FAULTS OF AMERICAN EDUCATION SYSTEM VOICED AT CONGRESS

Colleges In Need of Orientation
Courses, More Culture,
Scholarship

Lack of a cultural atmosphere in our colleges, neglect of scholarship, and the need of an orientation period for students entering college were deficiencies of the American system of education attacked by three leading educators at the opening meeting of the second congress of the National Student Federation of America at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Thursday evening, reports Eric Thomsen, College Y secretary, who with William Gray, president of the student commission, is attending the national convention.

The speakers at the first session were, Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, University of Wisconsin faculty member, and former president of Amherst college, Mass.; Dr. Stephen P. Duggan, director of the National Institute of Education, and Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, president of Vassar college. "The average young American can not receive a liberal education at our colleges as they now are conducted," Dr. Meiklejohn declared. "The cultural background which formerly existed on our campuses and made for better education is decidedly lacking today. We can not expect to have students of a high type coming from families where a good book is seldom if ever, read.

Should Incite Student

"To give the student a liberal education the college must so inform, train, and incite him that he will be placed on the road to true understanding. America today is a hard place for college—a hard place to get good teaching. It doesn't seem to be required, as so far it hasn't been necessary to be intelligent to succeed in America. Perhaps that is one reason that there isn't more straight thinking. We teachers have not been training." (Continued on page four)

CHEMISTS SET AGOG AT ACID TESTS UNDERWAY

Chemical reactions on the laboratories are as nothing compared with those that are now in progress at the college Y gynasium, where the acid teams mix in volley ball contests at 5 p. m. every day.

Thirty faculty members make up the various chemical elements of the five teams. The Acid hydrochloric team is composed of Mangels, captain; Nelson, Iverson, Long, Weisner. In the "Sulphurics" class are Captain Jongeward, Swisher, Severson, Jensen, Andrews, and Sunde.

KAPPA TAU DELTA WILL OBSERVE FOUNDERS DAY

Kappa Tau Delta, honorary architectural fraternity will celebrate founders day on Thursday, Dec. 9. The active members will entertain at dinner at the home of Allan Meinecke, 1109 9th St. S. at 6:30 p. m. Thursday. Prof. W. T. Rolfe, Messrs Merwyn Eaton, A. E. Rigg, and B. F. Meinecke, '98, will be honor guests.

SOPHOMORES' PLAY WINS IN CONTEST

"A MOUNTAIN WEDDING," PLAY
OF SENIOR CLASS, TAKES SECOND PLACE

"The Passing of Chow Chow," presented by a sophomore cast won first in the classes Seventh Annual one act play contest held in the Little Country Theatre Thursday evening. The seniors' presentation of "A Mountain Wedding," by Pearl Franklin, took second place.

Cast members of the winning play were, Curtis Ballard, as Mr. Russell, the attorney; Evelyn Blakeslee in the role of Mrs. Standish, and Fossam Narum as Mr. Standish. Margaret Donovan directed the play.

"Chow Chow" proved virtually to be co-respondent in divorce actions brought by both Mr. and Mrs. Standish, furnishes a name and vehicle for the play. Alienation proceedings of the husband, and cruelty charges of Mrs. Standish are only halted when the couple meeting in the same attorney's office are informed of "Chow Chow's" death.

Jorgen Birkeland, as Pa McBirney; Constance Melchoir, playing the part of Ma McBirney; Mercade Cramer, as Jeff Coulter; Beatrice Sjoquist, in the role of Mandy Coulter; and Walter Clausen as Dick Babb make up the senior cast. Grace Bayliss directed the senior play. The play has its climax in the wedding of two mountaineer families that were in a feud.

"Mansions" by Hildegard Flamer, was the juniors' presentation. Those taking parts were, Geraldine Ewald, as Harriet Wilde; Margaret Reveli, in the role of Lydia Wilde; and John Bohlig, as Joe Wilde. Virginia Wright directed the tragedy.

REGISTRATION FOR WINTER TERM MUST BE MADE BY DEC. 18

Penalty Fee On Tardy Payment
Of Fees; Term Quizzes
Begin Dec. 16

Registration for the winter term at the North Dakota Agricultural college will begin Monday, December 6, and all students now in attendance are expected to have their registration cards completed and filed in the office of the registrar before the close of the present term, it is announced by A. H. Parrott, registrar. Students are urged by the registrar, to confer with their advisers promptly.

Examinations Due Dec. 16

Examination begin Thursday, December 16, and after that date advisers are very likely to be too busy to assist in matters of registration. Responsibility for registration will rest with the student, not with the adviser.

