ANNUAL MILITARY BALL TO BE HELD FRIDAY

BISON YEARLINGS DOWN NODAK FROSH 27 TO 25

FLICKERS' 21 TO 11 LEAD FADES OUT IN FINAL BISON RALLY

Chandler, Hayes Get Winning
Tallies—Bison Guarding
A Feature

The Bison yearlings, while their elders are disputing court issues at Brookings, will meet the University Freshmen at the armory 8 p. m. Saturday in their second clash. Romping away from the upstate frosh in the final half of their game last Saturday at Grand Forks, the Baby Bison won a 27 to 25 victory.

Nodaks Have 21-11 Lead

Things looked anything but cheery for the local frosh when the first half closed with the count 19 to 11 against them.

Livdahl, former Bismarck star and guard on the Nodak's team, accounted for five goals in the initial half. O'Keefe netted three while the State college yearlings divided scoring honors equally, Bliss getting two field counters, and Gergen, Smith, and Hickerson each one.

Bison Rally

With the score standing 21 to 11 against them, the Bison went on stampede. Johnny Smith and Cecil Bliss each netted field goals, Baldy Hayes raised the ante by two goals and before Smith left the court on personals, he and Hayes had tied the count at 21 all with gift scores. Bliss broke the tie with another long heave, with O'Keefe tying the count a minute later.

Baldy Hayes and Art Chandler put the Bison drive over by potting short ones. Although the Flickers' scoring (Continued on page three)

PERSONEL OF DEBATE TEAMS IS ANNOUNCED

The names of students on debating teams to represent North Dakota State college on the forensic schedule and definite debate dates have been released by Donald Hay, instructor in the public discussion department, who is in charge of the college debate program.

A local team will meet the St. Thomas college debaters at St. Paul on March 5. The affirmative will be taken by the local team with Eloise Powers, Victor Lindgren, and Hjalti Thorfinnson as members.

The St. Thomas team will make a return engagement on March 28. The State College team made up by Glenn Smith, Leonard Rygg, and Allan Mortenson will uphold the negative issue of the Farm Relief question.

Intervening the two St. Thomas dates is the North Dakota State-University of North Dakota debate. The affirmative side of the debate being held here will be taken by Eloise Powers and Morris Olson.

Jorgen Birkeland and Chester Ellickson, veteran debaters at the college are scheduled to meet a Montana State college team at Bozeman on the Prohibition issue sometime in March. A date with Washington State college is also being negotiated.

ENGINEERS GET NEW GENERATOR FOR TESTS

The Mechanical Engineering Department has recently added to its equipment in the electrical laboratories a new Westinghouse motor generator set, to be used in getting operating and performance data of motors and generators.

The set consists of two 220 volt, 3 phase motor generators mounted on a common bed-plate. One of these generators is mounted in the conventional manner, while the other having no feet is supported by pedestal bearings on either side, thereby allowing the frame to rotate. The two motor generators are coupled together by a flanged coupling which permits the use of the two units as generators combining their output, or either can be used independently of the other. Also other combinations may be obtained such as the use of one machine as a motor with which to drive the other as a generator.

Study of different types of motors is made possible through the use of interchangeable rotors. A Westinghouse autostarter gives the reduced voltage necessary in starting when operating the machine as a squirrel cage induction motor.

While the apparatus is of special design for laboratory use, it has the same appearance, mechanical construction and electrical characteristics as the standard commercial apparatus.

SEVENTEEN NAMED TO PHI KAPPA PHI

BURTON ANDERSON ONLY
JUNIOR CANDIDATE NAMED TO HONOR SOCIETY

Seventeen students of State college have been elected to membership in Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholastic society at the college, according to Dean Alba Bales, president of the society.

