RHOS ARE STILL WITHOUT A HOME

Expecting to get in their new home on thirteenth street every day since school has started and not there yet is the fate of the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

At present the main floor is practically laid; it will have to be sand papered and varnished and then very likely they will start to move in. The two floors upstairs have been completed for several days.

College students may look forward to an open house shortly after homecoming, but nothing of this nature will be attempted before then because of the large number of alumni the active chapter are planning on for homecoming this year.

ATELIER CHAT-NOIRE ELECTS OFFICERS

The first regular meeting of the Atelier Chat-Noire was held in the architectural department for the purpose of electing officers. Laurence Parsons was elected president, Neal Baldwin vice-president, and Don Best secretary-treasurer.

A new feature of the club will be the sponsoring of a costume ball later in the season. This will be open to all members of the department of architecture and will be held on the third floor of the Engineering Building. It was also decided that the black Cat needed a bath and new clothes; so the Architects' trademark will soon shine forth in new gory.

CONVOCAION TO-MORROW AT 9:40

Dr. G. H. Locke, librarian from the public library of Toronto, Canada, has been secured to speak before the student body at convocation Wednesday Morning at 9:40.

Dr. Locke is in Fargo to attend and speak to the North Dakota and Minnesota library associations who are meeting here this week. He is president of the American Library Association.

Broadcasting Is Facilitated By Improvements

President Coulter Will Open The Years Broadcasting Activities Tomorrow Night

Students of the North Dakota Agricultural College are to have a new studio for radio broadcasting. The studio is to be in Main and will occupy the office recently used by the Superintendent of the Grounds. The improvements now being will permit five sources of outlet for broadcasting, the other four being the Little Country Theatre, Music Hall, the Green Room, and the Leg Cabin.

William Rundquist will be in charge of the announcing and the operation of the station. He will be assisted by Albert Anderson, who is also a student in the School of Mechanic Arts. W. C. Palmer, head of publications, will supervise the program arrangements for the coming year.

As a result of a recent meeting of the Federal Radio Commission, station W. D. A. Y. was granted a raise in wattage from 250 watts to 1000. The increase in power will probably go into effect November 11. The amplification of the college set is also to be improved on as one more stage is to be added which will give the amplifier twice its present power. All broadcasts from the college are transmitted to W. D. A. Y. by remote control. W. D. A. Y. is owned by the Radio Equipment Corporation of Fargo.

The initial broadcast will be made tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock with President Coulter will address a radio audience on The Function, Aims and Organization of the North Dakota Agricultural College. Following President Coulter's address Dr. P. F. Trowbridge and E. F. Monroe will speak on The North Dakota Agricultural College Experiment Station, and The Agricultural Extension Division respectively.

The College will broadcast each Monday, Wednesday and Friday between 7:30 P. M. and 8:15 P. M. Efforts are being made to broadcast the N. D. A. C., university football game which will take place on Homecoming day.

HELP WANTED!
The Spectrum still has a few more positions open to students who desire another activity and are willing to work.

Particularly, we would like to get several young ladies to handle the K.K.K. column and make it what it should be in a school of our size.

—H. P. S.

CATHOLIC STUDENTS CLUB
The first regular meeting of the Catholic Student's Club will be held this evening at the K. C. Hall starting promptly at 7:30 p. m. All members are urgently requested to attend.

Book Plates To Be Exhibited Thursday

A Personal Interview With Doctor Volkmar Reveals Some Very Interesting Facts

On Thursday afternoon of this week North Dakota State College students will have an opportunity to see 2000 book plates and meet the collector along with the Minnesota and North Dakota library associations who will visit this institution on that afternoon.

Of especial interest to students and feature of the bookplate exhibit will be the display of College and fraternity bookplates. The exhibits will consist of about two thousand Ex libris, ranging as they do, thru four centuries and containing prints by various methods, from the earliest woodcuts to electrotyping and other modern processes of reproduction. In its entirety the collection gives a fair representation of the style and trend of art and artistic tendencies in general and of graphic art in particular during the last four hundred years.

