. Dr. Geistweit comes with the reputation of being an outstanding successful minister who draws the biggest crowds of any pastor in Sioux City for his Sunday services.

Faculty Agrees On A Four Day Easter Vacation

No Leaves Of Absence Will Be Granted By Deans For Week Ending Mar. 23rd

Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, at Easter will be given as an Easter vacation according to announcement made by Registrar Parrott late yesterday afternoon, providing the student starts school on Thursday morning of next week.

Absolutely no leaves of absence will be granted for the weekend following "exams" and students will be required to start school Thursday morning at eight o'clock. This rule is to be adhered to strictly and any offenders will be dealt with by the discipline committee.

The four day vacation in place of a group of illegitimate "skips" next weekend is the result of a meeting held this week, of President Coulter, Deane of Men Smith, Registrar Parrott, and M. Foss Narum, president of the student Commission.

PI GAMMA MU SPONSORS EDUCATIONAL LECTURE

Dr. Harry W. Laidler, New York author and lecturer, will speak to students of the North Dakota Agricultural college in the Little Country Theatre, Thursday night on "The Student and the Social Challenge," a talk sponsored by Pi Gamma Mu, national social science fraternity at the college. A general discussion will follow the speech.

Dr. Laidler, who is vice-president of the National Bureau of Economic Research, holds three college degrees and is a member of the New York Bar. Some of his books include "Power Control," "How America Lives" and "The British Cooperative Movement."

"Y" CABINET HONORS MISS MARIE WEBSTER

Miss Marie Webster, who completes her college career at the end of this term, was the guest of honor at a Sunday evening dinner of members of the YWCA cabinet.

Miss Webster has been on the "Y" cabinet every year while in college and was president of the women's group last year. She is a member of Kappa Delta and Phi Upsilon Omicron sororities.

DO YOU PREFER WILD ROSE OR GOLDENROD?

The wild rose, state flower of North Dakota, has been advocated for the national flower by a prominent eastern botanist, according to the American Nature Association which is conducting an active campaign for a national popular vote on this subject. A difference in opinion arises in North Dakota, however, when Prof. O. A. Stevens, pure seed analyst and plant specialist, North Dakota State College, casts his vote for the goldenrod as a national flower.

The wild rose is a widely distributed plant, but is not at all characteristic of America, a reason given by Professor Stevens for rejecting this plant and voting for goldenrod. He believes that the national flower should be common in all or as many sections of the country as possible, that it should be a real "wild flower," and that it should represent some American character.

"It has always seemed to me that the goldenrod is the logical selection for the national flower," said Mr. Stevens. "Several species of the goldenrod are found nearly everywhere and there are many species much alike. The group is almost exclusively American and symbolizes golden wealth. The species belongs to both woods and prairies. They are not cultivated and not in danger of extinction," believes Mr. Stevens.

PLAYING HOOKEY

We expect that a good number of students have about decided that the coming exams are a little more than human beings can bear, and, as a consequence, it would be a restful experience to take a few days off at the beginning of the spring term. This pleasant deduction has become an heirloom, passed on by each defunct term to the eager hands of the next. The traditional exodus has an element of expectancy about it. This problem immediately came to our minds upon hearing of the forthcoming Easter vacation, a special grant made to the student body by the registrar and president of this school. This interval is of four days, a longer time than has usually been given us. Let everyone thank those who are responsible for the welcomed gift. When announcing this vacation Mr. Parrott added that no leave-of-absence would be given to one desiring to take advantage of the first few days of the spring term. It being the duty of all to conform to this rule, perhaps anything we might say concerning it were idle words. But to those several individuals who do not consider the matter in this light, may The Spectrum appeal to your sense of fairness. The registrar favored you; be considerate.—H. P.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

Bare knees are practically a thing of the past and we hope that downy lips will soon be the same. What say if we give the "Barefoot Boy" a rest and expend our efforts toward additional and more practical telephone facilities at Ceres Hall.

When the fellows call up Ceres Hall
 It ain't no fun you see.
 The telephone rings, and your buzzer sings,
 And you sigh, "Alas it's for me."
 Cause all the girls come flocking round
 And ask the wildest questions,
 And listen in on what he says,
 And offer dumb suggestions.
 And just when you've decided
 That "the dorm's no place for me,"
 You hear him say, "Hey Bill, get away"
 Down at his fraternity.

