

Implement Men, Farmers, And Bankers All Here

Pavilion Was Packed For Little International Livestock Show Last Night

As a source of learning, the North Dakota State Campus, has ranked higher this past week than for some time past. Implement dealers, bankers, farmers, homemakers and beekeepers, from all over the state, have been holding meetings and attending short courses here since Tuesday morning.

The program started off Tuesday morning with a meeting of the delegates to the seed school in the armory, and a meeting of the beekeepers in the "Ag" building. The feature of the afternoon was the Neighborhood day program in Mr. Arvold's department.

Coulter Speaks On Tariff

Wednesday morning the same schools held the previous day were again in session and one more, a Poultry School. In the afternoon a general session was held for all of the groups. President Coulter opened the speaking program, declaring that immense quantities of farm products are now being imported into the United States which should and could be produced on the farms of this country to replace crops now being produced in surplus quantities. He declared that instead of trying to make unprofitable by systems of bounty, American farmers have a better and surer remedy for their farm problems by bending their energies toward changing the nature of those farm products which are not now sufficiently protected and by utilizing more efficient machinery. Following President Coulter's address the remainder of the afternoon was taken up with talks regarding the success met with the use of the combine.

Thursday morning the program started off with the seed school again in session, banker's short course, beekeeper's short course, and the meeting of various breed associations, including the Duroc Jersey Breeders, Holstein Breeders, Sheep Breeders, and Horse Breeders. In the poultry department the day was devoted to a discussion on Turkeys and the Women's Short course consisted of talks on Corrective Diet and Training Children for Good Citizenship.

Little International

A packed pavilion witnessed the paramount feature of the week, the Little International Livestock Show, held last night. Briefly the program consisted of showing of beef and dairy cattle, horses, hogs and poultry, and presentation of awards to winners. Diversifying a bit, the members of the Saddle and Sirloin club who sponsor the takeoff, secured Dr. Putnam's Gold Star Band to play for the occasion, and put on an intersorty dog show as well as a clown act and small trained animal show.

A complete list of the winners and placings will appear in Tuesday's Spectrum.

Today's Program

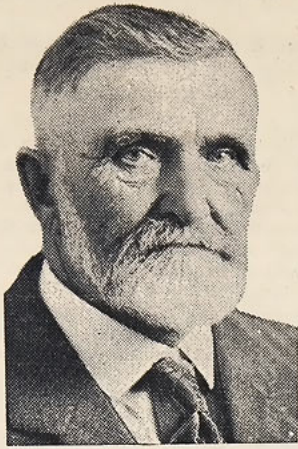

Meetings of the Aberdeen Angus Breeder's Association, Guernsey Breeders, and Shorthorn Breeders, were held at 9:00 a.m. this morning and then they will all join together for the meeting of the North Dakota Livestock Breeders Association which will be held this afternoon at 1:30 p.m.

The grand finale of the week is the banquet of the North Dakota Livestock Breeders Association to be held this evening at 6:15 p.m. in Ceres Hall cafeteria at which time the portrait of H. P. Hammer of Coopers-town will be unveiled and hung in the Saddle and Sirloin Club Hall of Fame. Dr. J. H. Shepperd is toastmaster for the occasion. Tickets are on sale at $1.00 a plate and may be secured from most any member of the Saddle and Sirloin Club.

Halvor P. Hammer, pioneer livestock man from Coopers-town, this state, will be honored this evening at the banquet of the North Dakota Livestock Breeder's association in Ceres hall cafeteria at 6:15. His portrait will be unveiled and placed in the Saddle and Sirloin Club Hall of Fame.

Architects Participate In National Contest

Sketches Were Made For 22nd Paris Prize On Saturday, January 12th

Nineteen members of the Agricultural department participated in the first preliminary of the twenty-second annual Paris Prize on Saturday, January 12th. The program was issued at 9 a. m., and the sketch was terminated at 9 p. m. The competition is interesting in that it was strictly supervised, and each student worked entirely independent of reference documents or conversation with others concerning the problem. At noon the entire group ate together in Ceres Hall cafeteria, and in the evening, lunch was brought to the department.

Because of this independent way of doing the problem, there were nineteen original solutions each worked out in a different manner. The problems were sent to New York and will be judged with the entire group on January 22. Mr. Keene and Mr. Jones of the architectural staff, and Allan Meinicke of William Kurke's office were also engaged in the competition, which is open to all architects under 27 years of age.

