Tribute Is Paid Indian Warriors In Address Here

World Respects Fighter, Says Author In Convocation Talk Friday

"The world will tolerate a slave, but it respects, admires, and loves a fighter."

This, P. E. Byrne, Bismarck, author of "Soldiers of the Plains," characterized as "a fine document and intensely interesting" and as a "volume marked by much valuable fresh research and the desire to do Indians the withheld justice they merit" by national reviewers, declared Friday in addressing students at convocation, is the main distinguishing mark between the history of the negro and the American Indian.

The Indian, Mr. Byrne points out, has been in association with civilization but recently, while the negro has been mingling with civilization for some 300 years. "Yet the negro occupied and still occupies a position in social and current affairs far below that of the Indian."

Fair Play Stressed

In Mr. Byrne's talk he stressed the need of fair play in the recounting of Indian affairs so that they may be given their just place in American history.

The speaker scored governmental methods of controlling facts in Indian wars; characterized the making of treaties by the government with the Indians as mere acts of "convenience to be broken at will"; and deplored the actions of a civilization that allows a race no opportunity to pay its tribute to the "dust of its ancestors."

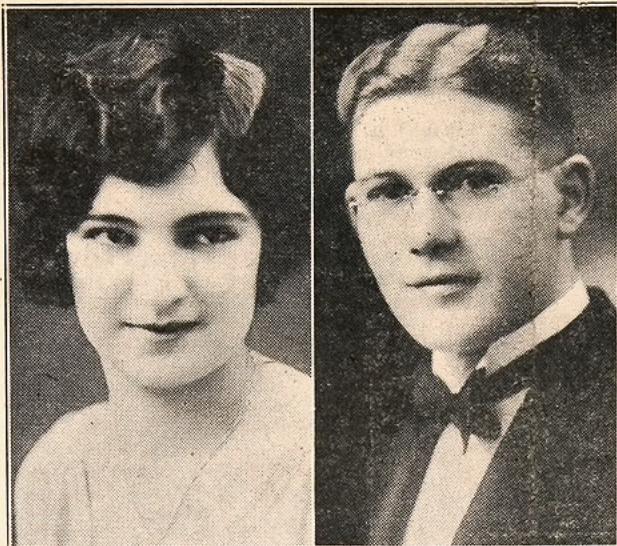

"The subject of the Indian warrior is an essential part of the Indian problem," Mr. Byrne declared, "and the Indian problem is a heritage of ancient lineage. It became a going concern soon after Columbus touched the eastern fringe of this continent in 1492. And what was the Indian problem? When the whites first invaded this country they found a delightful land occupied by a strange and savage people. The immediate problem was how to dispossess the occupants and gain possession of the country. For a long time we were engaged in the solution of that problem, and 50 years ago we succeeded in closing forever the Indian claim to the last vestige of the continent over which for generations he had held dominion."

Whites Forced Change

Describing the change in the Indian from a man of the forests to a warrior of the plains, Mr. Byrne made it clear that the change was forced by the advance of the whites. The tide of civilization advancing, the Indian had to give way or be swallowed up. And so he went back—fighting as he retreated. With his bow and arrow, his tomahawk and war club, he fought as best he could, against the rifles of the white man. He acquired the rifle, became expert in its use, and then the resistance became more bloody. The Spaniard introduced the horse, and the Indian became the most expert horseman in the world. So that, in the course of time, the foot soldier of the forest became the horse soldier of the plains. He no longer traveled afoot. No longer was he restricted to his primitive weapons. He had acquired the white man's rifle. The birch canoe was replaced by the bull-boat, and the wigwam became the tepee.

"And so we see before us the soldier of the plains—the greatest individual mounted fighter the world has ever known."

114 Students Will Take Part In 3d Annual Dance Festival

"Finest Scene Section" Will Be Bison Feature

"One of the finest scene sections ever produced for a college annual," is the way A. A. Segal, manager of the college department of the Bureau of Engraving, Inc., of Minneapolis, describes the sketches drawn by Allan Meinecke for the 1929 Bison. The Bureau is doing the engraving work for the historical yearbook.

Meinecke's drawings are pencil etchings of Old Main, Old Engineering, the library, Agriculture, and Chemistry. They will be arranged in a special border, one to a page, throughout the scene section of the book.