Students of this term who file winter programs after 18 at noon, incur a late registration fee of fifty cents for each day of delay, stated A. H. Parrott, registrar.

Penalty Fees Charged

Fees may be paid at any time, but those who may find payment inconvenient at this time may send in checks any time to reach the Registrar's office before January 1, but the checks must then be accompanied by the fee slip that will be given the student when he files his registration cards. In either case, according to Mrs. Parrott, credit for the $3 deposit fee will be granted only upon the presentation of the fall term registration card.

Fees not paid by January 3 will be increased fifty cents for each day of delay.

These penalty fees are effective no matter what excuse for delay is offered, since it is extremely important that all class work be organized and in operation promptly at the opening of the term. With ten days provided for registration, there is no valid reason for delay. It is simply a question of attending to the matter now when each student and his adviser has the time, said the registrar.

STUDENT COMMISSION TO GIVE PARTY FRIDAY EVE

The Student Commission will entertain at an All-College party at the Armory next Friday evening. Dancing will begin at 8 p. m. and continue until 11 p. m., according to a new ruling. Bernice Cramer, commissioner of social functions, is in charge of arrangements. Earl Olson and his collegians will play the dance program.

BISON NETMEN GET READY FOR OPENER

SAALWAECHTER DRILLS SQUAD
HARD; MANY OF CANDIDATES
SHOW PROMISE

Bison basketball men on the varsity and freshman squads have been hard at work under the urging hand of Coach Solly Saalwaechter for the past week.

Fundamental plays, foul shooting, and general conditioning work have been the things Saalwaechter has drilled his men on in that period.

Veterans, under Saalwaechter's system, will find much competition in the crop of netmen coming up from last year's frosh ranks.

Jug Newgard, captain of the Bison quint, Claudie Miller, George "Hoot" McPherson, Whit Tilton, and Carl Hanson are the veterans about which Solly is building a Bison machine. Hahn, Ranes, McArthur, Braus, Geo. and Al Hermes, Ade Wall and a score of others are bidding for positions on the Bison quint.

Frosh candidates have been practicing evenings. About 20 men have reported regularly, with others coming out spasmodically. Saalwaechter reports that those failing to appear regularly will shortly be dropped.

Varsity practice on Wednesday will be held in the evening because of the Cadet hop. An open house practice will be held Thursday afternoon at which all students may watch the teams in action. Practice sessions will be closed to the public during much of the time, except when otherwise announced, states the Bison quint coach.

RAE KNEESHAW NEW HOCKEY CLUB HEAD; RINK TO BE FLOODED

Captain Smith Coaches Puck
Team; Executives Plan
Ice Program

Election of officers and organization for winter activities was made by the college Hockey and Skating association at a meeting called in the armory Thursday afternoon.

Kneeshaw Elected President

About forty students were present at the meeting.

Ice Program Planned

An executive committee has charge of arrangements of the ice sports and winter program being planned for the college students.

Captain Thomas S. Smith, as a member, will coach the hockey teams and the Varsity puck team. Coach on J. Cortright, athletic director, and Dorothy Cole, women's athletic director, are also members of the executive committee.

Election of a team captain for the college hockey team was deferred until the time when Coach Smith picks a regular hockey team.

Games To Be Scheduled

Committees named at the meeting Thursday were as follows; George Fisher, rink maintenance; Roy Landblom, publicity.

It is planned by the executive committee to arrange for a skating and ice carnival, intramural puck matches, curling, and other types of ice sports. The chairman of the executive committee will be named later, said Captain Smith, who organized the first hockey team at the college last year.

The snow has been scraped from the college rink on Dacotah field. It will be flooded as soon as the weather becomes suitable for good ice. Captain Smith has been having hockey candidates practice indoors during the week, but cramped facilities will limit work until practice is started on the enclosed rink on Dacotah field.

Officials and playing rules, a schedule, along with other details, are being worked out by the hockey officials.

ARCHITECTS ADD 1500 ART PLATES TO LIBRARY

A group of 1500 art plates has been recently added to the architectural library of the department of architecture at the North Dakota State College, according to Prof. Walter T. Rolfe, department head.

The plates, mounted by the students, include many classic drawings in the architectural field. About 250 plates of the Grand Prix class from the Rome and Paris Academics of Art are included.

Plates from the Crnegie Institute, Beaux Arts plates from the School of Fine Arts, Paris, and others typifying Italian and Spanish Renaissance periods are included. The mounting of the plates, instead of binding them, facilitates their use in student desk-work.

