NORWEGIAN MOVIE TO BE PRESENTED BY COLLEGE 'Y' MEN

Film on Scandinavian Life to be Shown Thursday
Evening

"A Norway Lass", film version of the story has been used in filming the story. Such Scandinavian film stars as Egil Eide, Lars Hanson and Karin Molander carry leading roles.

Originally a ten-reel-picture, the drama has been cut to six reels for American showing by its Swedish producers.

The original Norwegian setting of the story has been used in filming the story. Such Scandinavian film stars as Egil Eide, Lars Hanson and Karin Molander carry leading roles.

Egil Eide, playing the part of Saemund Spruceways, is Norway's most prominent "Character" actor, especially in Bjornson's and Ibsen's dramas. He recently celebrated his twenty-fifth anniversary as an actor. As Saemund in "A Norway Lass" he is said to have created his greatest film character.

Lars Hanson and Karin Molander play their respective parts of Thornbjorn Seamund's son and Synnove, Gut-torm's daughter. They are the outstanding actors of half a dozen noted actors on the Swedish stage being known as "the Barrymores" of Scandinavia.

"A Norway Lass" dramatizing Bjornson's novel first published in 1858, is a drama of Norwegian peasant life that has become a European classic. The story revolves about youth Thornbjorn, his father Saemund and the girl Synnove.

The two farms used in the film setting lie in the Gulbrands Dalen, a valley in the middle of Norway noted for its magnificent scenery. Most of the people in the cast not having star roles are Norwegian farmers who left their work to portray a film as picturesque as the Passion play.

John W. Brunius, the producer and director, was for many years one of the leading actors of the Royal Dramatic theatre in Stockholm, but has been in motion picture work for the last eight years.

Members of the arrangements committee are: Elmer Hanson, Foss Narum, and Arthur Anderson.

ICE CARNIVAL TO BE GIVEN FRIDAY

DACOTAH FIELD WILL BE SCENE
OF WINTER SPORTS IN FROLIC
PLANNED BY ASSOCIATIONS

Something new in the way of entertainment will be given college students next Friday evening with the staging of an ice carnival on Dacotah field rink by the College Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. The Carnival will constitute the annual winter mixer of the Associations.

Dacotah field will be transformed into an arena of winter gaieties with nearly every form of winter sport being provided, state the carnival managers, Carl Ashe and Rebecca Keene.

The armory will be used as canteen from which food and hot drinks will be served during the carnival hours from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. Miss Keene is in charge of the committee on refreshments.

The cinder track on Dacotah field will be available for the sports of sleighing and skiing behind horses. Horses will be furnished for these sports. Students are urged by the carnival managers to gather up all their skates, whether quadrepeds or not, skis, toboggans and other paraphernalia and bring them for an evening of winter frolic.

A toboggan is to be built by the use of the bleachers and the rink will be lighted by huge spot lights furnished by the engineers.

OLSEN'S COLLEGIANS TO PLAY FOR S. A. E. FORMAL

Earl Olsen and His Collegians, popular Fargo orchestra, will go to Grand Forks Saturday to play the dance program for the annual formal party of the University Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, national fraternity.

BISON TRIM SOUTH DAKOTA BUNNIES IN 45-40 SCORING BEE

Creighton to Meet Bison Here
Saturday—Hahn Stars in Bunnie Game

The Bison will meet the Blue-jay five from Omaha at the college armory Saturday night in a contest which will have an important bearing on the North Central Conference race. Saal-waechter's cagers returned Sunday evening from Brookings to prepare for Saturday's game.

Creighton Undefeated

The Creighton quint has not suffered a conference loss being able to take games from the Bison and the Nodaks in the last two minutes of play on recent southern invasions of the latter teams. A strong Marquette quint was also disposed of by the Bluejays after they had dropped a previous match to the Milwaukeeans.

Hahn Tallies for Bison

Scoring in the Bison-Bunnies game Saturday night was mutual with Bobby Hahn, Bison forward, and Brower and Schaefer, Bunny forwards doing most of the hoop warming. Brower and Hahn were tied for scoring honors with 16 counts each.

Redman's team frightened the Dakotans into a scoring mood in the initial half. The Jackrabbits hopped off to an early lead, but the Saal-waechter men had stamped out a 27 to 19 margin at the halfway mark.

The South Dakotans fell short in a similar rally during the final period when the Bison defense stemmed the Bunny attack.

