DR. NELSON WINS CHICAGO AWARD

DEVELOPS IMPROVED VACCINE IN BACTERIOLOGICAL RESEARCH WORK

Dr. C. I. Nelson, head of the bacteriology department of State college, has been awarded the Howard T. Ricketts honor prize by the University of Chicago. The prize, a cash award, is given annually to the person, who has achieved the best results in original research in pathology or bacteriology at the University. Dr. Nelson did work at the Chicago university last summer for his doctor's degree.

Dr. Nelson's piece of research was on "Intra-Cellular Proteins of Bacteria." It was published in the Journal of Infectious Diseases.

This work with the proteins of bacteria, it is pointed out, has resulted in a means of getting a more concentrated material for vaccination injection purposes. In the experimental tests, carried on with rabbits, it was discovered that this more concentrated vaccine material produced a high degree of immunity against these bacterial proteins.

Dr. Nelson, originally from River Falls, Wis., came to the college in 1914 as assistant professor of bacteriology and as experiment station worker. His most recently published work in collaboration with Mayme Dvorak in the station is a bulletin, "Studies on the Nature of Wilt Resistance in Flax."

CADETS TO BE IN MEMORIAL PARADE

UNIT COMMENDED BY INSPECTION BOARD AND COMMANDANT FOR SHOWING.

With two formal assemblies of the college cadet corps remaining on the military department's calendar prior to the close of school, the battalion closed a week of strenuous drill and class work Friday when it was inspected by the Federal inspection board. Majors Robert M. Danford, and Charles H. Bonesteel, Washington, D. C., made up the federal board.

The cadet unit will participate in the Memorial Day parade Monday, it was announced by Capt. Thomas S. Smith, P. M. and S. T., who is in charge of the Memorial day parade arrangements this year. The battalion will form t 1:30 p. m. Monday at the college armory. All cadets are asked to take part in th eparade to make as excellent showing as last year.

On Friday, June 3, the battalion assembles for the last time this year, when senior officers turn over their commands to punior officers.

In commenting on the work of the unit this year Captain Smith stated that all around the Corps was in better shape and has accomplished more in the wy of leadership and constructive items of benefit to the school than in any previous year.

"The fact that the Cadet officers were able to get their commanders and the War deparement inspection on a few days' notice indicated that the required degree of responsibility and leadership had been reached," said Captain Smith.

The inspection board officers seemed equally pleased with the Bison unit showing on the parade grounds. Major Danford publicly commended the Gold Star band on its showing and in later conversation stated that the review and inspection was the most satisfactory of 20 of 23 schools inspected to date west of the Mississippi.

The Sophomore girls continued toward the championship be defeating the Upperclass team 21 to 12 in the Ceres Hall gymnasium Monday morning. The next game will be played today between the Freshmen and the Upperclass.

N. C. I. MEMBERSHIP IS REDUCED TO SIX BY LOOP OFFICIALS

North Dakota State Survives Slash In Original Numbers

Reorganization of the North Central Intercollegiate conference into a group of six members was effected at a meeting of officials of the conference held Saturday. Members of the new loop are: North Dakota State, North Dakota University, South Dakota State, South Dakota University, Morningside and Creighton.

Other schools which were formerly members of the conference are Des Moines, St. Thomas, Hastings, and Nebraska Wesleyan.

Loop Too Cumbersome

Rumors to the effect that the conference, which was organized in 1921 with eight members and which was increased to ten last year, would be dissolved in favor of a smaller and more compact body were prevalent since early this spring. Coaches at member colleges of the original organization felt that the conference was getting too cumbersome and that a more compact loop would be beneficial, especially in making game schedules.

The withdrawal of Des Moines University which merged with Drake University recently, precipitated the re-organizing of the conference.

New Loop Is Strong

Athletic officials of the newly-made conference are confident that the North Central will now be one of the strongest loops in the country.

Arrangements for a round robin basketball schedule in which each team will meet every other team in at least two home and home games was made at the meeting of the officials. A committee was also appointed to arrange a round robin football schedule for the 1928 season. Schedules for the 1927 season will stand as originally planned.

Basketball Committee Named

The football title for the 1927 season will be decided on a basis of games played with members of the new conference games already scheduled with former conference members not counting in the championship race. A committee was appointed to work out a basketball schedule. It consisted of Coaches Schabinger, Creighton; West, S. D. State; and Montgomery, S. D. U.

PHI KAPPA LAMBDA HOLDS FORMAL PARTY

An old fashioned garden setting was used as a decorative scheme by the Phi Kappa sorority for its spring formal party held at Powers hotel Saturday night.

A half hour of informal dancing was followed by the formal dance program last 8:30 to 11:30 p. m.

A special feature was the singing of the number, "An Old Fashioned Garden" by Mis Audrey Casselman. Favors given were leather bill folds.

Patrons and patronesses of the sorority were also guests of the evening.

CONCENTRATING THE CONFERENCE

The action of officials of the North Central conference in reducing its membership to six schools will doubtlessly be a beneficial one. Such action came as somewhat of a surprise in that two additional schools had been only admitted last fall.