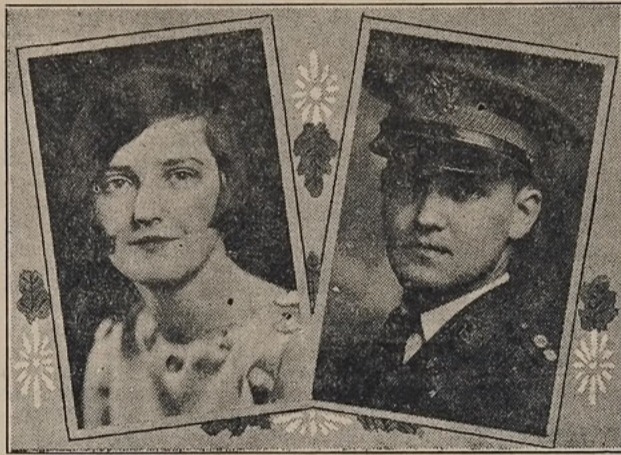

Burton E. Anderson, Moorhead, Minn., in the School of Education was the only junior to be elected to membership.

Seniors honored for their scholastic achievements and their course are: Jorgen M. Birkelans, Warwick, agriculture; J. C. Ellickson, Charlson, Education; Mary McGregor, Wheatland, Science and Literature; Harold Hulet, Pretty Rock, mechanical engineering; Leroy Lillie, Maxbass, agriculture; Oluf Studlien, Fargo, civil engineering; E. C. Bolmeier, Erie, education; A Glenn Hill, Erie, education; Frank E. Moore, Fargo, agriculture; Esther Skjelsset, Fargo, education; Mrs. Julia Baker, Fargo, education; Maude McKee, Fargo, education; Sister Cornelia, Sister Louis, Fargo Sacred Heart Academy, education; Reubon Anderson, agriculture, Dalton, Minn.; Hazel Riddle, Colgate, education.

SENIORS, JUNIORS HAVE CLASS MEETING TODAY

Members of the senior and junior class will hold a class meeting in room 12 of the engineering building at 4 p. m. Tuesday afternoon. Discussion of important class business will be in order, reports Rae Kneeshaw, senior, class president.

MILITARY BALL LEADERS

Cadet Capt. Russell O. Freeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Freeman, Fargo, and Miss Elizabeth Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reed, Fargo, will lead the grand march at the 12th Annual Military Ball being given in the armory Friday evening. Captain Freeman is manager of the formal, sponsored by Scabbard and Blade.

CAST OF 72 PEOPLE GIVE FIRST ANNUAL COSTUME RECITAL

Historic and Stage Characters
To Be Portrayed on Stage Thursday

Seventy-two persons will take part in the First Annual Costume Recital which will be staged in the Little Country theatre at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, by students in the public discussion department under the direction of Prof. A. G. Arvold.

100 Costumes Used

More than 100 costumes typifying characters of history and stage will be used in the recital. The costumes, being obtained from New York, Chicago and Minneapolis, will be on exhibit along with costume books, plates and stage relics Wednesday and Thursday afternoons at the green room and the theatre library.

A New Project

The Recital, which is a new development in the history of Mr. Arvold's Little Country theatre work, will be presented in three parts. The first part of the costume show may be known as "Around the World" tableau for in it folk costumes of 24 distinct nations will be exhibited. In the second part of the dress revue, mannequins will typify the costumes of yesteryear. Costumes dating back to fashions of the last five centuries will be shown.

As a climax to the unique recital, the third part will revivify characters that have strode through the pages of history and stage alike. Many of the 24 character portrayals have been depicted on the stage, but have originally been drawn from history.

Falstaff, Cleopatra, Hamlet, King Lear, Richelieu famed Shakespearian and historic characters, Peter Pan, Peer Gynt, Joan D'Arc, Robin Hood, Cyrano Bergerac, Mephisto, and others will be impersonated by use of accurate makeup and costuming at the theatre Thursday evening.

EDUCATION CLUB TO HOLD PARTY FEB. 25

Members of the Education Club met Friday evening in the green room of the Little Country theatre. Christine Walhood, president of the club, presided.

