Gerald L. Wendt Penn State Dean, Will Speak Here

Famous College Head Speaks Before Student Body at Convocation Tomorrow

Gerald L. Wendt, former dean of the school of chemistry and physics at Pennsylvania State college and director of the newly organized Battelle Memorial institute, Columbus, Ohio, will speak at convocation tomorrow.

"The Creative Artist in Research," will be the subject of the address Dean Wendt will deliver in the armory at 9:40 a. m. A. E. Minard, dean of science and literature at the school, who has arranged for this program, will preside at the meeting. Dean L. L. Carrick of the chemistry school and Prof. P. F. Trowbridge of the experiment station are in charge of the two other meetings. "American Chemical Research in 1928" has been chosen as the topic for the afternoon meeting which will be held in the Little Country Theatre at 4 p. m. Mr. Wendt will speak on the present status of radio activity in the evening. These lectures are open to town people as well as to students at the college.

Nationally Prominent

During Dean Wendt's four years at Penn State, he has received national notice for his organization of the division of industrial research which is now engaged in important problems and has placed the research facilities at the disposal of the state industries. The establishment of a museum at the Dr. Joseph Priestly home at Northumberland in which practically all existing Priestly apparatus and mementos are found was also brought about by the dean.

Dean Wendt, who resigned his position at Pennsylvania college the first part of this year is now on a lecture tour which will take him to the Pacific coast. He will assume his duties as director of the Battelle Memorial institute this fall when the institute will begin operations. Announcement of the organization of this institute at Columbus, Ohio, and the construction of its first buildings provides another laboratory of major importance in the scientific and industrial research of the country. A tract of two and one-half acres opposite the campus of the Ohio State university has been secured and the construction of the first two buildings, costing about one-half million dollars will be undertaken in the spring.

HONORARY SORORITIES ENTERTAIN SATURDAY

A tea dansant and a benefit bridge were given by two honorary sororities at the college Saturday.

Thirty tables were in play at the benefit bridge given by members of Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary home economics group in the Ceres hall parlors from 2:30 until 5 p. m. Miss Marie Webster, president of the sorority, was in charge of general arrangements for the bridge.

Delta Psi Kappa, honorary physical education sorority, entertained at a tea dance held in the Y. M. C. A. building from 4 to 6 p. m. on the same day. Each social sorority and fraternity on the campus was represented at the bridge by five members. Chaperones at the dance included Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cortright, Mr. and Mrs. S. Borleske and Dean Pearl Dinan. Miss Evelyn Blakeslee, who was general chairman of the tea, was assisted by Misses Christine Rud, Helen Ballard, Virginia Sands, Grace Sjordahl and Hazel Heald.

Four Close Defeats In Five Days Is Jug's Jinx

"Jug" Newgard is one of the most outstanding basketball players that North Dakota State has ever produced, but during the last few days, the Bison star of past seasons has been keeping company with a jinx whose undesirable companionship remains unshaken in spite of anything that "Jug" can do about it. In five days time, teams on which Newgard plays lost four games by two points each. Last Wednesday, the Moher and Borleske team, of which "Jug" is a member, lost the Commercial League Championship to the Comstocks by two points. Thursday the Kappa Phi defeated Jug's Theta Chi cagers in an overtime game, 13 to 11. Saturday, the Baby Bison downed Moher and Borleske, 29 to 27, and Sunday the Delta Sigs eked out a 17 to 15 win over the Theta Chi aggregation.

Sigma Theta Honors Memory Of Heroine

Irene Leimbacher Scholarship Fund Established by Local Sorority

Honoring the late Irene Leimbacher, who gave her life to save a companion from drowning, while engaged in War Camp Community service at Westpoint, Ky., in 1928, Sigma Theta sorority, at the North Dakota State college has taken action recently to inaugurate a scholarship in her memory.

The scholarship, which consists of tuition and books for one year, will be effective during the coming spring term and will be awarded to a woman student above the freshman year, who is in part, at least, dependent upon herself for support. The award will be based upon general excellence, including character, scholarship, loyalty and the possession of a definite and worthy purpose in life. A committee of college and sorority officials will make the award.

