Montana State Debaters Meet Bison Tonight

Armed Intervention Is Subject Of Argument In Little Country Theatre

Morris Erickson, Shafer, and Hjalti Thorfinnson, Mountain, will represent the North Dakota State college in an intercollegiate debate with Montana State college, to be held in the Little Country theatre at 8 p.m., tonight.

The question, "Resolved that the United States should cease to protect by armed force capital invested in foreign countries until after a formal declaration of war," will be discussed in a no decision debate. Discussion of the Nicaraguan and general Caribbean situations, the Monroe doctrine, and the late Pan-American conference will figure in the arguments.

Bobcats Have Negative

Montana State will uphold the negative side of the question and an open forum discussion will follow the debate.

The Bozeman debaters, Jot Livers and Henry Gardiner, with their coach, W. C. Stone, will go from here to the annual convention of Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity, to be held at Tiffin, Ohio, from March 31 to April 6.

Ibsen Anniversary Is Observed In Theatre

"Vikings of Helgeland" Again Presented Under Arvold's Direction

An audience, representative of the entire State of North Dakota, joined with many other centers in commemorating the 100th anniversary of the birth of Henrik Ibsen, the great Norwegian dramatist, at a special Ibsen program at the Little Country theatre. Tuesday evening, March 20.

The Sons of Norway lodge of Fargo was in charge of the program, which combined some features of an Ibsen Festival put on by the public discussions department of the college in February.

Play Given

"The Vikings of Helgeland," an Icelandic play written by Ibsen, was given under direction of A. G. Arvold. The play was given during the Ibsen Festival and is probably the best piece of experimental work with the great dramas that has ever been done at the college.

John G. Halland gave a talk on "The Place and the Contribution made by Ibsen to the World's Dramatic Literature," and Mr. Arvold led a discussion of Ibsen's plays.

The Orpheus male chorus sang in the Norse language between acts.

A social hour in the Lincoln Log Cabin and the green room of the Little Country theatre followed the program.

PROFESSOR HUNSAKER ADDRESSES KIWANIS

"Changing a type of city government will not assure lower taxes," said Dr. A. F. Hunsaker, professor of social and economic science at the North Dakota State college, in addressing the Fargo Kiwanis club, March 20, on "Forms of City Government."

"City life is a measure of man's civilization. People living in large groups must raise the plane of life to a higher standard than otherwise is necessary. Sanitary health and other measures must be kept on a higher plane. More and better provisions must be made for living."

High School Festival Set For May 10,11,12

Three Day Series Of Athletic, Industrial, and Literary Contests Planned

The 21st annual interhigh school May festival, will take place May 10, 11 and 12, at the North Dakota State college, it was announced recently by A. G. Arvold, head of the public discussions and social service department.

A three days series of athletic, industrial and literary contests for North Dakota high school students is planned.

The athletic contests will be divided into two groups, those for boys and those for girls. In the industrial contests, both boys and girls will compete in demonstration work, exhibits and in judging of livestock and crops.

Contest Planned

A declamatory contest, a dramatic contest, a presentation of a one act play, an extempore speech contest, a story telling contest, an exhibit of miniature stage settings and a newspaper and annual contest will comprise the literary group.

For the contestants interested in engineering and architecture, the school of mechanic arts will have special attractions and inspection trips to industrial plants, factories and business buildings. An architectural exhibit will be on display during the three days. Exhibits in Ceres hall, the armory, Little Country theatre, Engineering building and Science hall will comprise the all college and May festival industrial arts exposition.

Besides the contests, the industrial arts exposition and a conference of Smith-Hughes instructors, there will be special entertainment for the visitors. A new mark of 600 contestants was established at the festival last year.

Byron Olson Elected College Y President

Byron Olson, Jamestown, was elected president of the Y. M. C. A. at the North Dakota State college for the coming year at the elections held in the college Y. M. C. A. building Monday, March 19.

