

College Now Has Largest Freshman Class In History

Record Set By Winter Term Frosh Is Greatest Ever Made By Any N. D. School

North Dakota State college now has the largest freshman class ever enrolled in an institution in this state with 517 members, according to statistics given out by the registrar yesterday.

The total college enrollment is now 1212, of which 837 are men and 375 women. There are 234 enrolled in sub-collegiate work which includes industrial courses, high school, vocational courses, etc. This makes a total of 1446 enrolled in the work offered on the campus.

By courses, agriculture has 167 men, and two women for an 169 total. Chemistry has 99 men and four for a 103 total, while chemical engineering has an enrollment of six men. In education, 82 men and 117 women make up a 199 total. Only women are registered in home economics which has 142. Architectural engineering has two adherents, while architecture itself has attracted 50 men and one woman. Civil engineering embraces 45 men, electrical engineering six men, and mechanical engineering 118 men. No women are registered in engineering.

96 In High School

The school of pharmacy has 86 men and 12 women in its curricula, and the largest school on the campus, science and literature has an enrollment of 272, with 176 men and 96 women.

The college high school is being attended by 71 men and 25 women or a total of 96. In the Farm Husbandry courses 49 men are enrolled, three men in drafting and building, 17 in power machinery, and one girl in domestic science. Auto mechanics is being taken by 66 men and painting and decorating by eight men.

Cortright Announces Seating Arrangement

Ion J. Cortright, State College athletic mentor, announced today that no seats will be reserved for Nodak games except for the holders of the Bison Booster season tickets, members of the College faculty holding season tickets, a section for the band, U students, and the Bison lettermen. His announcement follows in full:

"The athletic office is usually besieged with inquiries for special reserved seats for the annual University-Bison basketball games here in Fargo.

"Many are willing to pay a premium for certain seats, however, I feel that we should try to seat as many as possible, since our hall is regularly full at every home game, regardless, it is apparent that it is impossible to satisfy all with a good seat. If we took care of a few, who are foresighted enough to get their seats at the proper time, it would only make the situation more difficult because of those who must be taken care of, but who have not made any previous arrangement.

"We are reserving a block of seats sufficient to take care of our faculty season ticket holders, our guests and complimentary ticket holders, our lettermen and Bison Boosters. There are not sufficient seats for these people to take friends with them. A small section is set aside for the University crowd. There will be a section for the students, the Band, a rooster section, etc.

"No section is large enough to accommodate the ones belonging in that section, so all must realize that we are making the best of the situation and trying to treat everyone fairly."

Blue Key Honors Five Students At Meeting

Alfred G. Arvold, Alvin Rigg, Are Elected To Honorary Membership

Five students and two faculty members were elected to membership in Blue Key, national honorary service fraternity, at a regular meeting of the organization Thursday evening at the Powers Hotel.

George Hays, Elkton, S. D., junior in the school of education; Ralph Erickson, Skaar, junior in the school of pharmacy; Richard Riggs, Jamestown, senior in the school of pharmacy; Foss Narum, Fargo, junior in the school of science and literature; and William Rundquist, Fargo, junior in the school of mechanic arts, were the students elected to the fraternity.

Alfred G. Arvold, head of the department of public discussion and social service and founder of the Little Country Theatre; and Alvin E. Rigg, assistant professor of architecture, were the faculty members elected to honorary membership.

The local chapter of Blue Key was founded here last May. It honors those upperclassmen who are outstanding in school activities, and has for its purpose the fostering of interest in all activities of the college.

TELEPHONE ENGINEER TO ADDRESS STUDENTS

At 4 p. m. today, Engineering students will be addressed by Mr. J. D. Taylor, Division Plant Engineer of the North Western Bell Telephone Company. Mr. Taylor will speak on "The Telephone Repeater and Its Application in Practice." Also a moving picture film in connection with this subject will be shown. All Engineering students are urged to attend this meeting and an invitation is extended to anyone interested. Meeting is to be held in Room 22 Engineering building.

