Capacity Crowd Is Impressed By Ibsen Production

Scenery, Costumes, Dramatic Art Combine To Make Play A Huge Success

Commemorating the 100th anniversary of the birth of Henrik Ibsen, "The Vikings of Helgeland" was presented in the Little Country Theatre Friday and Saturday, and ranks among the finest productions ever enacted at the college.

Scenery, costumes, and dramatic art combined to make the play a huge success. A capacity crowd greeted Saturday evening's performance and was deeply impressed by the excellent portrayal of the famous Ibsen masterpiece. The scenery and lighting effects were by far the most beautiful and picturesque ever used on the Little Country theatre stage. The outdoor scenes were deeply impressive in themselves, making vivid the romanticism and ruggedness of the life of the Vikings.

In costume and interiors the play was perfect. The characters were fitted out in garb characteristic of the time of the play. The interior scenes contained, to the slightest detail, the quaint necessities of living of the period.

Characters Act Well

Hjalte Thorfinnson, as Ormulf of the Fjords, an Icelandic chieftan, and Ruby Oscarson, as Hjordis, his foster daughter, were outstanding in the portrayal of their characters. Miss Oscarson's whole-hearted entrance of herself into her art, and the excellent expression of the many moods of Hjordis, was a feature in itself. Mr. Thorfinnson, hampered in this by his makeup, nevertheless carried his heavy part in an excellent manner, making a superb use of his voice and poise to bring out the characteristics of the rough, quick-tempered old chieftain. Allan Mortenson, as Sigurd the Strong, and Maurice Nelson, as Gunnar Headman, at first friends, then foes, interpreted their parts well. Phyllis Heimark, as Ormulf's daughter, gave an excellent portrayal of the sensitive, easily-prejudiced Dagny. Carl Ash, as Thorolf; Ralph Dutee, as Kaare; and little Mason Arvold, as Egil, played their roles in a creditable manner.

Henrik Ibsen was thirty years of age when he wrote the play and the depth of meaning and of human understanding in his delineation of character is shown at its best. Ibsen has stated that an old time folk tale, the Volsung Saga, was the source of his inspiration for the play but further tells us that his aim was not to show mythical personages, "but Scandinavian life in olden times."

Takes Place In 933

The action of "The Vikings" takes place in the time of Erik Blood Axe about 933 A. D. in the neighborhood of Gunnar Headman's house on the Island of Helgeland, north of Norway.

Committees are as follows: characters—Virginia Sands, Alice Bender, Floyd McDunn, Gwendolyn Morgan, Doris Abel; costumes—Gwendolyn Morgan, Mary Klinsman, Alice Bender, Ruth Frost, Maude McKee; scenic effects—Doris Abel, Virginia Sands, Jennie Grant, Alta Berg, Elfie Hans, Adelaide Phillips, Maude McKee, Agnes Thorp, Mae Bohlrig; light effects—Floyd McDunn, Jennie Grant; music—Mae Bohlrig, Virginia Sands, Mary Klinsman; promotion—Erva Douglas, Ruth Frost, Maude McKee, Adelaide Phillips, Jennie Grant.

AUGGIES WIN AGAIN

Augsburg college trounced the Bison hockey team in the second game of the series last night on the Island Park rink 12 to 0.

Cortright Assumes New Directorship Yesterday

The underlying reason for the resignation of Ion J. Cortright as director of athletics was made plain yesterday when the ex-director took over his new duties as father of Sally Belle Cortright who was born yesterday morning at 11:30. It is thought that Mr. Cortright's new position will be more or less permanent since he expressed great enthusiasm over the proposition. The baby girl weighs seven pounds, twelve ounces, and both Miss and Mrs. Cortright are getting along nicely.

Annual Charity Ball Is Feature Of Week

Two Hundred Couples May Attend Affair Sponsored By College Sororities

Two hundred couples are expected to attend the annual Charity ball, which will be held in the Crystal ballroom Friday, as the feature event of the week. The ball is sponsored by the Pan-Hellenic association.

Miss Ruby Oscarson, ball manager, has named Richard Riggs, a member of Kappa Psi fraternity, as her partner.

