

Bison Court Program Opens Friday

College Host To Boys And Girls Club Institute

Record Breaking Attendance Is Anticipated; 27 Counties Send Delegates

With advance registration of 294 delegates already received, a record breaking attendance is insured for the annual Boys and Girls Club Achievement institute and market class livestock show and sale which opens at the North Dakota State college today and continues until Friday, according to Harry E. Rilling, state boys and girls club leader.

Delegations are registered from 27 counties, with the possibility that several more may be added to the list, and 66 head of beef calves, pigs and lambs have been entered for the market class competition from 11 counties. Members of the Fargo Chamber of Commerce are planning to accommodate from 400 to 500 persons at the annual banquet in honor of the visiting club members to be held Wednesday evening, W. P. Chesnut, secretary reports. Wednesday afternoon they will be guests of the Fargo theatre at the Vitaphone performance. Finishing Touches Made

At the college, the finishing touches are being made on a program of education and recreation offered as a reward to the junior club members who have attained outstanding achievements during the year in production of crops and livestock, sewing, canning and cooking.

"We hope to give these farm boys and girls such an entertainment that Christmas will seem to them to be only an aftermath," Mr. Rilling declares.

Dr. B. K. Kilbourne, Fargo health officer, will be in charge of the health contest, and gold medals will be awarded the winning boy and girl on the basis of their present health status and the work they have done to achieve it. Club members will broadcast a special program over Fargo radio Station WDAY Thursday, beginning at 7:45 p. m., under direction of Prof. A. G. Arvold.

Programs For Girls

Special programs will be given for the girls under the direction of Pauline Reynolds, assistant state club leader. Those who will co-operate include Leonore Dunningham of the Farmers Wife, St. Paul; Miss Ellen Pennell, Successful Farming, Des Moines, Iowa; Mrs. M. A. Hildreth and Mrs. Frances Bigelow, Fargo, and Edna Sommerfield and Letitia Jones of the extension division at the college. Games and recreation will be conducted by Helen Ballard and Ruby Oscarson of the college under the direction of Miss Dorothy Cole, women's athletic director.

A college home economics class in foods will give a demonstration preparing refreshments for parties and club meetings, with Miss Elvira Smith, instructor, presiding. Songs appropriate for club meetings will be discussed and sung each day with Miss Evelyn Blakeslee leading. Dean Alba Bales will explain the work conducted by the home economics department of the college.

Championship Demonstrations

Members of the championship economics team at the Fargo state fair will give a demonstration preparing a pressure cooker dinner. Members of this team are Leonore Boettcher and Beatrice Witham, Jamestown.

Many business men in the city plan to attend the club banquet, which is being staged by the Chamber of Commerce. It will be held at the Elks hall at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, and those who are interested should consult Mr. Chesnut at the Chamber of Commerce.

NO SPECTRUM FRIDAY

There will be no issue of The Spectrum Friday because of final exams, thus allowing the staff to boost the paper's scholastic standing in the ratings. Publication will be resumed Friday, January 6. Classes for the Winter Term start again Tuesday, January 3. No paper will be published on that date. Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year!

Christmas Festival Held In "Cathedral"

Little Country Theatre Takes On Church Setting For Entertainment

Converted, for the time, into a cathedral with pretty-colored arched Gothic windows and a large arched cathedral front, the Little Country Theatre was the scene of the Twelfth Annual Christmas Festival which was given before a good crowd Sunday afternoon.

The cathedral arrangement furnishes an excellent setting for "One Night In Bethlehem," a play in four scenes by Katherine Brown, and Glenna Tinlin, depicting the story of the birth of Christ. Leading roles were taken by Kathryn Bunnell as the little boy, and Edith Thorsell as the mother, were played exceptionally well. Maurice Nelson, Ralph Dutee, and Allan Mortenson did very well as the Three Wise Men.