The collector of these 2000 book plates, Dr. Fritz Volkmar of the N.D. A.C. Veterinary department, is a very modest man. He came to this school in October, 1925 from the University Farm, St. Paul, Minn. He came to this country from Germany sixteen years ago; while in Germany and when he first came over here he collected the older bookplates, but during the last four years he has collected practically all modern book plates.

The collection will be exhibited in the Green room with Dr. Volkmar in charge and if you are interested you should not fail to see them this time for Dr. Volkmar does not plan on exhibiting them again for a number of years. He is preparing his collection to be bound in elaborate leather covers with "Dr. Fritz Volkmar's Bookplates" printed in gold lettering on the covers.

Dr. Volkmar is a member of The American Society of Book Plate Collectors and Designers.

In speaking of his education, Dr. Volkmar told how it is customary in Germany for students never to finish at the school they started. He started at the Veterinary College of Munich, later went to Hannover and secured his degree from the Giessen Veterinary College. Incidentally, this school was famous because the chemist Lieberg taught there many years before being called to Munich.

When asked whether or not he liked to go hunting, he replied: "Yes, bookplates."

OUR LIBRARY

That the North Dakota State College has a library is a more or less well known fact to the student body. Truly, it is inadequate for the number now availing themselves of its opportunities; but on the other hand any casual observer can readily see that only a very small percentage of the student body make use of their library.

The common excuse is that it is inadequate, etc., but more of an effort should be put forth to use it anyway and if all the student body became more diligent in the library habit, it would be only a short time before the officials realized our needs and we would have a library that would serve everyone.

Too many students go thru school without gaining a familiarity with the content of the library. In the very nature of things it is impossible to know everything; but it is not impossible to know how to find out all that there is to be known on any subject.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

North Dakota State's employment bureau is under new management this year and has a brighter outlook than in years past.

Quoting Mrs. Gooden, who is in charge of the bureau, "Every collegiate and coed has an equal chance to get a job, as they are distributed according to the amount of money necessary to keep him or her in school."

The secretary, Mrs. Gooden, has had three years of previous experience at the Drake University of Des Moines, Iowa. Her success here, with her own system of booking, has been complete and we sincerely hope it will continue to be so here.

A centralized employment office of this type is the one and only solution to the problem of unemployed students. It is a clearing house for the financial difficulties of students and should be taken advantage of immediately, so step right up ye coeds and collegiates and give your registration to Mrs. Gooden.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

It really isn't necessary to point out that newspapers, to survive, must be supported in the main by the advertisers. That is well known. And so is the rest of the story: Advertisers in order to keep on being such, must be patronized by the readers of the paper.

At this point it is customary to editorialize to the extent of eventually juggling the idea of "patronize those who patronize us" into a very moral and idealistic doctrine. Sadly enough this has been done so often we don't have to bore you with our private reiteration of it this time.

Instead we'll be very gross and materialistic and appeal to your baser instincts: Businessmen — Sinclair Lewis, H. L. Mencken, etc., to the contrary or no — can and do think. For an instance of a result, they advertise when they have anything worthwhile to sell. They know it is economic stupidity to consistently advertise something that is either inadequate or in appropriate. It won't work. Every new mention of such falutry goods in advertising is sure to cause some irate customer to proclaim to the eager world some fault that he has found in it.

So when your Fargo Businessman is certain he has goods that he can sell to collegians and make them stay sold, he will steadfastly advertise in the Spectrum. You'll know where to go.

Just Comment

WISE and OTHERWISE

By Henry Presler

ONE CAMPUS institution that every freshman should make himself acquainted with is the college Y. M. C. A. This organization has outlined a program of activities devoted exclusively to first year students. This program is based to a large extent on last year's experience gained in dealing with the freshmen and their problems. Our college "Y" opened the year's activities by offering aid to the new students during the first days of registration. It will be remembered that this organization served a breakfast for all new students' on the first Sunday following registration. This breakfast was well attended but it was evident to those who worked to put the affair across that much remains to be done towards acquainting the campus with the college "Y". Those freshmen who were present at the breakfast and many others were entertained during the remainder of the day, taken about the city in cars, and taken to church. The towns-people cooperated with the Christian Association in a worth while manner. Especially pleasing was the aid lent by the various churches. All possible effort were made to give the newcomers a good send-off.

