

Dean Emeritus, Past President, Dies In August

Mechanic, Instructor, Dean, Acting President and Later Dean Emeritus.

Edward S. Keene, dean emeritus of the school of mechanic arts of the North Dakota Agricultural college, acting president of this college in the year 1921, author of a number of books on engineering subjects and member of many scientific organizations, died at his home, 1028 Seventh street 12th this past summer.

Dean Keene was born in Rock Island, Ill., Oct. 8, 1864. He graduated from the University of Illinois in 1890, spent two years there as instructor and came to the North Dakota Agricultural college in 1892.

At that time the administration building on the campus was not quite completed and all of the present grounds of the college was a field of waving wheat.

Dean Keene set the stakes for the original mechanic arts building in the wheat field. He planned to stay here two years, but fate decided otherwise and he remained.

Suffered Anemia Attack

He continued in charge of the engineering department at the college until ill health caused his retirement from active service about two years ago. He suffered an attack of anemia of the nervous system and failed slowly until his death came.

From 1892 to 1900 he was dean of engineering and physics and in 1900 was elected dean of mechanic arts.

On his retirement R. M. Dolve took charge of the department and was later elected dean, Mr. Keene being made dean emeritus by the state board of administration.

He was a member of the American Association of Engineers, the North Dakota Society of Engineers, the South Dakota Society of Engineers, the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, North Dakota Academy of Science, North Dakota Education association, the North Dakota Agricultural college Polytechnic society, Phi Kappa Phi and Theta Chi. He was a 32nd degree Mason, a member of the Shrine and the Knights Commander Court of Honor.

Among the publications of which he was the author were: "Mechanics of the Household," and "Agricultural Encyclopedia for Young People."

The 1929 Bison was dedicated to Dean Keene last Spring because of the great service he rendered this institution during his life.

He is survived by a brother Charles Keene of Grand Junction, Colo.; four daughters, Margaret Elizabeth, Dorothy Ann and Virginia Frances, living in Fargo, and Mrs. Thomas Feeney, Anoka, Minn.; and one son, Philip Edward, of Fargo.

On the resignation of Dr. E. F. Ladd as president of the college to become United States senator in 1921 Dean Keene was made acting president of the college and he remained in that capacity until the election of Dr. John Lee Coulter, present president to that office, later that year.

Richard Hackenberg, editor of the Spectrum last year, now attending school at Northwestern writes the Publications department that everything has exceeded his expectations by a considerable margin there. He was made desk editor of The Daily Northwestern there and is pledged to the Delta Tau Delta fraternity. He is enrolled as a full fledged senior in the Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University.

Tom Regan, '26, stopped off here last Thursday on his way to his home at Devils Lake, N. Dak., to make his fraternity brothers at the Delta Sig house a short visit. Mr. Regan is with Westinghouse Electric Co., Pittsburg, Penn.

Four Sororities Acquire Homes During Summer

Kappa Deltas, Sigma Thetas, Lambda and Alpha Xi Betas All Have New Homes.

During the summer months four North Dakota State sororities have secured and furnished new homes.

Kappa Deltas

The Delta Sigs have some new Greek neighbors with the opening of the Kappa Delta sorority house at 1002-Seventh street North. The house, which was partly redecorated and remodeled during the summer, will accommodate about fifteen girls besides a house mother and a cook.

Although the group is one of the youngest on the campus, it was one of the first to have a house, the first being the year of 1926-27. None was maintained last year, however, as there were no houses available in the vicinity of the college.

The group has done the furnishing of the house themselves, with Miss Helen Ballard as head of the committee. Finishing touches will be added at a miscellaneous shower held Monday night. Plans are being made for an open house in the near future.

The officers for the coming year are Marie Webster, president, Inez Lunder, vice president, Treasure Kuehl, secretary, and Arlene Burt, treasurer.

Sigma Thetas

1026-13th street is the location of the new home of the Sigma Theta sorority which they have rented for this school year.

They formerly had rooms in the corner of 14th street and eleventh avenue, but this year it was deemed necessary to have a larger gathering place. So the present home was secured. Only a small number of girls reside at the house although practically all of the sorority are together there at noon, not going to their respective homes in Fargo and Moorhead.