Dakota Student Changes To Semi-Weekly Policy

The Dakota Daily Student, publication of the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks, has changed from a four times a week paper to a semi-weekly policy. Publication dates are Tuesday and Friday. The paper has been enlarged to six columns. The change was made upon the recommendation of William Moeller, editor-in-chief.

Engineers Meet

A special meeting of the Engineers' club will be held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Room 22, Engineering Building, instead of the regular meeting Thursday night, because of the University game.

Above are pictured Phyllis Heimark, Hjalti Thorfinnson, and Ruby Oscarson, who have the leading roles in "The Vikings of Helgeland," by Henrik Ibsen, which will be presented in the Little Country Theatre Friday and Saturday, in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Ibsen. Miss Heimark takes the part of "Dagny", Mr. Thorfinnson of "Ornulf", and Miss Oscarson of "Hiordis."

"The Vikings" Will Be Given Friday, Saturday

Little Country Theatre Players To Present Powerful Play In Four Acts

"The Vikings of Helgeland," a four act play by Henrik Ibsen, will be presented in the Little Country Theatre Friday and Saturday by the Little Country Theatre Players in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the birth of the great dramatist.

The play is under the personal supervision of Alfred G. Arvold and is an experimental production. Scenery and costumes are now being made by the students. Music will be played during the production and between acts by a student orchestra. "The Vikings" is expected to rival "Peer Gynt" produced last year which enjoyed remarkable success. "Peer Gynt" was also an Ibsen masterpiece.

The play will be given Friday afternoon at four, Saturday afternoon at three and eight o'clock. On Sunday afternoon a concert and costume recital descriptive of life in Scandinavian countries will be given in the theatre.

The leading roles for "The Vikings" include the following: Ornulf of the Fiords, an Icelandic chieftan, Hjalti Thorfinnson; Sigurd, the strong, a sea king, Allan Mortenson; Gunnar Headman, a rich yeoman of Helgeland, Maurice Nelson; Thorolf, Ornulf's youngest son, Carl Ash; Dagny, Ornulf's daughter, Phyllis Heimark; Hiordis, his foster daughter, Ruby Oscarson; and Kare, the peasant, Ralph Dutee.

ROCKWELL RESIGNS AS NODAK GRIDIRON COACH

F. A. (Tod) Rockwell, head football coach at the University of North Dakota for the past two years, in a letter to Thomas F. Kane, president of the university, resigned his position Saturday, the resignation to take effect June 30. Mr. Rockwell said in his letter that the reason for his action was that "the future athletic policy of the University of North Dakota is too vague, too uncertain, and indefinite." Rockwell came to the university in 1926 after a year as athletic director at Salem college, Salem, W. Va. Previous to that he was an all-western quarterback at the University of Michigan in 1924.

11th Co-Ed Prom To Be Held February 20

Five Committee Heads Named By Gladys Barton, General Chairman

The 11th annual co-ed prom at the North Dakota State college will be given in the college armory from 8 until 10:30 p. m. Monday, Feb. 20. The affair which is open to all girls on the campus is sponsored by the college Y. W. C. A.

Miss Gladys Barton, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. O. A. Barton, 1335 Eleventh av N, is general chairman of the prom. She has chosen five committees to assist with arrangements. Miss Lillian Opfer will take charge of advertising. Misses Minnie Willmert and Evelyn Probstfield are helping her. Judges and chaperones will be selected by Misses Alva Lynn, Tekla Askegaard and Almaine Schulze. Miss Ethel Jones will superintend the preparing of refreshments, assisted by Misses Virginia Keene and Marjorie Beattie. Miss Christine Rud will plan the decorations and Misses Elsie Hans and Laurel Kingsley are on the committee. Misses Gwendolyn Morgan, Alice Putney and Agnes Hanson are on the committee for music and programs.

Guests will come in couples and will be dressed in costumes of many kinds. The couple having the most original garb will be awarded a prize by the judges.