EDUCATION

"So far it hasn't been necessary to be intelligent to succeed in America," Dr. Meiklejohn told students at their national convention Thursday. The statement was only one of a series of thoughts expressed there that may revolutionize education in its present form. College students gathering from representative colleges in all sections of the country as well as from foreign nations will doubtlessly contribute something. An annual National Student congress such as the one at Ann Arbor may in time make us, as students, universally minded. We are now provincial at the best.

American success has certainly not required refined intelligence. The American people have commercial and sporting instincts, but anything approaching philosophy bores the average citizen. We simply haven't time to worry about the mysteries of philosophy and its kindred 'ologies. The French and Italians call Uncle Sam a Shylock, and we go right on making money.

Meiklejohn is perhaps arguing for the future. The time will come when sheer aggressiveness will not get the individual to the top. The mines with their raw resources will not last forever. In individuals will be forced to rely more and more on their mental resources. Machines will supplant many of the physical labors. More people will have time for intellectual pursuits.

Colleges will become more crowded and popular. The argument for smaller college groups is born in the mass instruction that large college enrollments now necessitate. A student given a degree of personal attention will certainly respond better than if he had none.

Meiklejohn may virtually be arguing a form of tutoring, certainly our present system is not all that it might be.

When an instructor probes through the mental woodpile of more than thirty students to have his question answered and then finds that he must answer it himself, there is something wrong. It's a common class occurrence.

All of the thirty students should not be devoid of knowledge. Instructors literally have to "pump" students for answers. Instead of the professor asking questions or giving hour lectures that pass over the class' head, students should be arguing the issue themselves. There is something to Dr. MacCracken's statement of a need for closer relationship between student and instructor. Only the highly imaginative professor is able to carry on a daily soliloquy.

South Dakota State Wins
North Central Grid Title

Bison Concludes Tough 1926
Schedule in Sixth
Position

By Milo Hoisveen

South Dakota State annexed the North Central Conference football championship by virtue of Morningside's victory over South Dakota University.

The Bison, who suffered heavily by the graduation of such stars as Rumpeltes, Thompson and Arnold, finished the season in sixth place. Conference opponents of the Bison were the champion South Dakota State crew and some of the strongest title contenders, as South Dakota, Creighton, Des Moines and North Dakota University.

Final Standings

S. D. State	3	0	2	1,000
South Dakota	3	1	1	.750
Morningside	3	1	0	.750
Creighton	2	1	1	.667
North Dakota	2	2	0	.500
N. D. State	1	3	0	.250
Des Moines	1	5	0	.167
Neb. Wesleyan	0	2	0	.000

Jays Win In Final Period

Cortright's crew played their initial conference tilt with the strong Bluejay gridmen at Omaha. The Bison were badly handicapped by the absence of Kneeshaw and Sullivan, gigantic tackles, who were out of the game on account of injuries. The fighting Bison, by their aerial attack and by Miller's open field running, were able to hold the Creighton ball luggers to a 14 to 13 score for three periods. In the final period Creighton assured themselves of victory by adding two more touchdowns, to make the final score 26 to 13.

Bison Trample Tigers

The Bison next engaged the Des Moines Tigers who were turned back by a 27 to 0 score. The State team played consistent ball, being able to advance the ball consistently by line and aerial play. Miller's open field running was a feature of the game.

The following week the Bison lost to the powerful South Dakota State grid machine by a 21 to 0 score. The Bison were forced to change their attack and resort to stronger defensive tactics in order to stop the veritable satelite offensive attack of the Jack-rabbits. The line quelled several State attacks which came dangerously near resulting in touchdowns.

Nodaks Mar Homecoming

The annual classic between the University and the Bison on Homecoming day was the last conference game for the Bison. A 7 to 6 victory for the Flickers marred an ideal Homecoming day.

The Bison were overanxious in the first half, which resulted in the defense and offense functioning poorly, and due to this, the Nodaks headed the Bison by a 7 to 6 score at the half.

In the second half, the Bison came back strong and played a different type of ball than in the first two periods. Several times the Bison machine was well on its way to a touchdown when hindered by unfortunate penalties.

St. Thomas and St. Mary's were the remaining games on the Bison schedule; and the Bison, playing the best football of the season, scored victories of 27 to 6 and 6 to 0 respectively.

Newgard and Tilton, wingmen, turned in several great games for the Bison. Newgard was considered very high in his position and was listed with the first six outstanding ends in the conference. Raney performed well at the wing post and will make a strong bid for the position left open by Newgard on the next year's lineup.

The work of Kneeshaw, Wall and Marks has been outstanding for three years. Wall was one of the most consistent members of the squad. Kneeshaw was greatly handicapped by early season injuries, but showed well against the Nodaks and St. Mary's. Cortright will have Sullivan and DeSautel to work as tackles, and there is also a possibility of Johnny Blair being shifted to a tackle position. Blair worked as a regular guard this season.