The affair is formal and dancing will be enjoyed from 8:30 to 12. The party proceeds will be used to further the several charitable projects of the different sororities or donated to some permanent fund. Last year the excess revenue of the dance was turned over to the Fargo community chest.

Honor guests of the sororities at the ball will be Dean Pearl Dinan, President and Mrs. John Lee Coulter, Prof. and Mrs. I. W. Smith, Dean and Mrs. H. L. Bolley, and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Weiser.

Committee heads recently appointed by Miss Oscarson are: Marion Schroeder, Phi Kappa Lambda, tickets and publicity; Ruby Johnson, Phi Omega Pi, music and favors; Dorothy Volkamer, Sigma Theta, programs and invitations; Lauretta Nilles, Delta Phi Beta, decorations; and Edith Thorsell, Kappa Delta, refreshments.

Bison Rooter King To Be Chosen At Rally

Appearance Of Teams On Floor Friday Prevents Decision Of Winner

The Student Commission, at their meeting Saturday afternoon, decided that a rooter king must be chosen at a general convocation or rally. At the game Friday night when the king was to have been chosen, the appearance of the two teams on the floor in the midst of the choosing made it impossible to declare a winner because of the surplus applause from University and downtown rooters.

The time of the rally has not yet been set but it is thought that it will take place Thursday or Friday morning. All students at the rally will vote for their choice by ballot after being led in a few yells by the candidates. Announcement of the time of the rally will be made on the bulletin board.

BETAS HONOR MOTHERS AT TEA GIVEN THURSDAY

The mothers of the active members and pledges of Delta Phi Beta were honored at a tea given in the chapter rooms of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon.

Lauretta Nilles presided at the tea table and the appointments used were in keeping with the Valentine season.

Mrs. H. McComb, Barnesville; Mrs. A. Steedsman, Larimore; Mrs. M. Nilles, Casselton; and Mrs. W. Veitch of Argusville were the out-of-town guests.

Nodaks Trounce Bison In Second Contest, 47-22

University Makes Clean Sweep Of Two-Game Fargo Series; Win First Battle 30-23

Displaying an accurate-shooting and smooth-working offense, the University of North Dakota easily defeated the Bison Friday evening 47 to 22, making a clean sweep of the two-game Fargo series, having won the first encounter by a 30 to 23 score Thursday.

The Nodaks delivered an avalanche of baskets in Friday's contest to pile up a large margin. Save for occasional flashes of form, the Bison were thoroughly outclassed by their fast-moving opponents. Led by Vic Brown, sophomore forward, the Flickers went about their point-gathering methodically and their success was unquestioned.

Letich Uses 11 Men

Coach Letich, of the invaders, shot 11 men into the fray, each man performing as creditable as his predecessor. Coach Saalwaechter, of the Bison, handicapped by a lack of reserve material used nine men, piling in all the substitutes when the case was hopelessly lost.

The Bison made a fair bid for victory in Thursday's fracas but a final spurt by the University when the Buffalo clan threatened their lead in the closing minutes brought them out of the fray ahead of the game. The Bison went into an early lead which was soon relinquished just before the half closed 15 to 11 for the Nodaks. In the second period the Bison spurred to come within three points of the northerners but one last flash of form by the Flickers was enough to send them clear of the mark by a seven-point margin.

Nodaks Have Tight Defense

Friday night's battle was uninteresting in comparison to the preceding evening's entertainment. The Nodaks demonstrated a much tighter defense than before and the Bison were forced to resort to long range shooting which was also hurried by the scrappy university quint. At the half the count stood 22 to 12 for the up-state team and upon the resumption of play a deluge of baskets from all angles sent the Bison into the depths of despair. As the margin mounted the thundering herd fought desperately but to no avail. The timer's gun was the only effective means of cutting off the promiscuous Nodak scoring, and when Doc Catlin's pop gun finally exploded the visitors had given their rivals one of the worst drubbings in years.

The Bison appeared slow and evidently tired from their exertions of the night before. The spirit which they displayed in the face of overwhelming odds, however, was nothing short of superb and every yellow and green clad warrior fought on to the bitter end.