S. D. STATE COLLEGE IS HIT BY $91,000 BLAZE

A building loss estimated at $60,000 and equipment losses totalling $31,000 were suffered by the South Dakota State college at Brookings, when the chemistry building was destroyed by fire Friday night. College authorities and the board of regents are expected to take steps immediately to replace the building in order to house and carry on work for the students and chemical experimental work.

FACULTY CLUB HEARS REPORTS AT MEETING

Reports of the representatives from the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors who were present at the various association meetings recently were heard by the chapter at a meeting yesterday afternoon. Professors I. W. Smith, A. D. Whedon, C. I. Nelson, Cap Miller, Leon Metzinger, and Alva Benton gave the reports.

State College Alumna Sustains Broken Ankle

Miss Maude McKee, graduate of the School of Education at the college, is in St. John's hospital recovering from a broken ankle sustained while on her way home from school. Miss McKee is doing post graduate work at the college now. She resides at 918 12th Ave. North, Fargo.

Revamped Bison To Meet Flicker Horde Thursday

Scrappy Buffalo Basketeers Will Force Nodaks To Limit In Annual Series

By OLIVER RADDE

Despite the fact that mid-terms are with us this week, State college students are due to receive some real entertainment Thursday and Friday evenings, when the reorganized Bison meet the Flickertails in two games of basketball on the local court.

If history repeats itself, the Flickers are in for some hot battles. In years when the Bison have been the favorites to win, the Flickers became instilled with that never-say-die spirit and forced the herd to the limit. This year the order is just reversed with the Bison as the under-dogs and fighting without their leader, all of which should make them work all the harder to take the measure of the up-state rivals.

Dope as gleaned from comparative scores in games played does not mean a thing when these two teams clash. Coach Letich's men have a better record as far as games won are concerned, but Coach Saalwaechter and his gang have plenty of "Missouri" blood in them and have yet to be shown that the visitors are the better team. Most of Letich's boys witnessed the game here last Saturday and got some first hand information on what they will be up against. However, Saaly has a bag of tricks and no doubt will bring out enough of them this week to bewilder the boys from the suburbs of Grand Forks for two evenings.

Nodaks Are Strong

Letich will invade Fargo with a formidable array of basketeers and his biggest asset is his wealth of reserve material. Captain Al Letich, Vern Smith, Lewy Lee, Paul Boyd, Harold Eberly, and Vic Brown are the mainstays and are spurred on by such men as Midget Charley Solberg, Larry Kinn, and Austin Smith. Only last Friday evening, Solberg blasted Morningside's hopes by going in the game during the closing minutes and ringing up eight points to give the Flickers the game by a seven point margin. The Letich clan boasts of a wonderful defense and a fair offense. They are still in the race for the conference championship and this will make them fight all the harder.

All hope has not been abandoned in the Bison camp, as was clearly shown by the first half of the Morningside battle. Bliss seems to have risen to the task assigned him and will give Lewy Lee a merry chase at center. Cec plays a fast floor game and if he had a little more height, would make the fans forget all about McPherson. Hahn and Hermes will keep the Nodak guards plenty busy and if Bobby gets his eye on the basket, anything is liable to happen. Dutch is still handicapped but is expected to give a better account of himself in these two games. At the defensive posts, Gergen and Hays form a combination that is hard to beat. Hays is usually assigned the backcourt, an assignment of which he is master. Pete is a dribble artist and also has a keen eye for the basket.

Saaly has four men in reserve but the games to date have been of such intensity that he hasn't dared to gamble on their ability. Braus will probably see service at center and Steedman at forward. Hickerson and Peschel will be held in reserve for guard duty.

Nothing can be predicted as to the outcome of these games but these three thousand people, more or less, that trek out to the armory on Thursday and Friday evening are sure to receive plenty of thrills. Doe's band and the pep club will be on hand to do their bit in taming the Flickers.

IN AND OUT

Saturday evening, while the Bison were busily engaged in giving the Morningside Maroons a good stiff battle, approximately twenty-five children were busily engaged in climbing through the windows onto the balcony on the north side of the armory. Perhaps these youngsters, between the ages of ten and fourteen, went out the same way; perhaps they used the door. It isn't how they left that worries is, however. It's what they took with them.