Because of the efficient guard duty of Newgard and Miller, the Rabbits resorted to long shots for many of their counters. Hahn and McPherson carried the attack into Bunny territory. Schaefer, Brower, and Krug stood out for the Brookings quint.

A bill introduced in the House of Representatives last Friday which may be of interest to students reads as follows:

H. B. 290—Swett, Kidder, and Miller, Logan: concurrent resolution ordering and directing the state board of administration to withdraw from the agricultural college "the schools of education, pharmacy, science, literature and art, and courses of instruction therein, and prohibiting the granting of degrees from such college excepting those in agriculture and natural science," restoring to the university the functions of a university and limiting agricultural college to strictly agricultural and natural science studies. (Education).

Killed by Senate

S. B. 178—Martin, Morton. Resolution closing the university agricultural college and state teacher college for two years. (Indefinitely postponed.)

MINNEAPOLIS MINISTER SPEAKS AT CONVOCATION

DR. LUCIUS H. BUGBEE

Dr. Lucius H. Bugbee, pastor of the Hennepin Methodist Church of Minneapolis, spoke to the student body at the college at convocation Friday morning.

BUGBEE TALKS ON VALUES OF LIFE

SELFISH INDIVIDUAL SPURNS
CHRISTIAN LIVING SAYS
PASTOR

"Life is an affair of cavalry, to be dashing used and cheerfully hazarded," said Dr. Lucius H. Bugbee quoting from Stevenson in his address to students at convocation Wednesday. Dr. Bugbee, pastor of the Hennepin avenue Methodist church of Minneapolis, stressed the importance of religion in an individual's life.

"Religion dares to assume that life does not end at what we call death. Religion is betting one's life that there is a God," said Dr. Bugbee.

The speaker pointed out that Christian living and its principles do not appeal to the ease loving, selfish individual. The highest ultimate values of life are the moral and spiritual ones of service and sacrifice rather than the acquisitive instinct of getting material things, said Dr. Bugbee.

Dr. Bugbee also spoke at a luncheon given by the College Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Wednesday noon. He addressed students at the University Thursday.

TEAMS N, D, HEAD HOCKEY TOURNEY

Team N succeeded in advancing another notch toward the Intra-mural hockey league championship by decisively trouncing team A by a 11-2 score. Led by Capt. McDowell and Wambach, team N proved much too formidable for their adversaries. Capt. Kneeshaw and Hagen bore the brunt of the burden for the losers.

In a game that was featured by rough play team N won an unimpressive victory over team C by a 4-2 score. Captain Johnson and Meehan stood out for the winners, each scoring two goals; while Palmer Severson, husky Captain of team C, and Hector Martin, were the luminaries for their team.

GYPSY OPERETTA TO BE GIVEN AT ARMORY WEDNESDAY EVENING

Five Singers Make Up Cast
For Romance of Romany
Camp

"In Romany," an operetta of gypsy life and romance, will be the fourth number of the 16th Annual Lyceum series of the North Dakota Agricultural college being given by the Blue Danube Light Opera singers in the college armory at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday evening.

Has Gypsy Setting

The operetta, written by Sandor Randaonovits, is a musical version of the love romance of a young American naval officer and his gypsy sweetheart growing out of his visit to a Romany gypsy camp. The production is staged with all the color and picturesqueness typical of the nomadic life as lived by the folk of Romany.

Five singers make up the cast. Lee Burgess and Cass Ward Whitney sing tenor and baritone parts respectively. Hilda McMillen is a soprano; Alva Ostrom has a powerful contralto voice. The fifth member of the party, Virginia Pass mere, is an accomplished piano soloist and accompanist.

DEAN BALES STRESSES IMPORTANCE OF HOME

Dean Alba Bales, head of the School of Home Economics, addressed the Young People's group at the Plymouth Congregational church Sunday evening on the topic, "The Child's Greatest Heritage".

Dean Bales deplored the fact that most of the young people in college today lay too much stress on the material values of life. They intend to use their education as a means of increasing their earning power in dollars and cents rather than to further their ability to contribute intelligent and effective service to their community in one form or another.

The speaker maintained that if a person sets out to serve humanity, such service is worthwhile, he or she will receive adequate material compensation to cover legitimate human needs.

"The noblest good in the life of any man or woman is parenthood as expressed in a good home and children developed to the highest physical, mental and spiritual standards," said Dean Bales.

"Y" QUINT HOLDS LEAD BY 41-8 WIN

Play in the College Y. M. C. A. basketball league during the past week finds the "Y" quint still at the top with a 41 to 8 win over the Bearcats Monday. The Architects drummed out a 19 to 11 victory over the Wolves as did the Farm Husbandry quint over the Independents by a 18-13 margin.