When they phone up for a date
 To come and call at Ceres—
 "4425" —"The line is busy."
 It really is the berries!
 He tries, and tries, and tries, and tries
 To call the little miss.
 He calls from seven til half past eight,
 And then she answers this:

"If you come at seven there's a chance in eleven,
 We'll sit on the davenport.
 If you make it half past and our luck will last,
 The chairs aren't the worstest sort.
 If you come at eight, its pretty late.
 There's no corner left at all.
 But don't make it eight thirty, cause you ain't sittin' purty
 If you stand up down in the hall." —A. C. F.

Student Opinion

A student "opines" that "N.D.S.C. has long had a reputation for good sportsmanship" and that "good sportsmanship—has always prevailed here." A little research would prove both statements to be false, for many of us who arrived here five years or more ago, have a vivid recollection that we were not "always" good sports. In those good old days of the recent past we did not treat the visiting teams as guests and there was no closed season on referees. We were poor sports during the football season, and when the basketball season began we were worse, and by the time the University games were played we were terrible. No small town mob could have given a better demonstration of how not to act at a ball game. The Pep Club's "Luddefisk" was bad, but not so long ago a "snuse rag" was thrown out on the floor on a similar occasion as a more visible and lasting reflection on the perpetrators of the deed and—it was considered a good joke and no one said or wrote anything about it.

Why bring that up? Simply for background, a shady "past"; a something that we have just emerged from; a something to keep in mind so that we will instantly recognize it when it shows its smeary head as it did when we did not play fair with our referee and when its dirty hand smudges our white clad Pep Club. With that shady background let us glory in the fact that in one generation of students we have attained to such heights. One of the contributions that Coach Cortright made to this institution was that he preached and practiced and insisted on good sportsmanship, and be it said to the everlasting credit of our student body that they responded to the suggestion gloriously, so that now our new-found sons and daughters think that we have always been that way and remark on how our college spirit and sportsmanship shine when compared to that of other institutions.

Our record this year is the best ever. Last fall our curve went up and up until at Homecoming time we reached heights never before approached, and this winter when the best that was in us petrified a little during the cold weather the Athletic Department and the Spectrum promptly stepped out, showed the stop signal, and the response was remarkable. If anyone blushed at the way we acted during the Morningside game they had a chance to swell up with pride at our sportsmanship the next week. The spirit and sportsmanship of our athletic teams have always exceeded that of the student body. There have been times when their spirit has weakened to the point that they have suffered from an inferiority complex. If in four years—a generation of students—we can come from a minus sign to good college spirit and sportsmanship, plus, what would we be as an institution and what could our athletic teams accomplish in another four-year period, if each one of us could be transformed into good sportsmen and imbued with a college spirit that would place us first in the class among the colleges of this part of the country?

 Uncle Dudley.

Fellow Students: Why do you dislike the orchestra and orchestral music? I assume that you do dislike this type of music because you have absolutely failed to support the orchestra of this college. Music is said to be the noblest and truest expression of all human emotions. If that is so, why do you wish to suppress your emotions. You cry for more freedom of expression and yet you hold back and checkmate the very best means of expression you have, and consequently the expression itself. You are your own enemies. You fight yourselves, and then wonder why you don't make headway.

Please drop this foolish, inconsistent attitude. Deserve your reputation for school spirit and support the orchestra. It is no more than fair to the college and to yourselves. We have a "Gold Star Band"; let us now have a "Silver Star Orchestra." It can be done. There is a wealth of material on this campus, and if we can bring it out and develop it, we can have the finest orchestra in the state. When you graduate from college, you cannot be classed as either cultured or well educated if you have failed to develop an appreciation of good music. Neither a military band nor a jazz band can successfully develop this sense, but an orchestra can raise it to the highest degree of perfection. Since it is to your own interest to have a good orchestra, help and support Dr. Putnam who is doing everything he can to organize an orchestra which will be an honor to the college. If you help, he will succeed; if you refuse your support, the entire college will be everlastingly shamed.—L.E.F.

Ebullitions of Ebony Blott

By Everett Wallum

The Kappa Deltas had a fire and, as far as we can figure out, there is no need for that hot mamma crack.

Maybe it was just cupid striking a match.

The girls got their fur coats out of the way, so there wasn't any hot dogs.

It all goes to show that you can't hold a candle to the Kappa Deltas.

They called the firemen, which goes to show that girls can't get along without men around the house.

No one cried "Fireman, save me chee-ild."

