

1929 Rifle Team Named By Ross After Try-Outs

Curtis Ballard Is High Point Man For Second Consecutive Year—Scores 901

Curtis Ballard with a score of 901 was the high point man for the second consecutive year in the annual try-outs for the rifle team which took place from Wednesday, Jan. 23, to Saturday, Jan. 26.

Ballard was presented with the gold medal awarded to the high man in the trial shooting, while Glenn Schoessow scoring 899 received a bronze medal as second high man. Floyd Sax, Banks, who shot an 828 was awarded a silver medal, as he was the highest among the non-letter men.

59 men reported for the trial, 30 of which completed the trial. 100 shots per man were necessary and a total of approximately 20,000 rounds were fired.

Lieutenant Ross was exceedingly optimistic regarding the future of the rifle team as a result of the new material found among the non-letter men, in fact, the competition was so keen that three lettermen from last year's team are without a berth this year. The exceptional shots among the non-letter men include Floyd Sax, Vernon Smith, Alvin Lee, Kenneth Piper, and Ray Bassett.

The following men will comprise the squad: Curtis Ballard, Moorhead; Frank Devorak, Center; Albert Palmerlee, Havana; Raymond Hack, Fargo; Walter Bartholomew, Kindred; Jerome Olson, Havana; Vernon Smith, Twin Valley, Minn.; Floyd Sax, Banks; Alvin Lee, Valley City; Glen Schoessow and Earl Schoessow, Fargo; Clarence Vogel, Lark; Kenneth L. Piper, Ashley; Raymond Bassett, Wahpeton; Alexander Watson, Maxbagg; Arthur Johnson, Hurdsville; Elmer Bothun, and Morris Barks, Egeland. Leslie Hanelt of Fargo, and H. O. Winch of Grafton will also be carried along by Lieut. Ross as he wants a squad of twenty men.

Last year's team set up a splendid record, firing a total of 82 matches and losing only 7. In addition to these, a first and second team was entered in the Hearst's Trophy tournament, these placing 7th and 17th respectively. The team placed first in the national inter-collegiate and the 7th Corps area inter-collegiate contests.

Firing will begin earlier this season than was anticipated by Coach Ross. The first match, which is with Penn. State, will be completed Feb. 2.

BIRD BANDED IN N. D. CAUGHT IN ARKANSAS

A White-Throated Sparrow which was banded Sept. 21 by Prof. O. A. Stevens, authority of birds and pure seed analyst at the North Dakota State college, was caught by M. Hopkins at Miller, Ark., Nov. 26, according to word received by Mr. Stevens from Paul G. Redington, chief of the Bureau of Biological Survey, United States department of agriculture. This is the first of the 150 White-Throated sparrows banded by Mr. Stevens between Sept. 1 and Oct. 1 to be caught by other banders and reported this fall.

Observations of the White-Throated sparrow reveal that this feathered friend of man ranges over the United States east of the Rockies. It spends its summers mostly in the evergreen forest areas of northeastern United States and eastern Canada and winters in central and southern parts of the United States. The bird can be found during the summer months in the Turtle mountains of North Dakota.

It was during the southward migration period of the White-Throated sparrow that Professor Stevens caught and banded large numbers this past fall.

Miss Marion Trowbridge, who is president of the Pan-Hellenic Council, will lead the grand march at the Fourth annual Charity Ball to be held in the college armory on Friday evening of this week.

Costumes Add To "East Side" Party

"Architectural Party Was Best Informal Given In Years"—Arlene Burt

What was probably the most successful informal party given on this campus in several years was given by the Architectural department last Friday in the department rooms. The party, which was in the nature of an East Side Bowery dance had a unique feature in connection in the form of a "speak easy" cabaret which proved to be so successful that it was decided to make the annual party a cabaret dance. The bar in the cabaret was very realistic, fitted up with brass foot rail, spittoons, water cooler, kegs with spriketts, and "free lunch" consisting of pretzels, cider, spaghetti and cheese sandwiches served by Ernest Nystrom and Don Hoarman in very professional manner. Bill Shine as "boss" and master of ceremonies was also a huge success.