Characters Act Well

The other characters, all of whom took their parts well were: Carl Ash, an innkeeper; Naasen, his servant, Kenneth Bute; Lester Wyman and George Kalka as scribes; Marvin Hucke and Byron Berntson as Roman soldiers; Peter Gergen, Vivian Johnson, Taylor Hayes, Gladys Syverud, Erlene Berger, Dorothy Adams as travelers; Harold Peterson as Joseph; Victor Lindgren as Caleb, a shepherd. Lawrence Hokanson played violin music during the entire play, accompanied by Virginia Sands at the organ. Carols were sung at different intervals by Geraldine Ewald, Doris Wilson, Lyleth Olson, Almarine Schulz, Glen Smith, Leonard Rygg, and Lawrence Parsons.

After the play, the visitors were taken on a trip through Toy Land, by Olive Osness, as the Wooden Soldier, and Clara Murie as the Dancing Bear. An interesting exhibit of Christmas cards and literature was the main attraction in the library of the theatre. In the Lincoln Log Cabin popcorn balls and apples were served while Alta Berg, Homer Allison, Milton King, and Loretta Nilles entertained with Christmas stories. Coffee and cakes were served in the library.

Committees who directed the festival were: program, Hulda Finstad, Ralph Dutee, Irene Stende, and Lillian Opfer; toy world, Dorothy Burton, Pete Gergen, Kenneth Bute, Gladys Syverud, Vivian Johnson; Log Cabin arrangements, Mary Warner, Hilda Witt, Anna Johnson; decorations, Mary Klinsmann, Katherine Bunnell, and Dorothy Adams.

KEATING GIVES TALK AT CHEMIST CLUB MEETING

The regular meeting of the Chemists Club was held last Thursday evening, December 8th, in the Chemistry Building. Kenneth J. Keating was the speaker of the evening and traced the development of the School of Chemistry from its origination.

Wisconsin Loop Champions Will Bring Out Real Strength Of Buffalo Basketeers

River Falls Normal, champions of the Wisconsin State Normal Athletic association last season, will open the Bison court program here Friday, according to an announcement made by Coach Leonard Saalwechter Saturday.

This will be the first of four games before the conference season opens on January 20 with the South Dakota State Jackrabbits. St. Mary's of Winona, Minnesota, will meet the Bison here December 19, and the herd will play return engagements with these teams at Winona December 30, and at River Falls December 31.

Two Contests Wanted

Saaly needs two contests to round out his schedule, one on January 7, and one on the 13. Opponents on these dates would put the Bison in shape for the conference grind. St. Thomas may be booked for the January 7 date, but as yet the thirteenth is still open.

Coach Saalwechter has a fine array of pre-season games arranged for the development of his comparatively inexperienced outfit. The River Falls quint is famous throughout the middle west for their consistent championships. Wisconsin is a state where the teams play basketball as it should be played and when any team cops a title it means something. This game Friday evening should push the Bison to the limit to eke out a win over these proficient invaders.

Games Are Tough Tests

Games with St. Mary's college will also be tough tests for the Bison especially the return game at Winona. The return game with the Normalites will also bring out the Bison strength or weaknesses on a foreign court.

As yet no comparison can be made concerning the conference race, North Dakota University being the only team to engage in pre-season tussles. In these conflicts with Jamestown college the Nodaks seem exceptionally strong, but since the other members of the loop haven't displayed their wares it would hardly be fair to pass judgment.

One Hundred College Men Attend Pep Fest

Over 100 college men attended the pep meeting in the Little Country Theatre yesterday noon. Foss Narum and Mr. Rolfe gave talks on the purpose and importance of a permanent pep organization. Rules were drawn up in the rough, the outstanding one being that when a member is absent another takes his place in the organization. Mr. Rolfe stressed the point that this group must supersede all others on the campus.

Seven men were chosen to pick 33 others from the student body as members of the organization whose permanent strength will be 40. The seven men who were chosen are Everett Wallum, Foss Narum, John Bohlig, Ben Gorder, Red Peterson, Jud Fisher, and Percy Newton.

BERNTSON IS MANAGER OF SENIOR SWINGOUT

A meeting of the Senior class was held Thursday in the Little Country Theatre. Ronald Millard, president of the class, presided at the meeting. Floyd McDunn was chosen chairman of the class play, Robina Wylder, chairman of Class Day and Byron Berntson manager of the Swingout, which is held on the last day of school. Class Rings were also discussed at this meeting.