Four Distinct Groups Of Dances Make Up Proposed Program Of Spring Recital

Plans are being made for the third annual dance festival which will be given under direction of Miss Dorothy Cole, head of women's athletics, May 16, at 8:15 p. m. in the college armory. There will be 114 students participating.

Four distinct groups of dances will make up the program of this recital. A collection of miscellaneous numbers will be included in the first division. An Hungarian dance with three couples will be the premier number. Four couples will dance in the May day group, while two are in the Russian Czardazas. A pirate dance, which is a trio and a couple dance of Mexican origin, complete the initiatory group.

An oriental motif demonstrates the second section, which includes four dances. Both the Turkish and Arabian dances are solo numbers. Twelve will be used in a native India ceremonial called the Burmese fire dance. An Egyptian number, with six persons, will be the finale of the second group.

Interpretative Work

Interpretative work comprises the next group of seven dances. "Combat," a couple dance, introduces the new division. L'allegro is second on the program and has three interpreters. Twelve girls are in the "Blue Danube." A solo, "The Last Rose," will follow it. "The Minute Waltz," with three dancers, is succeeded by "Incense," a religious ritual solo. This barefoot section is concluded by a trio number, "Wedgewood."

Fireworks and elaborate costumes, imported from New York, will form a background for a synopsis of the mardi gras, a four day pageant in dance, which will be the theme of the final group.

About 1000 spectators viewed the recital last year and more are expected this year.

Dancers in the recital are being chosen from freshmen and sophomore classes in physical training as well as from an advanced class in dancing.

BENEFIT BRIDGE TO BE GIVEN HERE SATURDAY

A benefit bridge will be sponsored by Kappa Delta sorority from 2:30 until 5 p.m. Saturday in the parlors of Ceres Hall.

Chance Acquaintance Brings Exhibit Here

Catholic University Drawings On Display This Month In Architectural Dept.

A chance acquaintance made near the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D. C., between Professor Walter T. Rolfe, head of the department of architecture, and Dean F. V. Murphy of the Catholic University of Washington, is responsible for a notable exhibition of drawings being displayed here this month.

Fifty three students design drawings, called outstanding examples of their kind, are hanging in the department of architecture rooms on the top floor of the Engineering building, and the college shares the honors with one other college, Washington University of St. Louis, in being the only other institution in the country to have the exhibition. The drawings are the work of students of the Catholic University.

ESTHER BOYER NAMED Y. W. C. A. PRESIDENT

Esther Boyer, Audubon, Minn., junior in home economics was elected president of the college Y. W. C. A. at elections held in the lobby of Main building Monday afternoon. Marie Webster was elected vice-president; Gladys Barton, secretary; and Doris Abel, treasurer.

WARNING!

A warning is hereby issued to students of the North Dakota State college to abide by the laws as set forth by the Student Commission in regard to campus parking, walking or playing on the grass, etc. A student court has been created to fine violators, and Clayton Johnson has been given the power to arrest said violators. The laws are published elsewhere in this issue.

Everett Wallum Named Blue Key Fraternity Head

Ben Gorder, Hjalti Thorfinnson, Floyd McDunn, George Howell Become Members

Four students were elected to membership in the North Dakota State college chapter of Blue Key fraternity at a regular meeting of the group in the Powers hotel Thursday evening.

The students honored are: Floyd McDunn, senior in chemistry, president of the Edwin Booth Dramatic club, member of Alpha Phi Omega and Phi Kappa Phi; Hjalti Thorfinnson, senior in agriculture, member Edwin Booth, Lincoln Debate, club, Alpha Zeta, and Alpha Gamma Rho; George Howell, junior in science and literature, commissioner of elections, and a member of Delta Kappa Sigma; and Ben Gorder, junior in agriculture, president of Saddle and Siroin, letterman, Y.M.C.A. leader, and member of Alpha Kappa Phi.

Everett J. Wallum, junior in science and literature, and editor-in-chief of the 1929 Bison, was elected president of the organization for the coming year. Mr. Wallum is also a member of Alpha Sigma Tau, and Gamma Tau Sigma.

William Rundquist, junior in mechanic arts, was named vice-president; John Bohlig, junior in science and literature, was elected secretary; Foss Narum, junior in science and literature named treasurer; and Ralph Erickson, junior in pharmacy, sergeant-at-arms.