As entertainment, Neal Baldwin gave a pathetic rendering of the "Wreck of the Shenandoah" and "The Death of Floyd Collins" with gestures, accompanied by Professor Huntoon on the accordion. Other features were harmonica selections by Kenneth Sunberg, vocal numbers by Vivian Renz, and selections by a quartet consisting of Professor Huntoon, Neal Baldwin, Lawrence Parsons, and Bill Shine.

The costumes out-did the New York Bowery styles themselves. The decorations on the walls consisted of pictures of movie actors, pugilists and a frieze of caricatures of members of the department drawn by Alf. Skaret. Lights in the cabaret were candles in beer bottles, and in the dancing room, candles shaded by coffee cans. Such a light over the door of the "speak easy" made possible the refusal of admittance of undesirable patrons.

GIRLS ELECT BASKET BALL CAPTAINS

At a recent women's basketball practice the following class captains were elected: Helen Stokke, freshmen; Berniece Hurmence, sophomore; Bud Osnes, junior; and Grae Sjordal, senior.

With the captains of the various teams elected, the inter-class basketball schedule will start in the very near future according to Ethel Smith, manager. She also stated that the attendance at practices had been very good with the freshmen leading in numbers and the seniors coming in last.

Anniversary Of L. C. T. Planned For Feb. 10-12

"Brand," "The Servant in the House," and "David Harum" Will Be Given

Plans for the celebration of the Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday 15th anniversary of the Little Country day, February 10, 11 and 12, have been worked out by A. G. Arvold, head of the public discussion and social service department, originator of the little country theatre movement, and members of the Edwin Booth dramatic club.

Each five years, the birthday of the Little Country theatre is celebrated, the anniversary bringing together a large group of alumni and others who have received help through the institution in the art of expressing themselves, according to Mr. Arvold.

The celebration program will demonstrate the work that is being done by the theatre in the state, including, besides a repetition of some of the plays produced in the past years and a new experimental production, the presentation of a play by the farmers club from Bergen township, Nelson county. This organization has received much help from the public discussions and social service department of the college, of which the Little Country theatre is the laboratory.

"Brand," a drama in five acts by Henrik Ibsen, will be presented in an experimental production on the evening program Monday.

An all-alumni cast, the cast which originally presented the play in the Little Country theatre five years ago, will give "The Servant in the House," a drama in five acts by Charles Rann Kennedy, at 4 p. m. Monday.

"Back to the Farm," a rural comedy in three acts by Merline Shumway, will be presented by the Bergen Township Farmers club of Pekin at 4 p. m. Tuesday.

Four of the original cast members will be there to take part in the presentation of "David Harum," a comedy in three acts by Eugene Noyes Westcott, which will be given Tuesday evening. "David Harum" is one of the plays used for experimental purposes in the theatre.

The anniversary celebration will open at 3 p. m. Sunday, with exercises in the theatre. Teachers and students of the Fargo and Moorhead schools and business and professional men of the two cities will be guests at a reception from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m. The evening program will consist of a sacred concert and tableaux of scenes from great dramas.

Club women of the two cities will be guests at a reception and musicale from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. Monday, to be followed by "The Servant in the House." "Brand" will be presented at 8 p. m.

A complimentary breakfast for those who have taken part in public programs will be served between 7 a. m. and 10 a. m. Tuesday. "Back to the Farm" will be given at 4 p. m., and "David Harum" at 7:30 p. m. followed by a social session and the thespian supper in the Lincoln log cabin.

Dean Dolve was a dinner guest at the Theta Chi house Saturday noon.

STUDENTS WELCOME!

The architectural department wishes to extend an invitation to the students of the campus to look over the exhibition of drawings of the twenty-first Paris Prize competition. If you cannot come during the evening, you are perfectly welcome between four and six in the afternoons on Tuesday and Wednesday. Another interesting display which will be up is the frieze of caricatures of members of the architectural department drawn by Alf. Skaret for the architects' party.

