

Campus Will Be 'Lit-up' On Nites Of Homecoming

Homecoming Parade Will Meet The University Special At The G. N. Depot

"Every dean will look after his own building and see that it is appropriately decorated with electric lights for the nights of homecoming," was the decision of a group of faculty who met with the alumni secretary the middle of the week.

Professor Huntoon of the architectural department has agreed to work with the various deans so that the lighting of the various buildings will be one complete scheme of lights when complete. The engineers have also agreed to help with the wiring for the project.

Parade Will Meet "U"

The elaborate parade composed of the Gold Star Band, the entire battalion, the alumni band, some forty floats, costumed groups, clowns, and a hundred cars containing the members of the board of administration, the faculty, and the alumni who care to join in the parade, will leave the campus just in time to meet the University special at the G. N. depot.

The special train will arrive in Fargo at 11 a.m. The parade was planned in this way to give the University crowd an opportunity to see a real homecoming parade and to allow the University band to also play in the parade, that is bring up the rear.

In speaking of the parade, Alumni Secretary Thordarson stated, "Up-to-date the University has never equalled any of our parades, and it is very unlikely that they will at their homecoming this week end. It is our duty to give them an opportunity to view a genuine homecoming parade."

Lieutenant Ross of the military department is in direct charge of the parade as to arrangement, starting off, etc., while Professor Huntoon has charge of the judging of the floats.

A silver shield will be given by the alumni association to the down-town business place who has the best homecoming window display next weekend. It is expected that over 250 business places will compete for the shield.

Masonic Body Gives Second Annual Reward To College Students

Arthur Walde, senior in the School of Chemistry, and Archie Solberg, junior in the School of Science and Literature, have recently been awarded a scholarship by Shiloh Lodge No. 1, A.F. & A.M.

In awarding the scholarships, which are one hundred dollars each, need is the most important factor, with school standing, personality, leadership, and campus representativeness all playing a part in deciding upon the fortunate individual.

Annual Award

This is an annual school scholarship open to all students and departments, annually awarded at the end of the sophomore and junior year, to the man whose record has been of the highest standing.

This is the second year that these scholarships have been awarded, Marvin Spellman, a senior in the school of Chemistry, and Allan Meinecke, a graduate of the School of Mechanic Arts, having received them last year.

Mr. Walde hails from Dent, Minn., and is a member of Alpha Phi Omega, honorary chemistry fraternity.

Boxing To Be Coached At North Dakota State

(By Fred O. Gronvold)

Boxing, Tunney's favorite pastime, is to be taken up seriously on the campus next term. Lieutenant Smith is to have charge of the instruction to be given in the new dormitorie's basement. Wrestling will also be taught to those who wish to develop this talent. President Coulter is the instigator of this activity, knowing Lieutenant Smith's ability as a coach, previous to this time, at the Infantry School of Fort Benning, New York.

No definite plans have been made as to the hours boxing shall be taught. Intra-mural boxing will be the first on the program. Later "intra-fraternity boxing will be developed. The purpose of establishing this art here, is to give the boys a knowledge of how to defend themselves when in need.

PROF. ARVOLD

A. G. Arvold, Professor of public speaking and social service at North Dakota State College, recently returned from New York City.

Arvold Returns From Trip To New York

Eric Thomsen, Former Y.M.C.A. Secretary, Is Now An Ordained Minister

Professor A. G. Arvold, of the Public Speaking and Social Service department, returned Sunday morning from New York, where he had spent the past few weeks lecturing to the dramatic division of the Play Ground Recreation Association School.

His work consisted largely of lecturing the students of that institution on the organizing, coaching, and successful staging of a play; also outlining to them the great possibilities in recreation in rural life. While away, many profitable and enjoyable afternoons were spent by Prof. Arvold visiting the rehearsals and final productions in the foremost theatres of New York.

Professor Arvold made his headquarters at the Players Club, of which he is a member. The Players Club is located in the house built by Edwin Booth, and of late has been remodeled into a club house.

In Professor Arvold's classes were Floyd McDunn and Ruby Oscarson, two of last year's graduates of the North Dakota Agricultural College, who are taking work at the Play Ground Recreation School.

While in New York, Prof. Arvold met and talked with Rev. Eric Thomsen, former secretary of the College Y.M.C.A. Rev. Thomsen was ordained to the ministry last spring, and will in the future be pastor of a Congregational Church in the Adirondacks Mountain region of northern New York state.