Crowd Greet's Return Of Marionettes Here

Tony Sarg's Puppets Score Again With Production, "Ali Baba and 40 Thieves"

Tony Sarg's marionettes scored again at North Dakota State with an ingenious production of "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves" which was presented last night in the college armory. Two years ago the tiny band of puppeteers took the campus by storm with their production of "Treasure Island."

The armory was crowded last evening with an interested audience who followed closely the fable of the woodcutter and his adventure with the Forty Thieves. The doll, Morgiana, operated by 32 strings and two trained puppeteers, gave a dance the gracefulness of which would be envied by any number of human professionals.

Morgiana, the star of the play, is without doubt one of the most remarkable puppets ever created. The characters of the production supply comedy, pathos, joy, and sorrow with all the resources of the human mind, and one rarely thinks, upon being engrossed in the play, that the entertainers are wooden! To act is an art, but to transfer human acting with human resourcefulness into wooden bodies is an even greater art, and too much credit cannot be given the skill of the trained puppeteers.

Programs To Be Issued Tomorrow From Bookstore

Foss Narum And Hazelle Heald Will Lead Grand March Friday Evening

Plans for the greatest Junior Prom in the history of the school are almost complete, according to Foss Narum, prom leader. The event will be held in the Crystal ballroom Friday evening.

All holders of prom tickets may procure their programs at the college bookstore Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. Upon signing their names together with their partners', opposite the number corresponding to the one on the ticket, they will be given a beautiful leather-covered booklet containing the order of dances, names of guests of honor, prom leaders and committee chairmen, and receiving line. The program cover is embossed with the college seal, surmounted by a bison, all in silver.

The list of guests will be published in The Fargo Forum and in The Spectrum. This method of giving out the programs has been resorted to, said Mr. Narum, that the usual confusion at the door while the guests sign their names may be eliminated.

Meeting Called

A junior class meeting has been called for Thursday at 11:50 a.m. in the Little Country Theatre to enable the business staff of the prom to check up on ticket sales. The meeting will be a brief one.

Official Notice

There will be a meeting of the Junior Class in the Little Country Theatre Thursday at 11:50 to allow the Junior Prom management to check up on ticket sales. Every member of the class is requested to be there. The meeting will be brief. Cy Peschel, President

A ticket number will be drawn by the prom manager Thursday and the holder of the ticket bearing that number will be announced Friday in The Spectrum. The holder may have his prom ticket money refunded by seeing the prom manager Friday before the prom.

The grand march will open the big social event Friday evening at 9:00 following a half hour's informal dancing. Foss Narum, Fargo, prom manager, and Miss Hazelle Heald, Liberty, Sask., will lead the march. Mr. Narum is a member of Alpha Kappa Phi, and Blue Key fraternities. Miss Heald is a member of Kappa Delta and Delta Psi Kappa sororities.

Because of the nature of the ballroom the decorations will not be as elaborate as formerly, but two particular features have been arranged. An arch of varicolored streamers will be erected at the ballroom entrance and an arrangement of gold colored letters which will form the words, "Junior Prom" and "Class of 1929," will be placed upon a black curtain at the rear of the orchestra platform.

In regard to the competition among the co-eds for the pillow as a reward for the most tickets sold over ten, Mr. Narum pointed out that one girl may not transfer her tickets to another in order to have the other win the pillow. If this is discovered both girls will be disqualified, he stated.

Notice

All entrants for the co-ed tennis tournament sponsored by the Women's Athletic association must sign on the bulletin board in the girls gym before April 23, according to Georgina Brindle, tennis manager.

THE ARM OF THE LAW

At last the Student Commission has found it necessary to establish a police power and a court of justice. This issue of The Spectrum carries a warning to all students to beware of the newly appointed constable who has full power to arrest students who violate the rules of the commission which also may be found in these columns. A court which is thirsting for the monetary revenue to be derived from fines has been set up and violators will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

To some of the new students this may seem merging on the humorous, but to these students The Spectrum wishes to issue an "extra special" warning. The commission means business, as any number of the older students may admit upon questioning. A year or so ago it was found necessary to extract fines from violators of the commission regulations and the result was not displeasing to the commission funds. That the group has the power to take this means of enforcing the law is an established fact and the disputing of it fails to help matters a bit.

