

Borleske Named Bison Grid Mentor Engineers Ball To Be Held In Armory Tonight

Typical Western Town Is Feature Of Annual Dance

Whistles Shriek, Guns Roar As Prelude To All-College Fun Carnival

The annual Engineers' Ball will be held in the armory this evening from 8:30 to 12, transforming the ancient structure into a typical western town, replete with cow punchers, gambling houses, and bars.

A "street" dance will feature the ball, and the spacious avenue on which the local collegians will trip the light fantastic will be bordered by concession stands and booths from which the inevitable enterprisers will appeal more or less to the sporting blood of the "citizens" of Happy Hollow, which, by the way, is the name of this wild and woolly western metropolis.

Dancing will start at 8:30 and will be quite informal while Morris Olson and his Collegians stampede the expected 300 couples with rhythmic melodies. There is no admission charge and dancing is free.

Costumes Optional
Merle Cuthbertson, ball manager, and his partner, Miss Lillian Opfer, will start the r6deo by leading the big parade in review before the judges who have been chosen to make the awards for the best costumes. It is optional whether one cares to deck himself or herself out in a costume, however, according to the management.

Patrons and patronesses in the persons of Professor and Mrs. R. M. Dolve and Professor and Mrs. H. S. Rush will see to it that law and order is maintained in Happy Hollow throughout the evening and that the village doesn't resemble a Chicago precinct on election day, as one might expect after hearing the all-day prelude of shrieking whistles and exploding undersized Big Berthas.

Poor Schedule Holds Up Band Tour Plans

Eight Towns Included In Itinerary Proposed By Dr. Putnam For First Trip

Difficulty in securing a satisfactory schedule for the state tour of the Gold Star Band is the only obstacle in the completion of final plans for the trip, according to Dr. C. S. Putnam, director of the organization.

Eight towns are included in the proposed itinerary, which is tentative at this time. These are Valley City, Jamestown, Carrington, Devils Lake, Park River, Grafton, Grand Forks, Hillsboro and Fargo, where the last concert will be given on Saturday evening, April 28.

That the band is a better balanced and plays with more smoothness than any band in the history of the school is the belief of the director. Instrumentation is more complete and the personnel is uniformly better than in former years, he said. On the program which is being prepared, will be popular, classical and several novelty numbers. Miss Betty Sheldon, sponsor of the band, will be featured as a violin soloist on the program. Miss Sheldon also plays tympani and chimes.

Downtown Window Displays Feature Junior Prom Ticket Sales Campaign

Downtown window displays during the forepart of next week will feature the ticket sales campaign of the Junior Prom which will be held in the Crystal ballroom Friday, April 20.

Alex Stern will decorate a window with men's formal wear, Herbst will show the latest in women's formals, and Sherdahl's will display formal jewelry.

A beautiful pillow in college colors and with the college seal will be given to the co-ed who sells the most tickets over 10, it was announced by Harold Phillips, sales manager, today. The pillow will be on display in the Spectrum office window.

Another device to expediate ticket sales will be the drawing of a number at convocation next week and the refunding of the ticket price to the holder of the number.

The campus will be decked out

Monday morning with a bevy of posters, drawn by Alf Skaret and marking the beginning of the final drive for the greatest Junior Prom in the history of the school.

At a meeting Wednesday evening, the chairmen of the various committees made plans for the remaining week before the biggest social event of the year. A small receiving line of 10 was agreed upon to abolish the waste of time heretofore experienced. Features for the formal were approved by the committee heads, and will consist of the "Midnight Follies", a chorus, and a dance by a couple, "The Doll Dance." Programs, now being made, were oked by the committee, and are by far the most outstanding ever produced at any prom here. A special steel die has been constructed and is responsible for the artistic design on the cover.

Special decorations will add to the already luxurious appearance of the Crystal.

Favors have already arrived, and, according to Foss Narum, prom manager, are the most outstanding ever given. These are vastly different from anything used as favors in the past, are practical, and permanent.

Intensive work will begin the first of the week in preparation for the colorful event which marks the climax of the college social season. So important is the Junior Prom regarded in the social life of the school that the Bison, college yearbook, devotes two pages to it in contrast to one for each of the other functions. Through careful planning of the event the price of the tickets has been reduced from $3 as formerly to $2.50 for the 1928 prom.

Former Director Will Be Special Coach For 1928

Has Complete Charge of Spring Practice; Finnegan At Helm During Fall

Stanley E. Borleske, former athletic director at North Dakota State college from 1919 to 1925 who resigned to enter the sporting goods business in Fargo, has been appointed special football coach, it was announced Wednesday by President John Lee Coulter.