There are two preliminary, and one final competition each year. According to Prof. Huntoon, head of the department, an exhibition of the drawings of last year's final competition are on tour throughout the country. They will be on exhibit in the department here, January 23rd to 30th. Professor Huntoon, feels that there was a very good quality in the sketches turned in and that the students are a great deal stronger, architecturally, for entering such a competition. Every opportunity is to be taken in the future to enter students in these competitive exercise to the end that, eventually, honor may come to the school through a successful placing.

Professor J. R. Dice of the dairy department, was in Grand Forks on Wednesday of this week to attend the annual meet of the North Dakota Dairymen's association of which he is president. E. A. Greenwood, newly appointed state dairy commissioner, was the main speaker on the afternoon program.

Frank Kouba was a guest at the Sigma Tau house Wednesday.

of the college of agriculture of the University of Illinois, who was slated to give several of the main speeches here this week was unable to be here on account of illness.

Five Women Named Master Homemakers

Banquet Took Place Wed. Eve In Ceres Hall; Feature Event Of Women's Activities

"For distinguished service in their homes, in their communities and in the nation," five rural women of North Dakota were honored as Master Farm Homemakers at a program held at the North Dakota State college Wednesday evening.

The new titles and accompanying gold pins were conferred by The Farmer's Wife, national farm women's magazine, with the cooperation of the home economics extension service of the Agricultural college, at a special recognition banquet as a part of the Farmers' Week program here. Leaders in agriculture, business and education numbering 250 attended.

The five women honored are Mrs. George Pilgrim, Tower City; Mrs. Eli Taillon, Cavalier; Mrs. F. R. Brokaw, Fullerton; Mrs. G. W. Rasmussen, Dazey, and Mrs. E. B. Wollan, Fairdale. They are North Dakota's second group to be admitted to this new national guild of master craftsmen.

Mrs. Pilgrim taught school for 17 years, nine of them after her marriage, and has been on the school board. Her definition of success in homemaking is, "A well-raised family and a well-ordered home where love rules supreme." She is active in community work.

Mrs. Taillon has 10 children, all grown. Seven are farmers or farmer's wives. She and her husband have lived together for 38 years and, she says, "haven't thought of separating yet." She has worked for better schools and roads and has been a leader in church, parent-teacher and 4-H club work.

Mrs. Brokaw is proving that an attractive, comfortable home is possible on a rented farm. She makes $1,000 a year with poultry. Family worship has been held before breakfast for 30 years. Her definition of home is "the place where you do your best living."

Mrs. Rasmussen is a leader in community health work and one of her sons won a state 4-H club medal for health. She is also active in a homemaker's club, a parent-teacher association and the church. Her six children all want to live on the farm.

Mrs. Wollan says, "A home is a success if the family prefers to stay there." Her chief ambition is "to educate the children and fit them for a useful life." She hopes to retire in her own farm home.

BERNIE CUSEY WEDS DOROTHY JEAN LITTLE

Miss Dorothy Jeanne Little, Fargo, became the bride of Bernie F. Cusey, also of Fargo, at a service read in the Grace Methodist church Saturday. Rev. Earnest C. Parish, pastor of the First Methodist church, Fargo, an old friend of the young people, read the service in the presence of members of the family and intimate friends. Miss Gladys E. Munsen and Lloyd V. Landblom, Fargo, were the attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Cusey are to make their home in Fargo, where Mr. Cusey, a former student of the North Dakota State college, is employed by the J. C. Penney company. They will reside at 715 Third av N. Mrs. Cusey has been a student in the Moorhead State Teachers college. She has made her home with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. Peterson, Detroit Lakes. Mr. Cusey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cusey, Detroit Lakes, Minn.

Architects To Stage "East Side" Party

Guests Will Eat A Seven O'clock Supper At A Typical "Speak-easy"

The Architectural department will be transformed into a typical bowery of the East Side of New York for the costume ball to be given by and for members of the department on Friday, January 25th.

Posters and signs that might appear in the bowery section of a city will feature in the decorations, and the regular "Side Walks of New York" costumes will add "local color."

Before the dancing, a supper will be given at seven o'clock in the bowery cafe, the entrance to which will be the kind typical of "speak-easies." The drawings on the wall will be covered by curtains. Tin cans holding candles will serve as lighting fixtures and tallow candles will serve as lighting fixtures and tallow candles in beer bottles will light the tables. An appropriate lunch consisting of doughnuts, hot dogs, cheese sandwiches, and cider will be served on tin plates and cups.