At the time of her death Miss Leimbacher was a member of the Sigma Theta sorority of Fargo college, which was transferred to the college when the first named institution was closed. Two years after her death, the sorority established a fund known as the Irene Leimbacher loan fund and which was used to assist students at the college to obtain an education. This fund has grown steadily during the past eight years and has now reached a sizable fund.

This is the first fund of its kind to be established at the college.

Farmers' Conference Now In Session Here

Delegations of farmers from nine counties will meet in Fargo today at 10 a. m. for the purpose of holding the sixth farm economic conference of the series now being held throughout the state under the auspices of the North Dakota State college extension force.

The counties included in the area which will meet Tuesday are: Grand Forks, Traill, Steele, Nelson, Eddy, Foster, Griggs, Barnes, and Stutsman. Frank Heimes of Valley City will be general chairman, with William Page, county agent of Grand Forks county, general secretary. The meetings will be held at the Little Country Theatre at the college, and will continue through Wednesday.

A second conference, the final one of this series, will be held in Fargo Thursday and Friday for the counties of Cass, Richland, Ransom, LaMoure, Dickey, and Sargent. At this second conference, Roy Johnson, Casselton, will be general chairman, and E. A. Calhoun, county agent of Cass county, will be general secretary.

Wisconsin Heads Bison Grid Card For 1928 Season

University Of North Dakota Here October 27; Superior Normal Again Listed

The University of Wisconsin headlines the Bison football schedule for next year and will be played at Madison on Oct. 13, according to an announcement today by Ion J. Cortright.

Although Wisconsin has adopted the two team plan, the Bison are in for a tough battle because of the wealth of material which is available at that school. This will be the big game for the herd and a victory will raise the ranking of the Bison a great deal.

Valley City Teachers open the season on Sept. 29 as they have done in past years. The next opponent will be Superior Normal, of Superior, Wisconsin. This school has not been on the Bison schedule for several years but always give the local athletes a hard battle. They played here in 1924 and eked out a 2 to 0 victory.

St. Thomas Plays Here St. Thomas will be the opposition on Oct 20 and this game always draws well because the fans like to see a scrappy team, which reputation the St. Paul school possesses. Oct. 27 is the date for the annual battle with the Nodaks. It will be played here and will again prove to be the season's classic.

The remaining three games will be played against conference opponents. Nov. 3 the Bison play Morningside at Sioux City, the next weekend they play South Dakota State at Brookings, and Nov. 17 they end the season at Vermillion when they play the University of South Dakota.

This is a plenty hard schedule for any school and the new coach, whoever he may be, will have a job cut out for him to win a fair percentage of these games. Otherwise the 'downtown quarterbacks' will be calling for his scalp.

Bartons Take Prize At 11th Co-Ed Prom

Seventy-five Couples Present At Annual Party In Y. M. C. A. Last Night

Gladys and Jane Barton, dressed in Philippino costumes, captured the prize as the best dressed couple at the Co-ed Prom, held in the college Y. M. C. A. building last night.

Margaret Green and Marion Schroeder easily took the prize as the funniest dressed pair. Individual prizes went to Jennie Grant as the best-dressed lady, and Ardath Calmer as the best dressed man. Miss Grant was attired in her mother's wedding dress, and Miss Calmer was costumed as an old man.

Honorable mention went to three couples: Leila Bleecker and Camille Alfred as a colored porter and maid, Miss Dorothy Hatch and Miss Frances Bailey as Turks, and Ruth Whitney and Olive Osness in rag doll costumes.

Seventy-five couples were present for the grand march which was led by Gladys and Jane Barton, and which started an evening of dancing. First prize awarded to the Misses Barton was a box of candy. Other prizes were bouddir novelties.

NOTICE

All members of the Chemists Club are urged to attend the lecture given by Gerald L. Wendt at 4 p. m. in the Little Country Theater Wednesday.

Almond Blossoms Bloom At College In Spite of Cold

Almond blossoms are in bloom at the college green house. It took just six days from the time the trees were removed from winter storage until the pretty pink and white flowers appeared. One branch, about two feet long, contained 38 of the beautiful flowers.

The almond blossom is like the peach blossom in general appearance.

A number of almond seedlings have been secured from the south in an endeavor to produce a hardy almond tree for North Dakota.

The almond nut which comes from the almond tree makes its appearance in large quantities on the markets usually before the holidays.