The club will hold an informal dancing party February 25 at the College Y. M. C. A. Chairmen of the various committees are: Christine Walhood, general arrangements; Vivian Hinge, decorations; Gladys Myhre, music; and Peter McArten, tickets.

"EARN AND LEARN" MOTTO AT STATE

FIFTY-FOUR PER CENT OF MALE
STUDENT BODY EARN WAY
WHOLLY AT COLLEGE

The college student of the middle-west who doesn't tend babies, mop out vestibules, and otherwise acclimate himself to the practical things in life, rather than the classic, is simply not in it any more, figures released by A. H. Parrott, registrar at the North Dakota Agricultural college, show.

Fifty-four per cent of the number of men students enrolled at the North Dakota Agricultural college earn their way through the college without parental assistance, figures of the college registrar, gleaned from registration cards show.

Three-fourths of the men, 76.3 per cent earn their way wholly or partially while 25.4 per cent of the women at the college are paying their expenses in part.

The total earnings of the students, estimating the average cost of attendance at the State College as $500, are -253,000 for total college enrollment of 1056 students, for the winter term. Of this sum, Co-Ed students contribute $28,000.

There are 50 women paying all their expenses in gaining an education; 83 pay their way partially. Of the men, 396 rely wholly on their own earning powers and 557 are getting financial assistance.

DECORATIONS TO BE FEATURE OF CADETS 12TH ANNUAL BALL

Military and State Officials
Sent Invitations For Cadet Formal

The 12th Annual Military Ball, outstanding formal function of State College for the winter term, will be held in the college armory Friday evening. Members of Scabbard and Blade and cadet officers of the college battalion are in charge of the ball.

Preparations for the formal, in the way of decorations and ticket sales, have been progressing for the past week.

Unique Decorations Planned

A unique and original setting is planned by the committee on decorations, according to chairman Charles Bowers.

The entire armory will be festooned with trimmings in patriotic colors of red, white, and blue. Centered in a false ceiling of red and white streamers will be a beautiful field of blue lit up by five electrically lighted stars, the symbol of Scabbard and Blade, national honorary military fraternity. The five stars and the balcony lights will also be transformed to starlights and with the fraternity symbol will furnish lighting effects for the occasion. The entry way in the armory will be arched and trimmed in keeping with the remainder of the hall.

At the east and west ends of the armory arched booths canopied and bedecked in patriotic colors will be for the chaperones and the orchestra. On the north side, another booth for the serving of frappe will be erected. The setting will be further elaborated by the placing of flags on the walls. A military setting is to be emphasized by placing machine guns, 37 millimeter guns and trench mortars in the corners of the ball room floor. Placing of flags about the ballroom will further elaborate the setting.

Informal dancing will be enjoyed from 8:30 to 9 p. m.

LINDSAY TO TALK ON BRITISH LABOR STRIKE

Kenneth Lindsay, author, lecturer, and British labor leader from London, will speak on "The British General Strike" at 8 p. m. Wednesday in the Plymouth Congregational church, under the auspices of the Plymouth Congregational church and the college Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Lindsay will also be the honor guest to a luncheon being held in the college Y. M. C. A. Wednesday afternoon.

One of the youthful leaders in the British labour party, Mr. Lindsay was an outstanding student at Oxford University. He was the first representative of the labour party to be elected president of the Oxford union. He was also a member of the Oxford debating team that visited the United States several years ago. During his college career besides being an "Oxford Blue" on the university football team, Mr. Lindsay became prominent in literary fields while still in college.

COLLEGE EDUCATION

It is an open question whether a college education (other than that gained in technical schools for some especial profession) is a real cash asset. There are arguments on both sides. In mere dollars and cents it might seem that the four years start in business which the non-college boy gets is an advantage in experience which the lad who has spent the same four years in an institution of learning will never overcome.

This, however, is the cold cash viewpoint. Too frequently we confuse the gaining of money with the attainment of happiness. It is really happiness for which we quest and happiness and wealth do not always walk hand in hand.