The officers of the Sigma Theta sorority are Marion Trowbridge, president; Maybelle Game, house manager; Phyllis Heimark, vice president; Margaret Ballard, secretary; and Minda Ruder, treasurer.

The Sigma Theta sorority is one of the oldest sororities on the campus as they were founded at Fargo College in 1908 and moved over here in 1922 at the closing of Fargo College.

Lambdas

The Phi Kappa Lambda sorority have secured rooms at 1108-9th street North and at present four of the girls are staying there. This will serve as a meeting place for the sorority and is a stepping stone towards a home of their own.

Alpha Xi Beta

The Alpha Xi Beta sorority have the downstairs of a house right next to the Lambda's for their home. Recently a house shower was given by the young ladies of the sorority to help furnish the house.

This sorority in particular should be complimented on their achievement as it is the youngest one on our campus, having been organized during the spring term.

The Spectrum will carry a Want Ad Column this year to provide service for private notices now prohibited on College Bulletin Boards. Insertions will be for two issues (Tuesday and Friday) at three cents a word. All insertions must be cash in advance. Call at the Spectrum Office, Main Building. Forms close Monday morning and Thursday morning.

CONVOCATION FOR MEN ON FRIDAY MORNING

Following the roll call on Friday morning the 8 o'clock military period will be turned over to Prof. I. W. Smith, Dean of Men, and Foss Narum, Pres. of the Student Commission.

A discussion of school traditions will take up the hour and it will be led by such speakers as Dean Smith, Lieut. Ross, Foss Narum, and Morris Olson who are all well versed on the subject.

The rules will be "laid down to the freshmen, the attitude of the upper classmen will be discussed, and as Dean Smith says, "the purpose of the convocation is to help the freshmen to become good regular bonafide students of the institution."

N.D.S.C. Dairy Team Attends Exposition

Fuller, Moun and Evans Make Up Personnel of Team That Goes To Memphis.

North Dakota's collegiate dairy judging team left last Friday morning with Prof. J. R. Dice, chairman of the department of dairy husbandry and coach of the team, for the Waterloo Dairy Cattle congress and the National Dairy exposition.

The team will enter the Middle West contest, open to all college teams from the middle west, at the Dairy Cattle congress at Waterloo, Iowa, Oct. 1. After judging and staying there a few days the team will visit and work on dairy cattle on dairy farms in Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois and Tennessee on the way to the national contest to be held at the National Dairy exposition, Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 13. At the national contest the North Dakota team will be competing with college dairy judging teams from all parts of America.

There were 34 teams represented at the National Dairy exposition last year and the North Dakota Agricultural college team took third place. The return trip to Fargo will possibly be made by way of the Missouri College of Agriculture, according to Mr. Dice. Other colleges will also be visited on the way there and back. The personnel of the dairy judging team is as follows: Graham Fuller, Hamilton; Gilbert Moun, Carbury, N. D. and Harold Evans, Ulen, Minn.

A permanent home for the National Dairy exposition is now under construction at St. Louis, Mo., and will be completed for the 1929 National Dairy exposition, according to Mr. Dice.

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL ENTERTAINS FRIDAY

The annual Pan-Hellenic party for all college women was held Friday evening in the college armory.

The party started at 7:45 p.m. with informal dancing, games and other forms of entertainment in charge of the Phi Kappa Lambda and Phi Omega Pi sororities. Refreshments were served later on in the evening under the direction of the Kappa Delta sorority.

The other committees in charge were Delta Phi Beta sorority, publicity, and Sigma Theta sorority, chaperones and arrangements.

Plans for the party were formulated at a meeting of the Pan-Hellenic Council last Wednesday, at which time the rushing rules for the coming year were also discussed.

During formal rush week the Pan-Hellenic court of honor will meet every day at 4 p.m. in Dean Dinan's office. The court of honor consists of the senior representative from each sorority and an alumni member from each sorority.

The Mother's Club of the Delta Phi Beta sorority met with the active chapter in their rooms on Thursday evening of last week and presented them with a new set of dishes.

WELCOME, FRESHMEN!