There wasn't even a brain child around the place.

Maybe the fire was started by friction. There's been a lot of gum sold on the campus lately.

Anyway, they had a hot time.

The girl stood on the burning deck, And loudly cried "Oh, dear, Now that this one's gone to heck, What will I do for Smear?"

Maybe the house figured it was old enough to smoke.

The way the girls ran out of the house, you'd think somebody honked a horn.

There was a lot of excitement, in fact nothing was the matter with the team.

One girl rescued her perfume. She believed in keeping her scent-ses.

Coeds helped each other in carrying out the stuff. The fire probably melted their hearts.

A house catching on fire isn't news, but when the fire is found in the furnace, that IS news.

Now all the other sorority houses will have to start a fire. One must keep up with the times.

Soon the query will be: "Have you a little flarey in your home?"

"If there must be a conflagration," said a professor upon receipt of the news, "I wish they'd fire their imaginations."

Fargo High School Wins District Tournament

Will Meet Lisbon For Regional Honors

Lisbon And Fargo Will Play In College Armory Friday Evening

Fargo High School, by defeating Hope 36-16 in the final game of the second district tournament held in the Armory, Friday and Saturday, won the district championship and the right to oppose Lisbon for the regional honors.

Hope gave Fargo considerable opposition during the first period of play when they held a lead over the Kimball crew, the Midgets gained the upper hand in the second period and at half time lead the Hope quint 17-10. After the rest interval the Fargo crew came back with the same style of play typical of the second period and gained a 36-16 victory. The Hope quint gave Fargo its strongest tourney opposition.

In the initial game of the tournament Casselton defeated Hunter 35-14 and won the right to meet the winner of the Fargo-Hillsboro setto. Fargo, after being headed the first period, triumphed over Hillsboro quint by a 39-9 score.

But one game took place in the second bracket Hope vanquishing Tower City 26-20. Hope gained the right to meet Buffalo, who had won a bye, in the semifinals.

Fargo swamped Casselton in a semi-final game defeating them 51-12. Hope gained the right to meet Fargo for the championship when they disposed of Buffalo by a 32-24 count.

C. C. Finnegan, athletic director, arranged a series of consolation games in order that defeated teams could gain tournament experience. The Hillsboro-Hunter contest went to Hillsboro by a 32-11 measure. Casselton annexed third place honors by triumphing over Buffalo by a 40-11 score.

The Fargo-Lisbon game will be played in the Armory Friday evening to decide the regional honors. The team winning this contest will represent this region at Mandan in the state tournament held the following week.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

A business education is a practical education that prepares one for every-day living. It gives the training necessary for entrance into the business world where the demand for trained workers is much greater than the supply. The business world pays a salary twelve months out of the year with two weeks' vacation on full pay. Hon. W. T. SIGMA TAU PLEDGES
GIVE NOVEL PARTY

Pledges of Alpha Sigma Tau fraternity entertained the active chapter at a party held at the College "Y" last Saturday evening. Sixty couples spent the evening in dancing.

The party was a take-off on a policeman's ball. A chaperone's booth and a frappe booth decorated as jail cells helped to carry out the general effect of law. The frappe girls were dressed in convicts' uniforms. The dance programs were printed in the form of a police summons and were distributed to each couple by a cop in full uniform. An electrically operated STOP and GO sign placed in the middle of the dance floor announced the beginning and end of each dance by the ringing of a bell and by the flashing of the STOP and GO. A feature number presented by the rookie trio met with general approval. Burt Kilbourne, Robert Anderson, and Robert Schultze sang several songs. The trio were dressed as convicts and sang "Here Comes My Ball and Chain." The favors, miniature policemen's night sticks lacquered in the fraternity colors, aided in carrying out the motif of the party. Confetti and serpentine were given to the guests before the end of the party.

The guests of honor included Mr. and Mrs. Tom Manchester, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lowe, Nick Nelson, George Gronburg, Rene Wambach, and Mike Knauf. The chairmen in charge of the different committees were: James Konen, decorations; Edgar Crewe, programs, Frank Seebart and Anthony Faber, general arrangements.

Exclusive Smartness

When large collars of fur denote such luxury and give a slenderness to the coats they adorn, it is quite evident that the most important phases in mode have been accomplished.
For what more imposing smartness could the modern Miss wish than this Town Coat trimmed with Silver Russian Muskrat. Graduated slot seams accent a slenderness at the back and sides.