Two Hundred Couples At Annual Charity Ball

Third Annual Pan-Hellenic Formal Is Successfully Staged At Crystal Ballroom

Two hundred couples were present at the third annual Charity Ball which was held in the Crystal ballroom Friday evening from 8:30 to 12.

Miss Ruby Oscarson and Richard Riggs led the grand march which began promptly at nine and which started the program of formal dancing.

Guests of honor at the formal which was sponsored by the Pan-Hellenic association included Dean Alice Pearl Dinan, President and Mrs. John Lee Coulter, Prof. and Mrs. I. W. Smith, Dean and Mrs. H. L. Bolley, and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Weiser. The presidents of the five social sororities on the campus were next in line. Misses Marion Schroeder, Lauretta Nilles, Florence Fleming, Edith Thorsell, and Geraldine Ewald represented their groups.

Proceeds Go To Charity

The affair was open to downtown people as well as all girls on the campus. Proceeds from the function will be donated to charity the exact agency of which is chosen after the profits are realized. No special decorations were used in accordance with the policy of the Crystal management. The Red Jackets played for the dancing.

Committee heads responsible for the success of the affair were: Marion Schroeder, Phi Kappa Lambda, tickets and publicity; Ruby Johnson, Phi Omega Pi, music and favors; Dorothy Volkamer, Sigma Theta, programs and invitations; Lauretta Nilles, Delta Phi Beta, decorations; and Edith Thorsell, Kappa Delta, refreshments.

Bison Riflemen Defeat Nebraska University

The University of Nebraska, Knox College, and Pamona College are the latest additions to the long string of vanquished rifle teams which the Bison sharpshooters are faithfully recording. To date the buffalo target enthusiasts have won sixteen of twenty matches, according to the official report of their coach, Lieutenant Frank S. Ross.

Matches with Syracuse, Oregon Aggies, Washington University, College of the City of New York, Culver, and Kemper have not been heard from.

Tomorrow the Bison rifles will be trained against the targets on the University of North Dakota range when the herd stages a shoulder-to-shoulder match with the Nodaks.

This week the following schools are taking a long chance in trying to beat the State minutemen: California, Lehigh, Northwestern, DePauw, Iowa, Porto Rico, Georgia, Western Maryland, Iowa State, and Coniecticut State.

Thundering Herd May Spoil Nodak Title Aspirations

Special Train Chartered To Convey Rooters, Gold Star Band To Third Contest

Two hundred Bison rooters must accompany the team to Grand Forks tomorrow for the first of the two remaining court clashes with the University of North Dakota.

A special train will leave the Great Northern station promptly at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon. In order to charter the special, it was necessary for Ralph Hollands, president of the Student Commission, to vouch for the spirit and loyalty of two hundred students who will pay cash fares of $2.82 round trip. If that number fails to show their college spirit and team devotion by going to Grand Forks, the deficit must be made up through some sort of assessment.

Flickers Want First Title

Tomorrow's game has a direct bearing on the North Central conference standings. It is the last loop game for both teams. The Bison have nothing to lose and everything to gain by defeating the Nodaks. The Nodaks, on the other hand, must beat the Bison to win the conference championship. The first North Central title ever to grace the Flicker hall of fame is just within their grasps. A Bison victory will queer the University's chances, and perhaps produce the psychological effect necessary to carry the Bison to victory again Thursday although the second tilt does not count in the loop race.

What's more, the Flickers are celebrating their Founders Day program, which is almost as great an event during the winter as their Homecoming is during the fall. What could be sweeter than to spoil a Flicker homecoming? Ans.—Spoil their Founders' Day!

Must Return After Game

All afternoon classes will be excused at North Dakota State to permit everyone to embark on the special at 2:30. Returning, the train will leave the University station immediately after the game, arriving in Fargo about 11:30 Wednesday evening. Students who stay over for Thursday's game will be dealt with severely, according to the authorities.

Tags are now sale about the campus to send the Gold Star Band to the game tomorrow. The whole-hearted support and co-operation of everyone is necessary. Those who do not intend to go to the "U" should ease their conscience by contributing to the fund which will be necessary to send the famous musical organization to the Forks. The band must go at all hazards. Two hundred rooters and no band equals two hundred rooters, but two hundred rooters and the band equals the strength of a thousand Bison rooters.