A party of twelve former students of the North Dakota State College, and Prof. Arvold visited the "Little Church Around The Corner," and saw the window dedicated to Edwin Booth.

THE COLLEGE "Y"

To-morrow night the cabinets of the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A. are sponsoring a harvest festival all-college dance. It is hoped that every student will attend. Get a date and come. If you can't get a date come anyway. This applies to both men and women.

The party is put on by "your" Y cabinets that you may become better acquainted with your fellow students and furnish you with good clean entertainment at the same time.

Last Saturday the same groups sponsored the "Frosh Jamboree" which was a decided success. They are to be complimented on their success, and certain members of the cabinets should be individually complimented for they spent many long hours working on the party that it might be a success.

This brings to our mind the college "Y" proper. Never before has this organization had a cabinet and a secretary so eager to be of a service to the student body. It is up to each individual student to go over there and take advantage of its opportunities. The magazines on the tables have been improved and the management has been changed. It has many things to offer you.

We have a new "Y". Take advantage of it.

FINANCIALLY REIMBURSED

Sometimes, in the great confusion of the diverse and manifold activities of college life, we lose sight of the fundamental objective of the institution—academic instruction. Often the student is the least known and rewarded of the school celebrities. The recent awarding of scholarships to two college men, a Sophomore and a Junior, by a local Masonic lodge very happily puts scholarship into the lime-light.

We do not wish to imply that proper publicity is the high achievement of studiousness. Not at all. But here is a case where two young men, selected for their character, leadership, and general ability, as well as for their scholastic record, are receiving substantial and deserved aid. Not only will recognition of their work lead them to renewed effort, but the financial complement will give material assistance.

And the benefit extends far beyond these two honored ones. The possibility of winning one of the scholarships is sure to encourage and inspire many of our students to greater effort—and reaffirm in their minds the belief that there is some point to studying.

THE WEEK of Oct. 14 to 19: Paddling, scrubbing, rain, green paint, architect's smoker, hop, platoon sponsors, hell-week for fraternity scums, organization meetings.

THE PILE of wood is growing under the able guidance of Leo. In fact, things are coming to the freshmen in a much livelier manner than last year. All of which points to the fact that the rule of the rod, as followed this year, is more satisfactory than the somewhat ax program which the present sophomores enjoyed.

MANY of you readers probably noticed that the news carried in last Tuesday's Spetrum was in a large measure a duplicate of that carried in the Fargo Forum of the previous Sunday. When the editors began arranging Tuesday's issue they found that all scoops had been appropriated by the city paper. Although the fact put them in a somewhat embarrassing position the editors could not help feeling pleased that the Fargo Forum has taken such a definite and whole-hearted interest in our school. With such cooperation from one of the largest papers of the state we feel sure that our mission of selling the college to the Northwest in a larger way, will be successful.

REMEMBER THE game with St. Thomas this Saturday.

AND IF all goes well with the weather our Gold Star Band will make another tour about the city via street car, the afternoon of the game. Good advertisement, good spirit, good music.

KEEP IN mind that first all-college dance, the Y.M.C.A. Harvest Festival, an annual party, tomorrow nite.

We are informed, through the columns of the Spectrum, that the Art Department is collecting old costumes. Now the freshmen will have to put extra watch on their carpetbags.

If they found any feminine apparel, it would have to be old.

To quote the story: "If the modern girl has less skirt than her grandmother, she at least has more hat." More high hat perhaps.

And it's a cinch she has more lip.

The first official cadet hop was held yesterday, but we'll bet Sarge Culppeper has had more than one cadet hop before this.

Judging by the manner of dancing, they ought to call it the cadet lunge.

Being in the army may strengthen the cadet's feet, but it sure raises the dickens with his dancing partner's.

Speaking of the army, we will now sing the flapper's dirge "He May Be a Second Lieutenant, But It Took Him an Hour To Say Good-night."

Cider will be served at the all college party tomorrow night, and we presume all our soldiers will have a little shot.

Hard cider is called "apple-jack," and we can sure see where the jack comes in.

Old State College grads are going to have a band here for homecoming, and are going to play pieces they used to render years ago. If we lose the game, there'll probably be a few "Silver Threads Among The Gold."

And if Borleske sees any of his players making dumb plays, the band might just as well play "The Yanks are Coming."

If this band was in Chicago, they'd probably be asked to play "The Old Gray Mayor, He Ain't What He Used To Be."