Today Coach Saalwaechter is figuring out a means of stopping the University of South Dakota which the Bison meet here Saturday evening. The Coyotes managed to eke out a win over Saaly's band at Vermillion but the sly Bison mentor will give the southern gentlemen a fight of their lives when the two teams tangle this weekend.

KAPPA PSI HOLDS PARTY IN COLLEGE Y SATURDAY

Active members and pledges of Kappa Psi held an informal dancing party at the college Y. M. C. A. Saturday evening. The drapier Valentine motif was carried out using the fraternity colors, scarlet and gray, in combination with the fraternity insignia.

Gold Star Band To Get Huge Holtonphone Horn

A large BB Holtonphone bass horn with carrying case has been ordered for the Gold Star Band by Dr. C. S. Putnam, director. The huge horn is silver with a gold-lined bell. It is the largest bass built. In spite of its mammoth proportions it can be folded up and carried by an individual by means of a strap across the shoulder and attached to the carrying case. Gerald McNally is the proud cadet who will furnish the atmosphere and technique necessary for the successful operation of the colossal instrument.

Cheyenne Princess To Give Sketches Tonight

Famous Indian Will Appear Here In Third Annual Lyceum Number

Chinquilla, Cheyenne princess, will give her famous dramatic sketches of the American Indian in the armory tonight as the third number on the college Lyceum series.

Chinquilla is an Indian of the highest lineage and purest strain, the daughter of a head chief of the southern Cheyenne nation. From the life in an Indian camp on the prairie she passed under the care of the United States government to the life of the school and was graduated from Carlisle.

The famous princess is noted for the manner in which she varies her sketches according to the character of her audience. Whether she stresses the proverbial reticence of the Indian and shows the importance of their ceremonials, or whether she reveals the comic incidents in their daily life, love making, or the appeal of their weird music, always her knowledge of the requirements of the program has its effect upon the material which she gives and the manner in which it is given.

Points Out Characters

It was her contact with the American which suggested to Chinchilla her life work. She realized that the average person's conception of the history and future of the Indian had very little to do with actual facts. Because of her contact both with the Indian and the white men, she presents the case in an admirable manner. She points out that the Indian's religion is full of mysticism and beauty, that "in conquering the Indian, the whites have taken his land, blotted out his faith, despoiled his philosophy, and swept one thousand languages out of existence," as one writer puts it.

Chinquilla's scene is always the tepee which symbolizes the Indian camp; before it she makes to pass the whole procession of Indian life, the romance of its great days, the thrill of its wild life, the profundity of its religion, the tenderness of its love, the courage and bravery of its youth, the significance of its weird music, its ceremonies as complicated as any of Greek tradition. Intertwined they vividly reveal the very soul of this primitive people.

Students will be admitted upon presentation of their registration cards. General admission is seventy-five cents.

Nodak Playmakers Plan Trip To National Contest

The Dakota Playmakers, dramatic organization of the University of North Dakota, will compete in a national contest to be conducted at Evanston, Ill., in April, according to sentiment expressed when it was decided to file an entry blank with the managers of the contest. The contest, which is known as the National Cumnock cup contest, is an annual event at Northwestern University.

Future Meetings Provided For By New Legislation

Insufficient Notice Given Class Members Before Thursday's Senior Session

Because insufficient notice was given members of the Senior class concerning a meeting held Thursday noon at which a Senior Ball manager was elected, the Student Commission annulled the election at its regular meeting Saturday afternoon.

The action was taken only after several members of the class had testified that they had not been notified of the meeting. According to other testimonials only forty-two members of a class of 130 were present at the election.

Has Power To Legislate

The commission reserved the right to revoke the election under Article 2, Section 1, of the constitution of the Student Commission which reads, "The commission shall have power to legislate all matters pertaining to the conduct and welfare of the student body, except where any contemplated legislation would violate a faculty ruling."

The commission was unanimous in its decision.