THREE ARE PLEDGED BY STATE SORORITY

Delta Psi Kappa sorority of North Dakota State college announces the pledging of Miss Sarah Moore, Miss Marion Trowbridge and Miss Ruth Henning, all of Fargo. Services were held in the women's gymnasium of Ceres hall, Tuesday evening and were followed by a social hour and refreshments.

COULTER SPEAKS AT WARREN POULTRY SHOW

Dr. John Lee Coulter, president of the North Dakota State college, gave an address Friday night at the fifth annual agricultural short course and second annual Marshall County Poultry show, which was held Friday and Saturday at the Warren high school.

FARGO AND THE COLLEGE

It was extremely gratifying, to say the least, to find that the North Dakota State college has at least one outspoken champion in the city of Fargo. Judge B. F. Spaulding, in The Fargo Forum, for Sunday, February 19, sets forth exactly the great lack of co-operation between the citizens of the city and the students of the college, and their utter failure to appreciate one another. A big opportunity for the cultural growth of the city of Fargo has been overlooked, according to Judge Spaulding, in the lack of intimate connections between the citizens and the college.

A day when citizens will talk of their college to all visitors in the city, bring strangers to visit its campus and buildings, take part in its social and other affairs, even though they have no children of their own attending the school; a school and faculty which will mingle with citizens and help in the leadership of public affairs, and a citizenry inspired and elevated in its social and educational atmosphere by contact with the college faculty and heads, is visualized by Judge Spaulding, in this article, as a great advance for Fargo from a cultural and social viewpoint.

"A little initiative from leaders of both college and citizenry can do work in this direction which will prove of inestimable value to the future of Fargo," states the judge, who has resided here for forty-eight years. "Schools are our greatest asset. Grade and high schools come as a matter of course, but colleges and institutions of higher learning do not come in that way.

"There has never been as much co-operation between the city and the college as there should have been. It is true that it is a state institution and not a local affair, yet the state has placed it in our midst, and if we do not display an interest in it, no part of the state will do so."

This, in part, refutes the age-worn expression that North Dakota State is a Fargo institution. According to Judge Spaulding Fargo shows comparatively little interest in it, but because of its location here, the city should show the greatest amount of interest.

"The people of Fargo should have the State college on their minds, and the administration and faculty of the college should remember that they are in the midst of a busy city whose people need some help to arouse any effective interest," concludes the judge.

North Dakota State needs more champions of this kind, not only in Fargo alone, but in all parts of the state. The interdependence of college and state must be realized!

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Tomorrow this college stands alone in the vision of the state. Tomorrow the eyes of North Dakota will be trained on the students of this institution. Tomorrow will determine whether we're quitters and hypocrites, or whether we have sincere loyalty to this school. Tomorrow, as during no other time in the history of the school we MUST be witnesses of that game at Grand Forks.

It's easy for students to be loyal to a winning team. It's easy for us to go to Grand Forks when we're sure of beating our rivals. But it's nothing less than pluck and nerve and purest, sincerest loyalty to go when we'd like to win, but with all the odds against us. That's what we MUST show tomorrow. Remember last fall, that game at the "U"? Our pep and spirit was the most talked of thing in North Dakota's collegiate circles. Are we going to lay down now? It's the same problem repeated. Can't we meet it with the same brave and determined front? This going to the University tomorrow is the acid test. It will determine whether the students at North Dakota State can lose with a losing team as well as win with a winning team, or whether we are as fickle as the carefree public who watch the games for pure amusement's sake.

Just Comment
 WISE and OTHERWISE

ARE YOU ready for the grand bang-up at Grand Forks this week? From the talk that has been floating around the campus it seems apparent that a goodly number of Bison boosters are planning to make the trip. This must certainly appear gratifying to the team, the representatives of our school. It remains to be seen how many are going to hop the special. Downtown circles and the up-state school are sitting back waiting to see how the North Dakota State students will react towards the results of this basketball season. This is to be expected. Whenever a school has an unfortunate athletic season, people are inclined to scrutinize more closely the student body and the brand of loyalty it displays. This week we are being watched. Now is the time to show the state the brand of spirit that has characterized the Yellow and Green in the past.