Some time ago a very high-priced fraternity pin was taken. That is why The Spectrum feels that children are largely responsible for most of this thieving. Omitting the pun about leap year and its connections, why should anyone want to steal a fraternity pin? That is, anyone with the exception of a juvenile who might be attracted by the article? It would possess no material value to anyone else.

The editor admits that he is not positive of his ground in accusing these small boys, but it is evident that the first step to be taken must be the elimination of the presence of these children. Once that is done, and the thieving persists, we can look to new possibilities. The Spectrum insists, in the interest of the students, that the north balcony be policed by the lettermen before and during the game, as well as afterward, and that the locker room also be watched or "guarded" during the dances by lettermen assigned to that duty only. This thieving cannot go on as it has in the past, when a few measures taken by those in charge may prevent it.

The editor suggests that in the future all students who are confident that some article of theirs has been stolen report same to The Spectrum at once. In this way a fairly accurate check can be kept on the case as it proceeds.

THE NEW ROOTER KING

When the students crowd into the armory Thursday evening to see the first game of the Bison-Nodak series, they should survey the ensuing activities with a rather critical viewpoint. On Friday night the students will choose the rooter king who will be in power for one year hence. On Thursday night the three cheer leaders, which includes the present rooter king, will be leading the yells as formerly. It is an excellent chance to think the proposition over in preparation for the choosing on Friday evening.

Friday evening the candidates for rooter king will each lead one yell which will be the same for all the candidates. Students will only cheer for their favorite, and the volume of cheering will be the deciding factor. Candidates will not be limited to the three cheer leaders, though it must be admitted that they have the edge in familiarity with the students.

WHO WANTS TEN DOLLARS?

The season for pep is almost over and yet no one comes forward with a prize-winning name for our pep club. The ten dollars is still ready to be handed out to the student who submits the acceptable name. And that name must be picked this year!

Students have had a chance to see the pepsters in action now, and a name ought to be forthcoming from some thoughtful member of the student body. Everyone knows the purpose, platform, membership, etc., of the organization, and should be able to jot down on paper at least the name. With a student body of over 1200, the club ought to be able to pick a name from that number. Think it over. This may be mid-term week, but a little extra thinking won't hurt—much.

Just Comment

WISE and OTHERWISE

AFTER LOSING "Cort" and McPherson, what's next? Last week found us without the services of our basketball captain and searching for a new football coach.

BOBBY HAHN and his mates were wonderful examples of the never-say-die spirit in the game Saturday night. The jinx may hit the Bison but their morale never cracks. Just ask Saaly.

WE NOTE ALSO that Tod Rockwell, head football coach at the University, has resigned. He said that the future athletic policy of the University was "too vague, too uncertain and indefinite." Well, from what we have heard it would appear that he is right. It was amusing to note the crack the Dakota Student took at our "Agricultural College" name. Perhaps the Student has become tired of criticizing the University and has gone after new blood. The rumpus the Dakota Student kicked up last fall certainly did prove that the up-state school has a lot of features that its newspaper does not like.

And now the newspaper of the "U" must feel gratified at the resignation of Mr. Rockwell. It is well to note, however, that the football coach resigned of his own accord and not directly because of the attack launched by the University publication.

I'M THE GUY

I'm the "I-told-you-so" guy. No matter what misfortune befalls you, I'm the one who always has forewarned you, but of course you wouldn't listen to me. If you have a bad cold it's your own fault, 'cause I told you that you shouldn't have gone without your overshoes. If you only got 95 in your test don't complain. If you'd have listened to my advice and studied you'd have gotten a better mark. People rarely ask me for any instructions or advice, for if anything goes wrong I'm too ready to throw it up to them. In spite of this I'm always ready to give advice at all hours of the day or night. Many times I give it where it isn't wanted at all. "Don't let that guy shoot," I yell at the Bison basketball men during a game. "He might make one." A few minutes later when this guy in particular scores from the field I add, "See. I told you so."