The college man gets more out of life than the chap who started early into business. College teaches any boy a keener appreciation of the worth-while things of life.

Here he gets an appreciation of literature which will give him hundreds of hours of enjoyment in his reading of the classics, in enjoyment of poetry, philosophy, and science piled tier on tier in every library on the globe. No one who knows books can ever be lonely.

In college he learns a smattering of art. He learns to get an understanding enjoyment out of pictures. To most uneducated men the art gallery is a lot of pictures which do not appeal to him as do the "art" calendars which hang on the walls of his own office.

This is equally true of music. Men who are uneducated in music find grand opera a bore. The drone of the saxophone in the syncopating orchestra is the last word in soothing sound.

If that boy of yours is to live life at its best, if he is to live with and enjoy the things which cultured people enjoy, if he is to get out of our brief existence here the really worth-while things, then indeed is a college education worth all it costs in both time and money.

Ebony Blott Edits Satire Section in Bison of 1928

EDITOR WALLUM PLANS SATIRE SECTION AS MOCK NEWS-PAPER OF CAMPUS LIFE

To the host of Spectrum readers who instinctively turn to Ebony Blott's column when they first lay their hands on the paper in the basement of Old Main, this announcement will carry not only glad but hilarious news.

Mr. Blott, fun-maker par excellence, is going to have plenty to say about these readers in a way which will bring tears of laughter to every person on the campus who is the slightest bit inclined to be optimistic and therefore susceptible to good wholesome humor. The satire section of the 1928 Bison, and all this is going to take place in which will be published about May 15.

Ebony is going to run the whole works as a newspaper and it will tickle more ribs, bust more sides, and produce more grins than a five-year subscription to College Humor. And all because the joke's on you and your friends! There will be pictures of you in that section that you swore up and down would never come to light, drawings that you can look at for hours and easily establish marathon laughing records, and humorous little incidents that will knock your funny bone for a twenty-yard loss.

There are twenty-eight pages or more in the back of the book just overflowing with a masterpiece 100 per cent better than all Blott's columns placed end to end, rolled up in a big ball, and packed in an attractive box. It's a safe bet than fifty per cent of the students will begin at the back and come forward when they start to read their 1928 Bison.

CADETS LEARN OF AVIATION STUNTS

ENSIGN ARMOUR TELLS STUDENTS OF FLYING TECHNIQUE AND STUNTS IN NAVAL AVIATION TALK

"Flying today is not taking a chance with death," according to Ensign Howell Armour, naval aviation officer.

To illustrate, the aviator stated that of 300 untrained men learning to fly at Pensacola, Fla., in the past year only 3 or one percent were killed. The deaths were all due to errors in judgment. The comparative safety of the plane may be realized when told that 150 planes were in the air each day.

Flying, one would draw from Armour's talk, is largely a matter of knowing how to do the proper thing at the proper time and knowing how to land. The saying is, "Any fool can fly, but it takes a flyer to land."

"Pull her back and kick her" is the stunt flyer's first commandment. In this case, the control stick is pulled and the rudder pedal receives the "kicking". From his definition of how a flyer may throw his machine out of control, Ensign Armour went into a maze of air circus tricks that leave the average ground hog bewildered.

"Looping the loop" is properly not a stunt, he stated, for at no point in the loop is the plane out of control.

"The spin is the most dangerous predicament a plane may be in," according to Armour. "Although it is one of the easiest to get out of."

In the two types of spins, the "tail" spin is the most dangerous. The ship remains almost flat, with the tail revolving in a horizontal plane. In the "spinning nose dive", the nose is headed downward and the plane descends rapidly twirling like a top. It takes from 700 to 400 feet of altitude to come out of such a dive.