Other officers are as follows: Robert Adams, Anamoose, vicepresident; Arthur Platt, Fargo, recorded; Leonard Rygg, Clifford, re-elected treasurer; Benjamin Gorder, Carbury, student representative on the cabinet; Alvin Lindgren, Park River, high school representative on the cabinet; and Robert Fisher, Crystal Springs, industrial course representative on the cabinet. Donald Grant, Glyndon, Minn., is the retiring president of the organization.

War Department Orders Received By President Coulter Assign Commandant To Fort Benning Infantry School; Founded Hockey at College.

War department orders relieving Captain Thomas S. Smith, commandant at the North Dakota State college, from duty at the end of the present school year, and assigning him as a student of the Advanced Course of the Infantry school, Fort Benning, Georgia, were received by President John Lee Coulter Friday.

Completion of the course at Fort Benning will be followed by a course at the Army Command and Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

No replacement has as yet been designated by the war department but President Coulter has requested the detail of one or more officers especially well-versed in athletics and winter sports in an effort to carry on the work started in hockey by Captain Smith.

Captain Smith reported for duty as assistant professor of military science and tactics on December 31, 1923, and will have made his tour of duty at the close of the school year in June, a total of four and one-half years. On July 1, 1925 he succeeded Major William F. Harrel as P. M. S. and T. and commandant of the R. O. T. C. at the college.

Active In Sports

The captain has been active in sports during his stay at the school having three years ago founded the hockey pastime at the institution. Today hockey is classed as a major sport and closely rivals basketball for the interest of the fans. Captain Smith's hockey teams have shown evidence of fine coaching, defeating the University of North Dakota in the annual series this year, and holding the Augsburg six, near Olympic representatives, to two low scores in hard fought games.

Under Captain Smith's guidance, the college R. O. T. C., unit has won the praise of national officers, and has come close to winning gold star ratings in spite of the fact that the qualifications for these ratings were raised the year the captain was made commandant, thus making the proposition a much harder one than faced by former R. O. T. C. instructors.

"Romeo And Juliet" Will Be Presented

Edwin Booth Dramatic Club To Commemorate Shakespeare In Production

"Romeo and Juliet" will be the Edwin Booth Dramatic club's spring term play to be given in commemoration of Shakespeare's birthday, April 23.

Tryouts for the 20 roles in the play will be held in the Little Country theatre this afternoon from 12:30 to 4:30. All college students who have satisfactory averages are eligible to try out. Experience is not necessary, according to Floyd McDunn, president of the club.

Students Select Cast

"In order to select the most ideal players for that most beautiful of all love stories, the dramatic club will give the students of the college the privilege of choosing the leading characters, "Romeo and Juliet," said Mr. McDunn. In accordance with this policy 100 representative college men will be present in the theatre from 12:30 to 1:30 today during which time all "Juliets" will try out for the role. At 4:30, 100 representative college women will pick their "Romeo" from the men who care to try out. All voting will be by ballot.

"The dramatic club promises to make Romeo and Juliet the outstanding dramatic event of the year, and the co-operation of everyone is earnestly requested," stated Mr. McDunn yesterday.

Results of the balloting will first be made public in Friday's issue of The Spectrum.

FORMER STUDENT LOST IN CALIFORNIA FLOOD

Carl Peterson, former student at the North Dakota State college, and principal of the high school at Washburn, is believed to have perished in the St. Francis dam disaster in California according to word received here.

Mr. Peterson had been employed by the Edison Electric company at Piru. When the news reached Washburn, relatives wired authorities to investigate and determine whether Mr. Peterson had been injured.

The return wire stated that Mr. Peterson had last been seen on a raft in the flood and had not been located since.

Recognition Day Services To Be Held In Armory

Annual Event Is Sponsored By Phi Kappa Phi, National Scholastic Group

Annual Recognition Day services will be held in the armory tomorrow morning at 9:40 when the achievements of the student body will be recognized at general convocation.

The Phi Kappa Phi honor roll will be read and each member will rise as his or her name is called. Following this the same procedure will be carried out by the other honorary fraternities and sororities.