The Spectrum wishes at this time to extend to you the "glad hand" from the other three classes and the faculty of the school. We, the older members of this institution, are pleased to see that such a large group of young men and women have decided to pursue their higher education at the North Dakota State College. It reaffirms the rest of the student organization in their selection.

This is your school paper. You paid for it when you paid your fees. You will find your copy every Tuesday and Friday in the lobby awaiting you. If you have any journalistic ability or would even care to gain some, come around to the Spectrum office at your earliest convenience and we will give you an assignment and start you off on the road to journalistic fame.

Right at this joint it would be well to say that this last applies to the entire school. A number of positions on the staff are not filled up-to-date and we have one for you if you will but put forth a little effort.

The policies of the paper will remain the same as in the past, with the exception of one. Members of the staff will be "ousted" as soon as the editor feels they are not filling their position to the best of their ability. This action will without a doubt make a few personal enemies for the "ouster", but it is hoped that the student body will see that these moves will make for a bigger and better Spectrum and thus back him.

Student opinion is cordially invited. It will be run in the columns with the author's initials on it providing it is not entirely out of order, etc. It would be a fine thing for some Seniors, Juniors and Sophomores, to start the year right out with some "student opinions" regarding the life and conduct of a Freshman; also how they should be treated.

DEATH OF DEAN E. S. KEENE

In the bright dawn of a new school year only one black cloud lifts itself. Dean Keene is dead. Dean emeritus of the School of Mechanic Arts, dean of that school, dean of the department of physics and engineering — his record stretches back through thirty-six years of service.

There is something symbolic in the fact that his life gave such excellent illustration and inspiration to the idea of our college: Education for those who need and want it. His life story tells of a boy whom necessity forced into trade at an early age seizing upon chance opportunity, cramming a high school education into a few summer months, entering college—and succeeding. Then the mature life: teacher, but always a student, authorship, the innovator, the pioneer—striving forward to make this college ever more perfect in its work.

Those thousands of students of past years have lost their teacher, wise councilor—and friend. We of the present have lost all of this and more. We have lost in him a guiding force—only the spirit of his work can be with us. The college mourns his loss. —K. G.

WISE and OTHERWISE

By Henry Presler

THIS ISSUE of the Spectrum comes to you as the official student publication of the North Dakota Agricultural College. The Spectrum is printed every Tuesday and Friday, and is free to all persons enrolled at this college. Copies will regularly be placed on a table located just outside the doorway leading into the college post office.

THE 1928-1929 staff of The Spectrum looks enthusiastically at the year's work yet before them. The staff, keenly interested in the journalistic field, anticipates: the invaluable, practical experience to be obtained in managing and editing a newspaper owned by over a thousand persons; the thrill of persistently endeavoring to better acquaint the Northwest with our college; the many friendships to be formed; the possibility that thru our editorials something beneficial to the college or its student body may be obtained.

It is our earnest hope that our efforts will lead to a greater general interest in journalism, and that institutions outside our own will become better acquainted with The Spectrum thru an active exchange system.

We editors shall endeavor to lead the student body into a better spirit of joint action with this paper, into a feeling that The Spectrum is a product of the entire student body rather than the product of a definite set of individuals. In endeavoring to create this spirit we call for timely suggestions and criticisms, and a greater use of the opportunities for individual expression which lie in the Student Opinion Columns, and in letters to the editor.

It is our desire that this year will see the high journalistic standards set by our predecessors eclipsed. To this latter aim we shall constantly devote effort. The Spectrum has always been a paper aspiring to high journalistic standards. Last year, under the able guidance of Mr. Richard Hackenberg, The Spectrum placed third at the North Central Press Conference.

Through the publishing of all worth while news of the campus we intend The Spectrum to act as a force working to centralize the students and to break down the isolating barriers that the many departments tend to set up.

We shall attempt to encourage participation in all outside activities and to aid in supporting all inter-collegiate contests which bring greater recognition to the college, financial support for the educational facilities, and benefit to the participants.

Finally, through our columns we shall urge the students to patronize our advertisers who make The Spectrum possible.