Needy Kiddies Entertained At Party Saturday

Movies Add To Merriment Of Annual Christmas Program; Gifts Distributed

One hundred forty-three needy kiddies of Fargo were entertained Saturday afternoon at the annual Kiddies Christmas Party held in the Y. M. C. A. building of the college.

Many Christmas trees and evergreen boughs were used in the decorations, lending a spicy holiday atmosphere. One large decorated tree rose to the ceiling in the center of the large gymnasium where the dinner was held. Gifts and bags of candy were distributed by Santa Claus himself from the foot of the tree.

Santa Claus Appears

The Kiddies were brought from the Glad Tidings Mission on a special street car at 5 p. m. They were met at the Y. M. C. A. by the college students who found their special guests and escorted them to supper. After a good, wholesome meal, Santa Claus appeared on the scene and distributed the presents to the delighted children.

Candy, in red and green, tarleton bags, was distributed to every guest. As a climax to the evening, two reels of moving pictures, including "Felix the Cat" brought forth abundant mirth from the tickled kiddies.

After the party every kiddie was taken right to his door by his host, and by the joyful snap of his eyes, and the excited display of gifts, expressed his thanks for a wonderful time.

Success Due To Committees

The real success of the party was due to the efficient committees in charge: Jennie Grant, Ethel Jones, and Esther Boyer, who cooked the meal; Doris Abel and her helpers who served it; Victor Wahl and Billy Eastgate who managed the decorations; Hjalti Thorfinnson, ticket manager; Ronald Millard, who planned the entertainment; Gladys Barton, registrar; Byron Berntson, transportation; Leonard Rygg, checkroom; and Carl Ash, and Ruby Oscarson, clean-up.

The committees are indebted to Mr. O. E. McCracken, of the Glad Tidings Mission; Miss Emily Dakin, and the boys in the Bookstore; the members of the Y. W. C. A. advisory board; and of the Red Triangle Auxiliary.

ETHEL JONES ELECTED CERES HALL PRESIDENT

Ethel Jones was elected president of the Ceres Hall girls at an election held Wednesday evening in the hall parlors. Mabel Wenzel was named vice-president and Gladys Langford, secretary-treasurer. These officers together with Isabel Anderson of the freshman group and one yet to be elected from the sophomore girls constitute the executive board. Miss Wenzel will act as chairman of the social committee. The next meeting of the Ceres Hall girls will be on the Wednesday following the Christmas recess.

ARVOLD SPEAKER FOR GUEST DAY PROGRAM

The annual "Guest Day" meeting of the Fargo Woman's club will be held on Saturday, Dec. 17, and the scene of the gathering will be the Little Country Theatre at the North Dakota State college. A. G. Arvold will be the speaker. His subject for this meeting will be "Dramatic Art." Following the program there will be a social time and tea will be served in the Log Cabin.

THE HOLIDAYS

Friday afternoon means the end of school until after the holidays. It means two weeks vacation, a return home, lots of fun (until your grades are mailed) and lots of joy. But at the same time each student now enrolled at State College should be determined to do more at home than have a good time. It is during these two weeks that he or she can do a great deal for the college.

Your parents are voters. Perhaps you are yourself, but it's a cinch your parents are. There may be other voters in your community who are influential men or women. Here is your chance to broadcast the serious condition here in college, the need for buildings, the misleading name of the college, and any number of needed reforms which you know of. Here is a chance for a state-wide propaganda movement to bring about our desired ends, a movement, if started by the voters themselves, cannot help but carry great weight with the legislature.

Let's make a New Year's resolution to go into effect right away, then, to do a little publicity work for the college. And don't forget to influence other prospective students. We may be cramped but we crave company. The more the merrier!