A well-known eastern football coach once told a newspaper man before a game: "We don't expect to beat that team; but we do intend to chalk up the higher score." Some schools simply can't be beat, though the score board may be against them. The saddest thing in college is to witness supporters of a beaten team forsake those who have carried their school colors.

It is absolutely up to us to show our stuff! Many have planned to follow the team to the University but their number is not large enough. If you are one of those who may be wavering remember the school is looking to you. Don't be a slacker!

I'M THE STUDENT

I'm the student who disregards Spectrum and Bison advertisers. I know very well that their prices are as low, and the quality of their merchandise as high as the other business men in Fargo, but the fact that they, out of all business men, advertise in my school publications makes no difference to be. I go wherever I feel like going, when I might just as well glance over the ads in The Spectrum and patronize the advertisers. I deliberately pass up places where a yellow "Yea Bison!" card is placed in the window. I know that the card distinguishes the place as a Bison advertiser but I walk into the place next door where the owner refuses to have anything to do with the school. This is no doubt the wrong attitude altogether, but it is so bothersome to have to check up on one's self when one is purchasing to see whether one is patronizing the right or wrong place. And then, too, I don't see why I should help the paper or yearbook out any. They have staffs for that purpose. My reasons will perhaps seem vague to you but I stick to them just the same.

LET'S HAVE the Gold Star Band with us to help the team along. Our University friends are probably expecting Doc and his gang of music-makers. A game without the band would be approaching the unheard-of. Never a game passes at home but what the Gold Star Band is on deck to help us along. That is Gold Star stuff!

NOW THAT the Charity Ball is over and the mid-term reports have been read it is hoped that the students will recover soon.

A SIGN recently appeared on the main desk of the library. It read something like this: "Remember reference books are not to be taken out of the building." Let us obey the warning. Play fair with your classmates. If you have let that report go to the last minute you alone are to blame and you alone should take the zero. Don't give somebody else a bad mark by taking his material out of reach. It simply is not done by courteous people.

The Co-ed Prom, where women are men, and men are barred.

We don't mind the girls having a little party among themselves, but we do protest having to stay home so they can wear our clothes.

And just think of that poor armory at the mercy of the wimmen.

It's a good joke on the girls. Ha, ha, we weren't going anyway. Ha, ha.

I knew she was a girl, because her hair was cut short.

The girls probably want to go to one dance where they won't have to wear toe guards.

Some men dressed up like girls at a stag party once, but four of them died from exposure.

Girls are more conceited than men. When a co-ed takes some poor unsuspecting bloke to a dance, she calls it the Charity Ball, and when the p. u. b. takes the co-ed to a party, she thinks he's making a splendid investment.

It's a mystery to us how those girls stayed together for three hours. We thought they would talk each other to death long before the time was up.

Girls aren't really two-faced. They just use powder enough for two.

We can't get along without the girls, though. Somebody has to keep the vocabulary in circulation.

Woman can never take a man's place, but she sure can show him his place.

They call some married men "hen-pecked", because they are targets of fowl treatment.

We feel about as necessary as a chaperone at a Co-ed Prom.

We hear that the honor guests at the Co-ed Prom were The Seven Sutherland Sisters, Lydia Darrah, Carrie Chapman Catt, and Gilda Gray.

The difference between the modern girl and a phonograph is that the latter uses needles, and you can stop a phonograph.

We wonder who this guy Poole is that everybody's shooting.

I do not choose to pun in 1928.

We call our sweetheart Madame X, because she is so cross.

When you tell a joke, don't tell him much.

We know a girl who's so mean that she put chloroform in the smelling salts.

Yours till we beat the "U".

Bison, Flickers, To Clash At Forks Tomorrow

Nodaks Need Victory To Cinch Loop Title

Thundering Herd May Rise To Great Heights To Knock University Off Pedestal.

By OLIVER RADDE

Parts three and four of the North Dakota State and North Dakota university basketball drama will take place at Grand Forks tomorrow evening and Thursday night when the teams of the two schools meet in their last games of the present season.

At the present time the Nodaks are dusting off a place in the trophy case for the championship emblem which they think they have cinched. They are counting their chicks before they are hatched because they have yet to meet and defeat the Bison tomorrow evening. They did din two games from Saaly's gang but the next one is going to be different.