The repertoire of a trick flyer is a colorful one. There is the barrel roll, split S, falling leaf, wing over, Dutch roll, flipper turn, precision spin, Immelman loop, half roll. Included in this category are the intermediary convolutions that both the plane and the flyer's mind go through in reaching an objective. They, however, are trade secrets.

The Immelman loop, as was practically all of the stunts, was a development of the world war. Immelman's loop won him many an air fight and aroused the wonderment of flyers. It began as do many of the others by "pulling her back and kicking her" to go into a dive. When the enemy dived after him, Immelman would come out of his dive, turn the nose of his plane up, in a loop, do a half roll to right his plane, and be on top of his enemy to begin firing.

The squad plane developed during the war was especially adapted for such maneuvers. It was built with reinforced wings. Coming out of a dive in a hurry-up fashion, it had a fighting advantage over another plane. The enemy, did he choose to follow suit with his weaker-winged plane was facing the certainty of losing his wings, he had to ease out of the dive.

The "Precision spin" is a formation movement done with five planes diving and coming out. The "Barrel roll" is self-descriptive. Bird flight is most closely copied by the "Dutch roll", said Ensign Armour.

Use of the airplane commercially and defensively was described in detail to the students by Ensign Armour.

The chief value of the plane in war lies in its use as an auxiliary arm to the army or navy. Battleships are able to hit targets 25 miles away, beyond the horizon, now through the use of observation planes. Cruising capacity of an airplane for scout work is 4 1/2 times greater than that of a fast cruiser.

E BULLITIONS OF EBONY BLOTT

By Everett Wallum

Anyway, the Kappa Deltas stick together. When one loses a sorority pin, they all follow suit.

OR, RATHER, THEY FOLLOW WHAT'S IN THE SUIT.

It's getting pretty bad when you have to go to the fraternity houses to see what the college sorority pins look like.

There's one nice thing about the steel armour of old. A sorority pin wouldn't stick in it.

MAYBE INSTEAD OF KAPPA DELT, IT SHOULD BE KOPPA DELT, OR KAPPA CLIMAX.

At last we have excellent grounds to have the name of our school changed. The North Dakota Matrimonial Academy.

Pins are better than rings because the receiver always gets the point.

It issaid that Cramer is wearing a safety pin to protect him from eager pinholders.

In keeping with our optimistic viewpoint, however, we might remind the men that: first a sorority pin, then a rolling pin.

A ROLLING PIN GATHERS NO MOSS.

This isa case where active pins are pledge pins too.

Now we know what is meant by that phrase: "pinned their hopes".

THE LATEST THING IN PIN CUSHIONS IS A MAN'SVEST.

Ask a sorority girl where her pin is, and she can truthfully say that she invested it.

Invested it for the interest, payable on sight.

One drawback about these sorority pins is that they have Greek letters on them. Greek doesn't mean anything to most of the fellows.

The time was that a man used to go to college and study hard to get letters in Philosophy and Science. Now hegets only three letters in Greek.

The Spectrum said that the Kappa Deltas pawned their pins to Cupid, and the next day three men were up town looking for his place of business so they could get money on their fur coats.

WELL, WE HOPE THE GIRLS HAVE BETTER LUCK CHANGING THEIR NAMES THAN OUR SCHOOL HAS TO CHANGE ITS.

KAPPA DELTAS HOLD SLEIGH RIDE PARTY

Leah Carlson was hostess to the members of Kappa Delta sorority and their friends at a sleigh ride and dancing party held at her home south of Dilworth Friday evening.

Miss Carlson's guests left the Kappa Delta chapter house at 7:30 p. m. and after the sleigh ride and informal dancing program at her home, a luncheon was served. About 30 couples were present.

FIVE 1 ACT PLAYS WILL BE TONIGHT

FINAL GROUP OF PLAYS BEING STAGED BY LITTLE COUNTRY THEATRE PLAYERS

The third group of the one-act play series being given by the Little Country theatre players will be staged in the college theatre at 7:30 p. m., Tuesday evening, under the direction of Prof. A. G. Arvold.