Scheduled Earlier

The achievement services were scheduled earlier this year to allow Dr. Carlton R. Ball, regent general of Phi Kappa Phi, of Washington, D. C., to be present as the speaker of the morning, according to Professor J. R. Dice, in charge of the event.

Other honor societies than Phi Kappa Phi to be recognized tomorrow morning are: Alpha Phi Omega, chemistry; Alpha Zeta, agricultural; Delta Psi Kappa, girls' athletics; Gamma Tau Sigma, journalistic; Kappa Tau Delta, architectural; Phi Upsilon Omicron, home economics; Pi Gamma Mu, national economic and social science; Blue Key, national service; and Edwin Booth Dramatic club.

Winfield Scott Hall Addresses Students

Famous Physician Says American Civilization Is Hope Of The World

"America is the hope of the world," stated Dr. Winfield Scott Hall at convocation Monday morning at 9:40. Dr. Hall has been connected with the medical faculty of Northwestern university, and has received degrees from the university at Leipzig, Germany.

By America, Dr. Hall meant the entire stretch of territory between the Rio Grande and the Hudson Bay. The famous doctor pointed out that migration has brought about "migrational selection" of the race and that this led to the production of human "thoroughbreds." At present, stated Dr. Hall, there are no human thoroughbreds, but our branch of the human race comes closest to it. "Our migration stopped at the Pacific, and the migrational selection stopped with it," he said.

In referring to the downfall of civilization, Dr. Hall pointed out that it was brought about by the four "L's": lucre, leisure, luxury, and lust. This was true, he said, of the Egyptian, Chaldean, and Roman civilizations.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Someone who had heard about a fellow named Grange who was playing football for the University of Illinois a few years ago said that the famous gridiron star was "the best advertising the university could get." To the average American citizen, a college is known by its extra-curricular activities, its football, its basketball, its debaters, its dramatics, and its band. The school with the winning teams, the most famous debaters, and the best band draws the high school students, and attracts the attention of the people.

Bison athletics during the past year haven't been especially good advertising. Debates have failed to attract many, and forensics and dramatics reach only Fargoans. Something is needed to rouse the people of the state.

The "something" is being planned. Dr. C. S. Putnam and his famous Gold Star Band are ready to start a tour of the state as soon as the needed cash to defray expenses is advanced. The tour as proposed will cover every large city in the state, and many others. Publicity for the tour will bring a world of advertising to the college. The concerts will be even more important in attracting students to this institution. The tour will prove to the state that we are foremost in music, that we are as proud of the band as we are of our teams, and our debaters, and our drama. The band deserves this tour, and some way must be provided to permit it. It will be a distinct step in the progress of the school. It will put before the people the name and importance of our institution, and with importance of our institution, and with the good will it creates we may yet be able to get the much-needed reforms from our legislature.

TRADE AND MARK

Everyone in the United States is intimately acquainted with the famous Smith brothers, "Trade" and "Mark," and it's a safe bet that everyone on the State college campus is intimately acquainted with Captain Thomas S. Smith, R. O. T. C., commandant, and Captain Thomas S. Smith, hockey coach, which for convenience we may refer to the candied language of "Trade" and "Mark" respectively.

"Trade" ascended to the commandant's position in the summer of 1925 when he succeeded Major William Harrell. In taking over the position, a heavy responsibility in itself, "Trade" was faced with the problem of upholding Major Harrell's record of three consecutive gold star ratings for the corps. At the same time that "Trade" moved into the new office, the war department moved to increase the standard of qualifications, and the new commandant had the added work of boosting the college cadets' former rating in order to rate at all under the new code. It was a tough proposition but the doughty "Trade," in the face of difficulties, came close to putting it across, only lack of facilities keeping the Bison from the rating on numerous occasions.

"Mark", on the other hand, kept himself busy in the meantime with an enterprising hockey squad, having founded the sport at the college and going about the job of keeping it progressing. Interest manifested in it the first year warranted the athletic board making it a major sport. The best season enjoyed by the squad ended recently with a victory over the Nodaks, and commendable losses to the Olympic Augsburg team in a two game series.