And Her Partner

Fred Grant Glyndon, Minn., has been selected by Miss Trowbridge to lead the Charity Ball grand march with her. Miss Margaret Casselman and Milton Pemble will be second in the line.

Band Will Play For Convocation Wed.

Program Will Include "The Student Prince" Arranged by Dr. Putnam

A specially arranged concert, including several selections and arrangements by its conductor, Dr. C. S. Putnam, will be played by the Gold Star band of the North Dakota State college at convocation exercises to be held in the college armory at 9:45 a. m. Wednesday. The public is invited.

An attractive program has been arranged by Dr. Putnam and will open by the band and sung by the audience. This is one of Dr. Putnam's arrangements.

The march, "University of Arizona," by DeLuca, will be followed by the overture, "William Tell," Rossini. Following the overture will be the prelude from "Suite Ancienne," Hadley.

Another difficult and novelty number arranged by Dr. Putnam is "A Jungle Episode—The Elephant's Dance," in which is included an incidental tuba solo to be played by Marion G. Folsom. Selections from "The Student Prince," Ramberg, as arranged by the director for the Gold Star band, will follow, and the program will end with the college song, "The Yellow and the Green."

CARRICK INAUGURATES PERSONNEL SYSTEM

Dr. Carrick, Dean of the School of Chemistry, talked to the freshman chemistry section last Thursday on the Personnel system which is being inaugurated into this college for the first time. Ten other colleges in the country have this system in operation at the present time.

The Personnel System is a personality developer. As personality is an absolute essential for success in the world of chemistry and in the world of business, authorities have adopted a means of developing personality. The student is kept under constant observation for two years. His habits, his disposition, his adaptation to work, and his initiative are closely followed. If a flaw is found in the personality of an individual that might hinder him in the business world, it is immediately brought to the attention of the student and the fault is corrected. No one is able to see all his own faults and so the personality system enables you to see yourself as others see you.

The freshman filled out several blanks that contained vital information of the student. The first blank when filled out gave the record of the student in high school: his marks, activities, and record. It also asked for parentage, nationality, and birthplace. The second blank was a personality chart. The student had to fill this out according to his own opinion of his

Debaters From Australian "U" Here Tonight

"Scientists Should Take A Ten Year Holiday" Is Question To Be Debated

Tonight, at 8 P. M. in the Little Country Theatre, the feature home debate of this year will be held. The University of Sydney, Australia, debating team is the opponent of our North Dakota State representatives. This is the second time that the representatives of Australia have been our guests, the former contest having been held in October, 1926.

The question to be discussed tonight is: "Resolved, that scientists should take a ten years holiday." This novel topic, differing greatly from the usual run of debate topics, should furnish interesting subject matter for the teams representing either side of the globe. The Australians uphold the question and our North Dakotans maintain that the scientists should not take such a holiday.

Mr. H. G. Godsall, who is manager of the Australian team, is a brother of Dr. J. R. Godsall, one of the three Sydney debaters who were here two years ago. Mr. Godsall has always been prominent in University debating and has been a member of the Union Debates Committee for five years. For two years he was editor of Blackacre, the magazine of the University of Sydney Law Society. In 1925 he graduated as Bachelor of Arts and last year, Bachelor of Laws with honors. Mr. Sheldon has likewise for five years, been a member of the Union Debates Committee. In 1926, he graduated as Bachelor of Arts and proceeded to study law. In his first year at law, he won a scholarship for general proficiency and also a prize for constitutional law. Mr. Nelson was a member of the winning team in inter-collegiate debate competition, has represented the Union in various debates and has done a great deal of public speaking outside of the university. He graduated as Bachelor of Laws this year and has been submitted as solicitor of the Supreme Court.

Byron Olson, junior in the school of agriculture; Harold Peterson, junior in the school of education; and Raymond Gregorson, senior in the school of education will be the trio of speakers for North Dakota.