In order to take care of future class meetings the student governing body passed a ruling which states: "All notices of class meetings shall be published in The Spectrum at least one day previous to the meeting, AND shall be announced at general convocation, or posted on the bulletin board at least one day preceding the meeting."

Official Notice

There will be a meeting of the Senior class in the Little Country Theatre tomorrow (Wednesday) noon at 12:45.

RONALD MILLARD, President.

ished in The Spectrum at least one day previous to the meeting, AND shall be announced at general convocation, or posted on the bulletin board at least one day preceding the meeting."

Spectrum Official

This action was taken because of a need for a definition of a reasonable length of time in which every member of the class would know of the meeting, and of an official medium through which the information should be conveyed. The Spectrum was defined as the official medium, and in addition an announcement of the time of the meeting must be made before the students at convocation, or posted on the bulletin board. The reasonable length of time in which all students might be informed was defined as one day in advance of the meeting. The notice of the meeting in The Spectrum must bear the heading "Official Notice" according to the commission's ruling.

Notice of Thursday's meeting of the seniors was confined to a notice posted on the bulletin board at ten o'clock Thursday morning, two hours and forty-five minutes before the meeting, and to the calling of the various fraternity houses at noon. This, in the decision of the commission was insufficient notice of the meeting.

Ronald Millard, president of the Senior class, has called another meeting of the class for Wednesday noon at 12:45 in the Little Country Theatre.

Theta Chi Holds Dancing Party At House Saturday

Members of Theta Chi fraternity held an informal dancing party at the chapter house Saturday evening. Prof. John E. Doerr and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mashek were the patrons and patronesses present. Keith Allen had charge of arrangements.

NICE WORK

One of the outstanding features of the Bison-Nodak series here last week was the whole-hearted loyalty shown by the student body in the face of defeat and overwhelming odds. Even after the second game which proved to be so disastrous for the Bison, the students swept the tired yellow and green clad team off the floor, carrying its members on their shoulders with as much pride as if they had trounced the haughty Nodaks by the same score the University had so severely trounced them.

The students seem to realize what handicaps Coach Saalwaechter is working under in an attempt to produce a winning court team at North Dakota State. First he was handicapped by a lack of material but had five or six good men to fall back on. Then came the hardest blow, that of the loss of McPherson, a blow which shattered the Bison hopes, and left Coach Saalwaechter only a handful of comparatively inexperienced basketeers.

The spirit which the students displayed during the Nodak series here was clearly reflected in the team's playing. In the first game they almost succeeded in defeating the University, and in the second they fought like tigers, with defeat staring them in the face, inevitable, as certain as their presence in the battle. Yet a Bison team has never been known to "lay down" and acknowledge their defeat until the game has closed, and these games were no exception to the rule. With another display of this same spirit Saturday evening, the Bison may be able to assert themselves with much more favorable results.

THE COMMISSION'S POWER

Saturday the Student Commission annulled the Senior Ball election which was held Thursday, because insufficient notice was given members of the class that a meeting was to be held Thursday noon for this purpose. Out of a class of 130, there were 44 members present at the election. Notice of the meeting was given only two hours and forty-five minutes before the session was called to order. Many members of the class were not notified at all. Because of this the Student Commission has deemed it necessary to annul the election and hold a new one.

There is no doubt as to the commission's power to take such action. Under the constitution the commission reserves the right to "legislate all matters pertaining to the conduct and welfare of the student body." To those who may think that ex post facto law has been passed by the student governing body, it should be known that the commission passed two separate and distinct pieces of legislation. The first annulled the election. The second provided for future cases. The first legislation is the only one which concerns the case, and is therefore only simple and direct action.

The power of the commission has long been questioned. Now the issue must be settled once and for all. According to the constitution the body has the power to take the action it did. In taking this action, it has acted in the interests of the students who elected it. It has met the issue of fairness in class elections, and has met it squarely.

WISE and OTHERWISE

NOW ALL that remains is to beat the "U" in the two remaining games.