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

No doubt most of the students here who live out of town will do a great deal of their Christmas shopping in Fargo. Therefore we would again like to remind you that you will make no mistake by glancing through these columns and patronizing the merchants you find here. In addition to these you may, in your shopping, see a yellow card in a merchant's window labelled "Yea Bison!" If you do, patronize him for he has contributed to run an advertisement in the 1929 Bison, college yearbook.

These merchants are doing you a great service by making your paper and yearbook possible. It is only fair that you should give them first consideration, therefore, when doing your purchasing.

WE APPRECIATE your past patronage and solicit your future work. When you think of laundry call the DIXON for service and quality. We darn sox and sew on buttons without extra charge.

WISE and OTHERWISE

OUR FRIENDS in Grand Forks are getting in just a little deeper, it seems, in their effort to depose Mr. Davis, the University Athletic Director. And as for we outsiders, the whole affair looks more muddled. From the little information we have been able to gather, it seems likely to us that Mr. Davis will retain his position for some time to come if he so desires. He has a host of friends and the state board of administration is divided. It appears now to be a war between President Kane and Mr. Davis. Criticism of Coach Rockwell occur less frequently. The student body and the editor of the Dakota Daily Student have fallen out of the lime-light.

A new angle was injected into the situation last week when it became known that a letter suggesting curtailment of powers of the state board of administration had been sent to state legislators by Rev. F. Halsey Ambrose, Grand Forks minister. It has been charged that Ambrose is closely connected with President Kane in the efforts to oust the athletic director. The Ambrose letter, a copy of which is said to be on file in the office of the board of administration, is said to have suggested that a proper arrangement for handling the affairs of the university would be a board of control composed of the president and the deans of the various university departments. In other words, it looks like an attempt to oust Davis by simply taking the powers from his friends on the state board of administration and putting it in a group controlled by President Kane himself.

I'M THE GINK

I'm the gink that always wants somebody to take me down town in their car. I hang around Old Main and hail everyone I see in a mad effort to get a ride. I know they may be busy but I want to go down town, and I just bother them until they take me. If they refuse I make them feel so cheap in front of their friends who are usually with them that they feel terribly discomfited. But I don't care, it's a ride I want. Usually they have other plans but I bust right in on them and demand a ride right away. Some of them offer to pay my street car fare to get rid of me, but I won't be satisfied until I drag them away from whatever they are doing and make them take me down town. I just want a ride.

We were disappointed to read that the editor of the Dakota Daily Student "is said to have told the board of administration at Grand Forks that he wrote alumni whom he believed would be unfavorable to Davis." Not only did the editor misquote a letter of one of our noted alumni to suit his cause, but he also was unfair in presenting the opinions of all. No one does seem to know just how the student body stands on the effort to depose Davis. It has been charged that one student has been stirring up the University goers because of a personal grudge against the director of athletics. This fails to explain the attitude President Kane has taken. It also seems improbable that one person could stir up such a hornet's nest in so short a time.

If it could be made possible for some impartial person up there to collect a secret ballot from students and alumni and make known the results, the affair should be settled. We think the final action should be determined by the students and alumni not by a legislature in Bismarck or a board of control.

No wonder Santa Claus can be cheerful. He doesn't have to take final examinations.

Each faculty member should have no trouble getting married. He sure can pop the question.

The difference in taking examinations and pills is that the latter is sometimes sugar coated.

You can eat apples to keep the doctor away, but the only way you can evade examinations is by inhaling arsenic and guzzling iodine.

History may repeat itself—but it won't on your examination paper.

It doesn't do any good to take a crib to class. The Prof. won't let you sleep anyhow.

In military, a student doesn't have to shoot off his face to get a good mark.

Our school system must have come from Germany. The marks are so low.

The only way some students can get a high mark is to bump their heads.

Due to the fact that students get hot under the collar during examinations, they will please park their celluloid neckbands in the hall.

When a student writes "I'll bite" after a question, he is merely putting the teeth in his answer.

The student who wrote his examination on tissue paper, so his instructor could see through it, was no brighter than the one who wrote his test on a blotter, so it would sink in.

A student can't write on an empty stomach—but a tattooer can.

One student wrote his examination on tar paper, so there would be no glaring mistakes.