The master of ceremonies is a gang "boss" whom Lawrence Parsons, manager of the party, refused to name. suozad quj auuu oq pasnjaz osje qj presenting the feature which consist of an Apache dance, a take-off on an Apache dance, and vocal selections by a quartet. A GRATIFICATION

The Military Ball opens the formal season of the year this evening. One of the most gratifying thoughts is that there will not be the long line of so-called "stags" at this party tonight or the following formals.

Much comment has been dropped on this particular evil and still it exists. Seems as if there is no way to stop it. There is one way that it could be improved though, and that is through the respective organizations. This was brought to our minds by a remark dropped in our office by a campus leader and solver of campus problems some time ago. He said, "Tell them that it is no credit for any one organization to have the largest percentage of the line of stags from their house."

Summing the whole situation up though, the offenders are merely stubborn and have refused to "Get In Step." It was pardonable the first time they came alone, but when the same ones are seen in the line at every consecutive dance, it is time that a little action be taken.

Fraternity Presidents, get busy!

A REAL PARTY

On the front page there appears a story of what appears to be one of a real party. It very likely will be, for the "arkitecks" have a reputation of putting anything over that they attempt. It is the result of some creative imagination, the architect's first essential necessary to be an architect. Many is the student who will wish he is an architect when he hears of this affair.

But it isn't this particular idea or scheme that is to be commended, but the general idea. It is a party and get-together given by the school for the members of the department. It will tend to bind the school closer together, create a spirit of better feeling among the students, and furnish a pleasant evening's entertainment for the architects and their guests.

It is our candid opinion that other schools could well afford to pattern after these boys, changing the plan somewhat, but finally having a real good get-together for the members of the school.

MEIKLEJOHN ON DEBATING

We have long insisted upon increasing interest in college debate—interest expressed either by participation in the activity or by attendance at demonstrations of this great intellectual sport. Now we suddenly discover ardent support for our views in an essay written by Alexander Meiklejohn and appearing in the English II essay book:

"I try to single out from a long line of students some one group which shall stand forth as intellectually the best—best in college work and best in promise of future intellectual achievement. Much as I should like to do so, I cannot draw the line around my own favorite students in philosophy, nor the leaders in mathematics, nor those successful in biology, nor could I fairly award the palm to the Phi Beta Kappa men who have excelled in all their subjects. It seems to me that stronger than any other group, tougher in intellectual fiber, keener in intellectual interest, better equipped to battle with coming problems, are the college debaters."

You may not agree with the above conclusion. We do not expect you to. We feel, ourselves, that there are greater potential debaters among those not participating on any team. But to test your conclusion, to introduce yourself to a fascination game of intellectual evasion, to criticize or to praise—come to the next inter-collegiate debate.

Among Our Contemporaries

The coeds at the University of Wisconsin have come forward with the request for a smoking room after holding a meeting and voting 90 to 43 in favor of such action. The coeds claimed that they would rather smoke out in the open than in secrecy as they now do.

The Industrial Collegian, published at the South Dakota State College, was rated the "best all-round paper" at the annual North Central Inter-collegiate Press Convention held recently at Sioux City, Iowa. This paper is a large four page paper published weekly.

New precautions are being taken at the "U" of N. D. to prevent "cribbing" in semester exams. A new plan will be tried at the end of this semester and it will be a very clever nodak who can cheat in the exams.

In a few more weeks the new armory at the University of South Dakota will be completed. The building will be efficiently equipped for indoor sports and will have a swimming pool 75 feet long and 25 feet wide.

Our Honor Organizations

Delta Psi Kappa

Delta Psi Kappa is an Honorary Physical Education fraternity which was founded at Normal College, Indiana in 1916 and established at North Dakota State College in 1927. There are eleven active chapters in the United States.

The object of this fraternity is to advance the thoughts and ideals and to promote fellowship and the best interests and welfare of Physical Education among women in that field of activity.

Officers of the organization are Evelyn Blakeslee, president; Grace Sjoldal, vice president; Hazel Heald, secretary; and Ruth Henning, treasurer. Miss Dorothy Cole is honorary member. Other members are Helen Ballard, Luella McDunn, Aletha Wynn, Sarah Moore, Ethel Smith and Marion Trowbridge.

Kappa Delta will hold second degree initiation services Sunday at 2:30 for Adeline McKone, Helen Peterson, and Princess Egbert.