Combining "Trade" and "Mark" into Captain Thomas S. Smith again, we find that he is to be transferred by the war department to Fort Benning, Georgia, and that North Dakota State is faced with the plenty tough problem of finding another commandant who can assume the duties created by "Trade" and "Mark."

Just Comment

WISE and OTHERWISE

By Henry Presler

PERHAPS YOU have observed that our debaters will meet the Bozeman orators in a debate scheduled for this evening. This "clash of wits" has been well advertised through the Forum and the Spectrum, making it seem that a good crowd should be on deck to give moral encouragement to the Bison team. But, as we said before, debating in Fargo is on a wavering foundation and it is hard to surmise just how well tonight's contest will be supported. Our team is, of course, counting on the support of the student body. Anyone can see that tonight the Yellow and Green colors are just as much under fire as in an athletic contest. We are told that nothing is so encouraging to a debater as the sight of a large body of his classmates in the audience. It should be of interest to anyone and every Bison when he has the chance to support his team, get a line on debating in general, and, in particular, to hear a crackerjack debate. Be there!

WE HAVE heard some students voice the wish that our library be left open on Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoons. Is such the wish of many? Let's hear about it.

BEGINNING NEXT Monday morning the girls will be privileged to catch an extra forty winks before attending their "eight o'clocks" for the men of the R. O. T. C., will claim the early hour for their morning drill. It has been decided to replace the noon drill by this new system whereby the daily march begins promptly at seven forty-five. Oh for the life of a soldier! To make up for the lost time only five minutes will be allowed between classes. This new system should be a good tonic for all those suffering from spring fever!

NOT ONLY has the Spring term brought those fateful yellow slips to our door and a series of new resolutions, but also a taste of good North Dakota spring weather, with its attendant characteristics. Who has not seen the display of bright wearing apparel, the wholesale cutting of classes, the groups of lazy students around Old Main, the predominance

I'M THE SAP

I'm the sap who can't wait until the ground is dried out before I start cutting across the campus. My dainty dogs dig deeply into the turf and mud oozes up where grass ought to be, but it doesn't phase me in the least. I know full well that when the sun does dry up the campus green, it will be minus the green if I keep this up, but I'm saving myself a lot of time so why bother to think about that? If I had any regard for the beauty of the campus later on in the spring I might be a little considerate for today's situation. If myself and my equally inconsiderate friends continue this practice, we're just as liable to mire the army when they appear for their first spring drill as not.

of baseball enthusiasts? Indeed, the men are already thinking of the coming baseball season. We see them warming up on the soft ground bordering Twelfth avenue, digging holes in the turf with their heels. And then there are the track enthusiasts donning the spiked shoes or throwing the iron pill around. Yes, it's hard to get down to work now but leisure does not bring down the marks.

Student Opinion

To the Editor of The Spectrum:

From time to time invitations to the student body to use the columns of The Spectrum have appeared in that publication.

First of all, the editorial writer of The Spectrum is to be congratulated on his splendid work. The editorials have been way above the standard set by previous holders of that position, and The Spectrum as a whole has done much good throughout the year. May I offer one suggestion?

The ideals of a college are supposedly high ones and the training it affords our students good. Whenever examinations come around the one bad spot on our reputation the prevalence of cribbing — becomes more obvious. There seems to be a lack of any effort on the part of the student body to eliminate such a condition. Not only is it tolerated but it is approved. None of us are guiltless.

It must be especially difficult for the various editors of The Spectrum, with all the work it involves, to keep up in their work scholastically. Few make Phi Kappa Phi.

And neither is it entirely the students' fault. Many of our instructors do not supervise their examinations. Some make them so impossible in length that cribbing is the only way of getting a decent mark. Some may argue that supervision should not be necessary, but we have policemen in society, and the situation is almost analogous.

Much of the discussion may seem irrelevant. My suggestion, however, is this: Couldn't The Spectrum take a definite stand against cheating in examinations? Couldn't the attention of students and professors be focused on the necessity of some action?