WELL, WE sure had the army packed Friday night. They started coming at five-thirty in the afternoon and battled for places near the head of the line. Everything went off in great style, especially the brand of cheering exhibited by the Bison boosters and the general N. D. S. C. student body. Doc Putnam was overheard to say that he believed the student body cheered the most effectively he has ever heard them. And Doc has been here twenty-five years. In an interview with a Spectrum reporter he also said that this year he had the best band in years, that they followed him and played together exceptionally well.

IT OCCURS to us that such praise reflects a lot of credit to all three of our regular cheer leaders.

THE GRAND Forks bunch responded well to their team's call and came down here in a large body. Let us do as well or better when the Bison go to the University.

AFTER THE game on Saturday, Feb. 4, an expensive men's overcoat was stolen from Captain Smith's office. Here are the particulars. The coat was placed in this office shortly before the game started. After the termination of the dance the owner went to the office and

I'M THE HERMIT

I'm the hermit who comes to college prepared to prepare for life. I go through four years of college with my eyes focused on graduation, ignoring everything around me during the journey. I keep out of all activities. I shun companionship, and social contacts. I go out very little. My books are my best friends, my classrooms my chosen environment. I think that through intensive study I am preparing myself for the world, that by stressing excellent marks, and disregarding college activities, I am giving myself the best possible preparation. I tend to become narrow, backward, irritable, unsatisfied, selfish. I leave school with no regrets. I have taken away, but I have left nothing behind. The "Yellow and the Green" does not stir me. I have invested nothing in the school, therefore it has no value to me. I have paid for my education, narrow as it is, and I have taken it with me. There are no ties of devotion, no bonds of friendship for me. I am facing life alone, with a knowledge gained from books, but without a knowledge of people. I am a college man, but I am guilty of misrepresentation.

found it locked. This office, we are told, was closed all day Sunday. Returning Monday morning the owner discovered that the coat was missing. A thorough check revealed no clue. It is safe to assume that this garment was stolen Saturday evening.

The first thing that strikes us is the boldness displayed in entering Captain Smith's office. It can only point to one of the youngsters that sneak into the games or dances, or to a regular thief. In case of the latter, is there a thief or group of thieves who habitually attend our All-College functions? In the case of the former we repeatedly ask—why are the kids not kept out? We police our football gridiron to secure the price of admission. It seems better still to police our armory to secure the safety of our wraps or other valuables. If the recently missing articles have been stolen by young boys, it is comparatively simple to stop the trouble by keeping them out. The first step is to learn the truth by keeping them out.

If, after the first measure has been tried, the thieveries persist the situation will be more complicated. Some new system will have to be inaugurated. It is not necessary to discuss here some such scheme as checking them, guarding the cloak room, etc. If we are forced to resort to such extremities, the affair will indeed have reached alarming proportions. But until that time some provision must be made for keeping the kids out.

Though we do not wish to magnify the existing problem, it is well to advise all to be careful of what they leave in their coat pockets. Do not leave any expensive article laying around. Everyone keep their eyes open and remember the twenty-five dollars reward. Let's get this thing cleared up! There is only one more home game but there will be many all-college functions held in the armory in the future.

The "U" Game As Portrayed By Cub Reporter

Two young men leaving the house at 5:30. "I still think it's too early to start. I feel like a fool." "You won't when you see a few thousand in line ahead of you." Two men on the team "kidding" a girl on the street car for coming so early and gleefully exclaiming when they discover that she has brought her lunch, too.... An early masculine arrival discovering a chair and thereafter holding his place in line in solid comfort. Envious glances and two rookies being sent for more chairs.... Much mud, and a pair of trousers rolled up out of danger.... Darkness closing in with discarded cigarettes making streaks of light through the air.... A good-natured "cop" causing an orderly entrance "Cuz someone got all wet Thursday." "Yeah, and someone fell down and got stepped on".... "Cec" doing some clever barking for The Spectrum extra. Copies going in every direction, and a girl taking advantage of the mix-up to sell her copy that she has finished reading.... "Zat Dick Day in the hick outfit?".... Members of the band coming in late. Much squeezing into place.... "Who's number 10 on the U team? Wish somebody'd mob him and wipe that grin off his face".... "Kin you drive a car?" "Naw, he can't even drive a nail." "Well (hic) kin you drive my car?" "Yep." "Well (gnore hics) take me home.".... People running to grab someone else's cab.... "Where's my hat?" "I dunno but you have a cap on your head and one in your pocket.".... Arguments about who called the cab.... "I wunner where my hat is. (Hic) 'S a $15 hat, too".... "G'nite. See you at the Forks"....