Knutson Is Elected Junior Prom Manager

Cub Reporter Gets Facts But Is Suffering From Enlargement Of Imagination

Campus politics waxed hot in one of the most sensational election battles of the term held in the armory Tuesday noon. On first call for nominations five men were listed amid the loud acclamations of their supporters. Those named were Everett Knutson, of McClusky; Frank Hannaher, Fargo; Clifford Booke, Williston; Ralph Welch, Grafton; and Alf Skaret, Fargo. While the count was being taken, hats flew into the air, loud cheers almost deafened the candidates, and men jumped onto their chairs in their enthusiasm, thereby endangering their lives and those about them in spite of the substantial build of the armory seats.

When the returns of the election were announced, furious arguments ensued. Although no serious accidents were reported, several men had to be smuggled out when their arguments with certain Junior class women threatened to lead to disastrous results for them. Shouts of "We want a recount!" were taken up by the hysterical mob, and this demand was granted. Everett Knutson and Ralph Welch were high men. On second vote Mr. Knutson was elected. He is vice-president of the Junior class, and a member of Sigma Phi Delta fraternity.

P. S. The meeting was held to elect the Junior Prom manager.

Ebullitions of Ebony Blott

By Everett Wallum

Military Ball tonight, and it will be the first time a lot of the boys will taste powder.

Girls will powder faces, and the escort faces powder.

Judging from the attitude of the Ball leader's mustache, the result of the battle will be unconditional surrender.

If some of those tight-fitting uniforms give way, there's apt to be a few impromptu trenches dug.

All is fair in love and war, and you get gassed at either.

But these women are unorthodox when it comes to military affairs. They believe in fighting it out with their line if it takes all summer. Also winter, spring, and fall.

You can't fight with bayonets against the English, because they're so slow to get the point.

And speaking of chemical warfare, we're taking four hours of it.

One soldier said he was going to bring his 44. Which is probably his girl's waist measurement.

Another one says that he calls his partner "Big Bertha" because she's always shooting off about something or other.

When informed that he could check his clothes, a canny Scot said he was going to wear his kilties and tam. They're checked already.

A few of the fellows have avowed their intention of coming as tanks, which will need no disguise.

Some Lieutenants will leave the armory tonight with raw recruits—corns.

If they'd carry out a truly realistic war atmosphere tonight, it would be a hard time party with tax on shoe strings.

Which reminds us of the collegian who said he didn't want to finish school because he heard about the graduated tax!

But the only thing that will be taxed tonight will be the seams on the regulation trousers exclamation point.

School regulations provide that the struggle ends at 11:30 sharp at which time dance lovers can truly say: "We have met the enemy, and they are hours."

A true soldier should make his heels click, but not on his partner's toes.

Ho hum period.

Bison Will Play Three Conference Games

Gergen Is Eligible For Play On Trip

S. D. U. Will Be Played This Evening; Morningside Sat., And State Monday

By MILO HOISVEEN

Pete Gergen hurdled the bars of ineligibility in time to make the trip with the Bison basketballers on their swing through the southern portion of the loop. Pete will be in the starting lineup against South Dakota University this evening.

The Bison were to be the Redmen's hosts at the dedication of Vermillion's new field house, but because of retarded progress in the construction of the building the old gym will be used. Sally's men will be handicapped because of the small playing space.

South Dakota University has played but one conference game this season and this game went to their opponents South Dakota State by 30-13 score. The Southerners have a victory over Columbus College to their credit.

Sioux City will be the next stop for the Bison and at this point they will play the Morningside aggregation which they easily defeated last week. The Morningside tilt is billed for Saturday evening.

The final game of the trip will be played at Brookings with the South Dakota State quint on Monday evening. The Jackrabbits up to date have shown themselves to be the class of the southern end of the loop. The State team is made up of a group of veteran players and so far this season have been able to maintain a clean slate.

Members of the team to make the trip with Coach Saalwaechter are: Captain Bobby Hahn, Cecil Bliss, and Johnny Smith, forwards; Leo May and Matt Braus, centers; Gil Johnson, John Brady, and Pete Gergen, guards.

Hockey Team Returns From Extended Trip

Lose Last Game Monday Night To St. Mary's College 10 to 2

The Bison pucksters were defeated 10 to 2 by the St. Mary's hockey team in a game which terminated the six game tour, in which the Bison met some of the strongest teams in the Northwest.