Among the numerous colleges and universities which the Australian debaters have already competed with are: Washington University, University of Denver, University of Nebraska, Iowa State, University of Iowa, Marquette University, University of Southern California, Washington State, University of Oregon and Oregon Agricultural College.

GLEN HOOPLE WINS DECLAMATORY CONTEST

Glen Hoople, with "There ain't no Ghosts" as his vehicle, took first place in the declamation contest held in the Little Country Theatre on Friday afternoon of last week.

Cecil Carroll placed second in the contest and Ruth Boerth third.

own personality. The range of ranking in each division of personality ranged from zero to ten which included poor, average, good, and excellent abilities. The student marked himself on disposition, initiative, conscientiousness, quality of work, attitude, character, and originality. The third blank filled out was a program of everything done from six in the morning till ten at night every day of the week.

This new system will bring the student in closer contact with the instructor. Any obstacles to success that are found in the personality of the student will be ironed out. From time to time the dean will call for a conference with the student and these defects will be discussed.

"PERSONNEL SYSTEM"

Last week Dean Carrick introduced the students of School of Chemistry and Technology to a new system intended to establish a better understanding between students and faculty, and give each student the personal consideration that his individuality requires. This innovation, called the Personnel System, is in operation in ten colleges of the country.

We greet the idea with jubilation. True, it is but a "System", and will probably suffer all the ills that systems suffer after the vitality of first inauguration has passed away. But there is no doubt that our college, (and we suppose all colleges) should consider the human, personal phase of the student more.

The Freshman impression of college is not healthy. The whole machinery of the school seems cold, cruel, inhuman, and unreasoning. One immediately falls prey to a current theory that our colleges try to "freeze out" as many students during the freshman year as possible. And there seems as little intelligence as understanding and justice behind the reigning mode.

If this new Personnel System goes even a little way towards correcting these freshman impressions, it will be more than justified.

WHAT DOES BUSINESS WANT OF ME?

Conceding that most of us are attending college for the purpose of preparing for a life work, let us try to answer the above question. Before attempting to suggest an answer let us take as an example a typical college student. By this appellation is meant one who is earning at least part of his way through school, partakes in one or more outside activities; is interested in social affairs; secures about an eighty-five average; and has quite an abundance of spare time. The question that all of us have to settle is: how may I best fit myself for a life work so that there will be a reasonable sureness of realizing my ideal of success. To solve the problem we return to our first proposition. What does business want of me? If it wants me with a high scholastic record, I should put emphasis on studies. If business wants a man with a huge surplus of miscellaneous knowledge perhaps outside activities should claim my major interest. There are many other possible requirements that might suggest themselves. Different ones will occur to the individual; let us get on with the solution.

The theory of educators is that college courses are so conducted that a boy who gets high marks will have acquired the habit and ability to use his brains, and that this ability will help him in whatever he tries to do. They have figures to prove that the boys who do well in school generally do well in college, and that those who do well in college generally rank high in professional schools. The analysis is concluded with what you have already foreseen: that those who do well in college succeed in business. All sorts of figures and facts might be quoted here. To save time and patience let us accept the verdict of the best of modern educators who have generally concluded that the way to success in business is through intensive study. If you care to question this statement your views may be compared with those set forth in the May issue of Harper's Magazine of '28.

It is estimated that forty thousand college graduates enter business each year. As future individuals in the great battle for that elusive thing called success we do well to stop a minute and study ourselves and our methods of preparation. As an average college student the thing to do is to settle for yourself on what phase of your present activities or work you should center your main attention. As pointed out there are many interests to occupy the minds of the modern youth. Schools and instructors have generally gotten away from the old idea of pounding knowledge into the heads of pupils. The attempt to make school life more interesting and engrossing has resulted in the insertion of many outside attractions. Our generation accepts them as a matter of course. BUT—keep this question before you: What does business want of me?

Ebullitions of Ebony Blott

By Everett Wallum

Now that the Pep Club has elected Book president, it should have lots of volume.

"Argentine Farms Contain Many Leguas," says a Spectrum headline. Now that that's settled, we may continue with our studies.