MORE POWER to our Pep Club! The long felt need of some organization devoted exclusively to keeping the school spirit at a high pitch no longer exists. This new club has more than satisfied the need. Its forty some members are certainly to be congratulated on the way they have taken hold of the position as school spirit executives. Of special note is the manner in which they have entertained the spectators between the halves of the basketball games. If the Pep Club continues to employ their original ideas in the future we have much to look forward to. The box match that featured last Saturday's pep program was appreciated by all. The precision that marks their yells, their programs, and general organization are features in themselves. The Spectrum feels gratified that the work so far done by this club proves beyond a doubt that it will become a fixed organization on this campus, working for the good of the school.

Notice

Students will enter the armory for the University games through the west entrance. No students will be allowed to enter through any other door. Bison boosters, faculty, lettermen, and complimentary must enter through the west door on the south side. General admission will enter through the main entrance. Pep club members will also enter through main entrance but must have their ticket books with them. Students must have their ticket books also. No one will be admitted on his registration card, according to Ion J. Cortright, director of athletics.

OLYMPIC PUCK CHASERS WANT DATE WITH BISON

Captain Smith, coach of the Bison hockey team, received an offer to play Augsburg College of Minneapolis in Fargo Saturday. Augsburg is the hockey team that was picked to represent the United States in the Olympics this year and their appearance here would show the people of Fargo the brand of hockey that is being played by one of the leading college teams of the country. If sufficient financial funds can be raised by the business men from downtown the Bison will be given an opportunity to play one of the leading teams of the country. Most likely Augsburg would play a game with some picked stars from Fargo and Moorhead, also.

Courses Influence Students To Choose This College

The types of courses offered at the North Dakota Agricultural college furnished the major inducement for 32 per cent of the present freshmen to choose this college in preference to others.

This college offers a bachelor of science degree in Science and Literature, Agriculture, Architectural Engineering, Architecture, Biology, Chemistry, Civil Engineering, Education, Electrical Engineering, Home Economics, Mechanical Engineering, and Pharmacy.

Special advantages are offered in paint chemistry, physics, botany, mathematics, public speaking and dramatics, economics (agricultural and general), and social and political sciences.

All the work that is taken at the North Dakota Agricultural college is fully credited by the North Central Association of colleges and secondary schools, and also the Regents of New York.

Ebullitions of Ebony Blott

By Everett Wallam

We hear that the Chess and Checker tournament at the "Y" is a moving proposition.

We knew that athletics would hit their stride before long.

Playing checkers is one way of getting into the "movies".

One of the best checker players in the world has St. Vitus dance and he moves continually.

Horseshoe players are barred from competition because they are ringers.

The only way some checker players can jump any men is to play leap frog.

Such rough stuff as twiddling the toes, blowing the nose, and belching is absolutely barred.

Only two hours of sleep are allowed between each move.

If anyone drops a checker, he is charged with disturbing the peace.

To successfully compete at checkers, a player must have a keen brain, a bad appetite, and a couple soft cushions.

One checker player died during a tournament, and no one knew about it until the next week.

Checkers is one pastime where a player has to have the game at his finger tips.

Checkers and golf are popular in Scotland because the former saves on shoes, and the latter saves the wear and tear of trousers.

The referee at a checker match doesn't need a whistle—he uses a calendar.

A checker player, who is troubled with insomnia, is barred for taking an unfair advantage.

Checker players never starve. They always get their board.

It's no fun for a man to play checkers with his wife. He gets crowned enough anyway.

A bow-legged man started playing checkers once, but he was shot when it was discovered that he had something crooked on foot.

Every home ought to have its own bowling equipment so the children can play in the alley.

George McPherson, our departed center, is about six feet long and about eleven classes short.

Scrappy Bison Quint Loses To Maroons, 31-24

Saalwaechter Almost Tumbles Morningside

Bobby Hahn Scores 15 Points Of Buffalo Total; Pete Gergen
Stars At Guard.