Marion Hartley and Ruth McKinnon spent the weekend at their respective homes in Staples, Minnesota, and Mapleton, North Dakota.

Augsburg Defeats Bison In First Game, 3 To 0

Soft Footing Hampers Puckmen In Encounter

Buffalo Ice Artists Hold Fast Minnesota Champs Scoreless In First Two Periods.

The Augsburg hockey team of Minneapolis was successful in its attempt to win the first game of the two game series with the Bison by a 3-0 score. Due to the poor condition of the ice the two teams found it impossible to perform to the best of their ability, but the Bison gave a very creditable account of themselves by holding this great team to such a low score, and the many fans who saw the game were highly pleased with the showing they made.

Because of the condition of the weather, it was agreed upon before the game to play four ten minute periods instead of three fifteen minute periods. During the first two periods of the game there was little to choose from between the two teams, the Bison being able to hold their own with their opponents. Early in the third period, however, the Auggies staged an attack which netted them two goals, and toward the close of the final period, when the entire Bison team moved on to the forward line in a desperate attempt to score, the Auggies succeeded in scoring their last goal to make the score 3-0.

Oscar Scores

The first score of the game was made by Oscar Hanson who took a pass from his brother Joe directly in front of the Bison goal. In less than one minute after this score was made, Joe Hanson emerged from a scramble of players in front of the Bison net and managed to slip the disc through McRoberts for the second goal of the game. The Bison managed to hold the Minneapolis sextet scoreless for the first nine minutes of the final period. With one minute of play remaining in the fourth period the entire Bison team, with the exception of McRoberts, moved down the rink in an effort to score on the Auggies. During the thick of one of the Bison's valiant attempts to cage a goal, Joe Hanson managed to get the puck and he started for the Bison goal. As Severtson attempted to check him Joe passed to brother Oscar who skated unmolested for half the length of the rink to make the final score of the game.

The Augsburg team, despite the poor condition of the ice, lived up to the reputation that had been given them by their occasional flashes of speed and stick handling. Joe Hanson was easily the outstanding star of the Augsburg team although goalie Swanson gave a very creditable account of himself in the net. For the Bison, Johnny Johnson and string (Palmer) Severtson showed the best form.

Scandinavian Costumes Portrayed In Recital

Event Concludes Ibsen Festival In Little Country Theatre Sunday Afternoon

The second annual costume recital, which took the form of tableaux from plays, with folk songs and music descriptive of Scandinavian countries, was given at 3 p. m. Sunday in the Little Country Theatre, as the concluding event of the Ibsen Festival which began Friday with the staging of "The Vikings of Helgeland", an Ibsen play. The festival was in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of Ibsen's birth. The festival was the work of the public discussions and social service department of the college, under the direction of A. G. Arvold.

Iceland was the theme of parte one. Scenes from "Eyvind of the Hills" and "Hadda Padda" with folk music and costumes characteristic of Iceland were shown in this group.

Scenes from "Jeppe of the Hill" with folk music were presented as representative drama and music of Denmark. The drama is a composition of Ludvig Holberg.

Jenny Lind in song with characteristic music composed part three of the recital. Tableaux from Stringberg's "Dance of Death" completed the Swedish program.

Typical music and folk costumes were used in part five which depicts Norway. Extracts from "A Doll's House", "Peer Gynt", and "The Vikings at Helgeland" were presented in this last division.

A social session was held in the Lincoln Log Cabin. A round table discussion on the merits of Ibsen and Shakespeare took place.

Negro Composer Gives Convocation Program

The reading of original poems completed the program. "Agnestia", "Thenodesia", written in the strict Greek style of Theocritus, "Roselle" and "Emmanine" are the names of the poems.