"Witches Hour and Candlelight", directed by Laverna Westlund, will be th first of the five plays to be given. In the cast are: B. Wyatt as Boyd Warren; Hector Martin, Rufus Endicott; Leonard Rygg, Jason; and Amy Erickson as Angela.

Cast members in "The Unseen", directed by Minnie Willmert, are: Dorothy Kretzschmar as Lois; Byron Bertson taking the part of Jeffrie; and Hulda Finstad as Hulda.

Artrude Paul directs "The Blue Ptch" in which are playing: Gladys Barton as Sally; Glenn Smith as Billy; Frances Bellamy, Granny; Byron Bertson, Lemuel Dusenbenz; Carl Ashe, Mr. Carter; Laverna Westlund, Mrs. Carter; Amy Erickson, Mrs. Duzenbenz; and Leonard Rygg, as Mr. Duzenbenz.

"Brothers in Arms", directed by Eleanor Johnson, is being staged by a cast made up of Curtis Ballard, Douglas Browne; Genevieve Ederer as Dorothea Browne; Dick Randlett, Charley; and Clarence Putnam, as Syd.

Martha Thompson directs "The Dreamy Kid", the cast of which is: Dorothy Kretzschmar as Manny; Esther Douglas, as Ceely; Eloise McArdle, Irene; and The Dreamy Kid, Robert Sanderson.

GAMMA RHOS PASS SIGMEN IN UPSETS

The Alpha Gamma Rho quint went into the lead in the Fraternity league by defeating the Delta Pis 23 to 4 while the Delta Sigs were toppled from the lead by a fighting Sigma Tau five 12-11, last week.

No games will be played this week because of mid-term examinations.

In defeating the Delta Pis the Gamma Rhos displayed their usual hard breaking game. Mach lead the scorers with 10 points while Chadwick garnered the four points for the Delta Pis.

The feature game of the week was Sigma Tau-Delta Sig battle. It was nip and tuck battle with the lead seesawing back and forth. Woods playinghis first game for the Sigma Taus tied McPherson of the Delta Sigs for high scoring honors with two field goals and a brace of gifts.

The Kappa Psi and Kappa Phi teams battled for fourth place with the Kappa Phis emerging victorious 17-11. Hanson of the Kappa Psis led the scoring with seven points while Tronnes netted six.

"PEER GYNT" TO HAVE ADDED MUSIC FEATURE

"Peer Gynt", Ibsen's great drama, will have as an additional feature at its presentation by the Little Country theatre players of State College on March 1 and 2, the giving of the First and Second Peer Gynt Suites by a 20 piece orchestra, under the direction of Fred Byerly, according to Prof. A. G. Arvold, in charge of the classic production.

The play "Peer Gynt" is a stage portrayal of Scandinavian life and the suites to be played by the college orchestra are written expressly to add to the atmosphere and power of the drama.

Fred Byerly, director of the orchestra, is a senior in the School of Chemistry. A former solo trumpet player in the college Gold Star band, he played a ten weeks engagement with the Mayo Brothers Rochester band last summer. Mr. Byerly is a pupil of Dr. C. S. Putnam, director of the Gold Star band.

BISON BREAK EVEN ON LOOP INVASION

SAALWAECHTER MEN CLOSE SOUTHERN TOUR BY 18-14 WIN OVER DES MOINES

Coach Saalmaechter with his Bison will make a second dash into southern southern territory Saturday when the team meets South Dakota State at Brookings. The game precedes the annual series with Nodaks of which the second game will be played Feb. 19.

Bison Win Slow Game

The Bison ended their tour through the south end of the loop by defeating the Des Moines Tigers by a 18-14 count earning a .500 percentage for their invasion.

The game was featured by the great defensive work of both teams Neither team was able to score from the field or the foul line during the first period of play. The half ended with Des Moines at the lond end of a 3-1 baseball score

Des Moines Loses Lead

The Bison came back in the second half and soon erased the slight advantage held by the Tigers in the first half. The Bison offense was muchmore effective in the final stanza counting seven field goals to three made by the Iowa men.