But the "Y" does not intend to stop there, we are told. Efforts are now directed towards continuing the program already started. Many features have been planned to aid the students in solving their problems. Remembering last year's program it is reasonable that you students may plan to take advantage of numerous discussion programs, perhaps a supper club, etc.

This work which the members of the "Y" board have undertaken should receive special encouragement. The Spectrum feels that an organization such as this yields benefits to the college that as yet are not fully appreciated.

This coming Saturday evening will witness a "Freshman Jamboree" to be given in the college Y. M. C. A. auditorium. This party is sponsored by the cabinets of the Young Mens and Young Womens Christian Associations. The hours are from 8:00 to 11:30 p. m. It is not necessary to urge the freshmen to attend this get-together. The affair itself lends its own appeal, which will be, we feel, responded to in a credible manner. The benefits to be derived from getting acquainted over at the "Y" building will not go un-noticed.

DOC PUTMAN and the Gold Star Band were on hand as per usual at last Saturday's game. The parade down town, he tells us, was a revival of an old custom of marching thru the downtown streets before a big game. More power to the band! Our musicians are one of the biggest factors in the school spirit.

AND THE turnout to the game was fine.

BUT THE tie was hard fought and credibly sustained.

SO START getting ready for home coming.

AND IN the words of Prof. I. W. Smith, let's beat the University hands down.

A substantial saving in the price of used text books, together with an unprecedented service to those wishing to dispose of discarded texts is offered the students of Creighton University by a new book exchange operated by the Students Union.

Would the students of the N.D.S.C. profit by a like service?

The darndest job I ever had Was to try to make someone laugh. So if YOU have any bright ideas Will you please inform the staff. —The Huron Alphomega.

A committee has been appointed at Morningside College to stimulate a new and increased interest in dramatic work. The department will be re-organized and expanded, and during the ensuing school year dramatics at Morningside will be stressed.

A new name for the small mustache which is so much in vogue at the present time is windshield wiper. Some that are being sported on this campus wouldn't even wipe a mirror in a compact.

—The Volante.

"One of the things we enjoyed most about coming back to school this year was the delightful discovery that the old institution of freshman caps, discontinued last year, was again in force."

The above quotation was contained in an editorial written by the editor of the Creightonian. The experience of another college should prevent us from trying a like experiment.

The writer of this column is ready to pound out the expressions and sentiments as found in our contemporary college publications in order to interest and enlighten our readers. If this exchange column should become irksome, dry or uninteresting, we would appreciate your co-operation.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

A business education is a practical education that prepares one for every-day living. It gives the training necessary for entrance into the business world where the demand for trained workers is much greater than the supply. The business world pays a salary twelve months out of the year with two weeks' vacation on full pay.

Hon. W. T. Harris, Ex-Commissioner of Education, said, "Without a thorough and practical commercial education, a man is like a ship at sea without a compass or rudder."

The question before the voters today is: shall we vote for Smith and get light wine and beer, or shall we cast our ballot for Hoover and keep our hard corn likker?

Or shall we boost Will Rogers and get Bull Durham on the hoof.

This isn't really a whispering campaign—married men just naturally talk that way.

If a donkey is dumb, and if the donkey symbolizes the Democratic party, a lot of Republicans are Democrats whether they know it or not.

It is predicted that the solid South will split in the coming election. Who wouldn't split, after watching the funny antics of the various campaigners.

Al Smith used to sell fish, but that's no distinction. We know a stock salesman who's "sold" a lot of fish.

Too many of Al's opponents are trying to make him a blacksmith.

Too many heroes go unsung. Everybody knows that Herb was almost knighted in England, while millions of American husbands get crowned in obscurity.