Leonard T. Saalwaechter's coaching came near tumbling the Morningside basketball team out of a conference title Saturday night but the Maroons were "on" and took a 31 to 24 win from the scrappy Bison herd.

Up until 8 p. m. Saturday, people in general were of the opinion that the Bison would be helpless before the smooth passing, speedy attack of the Maroon team, without the services of Captain McPherson who was recently ousted from college because of a too-lengthy vacation from classes without permission. Saaly thought differently, however, and in two days' time had shuffled the remnants of what used to be a basketball team into what is a basketball team with plenty of scrap, fight, nerve, determination, and a lot of other things that they hadn't had heretofore.

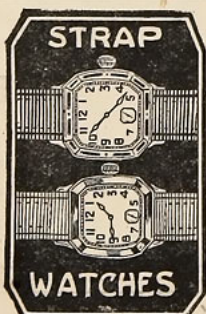

Bliss At Center

The results of Saaly's stacking the cards turned out to be Bliss at center, Hermes and Hahn at forward, and Hays and Gergen at guard. This combination, up to the time of Hermes' dismissal with four fouls, gave the invaders a battle of the century. At the half the Bison had greatly surprised the proletariat by being behind 16 to 14, having led the Maroons until a final spurt by the latter team had put them ahead.

The Morningside quint drew away from the Bison at the outset of the second period but Bobby Hahn managed to keep his team in the race by caging a field and a few free throws. It was only in the last few minutes that the invading quint felt sure of their ground. Hermes was ostracized because of four personals and two substitutions by Saaly didn't quite patch up the vacancy as good as it had been before.

Bliss rose to great heights at center, in fact even outdoing himself in getting the tip-off once or twice. Gergen at guard and Bobby Hahn at forward played a driving game, Bobby scoring 15 of the 24 points made by the Bison, with Gergen showing some great defensive tactics. George Hays at back guard did some fine work in plucking the ball out of a mess of Maroon players every time the invaders took a shot at the loop, which was often.

Wyman Leads In Y League Scoring

Plan in the Y. M. C. A. basketball league will reach the first round Wednesday, with the completion of 45 games amongst the ten Y. M. C. A. cage team contestants.

The Y team has already finished their games of the first round, and will enter the second round with a clean slate. The Whippets are trailing the Y team and promise to give the Y quint a run for the championship.

The high scorers of the league are Dahle and Wyman. Wyman has an average of 17 7-10 points per game. Dahle is close behind with 16 1-2 points per game. These two men, both on the Y quint, have formed a combination which no team yet has stopped. Dahle feels Wyman and resolutely his average has suffered.

The Y team is not the only five that has the distinction of having a thousand percent. The Farm House is the other team which has a perfect record—that of losing games.

Concordia Pucksters Win From Bison, 4-3

Concordia succeeded in providing a startling upset for the hockey season by defeating the more experienced Bison sextet by a 4-3 score Saturday afternoon on the S. C. rink. The Bison, apparently confident of a victory, underestimated the ability of their opponents and as a result of this overconfidence and misjudgment they were defeated. It was also clearly noticeable that the Bison were utterly suffering from lack of practice. Their attack was devoid of any form of team work whatsoever and their shooting was woefully erratic.

The Bison frosh pucksters opposed the Cobbers in the initial period and they gave a fairly commendable account of themselves, holding the Moorhead team to one goal. The Bison varsity was sent into the game in the second period and for a few minutes it looked as though they would have little trouble in penetrating the Cobbers' defense and scoring, but it was soon found out that the Bison were out of practice. In this period both the Bison and the Cobbers were successful in one of their attempts to put the disc into the net. The third and final period was the most exciting of the contest. The Bison showed a flash of their real playing ability and succeeded in scoring two goals shortly after the start of the period to forge ahead of the Cobbers by one point. Their advantage was not destined to last, however, because the Cobbers made two more of their attempts successful and these two goals were sufficient to warrant ultimate victory for them.