In Thursday nights games, the Architects again won, with a 17 to 8 win over the Independents. The Bearcats clawed out a 19-13 conquest of the Wolves while the Whippets topped the Barracks five by a 179 score.

Play in the Fraternity league was suspended because of mid term examinations.

A LIVE SHOW

The staging of the First Annual Costume Recital last week means a furtherance of not only dramatic work at the college, but another step toward giving the students at State College the advantage of a well-rounded education.

Many of us who saw the portrayal of stage and historic characters Thursday evening gained visual impressions that long hours of reading could never have given us. The elapse of centuries can scarcely be spanned by even the most elaborate description of a character, but when we see that character on the stage, costumed and of flesh and blood, we begin to appreciate. We begin to realize that literature is a record of humanity, and that the stage is really "the crucible of civilization".

The stage today, in the writer's mind, can be one of the greatest mediums of education. Hard, practical knowledge truly is conned from textbooks, but the creative work by which man daily advances civilization is the product of his imagination. Imagination must be balanced by the absolute sciences, but so as that imagination can be turned into creative channels and acted upon the stage, it will very likely be rational.

Portrayal of historic characters, of costumes worn either by foreign peoples or in bygone times is stimulating to the imagination. One gets a glimpse of history with each new period, each new character depicted on the stage.

BILLS?

We are students at a State institution. Last week several obnoxious if not asinine documents relative to our college in the shape of proposed bills crept into the records of our state legislature. As individuals, we are entitled to ruminate freely on just what the whole thing means. Of course we're angered about the bills, it makes one wonder what kind of a person could have gumption to suggest closing down the major institutions of learning in the state, or could have seen economy let alone sanity in crowding one crowded school into the environs of another crowded school.

The bill proposing the transfer of our Schools of Science and Literature, Education and Pharmacy seem biased in their very wording. Of course, we are biased so that should we be left unmolested.

Suppose that such a transfer step were taken. We would have left the Schools of Home Economics, Agriculture, Chemistry and Mechanic Arts.

The proposed bill states that this college should be made an Agricultural college literally as well as in name. In reality were the transfer step ever taken, the question whether the State college could survive such an action comes up.

One might argue all day on the issue that the Agriculture, Home Economics, Chemistry and Mechanic Arts schools could get along without the Schools of Science and Literature and Education. The facts remain that they could not still be first class professional schools with license to grant degrees.

The Schools of Home Economics and Agriculture are contributing the lions share of Smith-Hughes and agriculturally trained teachers for state high schools. The School of Education, the School of Science and literature share in such training. The School of Pharmacy works hand in hand with the School of Chemistry.

A thesis could be written, figures amassed to convince the authors of legislative bills that they are on the wrong track in their search for economy. The College and the University should be first heritage which state lawmakers safeguard.

If the students of the present College and University are to be driven out of North Dakota, there is no surer way of doing it than in brandishing a club in the form of such bills over their heads. As for poaching on University preemptions, this writer cannot see why it is not as important to give a general, well rounded education to future agriculturists, home experts and pharmacists as it is to the lawyers and doctors, professions already crowded.

Class in Play Production Gives First Costume Recital

"Parade of Yesteryears" Put on by Advanced Students

In what might be called a "Parade of Yesteryears," the First Annual Costume Recital was inaugurated by students in the advanced play production class at the Little Country theatre Thursday evening under the direction of Prof. A. G. Arvold, head of the public discussion department.

Historic Characters Portrayed
All the noted personages who have scribbled or have had scribbled their names on the pages of historic and historic art were there.

The drama of life is at once struck home when such characters whether real or fictitious as Robin Hood, Oliver Twist, Ben Hur, Shylock, Peer Gynt and Aase are characterized on the stage. Gay Robin Hood, mischievous Oliver Twist, Peer Gynt, who seemingly is a Norwegian version of an American tramp, along with the entire galaxy of historic and period characters tell much of times gone by.

Mary Magdelene, the virgin; Joan of Arc, the heroine; Cleopatra, portrayed in a sane although hardly a modern conception; Peter Pan; Mrs. Malaprop, the height of dignity; Lady Macbeth, personifying tragedy; Catherine, sardonic and stern; Mephisto, the devil; King Lear, with the flowing white beard; Richelieu, Othello, Cyrano de Bergerac, Falstaff, a fat Shakespearean gentleman; Juliet; Camille, Portia were among the celebrities present.