No wonder Herbert is against light wines and beer. He comes from Iowa, where corn brings sixty gallons an acre.

Al can wear a brown derby and get lots of publicity, while anyone else, displaying much more individuality, can wear a straw hat in December and get lynched.

If these politicians were really sincere about farm relief, they'd give these straw votes to the farmer for fodder.

Liquor may be a question, but, to those who drink it, it's an exclamation.

The entrance of religion into the campaign has one commendable feature anyhow. Now maybe some people will go to church to see what it's all about.

And we hope a lot of people will learn that a bigot isn't something you turn on to get water.

Will Rogers is the man. Give him enough rope, and he'll lasso evil doers.

And Will is not subservient to the oil interests. He doesn't even oil his hair.

We'll admit, however, that his shoes could stand a little greasing.

These politicians who promise to improve waterways could get many more feminine ballots if they'd make the same stand on waterwaves.

If some of these soapbox orators would use the soap first, they'd get more hearers.

No form of politics is free from corruption. Even the dy came lhas a couple crooks n his back.

Vote for Rogers and chew gum in your classes.

You will soon need a warm sweater. Get yours now. We carry the best.

N. D. State College, Superior Play Scoreless Tie

Bison Threats Cut Short By Whistle

Visitors Show Fight in Holding Bison to 0-0 Affair Here; Superior Tricky Outfit

When two equal opposing forces meet the result is negative. Saturday on Dacotah field the two forces were Superior Teachers and North Dakota State. The result was nothing in the score column but the Bison were ahead in attempts to score, which accounted for little as the result was a scoreless tie. Superior went home satisfied with the result and the Bison rooters went home somewhat downhearted with the scoring attempts in which the visitors seemed to get the breaks. Twice the Bison were within scoring distance only to have the gun call a halt in play before the bison could gain sufficient yardage to enter the win column.

The visitors kicked off to the Bison who immediately punted to the Superior team whose backs made three consecutive first downs before the Bison could decipher the attack. The Bison took the ball in midfield, and Pete Gergen made a mad dash of 31 yards for the first Bison gain. The backfield forced the ball to the Superior 10 yard line where one of the many penalties for holding was called putting the Bison back 15 yards and another 12 yards were lost when the Bison receivers were unable to get clear and Gergen was tackled behind the line of scrimmage. Leo May punted over the goal line and it was Superiors ball on the 20 yard line. Punts were exchanged and the Bison started another drive down the field. Straight football carried the ball to the visitors 15 yard line. A line smash by May and a penalty placed the Bison on Superior's one yard line. The Bison here met stubborn defense on the part of the Superior team. Two line smashes and a bruising charge by Leo May failed to bring the required inches for the touchdown and the whistle blew before another asult could be made.

CONFERENCE RESULTS

N. D. S., 0	Sup. Normal, 0
Morningside, 26	D. Wesleyan, 0
N. D. U., 0	Carleton, 0
S. D. U., 6	Duke, N. C., 25

A succession of tricky backfield plays involving a series of short passes between backs held the Bison in wonder and often tackling the wrong person. This attack brought the Superior teachers within 20 yards of the Bison goal line only to fall short when one of the backs lost possession of the ball. Superior's try for a kick from the field failed and Gergen brought the ball back 18 yards. May then punted out of scoring territory and the Bison gained possession of the ball again when Peterson the Superior quarter fumbled May's boot and Ed Babcock recovered.

In the last period the summer weather that prevailed began to tell on the two teams and the play slowed down. It was near the last of the that the only action of the period began the Bison driving deep into the visitor's ground. Pariseau was sent in to attempt a drop kick from the 30 yard line but his try went low and the game ended.

Editors Note:—Ten years ago today there were no Spectrums issued until Dec. 2, 1918, due to the flu epidemic which was prevalent at that time. This column will be resumed on Dec. 2, 1928 and until then this will be used as a substitution.