Well, we've got lots of legs on this farm too.

There's nothing more sinister than an Argentine Legua, unless its a Pan-American Conference.

We note that the Sigma Taus got cigars, the donors probably believing that, if given enough rope, the bunch will hang themselves.

If cupid hasn't any clothes on, why doesn't he tell the bare facts about love?

It's easy to set up cigars, but let's see 'em set up an egg.

A love affair is like a cigar in that it takes a match to get it going.

But you can throw the cigar away without gaining publicity.

A cigar is made up out of leaves, and so is a marriage—A.W.O.L.

When a fraternity man "falls" he loses his pins as well as his pin.

Dogs-gone.

They should give Old Golds so that their brothers won't cough up with their pins.

State College debators are hoping that every statement made by the Australian team will be a boomerang.

Living in such close contact with the kangaroos, the Island team will be able to jump the question anyway.

The Australians are English, so if you see any of them ha-ha tonight, it's probably over a wise crack an opponent pulled on them a month ago.

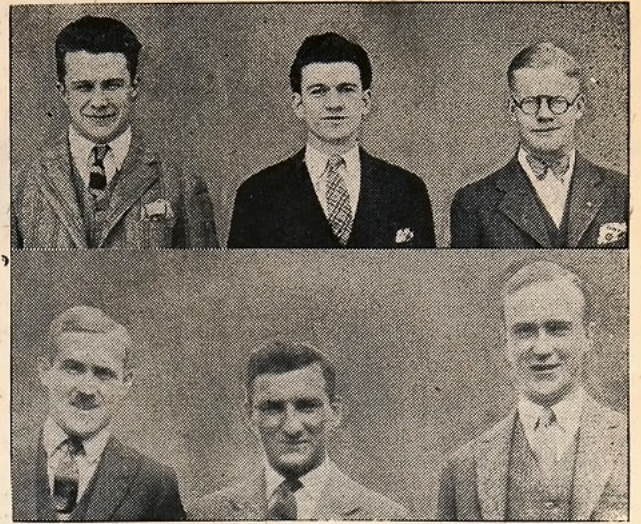

But there'll be no postponement of laughter when they see the armory.

In such a situation, all men are brothers.

They call these Australians bushmen, and they sure can beat around it.

BECKEL LEAVES TODAY FOR LONG ISLAND "U"

A. C. Beckel, instructor in freshman and organic chemistry at the North Dakota State college for the past two and a half years will leave today for Long Island university, an extension of Columbia university at Brooklyn, where he has accepted a position as instructor in chemistry.

"The big thing that occurs to me as I leave here is that the students in this college have been finer to work with than those of any other institution with which I have been connected," said M. Beckel when interviewed as to his departure.

Mr. Beckel has a B. S. degree from the University of Minnesota and has done three years of post graduate work at that school. Besides teaching in Long Island university he will take work for his Ph.D degree and do research work for the university at Brooklyn.

Theta Chi announces the pledging of Max Hughes, Fargo, and Harold Monson, Climax, Minn.

AT THE THEATRES

The State theatre is celebrating its annual "take a chance" week, the feature of the bills being that patrons must gamble on whether they will like the shows or not, for neither the names of the pictures to be shown, nor the names of the stars are announced.

"The Air Circus" is the talking film which is being shown at the Fargo the first four days of this week, in conjunction with two Vitaphone acts.

"The case of Leona Smith", starring Esther Ralston, is the picture booked with the five act vaudeville program for the Fargo the last two days of the week.

Frank E. Pellegrin was recently elected editor-in-chief of the Creightonian, student publication of Creighton university at Omaha. Previous to this Mr. Pellegrin was elected president of the North Central Press association at their meet at Morning-side college January 4th and 5th.

Bison Smother South Dakota University Under 41-28 Score

Bison Play Bunnies Here On Saturday

May and Hahn Star For Bison; Root Outstanding On Coyote Team

By MILO HOISVEEN

Folks, we hear a great deal about the Shooting of Dan McGrew, but since last Saturday night all we have heard about is the shooting of Leo May. The big center hit the hoop for 8 baskets, three of them being of the long variety, and the other five resulting from teammates passes and follow in shots. However, when the basket receipts of the night had been counted, his due was 16 of the Bison grand total which accumulated to 41 compared to 28 for South Dakota.