Rivalry Keen

However good the university may be, inter-school rivalry renders the dope sheet useless. The thought that the Flickers will win the championship if they win tomorrow is enough to make every Bison basketballer grit his teeth and rise to exceptional heights to show the upstaters they are not so good.

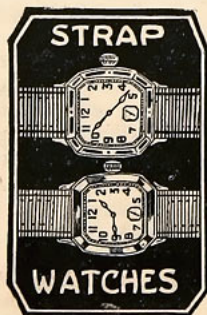

After a poor showing Saturday night, the Bison will probably come back and play the Nodaks off their feet in at least one game of the series. Braus is showing up good at the pivot post and will probably start at that position. Cecil Bliss is due to "be on" in at least one game this season and if it comes tomorrow, the Flickers will have a sad tale to tell. Hahn has been fairly consistent and can be relied on to do his share.

Pete Gergen and Baldy Hays held the Nodak sharpshooters in check in one contest and are expected to do even better in the final games. Hermes, Hickerson, Steadman, and Peschel will also be on hand to do their bit should the regulars falter. At least one victory over the Nodaks will put a rosy tinge on a rather mediocre season.

NON-SORORITY CO-EDS TIE THETAS FOR LEAD

The Sigma Theta and Non-sorority teams tie for first place in the first half of the inter-sorority basket ball tournament. Bud Osness, forward on the Sigma Theta team, is the highest scorer in the tournament. She made all the counters in defeating the Pops 15-12 and the K. D.'s 14-3. The forwards on the Lambda team, Grace Sjordal and Evelyn Medhus, played a clever and interesting game defeating the Kappa Delt's 16-12.

The Non-sorority has the strongest all-around team and the best chances for winning the tournament. They won it two years ago.

Bison Will Meet Nodaks In 2-Game Hockey Series

The Bison and the Nodaks will vie for honors in hockey tomorrow when the hockey team travels to Grand Forks to meet the Nodak sextet in the first game of a two game series arranged between the two colleges. The remaining game will be played in Fargo next weekend.

Coyotes Beat Bison In Final Home Game

Speedy South Dakota Quint Takes Advantage of Buffalo Errors To Win Handily, 35-25.

Led by Running and Syverson, South Dakota university trounced the varsity last Saturday evening on the armory floor by the score of 35 to 25.

After a brilliant start, the Bison became erratic and played mediocre ball for the greater part of the game. Baskets by Braus and Hahn put the Bison in the lead at the start of the encounter but their lead was short lived as the Coyote machine soon got organized and proceeded to pile up a score that was not to be overcome.

With Crill, Syverson and Running bearing the brunt of the offensive burden, the red-clad boys from the south presented a scoring combination that is as good as has been seen here this season. Crill did some good work under the basket and tipped in many shots that his mates had missed. Syverson is a long shot artist and made five baskets from well out on the floor. Running was the real tartar for the Bison guards and literally ran them ragged. He accounted for four baskets and two free throws and was a big factor in the South Dakota team play.

For Coach Saalwaechter's crew, Braus and Hahn were the high scorers. They accounted for 18 of the 25 points the Bison tallied. Except for occasional flashes, the Bison play was comparatively ragged, with no man outstanding. Bliss was ejected from the game early in the second half on four personal fouls, which seemed to disorganize the Bison all the more.

Colin MacDonald refereed the game and did a commendable job. He called them close and still did not slow the game.

Whippets Have Chance To Tie Y.M.C.A. Quint

In a game that promises to be the feature of the week, the Y team and the Whippets, loop leaders of the Y. M. C. A. basketball league, will meet Wednesday at 8.

If the Whippets defeat the Y quint the two teams will be in a tie at the top of the league. The Y team is a heavy favorite to win and are counting on their combination of Wyman and Dahle to do the trick. The Whippets, with their speedy five, are all set for the battle and intend to upset the dope.

Gil Moe, manager of the Y league, will run off 21 games this week. This is an unusual amount of games and will bring the loop nearly to an end. The Y team will play five games and will have a tough time to keep their record intact.