Mr. Roe E. Remington and Miss Jessie M. Jepson, formerly instructor in elocution in Smith College, Mass., were married on the thid of August.

Rex E. Willard '08, of the U.S. Bureau of Soil, surprised his college friends by dropping in at the all college reception the other night.

Mr. Churchill came back from Graf-ton on the 18th where he was apprais-ing hail losses.

Prof. Arvold attended the Repub-lican National convention at Chicago in June.

The A.C. colors were in prominence at the Fargo Opera House at the performance of "Just Out of College." The A.C. football squad occupied the boxes and a host of the students were seated in the audience.

Prof. H. J. Hughes will have charge of the Journalism department this year.

Mr. Chisholm evidently expects those in the forge shop to work this fall judging from the large new sign, "Do not talk to the students."

Prof. Householder received a tele-gram last Thursday from his home in Clap Center, Kansas, stating that his father was very sick.

Mr. Beals decorated the hitching posts with a new coat of paint last week.

Dr. Hallenburg is a frequent visit-or at football practice upon the Dako-ta field.

Mr. Churchill is thinking of getting an auto next spring.

Saturday upon the local field the A.C. scored their first gridiron victory of the season by a score of 28-0 over the Minnesota Normals of St. Cloud.

Burke Critchfield our genial athletic editor missed the game Saturday. He said he was going home to make sauer kraut.

A.C. team, crippled, goes down to defeat in second game of season, 11-0, to St. Thomas.

The engineering department is now furnishing quarters for the department of publicity of which Mr. Hughes has charge. (Apparently editors got kicked about in those days too.)

Eleven (football) candidates greet-ed Coach Magoffin upon the first night of practice and each succeeding day of the week saw a number of new arrivals upon the field swelling the number to over thirty men.

Dean Shepperd and Prof. Richards boast of the two best single drivers in the state as the Dean's horse took first place at the state fair and the Professor's second. It might be of interest to know that these two were the only horses entered in this class.

Twelve years ago upon October tenth the A. C. football team met the St. Cloud Normal upon the local field and played them to a tie game the score being 4 to 4. In those days a touchdown evidently counted four points. One interesting thing about this, the varification of the adage that history repeats itself. Saturday, October tenth was the same day of the week and month that the Normal went down to defeat at the hands of the A.C. this year.

THE FIRST IMPRESSIONS OF A FRESHMAN

So this is the Farmer's West Point. Not a bad place to be from.... What a lot of buildings. Where to go first. Old Main.... That wasn't half bad. You couldn't go wrong with all those girls telling you what to do.... All over but the hard part—plunking down another fifty.... John Lee's barn. Not much on looks, but chalked up as a place where they do fine things. Here's hoping!.... "Prexy" seems to be a pretty good egg.... Frosh caps. Hot looking, but not much for keeping ears warm. Learning all about how to "button". Bring on the Sophomores.... No chance to be homesick. Meeting lots of keen folks at the mixer. Eating three good meals Sunday, and discovering the "Y". The fellow with the green triangle on his trousers looking plenty collegiate. College isn't so tough.... Hunting for the guy with the second-hand book. "Do you know this gentleman Dotson?" "Well, there's Allen Dotson, but I wouldn't swear he's a gentleman".... Classes. Queer to go from one building to another and to see girls with coats and hats on in class.... Lessons. Maybe they do make you work at this place after all.

CONVOICATIONS LAST FRIDAY MORNING

The eight o'clock military period was turned over to the Student Commission last Friday morning at which time Prof. I. W. Smith, dean of men, spoke to the students enrolled in military on hazing and college traditions. He was assisted by Foss Narum, president of the student commission, Morris Olson and Leo May.

At 9:40 President Coulter opened up the regular convocation hour with a short address of welcome and quickly turned the meeting over to Everett Wallum, rooster king. The remainder of the hour was spent in getting the yells and songs in shape for the Superior game.

Leon Johnson '27, Hankinson, N. Dak., and Howard Lewis '28, Lisbon, N. Dak., were campus visitors on Saturday of last week.