It is the hope of the commission that no student will have to be arrested but the receipt of a few fines will make the situation much clearer to all concerned. Hereafter, a person walking on a path, parking his car contrary to stipulations, or playing ball on the campus green is liable to a penalty as decreed by the student judge in a student court. Each violator or accused violator will have a fair trial, and the punishment will be in accordance with the crime committed.

This measure needs the support of the entire student body. The commission is to be congratulated for putting it into force. The reign of the courts and the police power may not necessarily last over a great length of time, but until these petty violations stop it is a necessary step and an important one.

SPEAKING OF POLITICS

We note that a nation-wide university straw vote has resulted in an overwhelming majority for Hoover, with Smith and Lowden second and third, respectively. These university straw votes were staged by the college newspapers. The editor of The Spectrum would like a little student opinion on whether or not the student body would care to have their paper stage a similar vote. It would be an interesting experiment, and if the students desire it there are certainly no editorial objections to it.

INTRA-MURAL TRACK

Coach Saalwaechter's announcement that an intra-mural track meet will be held on Dacotah Field the last part of the month has great news for the organizations on the campus. Everyone remembers the meet held last season and the great interest manifested in it. Through a meet of this kind, the physical education department reaches a large number of men who otherwise would not think of taking part in athletic activities. At the same time it uncovers excellent material and gives the coach a good line upon what he has to work with. A meeting of the representatives of the organizations has been called and plans are to be formulated. A trophy is offered to the winning group every year.

Just Comment
WISE and OTHERWISE

TONY SARG'S marionettes proved to be one of the outstanding Lyceum numbers of the year. Two years ago the same attraction broke all records for attendance at the Lyceum. This year, the troupe returned with a reputation firmly established and it is thought that the aged armory withstood as great a strain as during a University basketball game.

PLEASE NOTE that the little box just inside the door of the basement lobby of Old Main is NOT a mail box. It is to be used by the students who wish to contribute to the news gathering agency of The Spectrum. During the past few weeks the editor has been finding letters deposited therein. Not that some of these would not make interesting reading, but it hardly seems that the writers intended them for the press. They were duly posted in the post office. Kindly keep in mind that the post office or a mail box is the only place to deposit a letter if you wish it to arrive safely, and on time.

PLANS ARE complete for the greatest Junior Prom in the history of the school says reports from the prom management. Indications seem that this is so. The fact that the event will be held in the Crystal has given the affair a heretofore unheard of prestige and many townspeople are manifesting much interest in it. The prom is by far the most outstanding social event of the year and the students should back it as they back other school activities.

MARVIN SPIELMAN is to be congratulated publicly for his wonderful scholastic record. To lead the honor roll six consecutive times at North Dakota State is an honor and a record which will stand for some time. What's more Mr. Spielman is a junior and has an opportunity to even better this mark.

DIFFICULTY in securing a proper schedule is still holding up Dr. Put-

I'M THE SLACKER

I'm the slacker who has the expanded idea that I can't afford a Junior Prom ticket. I can afford a night's amusement in the downtown pool halls, and dancing emporiums, but when it comes to shelling out $2.50 for the greatest Junior Prom in the history of the school I can't quite make it. Everyone knows that I have enough money for things, so my "lack of money" excuse is rather lame. Of course, if I really hadn't the money, it would be a different thing, but there are so many of us on the campus that have, and won't spend it on the proms, that it's pitiful. There still is time to get a ticket if only I could get a sensible viewpoint of the matter.

nam's plans for his Gold Star band tour of North Dakota. It is thought, however, that a satisfactory schedule will be arranged before the date set for the departure of the organization. If the original towns on the itinerary cannot be secured perhaps the itinerary can be changed to meet the new needs.

THE 1929 BISON is on its way to press and it won't belong before the college yearbook will be ready for distribution to the students. Indications point to one of the best books in the history of the school. The book has a historical theme which will make it of special value to the students, both as a reference and as an authentic chronology of their institution.

Bridge Favors Given At Kappa Phi Formal

Bridge sets in black leather cases embossed with the fraternity crest, were the favors at the 13th annual spring formal party of the Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity held Friday in the Crystal ballroom. The formal dance program opened at 9 p. m. and this was preceded by a half hour of informal dancing. The fraternity colors, maroon and black, were used in the decorations of the ball room. Following the dancing the company numbering 60 couples went to the Tea Cup Inn where a three course lunch was served.