Hahn and McPherson were the stars for the Bison. Hahn displayed some excellent aggressive work and succeeded in scoring three field goals. McPherson annexed the scoring honors counting three from the field and two from the foul line.

Miller and Newkard mastered the Des Moines offensive play in a creditable manner.

Dreibeles, Des Moines guard, counted half of his teams field goals and converted his two chances from the free throw line into points.

Over the Rim of Grand Canyon

He Threw This Pen and It Struck Unharmd on the Jagged Rocks a Half Mile Below

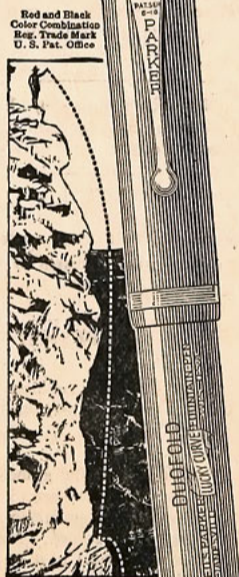

Non-breakable Pen Barrel? Dr. F. C. Morse of the National Park-to-Park Highway Association was unconvinced.

So recently to test the new Parker Duofold barrel, he stood on the rim of Grand Canyon and threw this pen into the rock-lined chasm.

When the pen was recovered amid the jagged rocks a half mile below the canyon's edge, it was scratched a bit, but quite unbroken.

When the cap was removed the point was as good as ever—a point guaranteed for 25 years, not only for mechanical perfection but for wear!

You cannot get Duofold quality in any pen save that stamped "Geo. S. Parker." Look carefully for this. Any good pen counter would like you to try this classic.

A. C. Byson,
February 10, 1927.

Dear Brother Torg:

I was speaking lasttime about my soshul actions and about how my mitey brain was the stepping stone—not exactly a stone, Torg, but you know what I mean—for some of the boys from the first into the second half of this long and teadeus school year.

Well, I didn't menshun the reeson for my generassity in helping them boys, but I don't mind saying they are liable to have the honor of being frayternity brothers of mine some time.

You can't keep a good man down, Torg, even if nobody knows it but him. Seems like it takes some of these Profs and Coatsshes and Coweds a long time to see the reely fine points about some of us stwudents, but they'll waks up after the worm has turned maybe.

Several of the most notorious boys—maybe famous would be a better word, I aint sure—have noticed that Olaf Oleson is not as green as his cap, and they're doing the Rush act on me for some of these frayternities. I haven't decidedon one yet, because I like Theta Chi, Delta Sig, Kappa Phi, Gamma Rho, Sigma Tau, Kappa Psi, and Delta Pi pretty well. Suppose I'll have to buy a new suit from Flaten when I get ready to join up with one of these fratts. Most of the Byson go to Flaten. Hanged if I know where the Bysonette go. As ever, ace O'Keefe netted another one, the three minutes to go were insufficient to overcome a two point handicap.

Olaf.

Bison Frosh Down Nodaks

Stellar guarding by Hickerson and Gergen, as well as the offense work of Bliss and Hayes played a major part in the Bison victory. Livdahl was held scoreless in the last half and O'Keefe the other Nodak point gatherer netted but two goals.

The lineup and summary:

STUDENT OPINION

Ed's Note—Student opinion columns on this or any other constructive issue are welcome.

Basketball is an exciting game. The score, and plays thrill the crowd. If a player forgets his sportsmanship he is fouled. There is no referee for the crowd although the most part of poor sportsmanship comes from the audience.

This school's reputation depends on the conduct of the supporters, who are supporting a good sportsmanship team. "Razzing" the referee, umpire, cheerleaders, and players has no place at North Dakota State.

Do not damage your name and the school's name by poor sportsmanship in the heat of our remaining basketball games.

Signed,
Foss.