One Round Remains In Co-Ed Basketball Play

The Junior girls are still standing at the top of the tournament at the end of the first round. They have won all games by decisive victories. The Seniors took the game from the Freshmen and now hold second place.

Another round will be played off this week. This round will prove more interesting and if the Seniors get their team intact, they will give the Juniors a merry chase for the championship.

The last games of the first round of the Inter-fraternity league will be played this week when the Theta Chi will meet the Sigma Tau five and Kappa Psi are scheduled to oppose the Gamma Rho five tonight. In the final encounters, the Delta Sigs will meet the Beta Chis, after which the Kappa Phis will play the Delta Pis.

The Delta Sigs defeated the Delta Pis 38 to 3 in a game Thursday night. The Kappa Phis defeated the Beta Chis 16 to 10.

Want a pen for lifelong use?—$7 buys it; $5, if you want a smaller size. Because of Parker's Non-Breakable Permalite Barrels these pens have been thrown from airplanes 3,000 feet aloft without damage.

Want ease of writing?—Parker Duofold's famous Pressureless Touch, due to a fine ink channel ground between the prongs of the point (bringing capillary attraction to the aid of gravity feed) is greatest writing improvement in years.

And Permalite, while Non-Breakable, makes Duofolds 28% lighter in weight than when made with rubber as formerly.

Why do most college students use it?—try it yourself and know.

5 flashing colors. 3 sizes for men and women. Six graduated points—one to fit your hand exactly.

Look for imprint, "Geo. S. Parker" on each pen. Pencils, too, in colors to match pens. See a Parker dealer now.

Faculty Members Here Opposed One Another In War

Capt. T. S. Smith, U. S. A., And Lieut. Zimpel, of German Army, Now Friends

Slightly less than ten years ago if Captain Thomas Smith, U. S. A., had chanced to wander ten or so miles to the west of his position in the Argonne, and if a certain young Ober lieutenant, Max Zimpel of the Fifth German Landenwuh, had chanced to spot the khaki of the American, a Colt ".45" or a Luger of like caliber would probably have ended what turned out to be one of the queer turns of the war.

Today, Captain Thomas Smith is the R. O. T. C. commandant at the North Dakota State college and one of his fellow instructors in the same institution is Max Zimpel, headmaster of the high school of Frankfort-on-Main, here to study American educational methods. Herr Zimpel and Captain Smith find many of the same students in each of their classes.

Captain Smith, with the 157th infantry, was engaged in the drive which was started toward Metz and which culminated in Stenay the day of the Armistice with the capture of that city. Lieutenant Zimpel was with the German infantry which was commanded by the Crown Prince, one of the crack units of the Kaiser's forces.

Paths Crossed Often

On checking their activities the two find that their paths crossed many times. Herr Zimpel made many trips from his headquarters at Grand Pre and Sivery to Sedan, to the east of his position. A railroad listed among the captured prizes of war by Captain Smith's division, was traveled many times by the young German as he went from his headquarters to Sedan and Stenay, the latter place being one of the last to fall.

The stories of the two on the last days of the war offer a striking contrast.

To Herr Zimpel, the marvel is that the American forces did not break through their thinly held lines.

"I remember at one time when my company, thinned to 20 or 25 men, was forced to hold a mile of territory," he said. "At the outset we had had nearly a regiment to hold this same stretch of ground."

To Captain Smith, the marvel was the vicious manner in which the Germans, trench worn for four years, grimly stood their ground, machine guns and light artillery carrying on a rear guard action for the German defenders.

And so, when the two instructors of the college meet each other it is "Good morning captain—Good morning professor." They have and would like to continue to forget the war in which they took part ten years ago.

Professor Zimpel, as he is now known, is anxious to get back to Germany to his wife and four youngsters, and to carry on his work as headmaster of his school.

CHEMISTS! NOTICE!

Regular meeting of the Chemists Club will be held WEDNESDAY evening Feb. 8 instead of Thursday. This is on account of the University Basketball game. Good program with movies has been arranged.