Folk Costumes Shown

Twenty-four nations were represented in their native folk regalia at the recital. Among these were Alaska, Mexico, Hawaii, China, Japan, India, Egypt, Turkey, Greece, Italy, France, Switzerland, Germany, Russia, Sweden, Norway, Iceland, Denmark, Holland, Scotland, Ireland, England, Indian, and America.

A style show of American dress for the past three centuries was also a part of the inaugural costume recital. Fashions of the different years ranged from 1650 to 1926.

Committee members in charge of the costume show were: character roles, Anita Mary Blake, Gladys Whitney, Edris Probstfield, Huldah Finstadd, Constance Melchoir, Mildred Vold; costume plates books, Mabel Gilbertson, Marie Bergman, Kennard Martin, Ralph Hollands, Rebecca Keene; old folk costumes, Hazel Riddle, Harold Fog, Dorothy Kretschmar, Bertha Strand, Donald Hay, Alma Opdahl; costumes of yesteryear, Charlotte Blake, Evelyn Blakeslee, Fred Byerly, Earl Quick, Opal Tudal, Gertrude Pfeifer.

PHI OMEGA PI HOST AT SUNDAY AFTERNOON TEA

Active members of Phi Omega Pi, assisted by the members of the Zeta Mothers' Club, were hostesses at a tea at the Chapter House on Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5, given in honor of Mrs. A. E. Andrews who was a patroness of the sorority, and is leaving Saturday for San Antonio, Texas.

The valentine motif was predominate at the affair, the house and table being decorated in red and white, and hearts being featured in the refreshments. As a farewell gift the active chapter presented Mrs. Andrews with a silver jelly server engraved with Greek letters of the sorority.

Guests included active and Alumni. Guests included active and Alumni members, pledges and patronesses of the sorority and members of the Mothers' Club. Miss Esther Skjelset was general chairman of the arrangements committee. Assisting her were Mrs. W. R. Addison, representing the Mothers' Club, Eva Wilner and Virginia Sands.

SKARET DRAWS BISON SUBTITLES

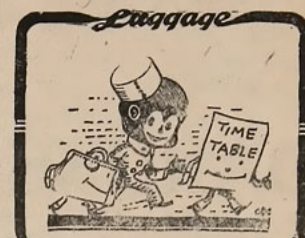

FRESHMAN IN ARCHITECTURE MAKES CLEVER SKETCHES FOR BISON OF '28

When the 1928 Bison staff first set up in business in their office in Old Main, one of the first problems that arose in connection with the publishing of a "bigger, better Bison" was sub-title drawings. These drawings are for use within a certain division, for instance football, basketball, hockey, etc., all come under Athletics; and enterprising campus artists are scarce and far between when it comes to sub-title production.

The Alf Skaret, a freshman in the Architecture department, asked for a chance at these selfsame drawings, got the ideas in mind, and came back a few weeks later with the same pieces of art that you'll see decorating these sub-title pages when the book is published in May. This efficient response to the Bison heads erased a mighty problem and left the air clear for the solution of the thousand and one remaining entanglements.

Mr. Skaret's drawings form an important part of the art work of the Bison and contain clever ideas portrayed by masterful drawing in a wholly pleasing manner. Facial expression in these drawings is one of the outstanding features of his work. Mr. Skaret also did some work for the Satire section in order to more clearly present some of Ebony Blott's clever ideas.

Dr. H. L. Walster, Dean of the School of Agriculture, left Thursday with the Better Seed Special which is making stops at various points on three railroads, the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Soo, and will return Monday, February 21.

No, a hockey league isn't a club formed for cooperative pawning.

They played up the War scheme at the military ball this year. No doubt there was plenty of casualties.

AFTER THE BALL, THE GIRLS INSISTED UPON TREAT AND RETREAT.

With tongue as the weapon, the skirmish line was very active.

And, as in the World War, there were some in charge of the Canteen. Those than can't e'en dance.

When, during the dance, the soldier thirsted for battle, he took time out and shot a few baskets.

THE WOUNDED NEEDED ONLY A CHIROPODIST.

The atmosphere of war was enlivened somewhat when the dancers brought peanuts so that they could be shell shocked.

Of course there wasn't any tanks.

MILITARY FORMAL IS COLORFUL BALL

TWELFTH ANNUAL CADET BALL ATTENDED BY 150 COUPLES FRIDAY

The 12th Annual Military Ball, sponsored by Scabbard and Blade, national honorary military fraternity, held in the armory Friday evening was attended by one of the largest gathering ever to be present at a college military formal. There were 150 couples.