There's one nice thing about attending a correspondence school. You send your answers by airplane, and get a flying start.

The only paper we ever heard of that got over ninety at this school was the fly paper.

The question mark looks like a monkey's tail—and it sure makes monkeys out of the students.

The trouble with most of our examinations is that the bright student usually grins and bares it.

In some of the harder courses, the longest test paper is written by the student with the longest name.

Some students write exams by inspiration, some by perspiration, but most of us in desperation.

Poultry Judgers Win Third Place In Meet

Team Returns From Chicago With Honors Gained In Eighth Annual Contest

The poultry judging team from the North Dakota State college which participated in exhibition judging at the eighth annual Coliseum poultry judging contest at Chicago, Dec. 1, 2, and 3, returned to Fargo with high honors. The team won third place in exhibition judging and seventh place in a written examination on the American standard of perfection and because of the keen competition and close scores the showing of the North Dakotans is very creditable, according to O. A. Barton, poultry specialist at the college. The college team was in competition with teams from states where poultry judging is of much longer duration than this state, Mr. Barton pointed out.

"These winnings at the two Chicago shows are a splendid tribute to the turkey breeders of North Dakota," Mr. Barton declared.

Splendid winnings were made by North Dakota turkeys exhibited at the Coliseum poultry show and the International turkey show, Mr. Barton said.

"Unquestionably these winnings can be credited in no small way to the splendid educational value of the work done at the All-American turkey show which has been held annually at

Roy Corbett Only Collegiate Photographer In Two States

North Dakota State Camera Man Has "Shot" Over Eight Hundred Subjects

By Henry Sullivan

North Dakota State College is the only school in North Dakota and South Dakota that has a college photographer of their own. The photographer, R. A. Corbett, has been with the institution a great number of years. Before becoming the college photographer, he was instructor in Physics.

While Mr. Corbett was teaching Physics he became more interested in the different phases of photography, until to-day he is the official college photographer, with his office in the basement of the Agricultural building.

Mr. Corbett now has more work than he can possibly handle on the campus and is compelled to let some of it go elsewhere. In the past year Mr. Corbett has photographed 816 subjects. "And that isn't all," said Mr. Corbett in a recent interview, "right here is an order for thirteen dozen prints of some pictures I took over the State this summer on that Farm Managers Tour. I finished up a big bunch of those right after the tour and this is the second order. It is impossible for me to give you the amount of work I do, because a large part of it, like this order here, I have no way of keeping track of it."

Photostatic Work Done

Considerable photostatic work is done by Mr. Corbett. This is the cheapest form of photography possible and is used in making copies of legal blanks and charts that are almost impossible to print. To handle this kind of work it was necessary to buy a high priced photostatic machine, but the first job paid for over seventy-five per cent of its cost. As an idea as to the size of a regular photostatic job, Mr. Corbett now has an order for one that will require 250 feet of photographic paper.

The enlarging of pictures takes a large amount of Mr. Corbett's time. This past summer as Mr. Corbett's part of making Lindbergh Day a success in Fargo, he enlarged a small picture of Lindbergh in front of the "Spirit of St. Louis" just before his hop abroad. Five of these were enlarged to a 20x40 size and colored. Recently an aviator representing a large business concern of national repute saw one of these in Fargo and at once secured Mr. Corbett to finish up another one for his office in Chicago.

Takes Motion Pictures

Motion pictures are not beyond Mr. Corbett either, although he says he has not the proper equipment to do the work in the best way. Two years ago he took some motion pictures that have since been shown before the best veterinarians in the world. It was of a study of Stomach Motility carried on by Dr. A. F. Schalk and Dr. A. M. Amidon of the veterinary department of the North Dakota State College at that time. Dr. Schalk is still with the school, but Dr. Amidon is now with the University of Pennsylvania and they both still use the films. Incidentally, Mr. Corbett said that the Stomach Motility work was some of the most interesting he had ever done.

Mr. Corbett is an honorary member of the Delta Pi fraternity of the North Dakota State College, and he is also a member of the National Photographers Association of America.
