Administration Board Approves New Loan Fund MILITARY BALL DATE

Building Program Decision Will Be Held Up Until Court Acts On Dormitory

Establishment of a student loan fund to be accumulated from the registration fees of students at the North Dakota State college was given informal approval by the state board of administration which met with Dr. John Lee Coulter, president, Friday.

The meeting was for the purpose of discussing the needs for class-room and housing facilities which has been brought about by increased enrollment at the college in the past several years since the last construction appropriation was passed by the 1919 legislature.

Decision Held Up

Decision of the board on the suggestions or Dr. Coulter, which embrace a sweeping building program will be held up until the state supreme court hands down a decision on the holding company finance plan for dormitories which was passed in the Constitutionality of 1927 session. the measure has been before the court for some time and a ruling is expected in the next 30 days.

R. B. Murphy, chairman of the board, intimated that if the court holds the measure unconstitutional, the needs of the A. C. for class-rooms and other space are likely to be brought before the special session of the state legislature which has been called by Gov. A. G. Sorlie.

Should the court rule in favor of the plan, the dormitories which have been started at the college will be completed and the barracks, now used for housing facilities, will be vacated to make way for emergency classrooms and laboratories.

Five Exceptional Numbers Listed In Series For 1928 Season; Arvold In Charge

Five numbers of exceptional worth are listed on the seventeenth annual Lyceum course series of the North Dakota State College for the 1928 sea-son, according to Alfred G. Arvold, in charge of the program.

Knute Rockne, famous football coach, and Tony Sarg's Marionettes would perhaps be classed as the "headliners" by the students, but equally as great attractions are found in Arthur C. Pillsbury, Ratan Devi, and Chinquilla, Indian princess.

The course starts Wednesday evening, January 11, with the appearance of Mr. Pillsbury, celebrated naturalist, who will give an illustrated lecture, "Life Secrets of Wild Flowers," as revealed in rare motion pictures.

We have as pets a Parrott, a Wolf, a Fox, a Heron, and an Eagle. The Baker has been meeting somebody's Darling, who on the other hand raised a Howell. Only Three Lettermen Lost By Graduation To 1928 Squad; 15 Will Return

George "Baldy" Hays, Elkton, S. D., star end of the Bison football squad, was elected captain for the 1928 season at a meeting of the lettermen in the armory Sunday afternoon, according to Ion J. Cortright, athletic Eighteen members of the 1927 squad were awarded letters at the meeting. They are as follows: ends, Hays, Newgard, Ranes; tackles, Sullivan, Blair, DeSautel; guards, Moe, Skaret, Barney, Berntson; centers, Fisher, Ordahl; backs, Peschel, Hahn, Gergen, Guertin, Ben Gorder, Hickerson; manager, Bute.

Only three lettermen will be lost to the 1928 squad by graduation, pointed out Coach Cortright seven juniors and fifteen sophomores of this year's squad will be back to bolster the team next season.

Larger Squads Needed

Cortright pointed out that several outstanding performers were not awarded letters due to various causes. George Hermes, veteran back, was forced out of the line-up with the reappearance of an old leg injury; Lloyd Clark, who shows promise of becoming an excellent end, did not play enough this year to figure in the letter-winners; Al Hermes, who bolstered Cortright's tottering and shaky aggregation in mid-season, furnished good reserve strength but failed to qualify; Gunder Christianson figured in only two plays when he was injured; Svenby and Sleight, linemen, show promise but were up against tough opposition for their positions, as was Dokter and Dvorak; Cy Gorder deserves special mention, having been a consistent attendent at practice for four years but failing to make a letter once.

Coach Cortright stressed the point that larger squads were needed here, and that spirit as displayed by Cy Gorder was typical of the spirit that should exist He added that too many boys who fail to make numerals or letters drop off the squad after the first or second season.

Kenneth Bute, as student manager of the team, was praised highly by both Cortright and Coach Saal-

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Perhaps many students would, at this point, like to remind the Board of Administration that there is always one desire of the student body here which, in its granting, would entail no monetary output on their part. That is changing the name from the unpopular "North Dakota Agricultural College" to the "North Dakota State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts," or briefly speaking, "North Dakota State College."

For several years the student body, the alumni association, and The Spectrum have stood for changing the name. Petitions have been presented, straw votes taken, all to no avail. Someday, however, the name will have to be changed as a progressive step in the development of the school. It may be that the authorities are horror-stricken when they think of the vast increase in enrollment which would result if the name were changed added to our 150students-a-year increase under the present name.