What Leo May did not do on the offense Bobby Hahn did. This little speed merchant dribbled, dodged, and passed through the Southern University's team with comparative ease and consequently scored 6 field goals and contributed a pair of free throws to the cause.

Then there was a chap from South Dakota by the name of Root, incidentally a guard, who did more to uproot the Bison attack than any of his teammates. This fellow did so much uprooting that the Bison basketeers were forced to foul him and it looked as though a couple would be rooted out of the game at any time.

After the inability of either teams to score in the first few minutes of play Saaly's band took things into hand and scored in rapid succession to bring the total to 10. South Dakota scored once from the foul line during this time. The Redmen came back and brought their total to five before quarter time. The Bison again speeded up and at half time they were out in front 22 to 11.

Following the mid time rest the Bison came back to widen the margin to a 26-11 score. At this time South Dakota became quick on the draw. They drew back about fifty feet from the basket and some Bison would cause them to shoot quick. The hoop must have looked pretty big from this point for the Southerner did not miss many of these tries. By this type of play they came within si points of overhauling the Bison, the score being 32-26. This served as an incentive for Saaly's crew to get hot for they immediately rallied and scored 9 points while South Dakota counted 2 before the game ended.

Gergen and Johnson displayed fine form at the gaurd positions. On out of bound plays Gergen came down the floor with accelerity of a rabbit to receive the ball and counted twice on such plays, scoring from under the basket. Bliss showed great ability in following in shots but was unable to locate the basket for many of his attempts. He also hurried up the passing of the offensive South Dakota play.

Another South Dakota quint hits town this week coming from Brookings via Grand Forks. It is no other than the State netmen who at the present time hold a decision over the Bison having won from the Bison 26-21 in their respective leir. This game is billed for Saturdey night and should be one of the best home games of the season.

IT SEEMS THAT— By Dub

It seems that—the boys are taking turns getting hot. Leo May was the last one to goin the select group.

It seems that—Solly will have his hands full—of gratitude—if he can get those five Bison hot all at the same time when the Nodaks put in appearance Feb. 15 and 16. Good luck, Solly.

It seems that—Morningside refuses to be taken as the conference setup since the Bison played them down there. The worm has turned and forced South Dakota State to work for their four point margin.

It seems that—the University is still resting. The Nodaks had to come from behind an eight point lead to take South Dakota University by one point margin. Too bad the South Dakota five couldn't have braced their feet when they began to slip.

It seems that—Sally may get an even break when South Dakota University can come that near to sending the mightily-traveled Nodaks down to a defeat. The Bison didn't travel as far but learned as much basketball.

It seems that—we must make a few predictions to get the student body interested so here goes. Our prediction for today is that none of today's readers will look for us in the next issue. Makes no difference, I'm as disgusted as you are.

"Y" BOWLING TEAM DEFEATS CITY "Y"

The College "Y" bowling team staged quite an event last week by taking two out of three games from the city "Y", leaders in the city "Y" bowling league. If the college team continues their winning stride they are likely to come out from their position in the cellar to cause much worry for the other entries, according to certain members of the team.

Carol Anderson, captain of the team, has been working hard to get a competent line-up. He now has an aggregation that will finish near the top.

Major Lathrop, Lieutenant and Mrs. Ross and Lieutenant and Mrs. Smith were dinner guests at the Rho house Sunday.

The Sigma Phi Delt brought their average up to .500 by defeating the Kappa Sigma Chi basketeers Tuesday evening 19 to 16. The Engineers were never in danger of relinquishing their lead to the Kappa Sigs although the Kappa Sigs gained on their opponents during the second period.

Kappa Psi showed much of last year's class in administering a 26 to 9 beating to the Kappa Phi team. Hanson and Miller were very active for the Kappa Psi quint.