To further these aims the editors have adopted a definite set of editorial policies to be known as The Spectrum Platform. If the need should arise, and as new questions come up, we intend to add to this Platform and to take a definite side on such questions that relate to our college. In as concise a form as possible we are printing herewith The Spectrum Platform. It is not meant to be complete or perfect; what is printed below is merely a starter which we hope will lead to greater advancement. It is at least an indication that the 1928-1929 Spectrum is founded on a definite set of policies.

The Spectrum Platform

1. To better acquaint Fargo and Moorhead, and the Northwest with the college and the variety of splendid educational facilities that it offers.
2. To better acquaint the state legislature with the growing needs of the college.
3. To aspire to greater journalistic achievements and to create a greater interest in journalism at this institution.
4. To act as a vital centralizing force in the student body by the publishing of all available news; by encouraging the use of The Spectrum for individual expression; and by our editorials.
5. To co-operate with advertisers.

6. To encourage activities, scholarship attainments and all worthy competition on the part of the students, and the support of such activities.
7. To uphold and support the rules and policies of the faculty and the Student Commission.
8. To be alive to all problems that may arise within the student body and to use the printed page as a means of reviewing such situations.
9. To print articles attempting to gain support for moves which we believe would be beneficial.
10. To be constructive in our editorials and fair in our news articles.

We indignantly hasten to reply to an inquiring freshman that the EBULLITIONS at the head of this column is NOT accented on the second syllable.

Freshmen are losing no time working their way through school. We got worked for a quarter yesterday.

The first frosh Scotchman blundered his way on the campus yesterday. He made his own cap out of green leaves, with a dandelion for the button.

The reason freshman girls don't wear green caps is because it would hide all their hair.

Our idea of a delicate color scheme is a black-haired, brown-eyed indian wearing a green lid.

Still, it's no more soothing than a henna-topped, rouge-lipped, white-nosed flapper with frost-bitten knees.

It took quite a bit of persuasion to keep ambitious frosh from tearing down the armory. They thought it was Washington's Valley Forge Headquarters, and wanted souvenirs.

One freshman got his green cap, fingered the button lovingly, and wanted to know where the button hole was.

A sophomore soon told him.

Reports filtering from the football field are that all unemployed frosh are being used as tackling dummies.

A belligerent yearling objected to the abbreviated emerald headgear, because it is so cold. Sophomores contend, however, that they'll get something into his head—even if it is only a cold.

Newcomers will soon discover that Sgt. Cul-pepper is the spice of life.

Frosh caps may be felt—but not as much as the seat of their trousers.

All of which leads us to reiterate that the seat of learning all depends on the viewpoint.

Some frugal frosh wear such tight clothing that every time they take a step they crack a smile.

A green and innocent freshman walked into Ceres Hall, and came out green.

Some students came here to broaden their minds—others to mind their breads.

One yearling, sporting a size 7 1/2 cap, says that he isn't so particular about broadening his mind, but could he get his bunions reduced a bit?

We laugh at the correspondence school freshman who had to initiate himself, but it looks like our own frosh are going to have to do it themselves or it won't be done.

Freshmen who yip because their green caps are so small have got nothing to kick about. If they wore headgear to fit their brains, they could use walnut shells for derbies.

The weeks' dumbest frosh just registered. He told a sophomore that a superiority complex was a super-six.

Thirty Men See Action In First Contest Under Borleske and Finnegan, State Mentors.

(By Alan Dotson)

The Yellow and the Green of the North Dakota State College was carried to victory in its contest with the Valley City State Teachers college, Saturday 21 to 0. It was a powerful aggregation, tutored in the rudiments of football by Stanley Borleske and Charles "Casey" Finnegan, that swept over the Vikings in its first start of the 1928 schedule and one that showed a great amount of promise of what is in store for the conference opponents that will be met the latter part of October and November.

During the contest, the varsity squad had a chance to show what it had and it had enough to dispose of its opponent with fight that pleased the spectators in the stands. Nearly three teams saw action and each eleven displayed ability along with its desire to fight.

Coaches Finnegan and Borleske put eleven men into the fray that were as good as any on the squad if not the best and they lived up to their expectations. Three veterans, Cy Peschel, Dutch Hermes, and Pete Gergen were in the backfield with Leo May, last years freshman full back, who work in well with the veterans. It was these four that accounted for the first Bison counter behind the work of a veteran line composed of Hays, Blair, Barney, Ordahl, Moe, Sullivan, and Ranes.