Another feature of this week's game will be the Demon-Night Hawk contest, Thursday night. The Demons upset the dope last Saturday and defeated the Ramblers 26-18. The Demons, a team which consists of high school basketballers, have a snappy and fast passing outfit. Another team which will be heard from before the league closes is the Arkeetex. This five, who took the place of the Farm House, has a more formidable crew than their percentage shows. Their small percent of victories is accounted for by the fact that they took the nine defeats of the Farm House in their rating.

Is all you need to pay for the world's finest pen!

Here's the world's easiest writer due to Parker Pressureless Touch! A fine ink channel ground between the prongs of the point brings capillary attraction to the aid of gravity feed, causing an immediate and steady ink flow at touch of point to paper. No pressure from the fingers. The light weight of the pen itself is sufficient.

Here, too, is Parker Permanite Material—28% lighter than the rubber formerly used, yet 100 times as strong.

Parker Precision in manufacture still further insures accuracy.

5 flashing colors, 3 sizes of pen barrels, 6 graduated points, leave nothing to be desired in a fountain pen at any price.

So pay $5 or $7 only to get a permanently satisfactory pen.

Pencils to match Pens, $3, $3.50, $4.

SICKNESS TAKES TOLL IN BISON PUCK RANKS

Sickness has taken its toll from Captain Smith's hockey team in the persons of Landbloom and Ober Hagen, both of these men being unable to play in the Concordia-Bison game last Saturday. The absence of these two hockey players was felt keenly by the Bison sextet because both Landbloom and Hagen are seasoned men and are acquainted with the Bison's style of play. Landbloom was confined to his bed about a week prior to the Augsburg series as a result of his contraction of the "small pox". Hagen was available for service in the first game with Augsburg but was forced to retire to his bed shortly afterwards because of an attack of tonsillitis.

Concordia Falls Prey To Bison

Buffalo Puck Chasers Even Series With Minnesota College In 5 To 4 Victory.

Concordia college puckmen fell prey to the Bison sextet in a hockey game played in Moorhead Saturday afternoon by a 5-4 score. The Bison by virtue of their win over the Cobbers evened up the series between the two teams, the Cobbers having defeated the Bison in a game played on the S. C. rink two weeks previously.

The Bison, outside of a little lapse of activity in the third period, played heads up hockey to win from the Cobbers Saturday. Although they outscored Concordia by only one goal, the Bison showed a marked degree of superiority over their opponents from Moorhead in shooting, skating, and stick handling, and for the first time this year the Bison sextet functioned as a unit and not as a group of individuals.

Concordia jumped into the lead in the first period when Lerberg slipped the puck through McRoberts, but the Bison scored three goals before the end of the first period to hold a 3-1 lead over the Cobbers. The Bison increased their lead to 4-1 early in the second period and for the remainder of that period they were satisfied to maintain their lead over the Cobbers by playing a defensive game. The Cobbers threw a scare into the Bison in the final period and succeeded in scoring three goals to knot the score at 4 all. The Bison apparently became a little overconfident by the margin they held over the Cobbers and permitted themselves to become a little lax in their playing. After the Cobbers had tied the score, however, the Bison pulled themselves together and staged an offensive rally which netted them the winning goal.

Johnny Johnson, Bison right wing, was easily the offensive star of the Bison sextet, his dribbling and shooting being a constant menace to the Concordia team. McDowell, McGrath, and Blakeslee also played nice offensive games. Severtson and Diemert, Bison defense men, succeeded in breaking up the Wambach combination in most of their attempts to advance the puck toward the Bison goal.

Lottie and Rene Wambach and Bartz offered the best brand of hockey for the Concordia sextet.

Sunday the Kappa Psi took the Delta Psi 29 to 8. The Sigma Taus recovered their winning stride to emerge from their encounter with the Beta Chis, 21 to 12. The Delta Sig won their encounter with the Theta Chis, 17 to 15, and the Gamma Rhos ended the week's activities by defeating the Kappa Phis, 26 to 8.

 Why
Ban Automobiles at College?
By DEAN MAX McCONN OF LEHIGH
More than forty colleges have banned student automobiles. Other college administrations are considering similar action. They advance seemingly adequate reasons but are these reasons really logical? If automobiles can be banned, why not other things? Are the professional supervisors of our morals and habits already at work in our Colleges?