One need not go far afield to see the unwieldiness of a twelve school conference. Arrangement of schedules from a regional standpoint facilitated by a large membership. But poor scheduling in former years has worked undue hardships on certain schools. With a round robin program necessitated in the new six team loop, championships will take on a truer color.

Obviously, enforcement of eligibility rules may more easily be enforced at six schools than at 12 schools. Strict enforcement of such rules have doubtlessly been foregone in former years.

Again the stronger schools in an athletic sense have been retained thus providing for the strengthening of the conference and its standards. New standards may thus be adhered to. The new arrangement does not mean that games will not be scheduled with former members, however. It does mean that the N. C. I. race in its respective sports will be tightened up considerably.

PI GAMMA MU

From indications, Pi Gamma Mu, newly organized national honor social science society, should be an agent of good on our campus. We have honor societies and fraternities for all our representative branches of learning here; it is only proper that the social sciences should come to the fore.

The two departments of social and political science and that of agricultural economics play dominant parts in the liberal education programs of State college students. Before a student narrows his field of study, he should have a social and economic understanding of people and their activities. The social sciences serve this purpose admirably.

A social science society properly motivated can likewise do much to stimulate interest in social sciences. After all, we are undergoing socializing processes throughout our lives. The man most successful in life from a social and material standpoint, is the man who understands social phenomena and adapts his actions in life to them. The man who would pull himself upward in the realms of chemistry, physics, biology and professions involving them cannot afford to let go the bootstraps of social sciences as set forth in sociology, economics, and political science.

Cass County Junior Club Members Here Saturday

175 BOYS AND GIRLS ON LIVESTOCK, HOME ECONOMICS JUDGING TOUR AT COLLEGE

More than 150 boys' and girls' club members of a Cass county will attend a junior livestock and home economics judging tour being held at the college Saturday, according to H. N. Kaldahl, assistant county agent.

It is expected that 125 boys and 50 girls will take part in the judging of stock, foods and clothing, Mr. Kaldahl said. The additional feature of the program will be a picnic dinner. The Fargo Commercial club will serve ice cream and lemonade.

After the judging events, a baseball game between picked teams of club boys will be played.

No Contests Planned

The Saddle and Sirlain club, an organization of North Dakota State college men interested in livestock, will be in charge of the judging events, while Miss Pauline Reynolds, assistant boys' and girls' club leader for North Dakota, will be in charge of the girls' events.

The program is in no sense a contest, Mr. Kaldahl announced. "What we aim to do," he said, "is to take this tour as a means of giving as many boys and girls in Cass county as possible some definite training in judging work. If, at the end of the day's work, the boys return to their homes with the realization that there is a difference in livestock, I feel that the program will have been worth while."

Facilities Good

It was decided to hold the event at the college because of the excellent facilities available rather than to hold a series of district meetings. It is felt by the club leaders that this fact will make up for the distances that some of the boys and girls in western sections of the county will have to travel in order to attend the event.

The boys will judge beef and dairy cattle, horses, hogs and sheep, while the girls will devote their attention to foods and clothing.

BISON TENNIS MEN DEFEATED IN MEET

Hans Tronnes, representing the Bison in the conference tennis tournament at Sioux City, Iowa, advanced to the second round of play before he was defeated by Sommers of St. Thomas. Tronnes and Bolmeier, in the doubles event advanced to the second round also before being defeated by Murphy and Davis of South Dakota University.

The Bison failed to place in the track and field events though they made themselves felt and pressed their competitors for the places. Cortright and Saalvaechter, coaches, attended the conference meet and also the meeting of the officials afterward. They returned to Fargo Sunday.

"SEEING IS BELIEVING" SIGMA TAU DISCOVERS

The man who wears asbestos socks and doesn't worry about fires has been found.

Milton Pemble, active of the Alpha Sigma Tau fraternity, was sitting on the porch of the fraternity house at luncheon time Thursday noon when a strange event happened.

"Your house's on fire!" a little boy ran up shouting.

"Gwan, get out, you're kidding," Pemble told the youngster.

"Well, there's smoke comin' out the roof," argued the young samaritan. The bulk of the Sigma Taus were eating luncheon, so Pemble followed the boy around the house to the rear. The house was on fire.

Hasty action on the third floor quelled the fire before the hook and

CRAMER TELLS MAJOR
BISON CADETS WANTS

The officers who inspected the battalion Friday were notably human. Unlike the conventional inspecting officer who knocks the 'piece' from a quaking cadet's hands to scowl down the barrel in formal pursuit of a rust pit, Majors Danford and Bonesteel showed personal interest in each cadet. "You wouldn't have room for many more things there, would you?" Major Danford said to Captain Mercade Cramer in referring to the latter's chest ornaments.

"Yes, sir!" Cramer responded. The rotund captain of the machine gun and howitzer company in affairs military 'knows his forage'. Medals and ribbons bear witness.

"What would you put there?" asked the Major, pawing over the trophy mantel of the company commander. "Gold Star, sir!" popped back Cramer.