And if the "U" scores a touchdown, the band can mourn dismally "That's Where The West Begins."

If any of the pieces are too old to stand up, they'll have to raise a little cane.

Any way, the old grads will discover that their old jokes are still going the rounds on the campus.

And if the army doesn't cause them to break down and cry, there just isn't any sentiment in men.

They were going to get the band of '94 here for homecoming, but the poor fellow got lumbago.

Bison To Meet

Detson Dopes Bison Squad as Victors In Saturday Afternoon Gridiron Fray

When the whistle blows Saturday at 2, two teams representing the North Dakota State College and Saint Thomas College will again oppose each other for the sixth time in as many years with the Bison favored to win though by a small margin. The Bison squad is none to good as four regulars, who have been playing outstanding football so far this season, will be lost through injuries.

Pete Gergen and Bill Hilts have not been out in suit all week as injuries gained in the Wisconsin game took their toll over the weekend. Ben Gorder and Len Freeburg will also be forced to watch the regulars fight the scrappy team from Minnesota, from the bench.

The Bison practice has been confined to light workouts with only one scrimmage with yearlings this week as Coaches Borleske and Finnegan tried to improve the defense of the Varsity.

Year—	St. Thomas—	Bison—
1924	0	13
1925	7	14
1926	6	27
1927	6	7

The reports coming from the Tommies camp predict a hard fought battle as the Minnesotans have been improving weekly as the schedule contests show. The Tommies have been getting a faster, harder hitting offense and an impregnable defense that in the past has presented a real problem to the Bison squad.

Eddie Hoy, the St. Thomas hard hitting full back will be back in uniform again after a period of restless waiting for his injuries to heal. Last fall, Hoy was a threat that the Tommies kept the Bison worried with the entire contest.

An additional factor in the contest Saturday that should have some bearing on the outcome is the Coaching of Knute Rockne, the well known coach of the famous Four Horsemen of Notre Dame. Rockne accepted this position at St. Thomas this fall and has bolstered the Tommies attack and defense considerably.

This will be the last chance for Coaches Borleske and Finnegan to get the finishing touches of offense and defense before the Homecoming contest next week with the University.

The ticket sale for the University-State contest will be sold out in the early part of the week if present indications may be regarded as the average. Many blocks of seats placed on sale at the various points around town have been sold and more will be ready today.

FIRST CADET HOP

A very large number of students were present at the cadet hop held yesterday afternoon in the armory from four to six.

The cadet hop will be a weekly affair, until the basketball season opens up, sponsored by Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity.

The chaperones for the first hop were Major and Mrs. Lathrop and Lieutenant and Mrs. Smith.

Henry Presler's Vagabonds furnished the music.

STUDENT OPINION

Freshmen, dear Freshmen, let me lead you on the path of honor.

For many long years, indeed, all my life, I've wanted to be considered as a brave and courageous person. But I had always understood that the role was difficult, beste with hardship and peril, and since I cared more for my personal well-being and comfort than for glory, I never essayed the character.

But now the opportunity has presented itself for me to realize this pet ambition without one bit of discomfort! For our college, in carrying out its function of making all processes more efficient and painless, now offers us a short-cut path to true manhood—brave, fearless, dignified. And so easy! Freshmen, attention!—here is a chance to show that you are men.

The process is ridiculously simple: You wear the Green Cap. You obey implicitly the commands of the infinitely wise and mature Sophomores. The fact that most of the orders are inane and absurd can only heighten your respect for the upperclassmen's superiority. And the knowledge that you are threatened with severe chastisement for disobedience must surely expand that inner glow that comes to those who are certain that they are conducting themselves as men. Do but this and you will be promptly card-indexed as a man. Simple, what?

Contrast this ease of bravery with the peril and danger of being a cad. You must run the risk of all sorts of trouble, beatings, paddlings, and fighting odds (why even your own classmates will jeer at you) just to be a sneaking coward!

Let us submit, brave Freshmen, for the good of our dear school. Be meek and humble and obedient to the profound commands of our true superiors. (Don't on any account take heed of those vile cynics, who—possibly after viewing some Freshman class—insist on calling our school the "Cow College.") And when we die in senile old age, each of us our true hero's death, may there be placed upon each of our heads that fine emblem of manhood—the Green Cap.

The Freshman Jeer: The school colors are supposed to be symbolic: If the Freshmen are green, what must the upperclassmen be?

(Signed)—Karl Gerteis.