Fisher, at center, is a valuable unit to the team on account of his masterful passing. He is also a strong offensive and defensive man.

Gray, veteran guard, turned in a strong game at guard throughout the season. Despite the lack of spring training, Barney and Berntson showed up well as guards and will no doubt fill those positions next season.

Mach and Hahn alternated at the signal calling position; both were accurate passers, as well as consistent ground gainers.

As fullbacks, Clasen and Hermes, are a hard hitting combination and should be two of the Bisons strongest line buckers next season. Peschel and Miller at halves, were a speedy duo; Peschel also did part of the pass tossing. Miller did all of the kicking for the Bison and was honored by being played on the All-Conference eleven. Calling Claudie on an end run was like feeding mush to a hungry bear.

E BULLITIONS OF EBONY BLOTT

By Everett Wallum

You are advised to bring your own rattles to the Kiddies Xmas party.

How can we furnish the wee tots with rattles, when we have hardly enough to go around at school?

BY FURNISHING THE KIDDIES WITH JAM AND PRESERVES, THEY WOULD FEEL JUST AS MUCH AT HOME AS IF THEY FEEL JUST AS MUCH AT HOME AS IF THEY WERE IN THEIR MOTHER'S PANTRY.

The Home Economics club recently contributed a penny for each year of their age towards a memorial fund. We suppose some of them have given sixteen pennies for the last three years..

Imagine what a lot of libel suits would result if headlines on a newspaper weren't punctuated. If such were the case, a headline in one of last week's Spectrums would say: TACOMA WASH GIRL FIRST IN DECLAMATORY.

The Knewsy Knosey Column of last week stated that a former S. C. student is now playing in Los Angeles. Music, marbles, possum, or poker?

One of the H. E. classes is making plates for Christmas cards. Probably with the assumption that plates will better carry food for thought.

Erik Thomsen Jr. recently gave a declamation "The Skeleton in Armor." This is probably the same suit of armor his father was looking for last homecoming.

I FWE HAD A PILLOW FACTORY IN TIWN, WE COULD PROBABLY MAKE A SANTA CLAUS OUT OF RALPH HOLLANDS FOR THE "Y" PARTY.

Charles Chaplin recently stopped work on his picture because he didn't feel funny. We suggest he cut off his hair, wear a garter for a necktie, and go to a formal half shaved. He will feel plenty funny—even foolish.

WE IMAGINE THE PANTS, WORN BY THE HEAVIER PLAYERS, ARE MADE OUT OF TUB SILK.

Children care less if Santa's whiskers are false than if his promises are true.

We will close with that tearful ballad "My board bill's due at two to two."

ENGINEERS COMPLETE CLUB REORGANIZATION

College Engineers' club is the new name chosen by students of the School of Mechanic Arts in their erorganization of the former national American Association of Engineers chapter here. It was decided to withdraw from the naional body, and a new name as well as anew constitution was adopted this week, according to Jack Allen, president of the club.

CADET OFFICERS WEAR INSIGNIA OF N. D. S. C.

Ae set of crossed guns, surmounted by the letters N. D. S. C. are the collar ornaments to be worn on the lapels of the regulation officer's uniform.

LYCEUM OPERA RECITAL HAS VARIANT PROGRAM

Margaret Taylor, and Vincent St. John, New York artists presented a pleasing program of popular and classical music in their concert and operatic recital at the armory Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Taylor, a soprano, and Mr. St. John, atenor, opened their program with the duet number, "The Voyagers" by Sanderson.

Scenes from the Italian opera "Cavalleria Rusticana," by Mascagni were skillfully interpreted by the singers. The opera based on a tale of Sicilian life has as its chief characters "Santuzza" forsaken by her lover "Turiddu." The latter, intrigued by another Alfio's wife, is challenged to a duel by Alfio. In the five selections of the opera given by Margaret Taylor, as "Santuzza," and by Vincent St. John, as "Turiddu," the opera is colorfully given by the costumed singers.

Selections given by Mr. St. John included, "The Pilot" by Protheroe; "Tears of God," Mowrey; "Under the Green Wood Tree," by Dunn; and several Spanish selections, Irish folksongs and a negro minstrel. "Kitty of Coleraine," "Trottin' to the Fair," "Standin' in de Need o' Prayer," and "The Open Road" were a few of the numbers given by St. John.

Mrs. Taylor's selection were "Autumn Song" by Salter, "The Robin Sings in the Apple Tree," MacDowell; "Spanish Madrigal," Huarte; and others. Several duet numbers were also given.