Dean and Mrs. A. E. Minard, Dean and Mrs. W. F. Sudro, Capt. and Mrs. Thomas Smith and Prof. and Mrs. A. F. Schalk were the patrons and patronesses for the party and the guests of honor included Dr. John Lee Coulter, president of the college, and Mrs. Coulter and Prof. and Mrs. W. T. Rolfe.

Out of town guests in attendance were Miss Helen Curran, Detroit Lakes, Minn.; Miss Dorothy Stoudt, Enderlin; Claudie Miller, Valley City; Ernest Stoudt, Bismarck; Walter Clasen, River, Minn.; Richard Stranahan, Minot; and George Bairey, Devils Lake.

Robert J. Adam was named president of Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity at a meeting held Wednesday night. Other officers elected were Glenn Smith, censor; Marvin Huckle, scribe; Ralph Diehl, treasurer; and Harry McLachlin, chronicler.

Albums Are Favors Given By Kappa Psi

Albums with grey suede covers, stamped with the fraternity crest, were the favors which members of the Kappa Psi fraternity gave to their guests at the annual formal party in the Oriental ballroom Saturday evening. Red carnations, the fraternity flower, were also distributed to the women as favors in a special dance which followed the moonlight numbers. The chief note of the decorations was a huge replica of the fraternity pin, effected with the red carnations, and which was illuminated for the moonlight numbers. Dancing was enjoyed from 8:30 to 12 p. m. and 40 couples attended.

Dean and Mrs. W. F. Sudro, Prof. and Mrs. M. Jongeward, and Prof. R. B. McMurray and Miss Marion Parker were the patron and patronesses.

Architects Finish Fraternity Problem

The second annual competition sponsored by Kappa Tau Delta, honorary architectural fraternity, a problem issued at noon Tuesday, April 3, was completed April 4 at 5 p. m., it was announced recently.

The title of the problem is "A Small Boat and Tea House." The scene was to be on the bank of a deep river, part of a large country estate, and the house was to be made of cut stone. Twenty-one men competed in the problem.

As yet no winners have been announced although the judges were to pick them this week. The winner will have his name engraved on a silver plaque donated by the fraternity last year and which hangs in the library of the department. Much enthusiasm has been shown in the competition.

Ebullitions of Ebony Blott

By Covert Wallum

If making people move by pulling a string constitutes a marionette manipulator, we nominate the village hangman.

At least, we discovered last night that a puppet wasn't a caress for a small dog.

If a cop was dragging Ralph Hollands down the street, would that be pulling a string?

Marvin Spielman led the honor roll. That isn't news, that's repetition.

The litmus lancer from Larimore got an average of 95.7. We know who got the other 4.3.

All the preliminary rolling to get on the honor roll must be done out of bed every morning.

A student has his choice. Marks or larks?

The student who heads the honor roll usually has a father who foots the bill.

After noting the jubilant expression of those named on the honor roll, we now know what is meant by the "Gay Ninety's."

The Junior Prom has been termed "the biggest social event of the year." What about the second "U" basketball fracas?

If a certain co-ed we know wins that pillow the prom management is squandering in the ticket selling race, she'd better tie it on behind for the dance.

They call it the Crystal ballroom, but there will be some stars seen there.

A diamond studded belt is an awful waist of money.

So many restaurants charge their groceries that it's no wonder people get shocked by the food they serve.

Students who play ball on the campus should realize that it is a base activity.

There are two types of co-eds—those who talk while chewing gum, and we just can't think of the other type just now.

We call our race horse "Noon" because he's booked at 60 to 1.

Spring Football Practice Is Now In Full Swing

34 Gridsters Report For Pre-Season Work

16 Veterans, 13 Yearling Grads Ready For Preliminary Drill; Borleske In Charge.

By Chuck Arneson

Spring football practice is now in full swing at the State college under the direction of Stan Borleske, who has full charge of the 1928 grid aspirants.

As yet there have been only thirty four candidates to report for the preliminary spring tactics. However, many additional gridsters are expected to join the squad before this week is over. Borleske has confined most of the work so far to lectures. With the promise of favorable weather, the squad will drill each night on the upper thirteenth field in order to save the regular football field.