The second quarter saw the Bison veterans on the bench with the exception of Peschel who moved into Pete Gergen's place at the quarter post. This team immediately advanced to within scoring distance where Polly Guertin placekicked to add three points to the Bison total. The Bison made a second advance near the end of the second period mainly through the work of Joe Blakeslee and Oscar Hanson. Peschel, continually, hammering them at the weak points of the Vikings line.

The Bison scored again in the third period, this time the State forces functioning as a unit. Starting on their own thirty line the Bison forced the fighting Vikings back to the losers 18 yard line where Pete Gergen fought the remainder of the distance through the Viking's secondary defense to cross the goal. Leo May and Dutch Hermes were the ground gainers in this advance which consisted of five consecutive first downs.

To select any individual stars in Saturday's game would be unfair to the remainder of the team but the work of Bill Hilts and Cy Peschel is worthy of mention.

Working 50 Freshmen

Nearly sixty freshmen are appearing for coaching nightly under the direction of Coach Robert Lowe, new Frosh grid mentor and his assistant, Coach Leonard B. Saalwaechter, on the freshman field.

The candidates represent the cream of the high school gridiron stars of the past year from N. Dakota and the adjoining states of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois.

With their third practice behind them, Coaches Lowe and Saalwaechter are picking out the best of the squad and running them through scrimmages.

Cy Lonsbrough, a former North Dakota fullback, who was recognized the third best football prospect among the freshmen of the Big Ten conference is sure of a berth on the first team. Westgate, Fischer, Don Walsh, Ers Nordstrom, are showing up well in practice in the backfields, while the linemen are receiving a great deal of practice in charging and defensive work.

The Bison Frosh will oppose the Nodak yearling at Grand Forks this fall and efforts are being made to secure other games with suitable opponents among them, Park Region Luther of Fergus Falls.

The list of backfield candidates includes:

Don Walsh, New Richmand, Wis.; Vern Cross, Crookston, Minn.; Jack Seed, Minot; Sam Westgate, Grafton; Al Lidke, Lidgerwood; George Coffey, Rockford, Ill.; Jack Fisher, Hillsboro; Rod McMillan, Mott;

Employment Bureau Is Now Under New Manager's Guidance

Mrs. Phyché M. Gooden, from
Drake "U" Now in Charge;
Office In "Y" to be Moved.

The new employment bureau at the North Dakota Agricultural College has as its supervisor this year Mrs. Phyché M. Gooden who for the past three years has been Secretary of the Drake University Employment Bureau located in Des Moines, Iowa.

This is a new and unique plan at the College. It is to be carried out by a scheme of soliciting for positions, placing the students, and checking up on their work. Work is solicited by the Secretary from labor employers in all types of business in the city. The bureau officials strive to know every student thoroughly. Financial needs, qualifications as to experience, and the enthusiasm and integrity of the student are all considered very carefully before he receives a position. The student is expected to make good, and no effort is spared to help him succeed in his new job. Work is given to the student known to be in the most urgent need at the time. Schedules are arranged so as to give the employer a full half day. Students having all mornings or all afternoons to work are available.

Soon after a student has undertaken a new position, a checkup system is used. The Secretary telephones the employer to inquire about the student's work. Oftentimes the employer has a few suggestions to offer which would help the person in his new place. These points are passed on to the student in an interview planned especially for this purpose by the Supervisor of the Bureau. Persons who are found to be unreliable and not trustworthy are unable to secure the Bureau's recommendation.

The agency at Drake University was a decided success. It was organized two years ago. Records show that those employed have earned $225,413.85 since then. Over 800 are functioning through this Bureau. The monthly volume earned has been $18,784.50. Positions of trust have been given to many of the students who are earning $100 or more a month while still going to school. Quite a number of the employees given short time or temporary positions were enabled to display their abilities and frequently to such advantage that it led to permanent employment.

This service is "free" to all employers and "at cost" to all employees. At present the office is located in the N.D.A.C. Y.M.C.A. but will be put in the main building as soon as the quarters are ready.