Cheating is a bad habit and from the looks of things most of us are forming that habit. One can't go through life that way, and keep his self-respect. Why start on such a path in college?

Sincerely,

R. H. H.

Fifteen cash prizes, totalling $10,000, are offered for the best ideas on traffic control and regulation. The Science Hall National Guard that decorates the corridors from morning to night should have first hand information on the subject.

Traffic control is really a problem for the dress designers to settle.

But we can't understand why it is usually the fastest moving car that turns turtle.

Pedestrians are getting so scarce that the cars have to be chasing each other.

Streetcars are a great boon to the married man with a car. They make so much noise he can't hear his wife from the back seat.

Nowdays, when a motorist sticks out his hand, you can't tell whether he's begging, or feeling for a pedestrian.

If some of these drivers weren't so modest, maybe there would be less orphan pedestrians. They should toot their own horn a little more.

Now we know why the chicken crossed the street—to commit suicide.

We knew a Chinaman who was such a hearty eater that he committed suicide.

About the only vehicle free from traffic problems is the merry-go-round, but now we're talking in circles.

Now we know what they mean by a "One-Way Street." The road to Heaven.

Well, here's our suggestions towards the ten thousand:

1. All policemen to wear bootlegger's badges. This will insure halting of motorists.

2. All stop and go signs to be labeled in glaring letters: "Have you had your iron bars today?"

3. All flapper pedestrians to be equipped with a vampometer and restricted to three smiles per hour.

4. All little children, playing in the street, to be labeled: "Handle With Care," "Fragile Not Agile," "My Dad's a Cop," and "It May Be Yours."

5. All windshields to be made out of magnifying glass. This will cause the driver to stop quicker, if any, and may enlarge the pedestrian to intimidating proportions.

6. Any motorist caught violating a traffic law to be forced to ride on the campus roads of North Dakota State college. (This penalty may be changed to death if offender so chooses.)

7. All cars bought on the installment plan to go as fast as the owner does when he goes to meet his payments.

8. All speedometers to be officially set at 100 miles per hour when the car is at a standstill, and the speed limit to be set at 25 miles an hour with the speedometer as guide.

9. All drivers to pump up their tires by hand.

10. All pedestrians to join the army.

Trackmen Work Under Saaly's Watchful Eye

Veterans, Youngsters Report For Practice

Cross Country Champs Out For Long Distance Runs; Meets With University Scheduled

Candidates for the North Dakota State track team have been working out for several days under the watchful eye of Leonard Saalwaechter, track coach. A few days of warm weather enabled the men to get out of doors but with the wintry blasts prevailing, workouts will be held in the armory and stock pavilion.

Although most of the last year's team has reported, there are still several who should be out. The frosh turnout has not been the best and with several good meets on the program, headed by the university meet, all frosh who have any ability should be out. The frosh will compete in all meets with the varsity except the university meet at Grand Forks. However the frosh will meet the Flicker frosh in a separate battle on Dacotah field the day before. Th frosh points will not count in the varsity meets.

All men who earn a varsity letter will be refunded the price of their track shoes. Candidates should leave their size and style of shoe that they want at the athletic office so that the order may be sent in.

Zeissler Stars

Among the varsity candidates who have been out is last year's captain, Herman Zeissler, of Golden Valley, who stars in the high jump and sprints. Cy Peschel of Wahpeton and Dave Aitkin of Fairdale are also sprint men. Russ Weiser of Hazelton and Walter Nelson of Bucyrus, the cross country champions of the conference, and Bill Frey of Leonard are the candidates in the long distance runs.

In the broad jump, Baldy Hays of Elkton, S. D., and Neil McKecknie of Gilby are the leading performers. Working at the pole vault are Taylor Hayes of New Rockford and George Walker of Moorhead. Jake Wahl of Denhoff is working with the shot and discus and Hans Tronnes of Fargo is perfecting the art of heaving the javelin.