FRATERNITY GAMES AND STANDINGS

This evening the Delta Sigs will play the Sigma Taus at 9:00 P. M. and immediately following this game the Theta Chis and Gamma Rhos will go into action. Paul Bunt will act as referee in these contests.

Gergen officiating on Wednesday has the following line up. Sigma Phi Delt playing the Kappa Psis and the Alpha Kappa Phis will meet the Kappa Sigma Chis.

Thursday evening at the same hour the Gamma Rhos will play the Sigma Taus. The Delta Sigs will play the Theta Chi Nighthawks at 10 P. M. Fairhead will officiate the week's finals.

THREE GAMES PLAYED IN Y SERIES SATURDAY

Three games were played on Saturday, January 26 in the Y.M.C.A. basketball tournament.

The first game was won 2 to 0 on a forfeit to the "Y" team by the Architects.

The Shamrock quint, formerly known as the Jensens, won from the Ifelta Thigh's, the team known before as the Olsons. In this game Slinde and Danrot starred for the winners, while Good and Lillecrap headed the losers lineup.

The last game was between the Barracks representatives and the Farm Machinery group ending with a lopsided score of 38 to 15. In this game one Salba scored 27 of the winning teams 38 points and rated himself to the basketball star of the fray. The Barracks were the winners.

Beginning on January 26 the Y.M.C.A. offers as an inspiration one gallon of ice-cream to the first team to win any four games.

Conference Games

The University of N. Dak. defeated S. D. U. 20 to 29 by overcoming an 8 point lead in the final minutes of play.

South Dakota State kept its record clean by defeating Morningside 28 to 23.

WALDORF PLAYERS DEFEAT FROSH SATURDAY

The rubber game between the Waldorfs and the Frosh went to the Waldorfs by a 26-12 count. This proved to be the fastest game that the Frosh have participated in, the Frosh fighting gallantly to overcome the lead piled up by the veterans.

Waldorf displayed keen shooting ability from the first and piled up a 11 point lead in the first few minutes. Had it not been for Blair Seitz, who dribbled in to count from the field, the First Yearman would have gone scoreless during the initial stanza. In the second period Coach Bob Lowe injected a new team that gave the Waldorfs no end of trouble. In this quarter the Waldorfs were only able to score one field goal making the count 14-2 at half time.

During the last half the Frosh showed considerable improvement in shooting keeping pace with their opponents. Goodwin, who was switched from guard to forward, lead the attack on the Waldorf basket. From the new position Goodwin counted three field goals. He was assisted in scoring by Westgate and Fairhead, who each counted a basket.

Cy Arnold, veteran Bison guard was the star of this contest. He counted 9 of his teams points and gave the Frosh no end of worry. Goodwin, Fairhead and Johnson were outstanding for the Yearlings.

DAIRY DEPARTMENT HAS COMMERCIAL BUREAU

A commercial bureau has been developed by the dairy department at the North Dakota State College as a means of disposing of dairy products by the various classes during their course of study. This is vital to the departments, says Christ Jenson, dairy instructor since materials must be disposed of if students are to be given practical experience in dairying. Although being primarily a means of selling surplus products, the commercial department also serves as a practical example to the student of business management in the dairy industry.

Whole raw milk, whipping cream, butter-milk, cottage cheese, pimento cheese, butter, and cream cheese are products on sale by the department. Cultured butter-milk is also on hand. Delivery of products is not a practice except to the cafeteria and economics department who are furnished with butter, milk, cream, and cheese exclusively by the college dairy. People wishing to buy dairy products go directly to the sales room of the department which is well patronized. The bureau sells $12,000 worth of dairy products annually.

Only the very best raw materials are used in making the products. Milk and cream are secured from the college herd almost exclusively. At times during the year, however, it is necessary to buy extra cream from creameries that have suitable raw materials.

It is the aim of the dairy department, according to Mr. Jenson to conduct their course in a practical manner. It is believed that in this way students who complete the course will have definite ideas which they may put into actual practice.