Borleske will have full charge of spring football and will remain head coach until the arrival of C. C. Finnegan, athletic director, who will assume the duties of head football coach for the 1928 season.

Present plans call for Finnegan to assume full charge of the grid sport this fall with Borleske as an assistant, which combination is expected to give the school an exceptionally strong staff. Leonard Sallwachter will remain as freshman football coach and head basketball and track coach.

Applications Considered
Borleske has been employed on a part time basis in order that he may continue to handle his business down town. Finnegan meanwhile is considering applications for the position of head football coach in full time capacity.

Coach Borleske and President Coulter met the candidates for the football team at a meeting Tuesday and plans were formed for the official opening of the spring grind. Borleske stated that no outdoors work would be in order for the gridsters until the weather took a turn for the better.

Coach Borleske was an all-western end on the University of Michigan squad in 1910. Following his graduation in 1912 he served as a high school coach until the war. In 1919 he came directly to the college from the army.

Garnet Grieve, Lawrence O'Leary Will Take Advanced Work in Maryland

Garnet Grieve, Buffalo, and Lawrence O'Leary, Barnesville, Minn., will leave for the Edgewood arsenal in Maryland about June 10, where they will take their advanced R. O. T. C. training. They are two of the six men chosen from the seventh corps area to attend this camp. There are 23 schools in the area, which were considered in the choice of students for this camp.

Both Mr. Grieve and Mr. O'Leary are juniors in school of chemistry. Among their activities are membership in Alpha Phi Omega, honorary chemistry fraternity, and in the Chemists' club. Mr. O'Leary also belongs to the Catholic Students' club. The two young men are enrolled in advanced courses in the military department of the school and are ranked as first lieutenants in the R. O. T. C. Work in Edgewood arsenal, which is a chemical warfare camp, will begin June 15 and continue for six weeks. The war department of the United States army is in charge of the department and has designated that the two men shall go to the camp, according to Captain Thomas S. Smith, commandant.

Marionettes Present "40 Thieves" Monday

Tony Sarg Surpasses Himself In Production Of Arabian Nights Story

The strange tale of "Ali Baba and The Forty Thieves" will be presented by Tony Sarg's Marionettes in the armory Monday afternoon at 3:45 and Monday evening at 8:15.

All students of the North Dakota State college will be admitted upon presentation of their registration cards, to the evening performance.

The play which will be given by the puppets is adapted from the "Arabian Nights." The entire production is directed and supervised by Tony Sarg, and the play is directed by Knowles Entrikin who adapted it from the famous series of stories.

In this new production Tony Sarg has quite surpassed himself, according to criticisms from nation-wide authority. Reviews state that "it is the last word in marionette technique."

Seemingly Impossible Tricks
Mr. Sarg, in his Arabian Nights story, has created the most villainous set of robbers seen on any stage, an extensive menagerie of donkeys, camels, elephants, sheep, dogs, etc., who all play an important part in the production. The elephant especially performs tricks which are seemingly impossible, and made possible only for the puppet stage.

The Genie and the Fisherman, Sinbad the Sailor, the Magic Carpet, and all the characters and their deeds that are recorded in the Arabian Nights have been faithfully reproduced in all reality, yet retaining the phantasy which is such a necessary part of them.

Morgiana, the star of the play, is perhaps the most remarkable puppet ever created. During the play she performs an acrobatic dance, which in mechanical skill is undoubtedly the most remarkable marionette exhibition ever shown in this country. The doll requires 32 strings for operation and two trained puppeteers.

Plans Formulated

Plans for the May Festival are to be formulated by the Athletic office it was announced by Ion J. Cortright. Entries are being received and the track is being put in condition for this annual event.

WE GET A FOOTBALL COACH

After an elapse of time following the selection of C. C. Finnegan as athletic director, officials of North Dakota State have finally selected Stanley E. Borleske, former director 1919 to 1925, as "special" football coach. Mr. Borleske, a well-known coach, and a star Michigan end in 1910, should strengthen the Bison staff to a great degree. There is no question to his ability as a coach, and a coach who knows football, but nevertheless, that word "special" bothers us.

From this we infer that Borleske's appointment is temporary, say for the next season only. We understand that he is to be head football coach during spring practice, and assistant to Mr. Finnegan during the fall season. This is in direct contrast to the previous statement that the new director would do no coaching, that we would have a head football coach in addition to the director plus a number of assistants.