At the present time the name of the college, undesirable as it may be, has little importance in comparison to the needed buildings which would grow out of granted appropriations. We've some kind of a name, but a worse kind of buildings. We can wait for the former to be remedied, but we MUST have new buildings NOW. So to the students about the campus who are anxious to raise the annual cry for a new name, we ask to kindly bide their time until later, and to take up the cry of new buildings instead.

DO YOUR BIT

Every student of the North Dakota State College is a member of the Spectrum staff regardless of the fact that his or her name doesn't appear on the masthead. For that reason you should take an active and lively interest in this paper. If you think something printed should not have been printed, something wrong which should be righted, voice your opinions on the subject. If you know of something which hasn't been printed but which should be printed bring it to the office at once.

We would suggest that every organization on the campus have at least one member for the sole purpose of keeping the paper supplied with news concerning that group. It is a mutual advantage to both The Spectrum and the organization.

Just Comment WISE and OTHERWISE

WE ARE always interested in the affairs of our rivals in the school at Grand Forks. On November 22, the editor of the Dakota Student, Mr. William S. Moeller, launched a sensational attack upon the University's athletic director, Paul J. Davis. Mr. Davis has been with the University since 1919.

Mr. Moeller began his campaign by printing an editorial on the front page of the Dakota Student entitled, "Why." The editor asks why Mr. Davis' position seems so secure when there is so much sentiment directed against him. He states that the students, alums, and business men are absolutely against the man. Quoting, —"There are reasons why Mr. Davis doesn't belong to the University of North Dakota any longer; he has been at this institution since 1919 developing those reasons. Why don't the students and alums who are opposed to his regime organize against him. The time is here And it is a question of concern. Both Mr. Davis and the University of North Dakota need a change.'

This editorial immediately started things humming. In the following issue, Mr. Davis replied calling the attack "childrens stuff," and adding that, "furthermore, I don't think the attack was justified as I am the director of athletics here and not the Seems to us that this is nothing more than passing the buck. Continuing, "Insofar as criticism goes the Flickertail football line was the best this year that I have seen in my nine years at this institution." Mr. Davis is the line coach.

A Student Opinion article, written by an alumnus of '17, appeared in the issue of November 24, bearing up Moellers' statements and attacking Coach Rockwell, a former All-Ameri-

I'M THE EGG

I'm the egg that needs to be cracked I speed through the campus in my car, disregarding points where the sidewalk crosses the road, and where students might be walking across the thoroughfare. Especially between classes, I roar down the roadway honking my horn and expect everyone to give me the right of way. I entertain some notion to the effect that all the co-eds utter gasps of admiration when they see me soar reck-lessly through the campus, but they really remark to each other what a fool I am. I always speed up when I enter the Main Gate in case one of the queens happens to be watching me. I want to be sure to create a fast impression I sink the footfeed to the floor, and yell at some co-ed as I pass "This is just a sample of MY speed."

"flop" as a coach the alumnus proceeds to state that "an All-American has only succeeded in removing all the team's confidence and creating the "What's the use" attitude. As a remedy to the situation he advocates replacing Rockwell with the Grand Forks High School coach, Mr. Bob Cortright.

This startling attack, so open and bitter, certainly is unique One wonders now just who initiated the busi-Was it Moeller alone? This seems improbable, as one man alone could not very well attack the school and keep out of hot water very long. Perhaps the student body persuaded Mr. Moeller to take the step. If the student body is behind the editor, then the campaign should have some effect In this case, it seems to us that the students are to be commended for their straigh-forwardness and courage in trying to remedy what they term a bad situation. Certainly Moeller bad situation. Certainly Moeller should be respected for bearing the brunt of the attack. Yet, we wonder other hidden force at work against Mr. Davis and Mr. Rockwell? If the enemies of the athletic directors are lying beneath the public notice, they must be few and powerful. Just who prompted the editor to launch the at-tack? We are just a little uncertain about this point and we wish someone would set us right.

Those who edit the Dakota Student have not seen fit to send the Spectrum any of its issues in exchange for ours. We repeatedly have written them and have faithfully mailed each issue of the Spectrum to the Dakota Student editors. Why do they refuse to let us read their paper?

Seven In One

Seven schools are located in one college. That is the situation at the North Dakota Agricultural College. Other schools will be added in the future as they are needed.

The School of Mechanic Arts, the School of Science and Literature, the School of Agriculture, the School of Chemistry, the School of Pharmacy, the School of Home Economics, and the School of Education comprise the divisions within the college.

Within the seven schools are various departments. Architecture and Architectural Engineering, Civil Engineering, Electrical Engineering, and Mechanical Engineering comprise the School of Mechanic Arts. Other schools have their divisions in a similar manner.

Those seven schools in one college are housed on a campus containing nineteen major buildings.