Miss Alma Mehus, accompanist, presented several piano selections, among which were Chopin's "Revolutionary Etude" and others.

MANY INQUIRIES ON TEN WEEKS' COURSE

Preparations are being made at the college, for a large number of girls who will lenter the winter short course of ten weeks concentrated work in paractical homemaking, beginning Jan. 4, according to Miss Alba Bales, dean of the school of home economics.

Girls who enroll in the short course are securing rooms at the girls' dormitory for fifteen dollars per term of ten weeks, with roommate, states Dean Bales. Meals may be had in the college cafeteria at very reasonable rates, she adds. Rooms and board in private homes approved by the dean of women, are also available at reasonable rates.

Group pictures of the R. O. T. C. companies were taken by the Bison photographer at the Administration building Friday morning.

November 30, 1926.

Dear bro. Torg,

I'm so bizzzy its making me dizzy. These college bizness are like a Country Skule House Box Soshabel, just won darn thing after another.

The fuebawl seeson is over and considering I only played part of won quatter I think we done purty well. I could of played a lot more but I didn't do my best. I'm telling you why, Torg, but dont let it get out from you as ther aint ne ewes being good fella an leting yure left fute no what yure right pants leg is doing.

The reezon I didn't do my best for Courtwrite on the gradeyrn is because this was Claudie Millers last seeson and I wanted him to get all the glorie.

Watch my smoak next year, Torg. And watch that stock too. I've got to spend some Christmas money with Flaten Tailor at 318 Boardway. Hes got so much nice clothes ther makes me want to wear two suates and overcoats at wunce. Hoping yure the same,

Olaf.

Faults of American Education System

ed under a scheme which affords a liberal education.

"One of our great needs in the educational system is to place the student in a community of learning. In this way he will be in contact with the heart of knowledge.

"A new experiment should be tried where the student, instead of studying a number of diverse subjects, should study civilization. I would like to take a group of students and seek with them the understanding of life as a whole and not attempt to get that understanding by studying fragments.

Wants Smaller Colleges

"I am looking forward to the time when our great institutions of learning will be broken into bits and smaller groups of students will meet with smaller groups of faculty members to pursue intellectual development."

Dr. Duggan said that too much evidence should not be placed on the so-called "extra curricular" activities by the students, to the neglect of scholarship, which he termed the most important factor in college training.

New experiments being carried on in colleges throughout the country were explained by Dr. MacCracken. The need of an orientation period for bridging the gap between the high school and college was stressed, as well as the need for a better relationship between student and faculty members.

Meet Your Dean

Ed. Note: This is the fifth of a series of articles written by Harold Phillips to better acquaint you with the heads of the schools of the college.

That's Dean William Tudor Pearce.

"That I may give the boys a knowledge of the practical problems confronting the industrial chemist, I spend most of the summer in the east investigating actual commercial conditions," says the Dean.

By thus working the year 'round for the betterment of his school Dean Pearce has matriculated men who have made remarkable success after leaving here and have been a powerful advertisement for our college.

Dean Pearce has been especially interested in the department of paints and varnish technology since coming here in 1916 to take over the classes of the late Senator Ladd when he became president of the institution. Only 16 men had received diplomas from the Chemistry department up to 1916. Since then 80 have graduated from this school.

Dean Pearce was born in Norfolk, Va., on Sept. 30, 1890 and attended public schools there. His preparatory and college work was taken at Randolph-Macon academy and college where he graduated with a B. S. degree in Chemistry in 1910. He then received a nassistant professorship of chemistry at the University of Kentucky while working for his Master's degree which he obtained in 1912.

The next two years was septn teaching Chemistry at Clemson A. C. In 1914 Dr. Pearce began study for his Ph. D. degree at the University of Chicago which was conferred upon him after attending the summer sessions of 1915-16 at that institution.

Coming west in 1915 the Dean taught chemistry at Fargo college and when the late Senator Ladd was elevated to presidency here early in 1916 he was asked to take over his classes in chemistry. The mornings were spent here and in the afternoons ne returned to Fargo college to instruct his own classes.

He taught here in 1917 and the following year became eprofessor of physical and industrial chemistry. In 1919 he was appointed head of the school of chemistry and became Dean last year.

Dean Pearce is a member of the Sigma Psi fraternity and an honorary member of the Alpha Kappa Phi and Alpha Phi Omega fraternities of the college. He is chairman of the division of paints and varnish of the American Chemical Society and belongs to the Cosmopolitan club, the American institute of Chemical Engineers and the British Oil and Color Chemical Association.

"We have hopes of developing other courses in applied industrial chemistry here as we have done with the paints and varnish department," the Dean declared.