If, on the other hand, this is a temporary measure, we fail to see any reason for its being so. Why let the thing hang fire for a year when a permanent coach could be arranging his material for years to come? We welcome Mr. Borleske's return to the coaching game at North Dakota State, but we would much rather welcome him as a full-time, permanent fixture on the staff, without his divided interests, and his "special" appointment.

TO BE, BUT WHERE TO BE?

Criticism which was manifested upon the selection of the Crystal ballroom as the scene of the Charity Ball has again come to the fore upon the announcement of the Junior Prom manager that the outstanding formal of the year will be held in that downtown building.

The Spectrum feels that much of this criticism is due to a misunderstanding of the facts, and wishes to make them plain. The cost of an orchestra, local or imported, together with the massive decorating scheme necessary to convert our aged armory into an attractive place to dance far exceeds the cost of renting for one evening, complete with orchestra, the downtown dance hall! Because of this fact past proms have gone far into the hole in an attempt to beautify said armory interior. The 1928 prom committee wishes to abolish such unpleasant experiences, and for that reason are transporting the formal off the campus.

It is true that an ancient tradition has been to have these social functions on the campus, but the downtown expediency must be resorted to until the state legislature sees fit to supply us an adequate building. It is just another case of where the students are supplied with a problem because of inadequate facilities. First, our curricular activities, then our athletics, and now our social affairs are suffering from this lack of proper surroundings.

WE APPRECIATE your past patronage and solicit your future work. When you think of laundry call the DIXON for service and quality. We darn sox and sew on buttons without extra charge.

WISE and OTHERWISE

By Henry Presler

LAST FALL the Spectrum went on record as opposing the use of our campus as a soccer field for girls athletics. But the games went on. The feeling of opposition was deepened when two unsightly goal posts appeared to clutter up the ground. In spite of repeated agitation against the whole business, the goal posts remained stationary, surviving the repeated threats of exasperated, public-spirited advocates of a beautiful campus. Well, those two-by-fours continued to advertise our fast depleting forests until about a week ago when they suddenly disappeared. Let us hope that in the future a better respect for the appearance of our naturally fine looking campus will prohibit its further use as a ball park.

AND THEN there are those mid-terms next week! Inasmuch as members of the Gold Star Band are to lose a whole week of school, it was decided to lessen the unnatural burden imposed by setting the exams ahead of the schedule. The music makers are paying somewhat of a price in serving their school in the advertising trip. Let us commend them and wish a successful journey and an enthusiastic reception.

I'M THE GOOF

I'm the goof who puts things off until tomorrow. I have no more sense of responsibility than a fish has lungs. I make false promises to do things, but I always put them off until tomorrow and consequently they're never done. Along with my procrastination runs parallel a very inadequate memory, and along with that runs any number of equally faulty parts of my general make-up. Procrastination doesn't appear alone, and I possess every ally of the ancient wrong. "Never do today what you can do tomorrow," is my cute little chant as I put somebody off. If I interpreted myself literally tomorrow would certainly be my busiest day, but I'd be so rushed I'd have to put some things off until the next day etc., etc., forever and ever.

Track Men Work
In Preparation
For First Meet

By ALAN DOTSON

Coach Saalwaechter's track men were working out Wednesday night under adverse weather conditions but from the spectators view point in a very efficient manner.

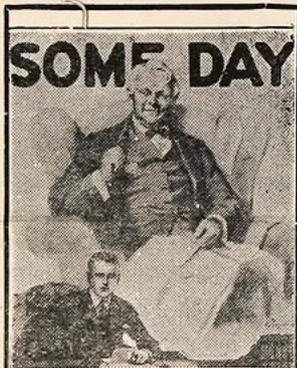

The tracksters have taken to the athletic field after several weeks of conditioning on the drill field and campus.

Practice starting and sprinting down the cinder paths is in order for the candidates while the field men are running madly around the practice grounds throwing the javelin and discus.

While no time has been recorded for the runners, the estimated marks will look well alongside of the other North Central conference marks that are being made so early in the season at the other schools.

With only two weeks of practice left, the first track and field meet of the year to open the schedule of the Bison will be held on Saturday, April 28.

The competition will probably be local or from the immediate vicinity and will give Saalwaechter a fairly good impression of his men for the meet the following weekend at Valley City, where the Bison will have the Jamestown and Valley City colleges as opponents.

No One Can Know His Eyes' Condition

Without undergoing an examination. No one can tell anything about the eyes merely by looking at them. They must be examined by instruments that detect the slightest deviation from normal. So there is very little use asking anyone if his eyes are normal. He doesn't know. But our examination would tell him. Then we could correct the defects we found.