Subzero weather conditions handicapped the play of both teams and the contest was not as fast as those previously played by Purcell's traveling band of Icemen. St. Mary's was first to score and again repeated before the Bison were able to tally. McDowell counted first for the Dakotans making a beautiful unassisted attempt.

The defensive game played by the Bison during the second half was superior to that of the Redmen, but the attempts at the net were unsuccessful. The Bison offense gained momentum and during this rally Johnny Johnson registered the Bison's final goal. Charles Eldredge ran the count to ten for St. Mary's and after a period of even playing the bell ended the play.

Following the trip the Bison pucksters will be given a chance to rest prior to playing more games. Athletic Director Finnegan states that arrangements are being made for a series of two games with the University. One game will be played at the University and the other at home rink.

Baby Bison To Meet Two Teams Tomorrow

No Admission Will Be Charged For Games With Kappa Psi And Waldorf Teams

Two Baby Bison quints will be given opportunities to puncture the hoop tomorrow evening. One Frosh quint will oppose the Kappa Psi quint, last year's campus champions, while the other squad will face the Waldorfs.

The Waldorfs are anxious to erase the 20-18 defeat which they suffered at the hands of the Frosh in last week's tilt. College stars of national fame are now being recruited by the commercial league team. Cy Arnold, former Bison star guard, is to carry part of the Waldorf burdens. Bobby Rusch, one time class of the Big Ten conference, is to occupy one of the forward positions.

In the Kappa Psi line-up will be found the basketballers who annexed the Campus honors last year. The Kappa Pisis have also several Freshmen who are making the older members fight for their posts. The Pharmacists will play the initial tilt and this is billed for 7:30 p.m. The Waldorf game is scheduled to follow immediately after.

Athletic director Finnegan found it necessary to schedule two teams for the Frosh because of the wealth of material presented by the first-year men. Four to five teams have been reporting regularly and up to date there has been little difference in the play of teams. There will be no admission charged for this twin bill.

Riflemen Will Shoot First Matches In Feb.

Lieutenant Ross, coach of the North Dakota State rifle team, reports that the sport is progressing in first class shape. 59 men are shooting their rounds daily.

After the tryouts which will be held during the latter part of next week, the 59 men out for the rifle team will be cut to 20.

The State College squad will meet the following teams in the week ending Feb. 9: U. of West Virginia, U of South Dakota, U. of Maine, Oregon State, Rhode Island State, and Kansas State.

The Phi Omega PIs were presented with a box of candy and a pair of pliers. The just why of the candy and pliers can be found out from Glenn Smith.

Galpin Spoke To "Neighbors" Tuesday

Neighborhood Day as sponsored with a neighboring atmosphere and free from necessary finesse drew from the communities scattered over the state of North Dakota out gathered for the day at the Little Country Theater, a freedom of expression in their entertaining talent and display of their naked art and craft which was greatly appreciated by Dr. Galpin rural leader from Washington, D. C. and others.

Laying aside his napkin and rising from a chair in the Lincoln Log-cabin, amid the patter of hands that grew into a volume was Dr. C. L. Galpin who paid tribute to the community service department of Mr. Arvold with its reaching influence into the betterment of rural life. "Often," said Galpin "I have from Washington, D. C. visualized in the dim distance the enhancing force the Little Country Theater has exerted on the social development of rural life of this State." Dr. Galpin played a vital part in inspiring those who were present that after-noon. As he looked into the doors of the communities, he pictured to the audience the grave part the farmers played in a nation.

Community grist-mills and community bakery cooperations of some of the smaller European countries and the part these cooperative mills have played in developing in the common sense of those people what the word cooperation means was the story told by Dr. Galpin at the round table discussion which was started by Mr. Arvold.

NOTICE!
All organizations are urged to leave a list of their actives and pledges at the P. O. at once.

GEORGE F. WILL SPOKE AT CONVOCATION WED.

Mr. George F. Will of Bismarck, gave a talk on "Indian Magic," at the convocation held Wednesday morning in the armory.

According to Mr. Will, the medicine men were chosen as boys and went through a training of six or seven years. They were more clever and intelligent than the average and were usually leaders in the tribe.

"The Onikera tribe of North Dakota are generally considered past masters in the art of magic," said Mr. Will.

He also gave several instances of remarkable magic practiced by different medicine men that had been seen and recorded by missionaries and white men passing through the camps.