Of the thirty four players reporting to coach Borleske, eight are veterans of two season competition while eight others have been on the varsity squad for one season. Thirteen candidates are graduates of the 1927 freshman squad, three have had no previous collegiate training while two others from the 1927 squad who failed to earn letters are on hand.

The one year men are led by George Hays of Elkton, S. D., an end who was named captain of the 1928 aggregation. Other one year men are Vern Hickerson of Bemidji, Minn., a halfback; Pete Gergen of Grafton and Park River, halfback or quarterback; Gunder Christianson of Hope, halfback; Alf Skaret of Fargo, guard; Stafford Ordahl of Grafton, center; Lloyd Clark of Mohall, end; and Jess Sleight of New England, tackle.

Veterans Listed

Veterans who boast of two years of varsity experience are Cyril Peschel of Wahpeton, quarterback and captain of the 1927 team; Gerald Barney of Casselton, guard; Lawrence De Sautel of Grafton, tackle; Mike Sullivan of Bemidji, tackle; Ben Gorder of Bottineau, fullback; and George Hermes of Wahpeton, halfback.

Graduates from the freshman squad include Edward Babcock of Fargo, end; Frank Dvorak of Center, guard; Johnny Smith of Fargo, quarter and halfback; Horace McGrath of Fargo, center and end; Ray Bassett of Wahpeton, quarter; John Brady of Doran, Minn., end; Leo May of Aberdeen, S. D., fullback; Leonard Friberg, of Rockford, Ill., tackle; Gilbert Johnson of Rockford, Ill., end; Clifford Bollman of Fargo, gpard; Ray Knett of Wheatland, tackle; Eric Tonn of Hancock, Minn., center; and Philip Schmidt of Hannaford, end. Kenneth Bute of Wahpeton and Oscar Hanson of Hancock, Minn., are linemen from last year's squad who failed to make letters.

Thomas Micka of Cayuga, Adrian Fox of Leeds and Leonard Luther of Mandan are men attending the spring sessions who have had no previous college football experience.

Coach Borleske stressed the importance of spring football and stated that all those who expected to be out in the fall should be out this spring. He also stressed the fact that because of the highly coached teams nowadays a spring session is in order preliminary to the fall grind. The squad in the fall starts where they left off in the spring.

Intra-Mural Track Meet To Be Staged

Affair May Be Run Off On April 27 Or 28, Says Saalwaechter; Representatives Must Meet.

Plans for the Intra-mural track meet now an annual affair at the college, are complete and the event will be run off in the next two weeks, probably the 27th or 28th of April, according to Coach Saalwaechter.

To promote interest in the annual meet there will be a meeting of the sponsors at the athletic office at 4 p.m. today. Each fraternity is requested to have representatives at that time as the business is very important and can not be carried out unless it is representative. Preparation for entries, and eligibility will be discussed.

However it is understood that to compete this year it will be necessary for all candidates to have worked out under the supervision of Coach Saalwaechter at least eight times in the next two weeks. All men must register in the athletic office and football candidates should work out before or after their spring training period.

After this track meet, comes the triangular meet at Valley City where the State Teachers and Jamestown colleges will be met. The following week will see the Vikings down here for a return meet.

There has not been sufficient interest shown in track this spring to warrant its continuation if the size of the frosh and varsity squads can be taken to mean anything.

With a meet scheduled for the Varsity and Frosh with their long time rivals, the Nodaks, the result seems to be hanging heavily in latter's favor as there has not been enough men for either team out to give the Bison a chance.

There will be a shield awarded to the winning organization. The trophy has been the possession of the Kappa Phi fraternity for the past year and will be on display in one of the Spectrum office windows.

300 Couples Attend Engineers Carnival

About 300 couples were in attendance at the annual Engineers' ball held in the armory from 8:30 until 12 p.m. Friday.

A typical western town, Happy Hollow, made realistic with cowboys, gambling houses and bars, formed a suitable environment for the dance which was very informal. A street dance was the feature of the ball and concession stands and booths which bordered the avenue were a constant source of entertainment to the guests. Rows of multicolored lights which flanked the ceiling of the armory lent a pleasing note to the little town during the moonlights.

Prof. and Mrs. R. M. Dolve and Prof. and Mrs. H. S. Rush were chaperones at the carnival dance.