So far this is a fairly representative squad but the size is not as large as Saaly would like to have it. There are many fellows on the campus who should try out who to date have not signified their intentions. There are five meets on the schedule for the varsity and the first is the home meet on April 28th. On May 5th is the triangular meet at Valley City. May 11th Valley City will be here for a return meet. On May 19th the varsity will meet the university at Grand Forks. The conference meet is the last on the schedule, being held on May 25 and 26th at Sioux City, Iowa. It is also probable that a relay team will be sent to Hamline.

WEST NAMED FLICKER ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

C. A. (Jack) West, athletic director at South Dakota State college has been elected to the directorship at the University of North Dakota by the state board of administration, according to a recent announcement made by Thomas F. Kane, president of the school. West said Saturday night that he would not state definitely whether the position would be accepted.

Yearling Track Team Candidates Work Out

Few Men Report For Practice; Saalwaechter Wants All Available Freshmen

Freshmen track candidates are working out with the varsity and the most notable feature is the smallness of the squad. The frosh should be out en masse but to date only a few have reported.

Although the frosh will participate in all meets with the varsity except the university meet at Grand Forks, their points will not count. A freshman meet has been arranged with the Flicker frosh and this should be an incentive for all to report. Every frosh should see Coach Saalwaechter and start working out as soon as possible.

The squad now out includes Bob Aldrich of Hankinson, who holds the May festival record in the half mile. Joe Blakeslee of Fargo also holds the record for the pole vault and should go even better this year. "Peewee" Shamp of Fargo is working with the shot and so is Pariseau of Grafton and Leo May of Aberdeen. May is also a hurdler of promise. Horace McGrath of Fargo is working with the discus and should be a point getter.

The dash men are Hagen of Grafton, Carroll of Fargo and Curtis Ball of Montana. Statistics show that the college has the largest freshman class in the state but the size of the frosh track squad does not indicate it.

School of Chemistry Honored By War Heads

The war department of the United States has designated two students from the chemistry school of the North Dakota State college to take their advanced R. O. T. C., training at the Chemical Warfare Service camp, Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland. As only six selections were allotted the Seventh Corps area, comprising eight states, this is considered an honor for the college school of chemistry.

Last year the attendance from the corps area was limited to three, Lester Thompson attending from North Dakota State, and one student from each of the universities of Iowa and Missouri.

Arthur Anderson's Play Places First

Original Productions Compete In Little Country Theatre Contest, March 14

An original one act play "Ups and Downs," written by Arthur Anderson, Kindred, won first place in a contest in which five original one act plays competed at the college Wednesday night, March 14.

The winning play was picked by a ballot taken in the audience. "Primrose" by Evelyn Probstfeld was second.

More than 150 saw the program, which was the first of its kind to be attempted and which will likely be repeated in coming years. Plays were written by students and acted by students who had charge of the entire program.

The winning play deals with the life of a bum, one with a college education, who in the course of his travels happens into a general store in Rome, Neb. In his conversation with the storekeeper, the bum reveals himself as an intelligent man of the world and wins the friendship of the proprietor. He has the misfortune to upset a bowl of china eggs, the only one of its kind in the city, but redeems himself by finding $10,000 in bonds, supposedly stolen, which have been misplaced by the proprietor's son. Parts in the skit were played by Arthur Anderson, the author, Carl Ash, Vaughn Kelly and Leona Schneider.

The plays, their authors, and casts follow: "Muffins" by Katherine Bunnell, Carl Ash and Ruby Oscarson. "His Ideal Woman" by Cleone Baker, cast—Jesse Reynolds, Vaughn Kelly, Helga Resvedt and Cleone Baker. "Primrose" by Evelyn Probstfeld, cast—Gladys Barton, Ralph Dutee, Carl Ash, Evelyn Probstfeld, Gladys Severude and Ruth McKinnon. "Lost" by Gladys Barton, cast—Jesse Reynolds, Morris Barks, Dorothy Adams and Ruby Oscarson. "Ups and Downs" by Arthur Anderson, cast—Carl Ash, Vaughn Kelly, Arthur Anderson and Leona Schneider.