Decorations effected in the national colors transformed the armory into a colorful setting. Draping the armory entrance and the entire ceiling expansion of the armory were streamers of red and white. In the midst of the canopy of streamers was a field of blue having five electrically lighted stars. These with balcony starlights furnished the lighting. The five star symbol is that of Scabbard and Blade. Booths for the chaperones and orchestra at either end of the hall were draped in keeping with the patriotic design. Field arms placed at corners of the ballroom floor, crossed swords and helmets with flags draped upon walls competed the setting.

Informal dancing from 8:30 to 9:00 P. M. was followed by the grand march and formal program. Favors given were a swordlike letter opener secured in program booklets bearing the fraternity's crest and having the honorary guests and personnel of the local chapter of Scabbard and Blade listed.

NODAK FROSH DEFEAT BABY BISON 54 TO 35

Bison frosh received a grand upset in their 54 to 35 loss to Flickertail yearlings here Saturday which was characterized by rampant scoring and loose defense work.

Outstanding in the fracas was the torrid work of William (Bus) Bristol, Fargo High product, who plays a forward for the Flickers, and Cecil Bliss, also from the local high school altho not a member of its tourney quints, who scored six field counters for the Bison. Victor Brown, formerly of Valley City, led the field in scoring with 8 goals and two gift throws giving the Nodak yearlings 18 points. Brown netted half of his field tosses from midcourt.

Bristol proved to be in reverse form of that of a week ago and the Bison frosh were unable to halt his stampede under the hoop for short counters. Inability of the Baby Bison to organize an effective defense accounts much for the defeat.

The Flickers had a 15 to 5 lead before Bliss potted the first Bison counter. At the half mark the Flickers led 22 to 17 a difference which the Bison never overcame.

The past week has been Farm Managers Special week in the Agricultural building. Close to fifty farmers from over the state were in attendance.

The program was outlined by the Northwest Farm Managers Association, which met in Fargo the first of the month, as what they wanted. Prof. Cap E. Miller, Dean Walster and Professor Shepperd, with the assistance of some others, made up the program.

The program consisted of lectures on farm management, soils, livestock and other subjects that the Farm Managers association had specifically asked for.

The Northwest Farm Managers' Association is composed of persons interested in the solution of the problems of actual farm operators. Cap E. Miller of the North Dakota Agricultural College is Sec. Treasurer of the association. In peaking of the work, Mr. Miller said that he believed this kind of work was something new, in fact they had never done it before and he knew of no other school which had done it.

Over the Rim of Grand Canyon

He Threw This Pen and It Struck Unharmd on the Jagged Rocks a Half Mile Below

Non-breakable Pen Barrel? Dr. F. C. Morse of the National Park-to-Park Highway Association was unconvinced.

So recently to test the new Parker Duofold barrel, he stood on the rim of Grand Canyon and threw this pen into the rock-lined chasm.

When the pen was recovered amid the jagged rocks a half mile below the canyon's edge, it was scratched a bit, but quite unbroken.

When the cap was removed the point was as good as ever—a point guaranteed for 25 years, not only for mechanical perfection but for wear!

You cannot get Duofold quality in any pen save that stamped "Geo. S. Parker." Look carefully for this. Any good pen counter would like you to try this classic.

LINDSAY FINDS A NEW MARKET FOR BATHTUBS

Kenneth Lindsay, English labor leader and former Oxford student, speaking on post war conditions in England and the British general strike traced the whole intricate set of circumstances which ties the entire world into a giant neighborhood today in his address at the Plymouth Congregational church Wednesday evening.

Mr. Lindsay suggested as a theme for any student interested in sociology that of tracing the connection between Communism and the Absence of Bath Tubs". He contended that the absence of an adequate opportunity for an education and the absence of decent sanitary housing conditions—"keeping clean within and without"—are more powerful breeders of communism, perhaps, than any other two causes.

A four year contract was let to the Balfour Jewelry Co., Attleboro, Mass., to supply rings for the next four consecutive senior classes, at class meetings recently.

The classes are not bound to buy the rings submitted each year by the Balfour Company but have agreed that if rings are to be purchased they will not be bought from any other firm. It is reported that the plan will lower the cost of the rings.

The proposition met with the approval of the Senior and Junior classes at a joint meeting Tuesday and was confirmed by the Sophomore and Freshman classes Wednesday.
