SIX SPECTRUM STAFF APPOINTMENTS ARE APPROVED BY BOARD

Two Sport Writers to Work; Reportorial Staff Members Given Assignments

Six new appointments to the editorial staff of the Spectrum have been approved by the Board of Publication and the new staff members will take up their duties this week.

Wallum Has Double Role

Everett Wallum, columnist and features editor, has been named associate editor. Harold Phillips succeeds him as features editor. Mr. Wallum holds the unique distinction of being associate editor of both the Bison and Spectrum publications. He is a sophomore and member of the Gamma Tau Sigma, honorary journalistic fraternity, and Alpha Sigma Tau fraternity. Mr. Phillips is a freshman and pledge of the Theta Chi.

Rebecca Keene retains her position as society editor, but will be assisted by Elizabeth Powers, campus editor. They edit the Kampus Kolumn. Miss Keene is a senior; Miss Powers a sophomore. Both are members of Sigma Theta sorority.

Clarence Bryant has been named desk editor and will generally assist in makeup work on the publication.

Mr. Bryant is a sophomore and has had previous experience in newspaper work at Napoleon. He is a member of Delta Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Two Will Write Sports

Jacob Wahl and Milo Hoisveen have been appointed to cover athletic activities at the college. The appointment of two students to sports writing work was found necessary by the editor because of the many branches being developed. Both are freshmen. Mr. Wahl is a pledge of Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity.

John Diemert has been named to the conference editorship. He will have charge of conference news and the Bulletin Board to be run in the Spectrum. Mr. Diemert is a freshman and a pledge of Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity.

Several new members have been added to the reportorial staff. Ruby Oscarson will have charge of sports news for the Women's Athletic Association. Clyde Barks and Henry Sullivan write agricultural news. Elizabeth Fitzgerald is home economics reporter. Dorothy Kretschmar and John Bohlig report on dramatic activities. William Rundquist is the engineering school reporter. William Shine writes on architects' happenings and tentative assignments are to be made the other reporters.

"APPLE SAUCE" WELL GIVEN BY TWO CASTS

In three acts of typically American comedy, "Apple Sauce," by Harry Conners was ably presented Tuesday and Wednesday by the Edwin Booth players in the Little Country theatre at the North Dakota Agricultural college. This play was well presented Wednesday evening under the novel arrangement of an entire new cast. Cast members for the second presentation were Constance Melchoir as M. Robinson; Carl Ash, playing Pa Robinson; Evelyn Probestfield as Mrs. (Continued on page four)

Y.W.C.A FUND DRIVE OPENS THIS WEEK

Student members of the College Y. W. C. A. began their finance drive for an activities budget of $500 this week, it was learned today from Amy Erickson, campaign manager.

An intensive campaign will be made among the students and faculty members. Chairmen and committees are being named in each of the sororities and classes of the college to facilitate the raising of the funds for the girls' organization.

The donation and pledge system is being employed by the student campaign officials. Students are asked by the campaign manager to support the annual campaign of the College Y. W. C. A. as well as its other activities.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS DECLAIM NOVEMBER 29

The declamatory contest for high school students at the North Dakota State college will be held in the Little Country theatre at 8 p. m. Monday, November 29, it was announced by A. G. Arvold, head of the public discussions department.

In former years, the contest was held jointly with the college contest scheduled in February. All high school students are eligible. Several have already made entry.

HOCKEY CLUB HAS ELECTIONS TODAY

Skating and hockey enthusiasts will meet in the armory today at 4 p. m. for the annual election of the Hockey and Skating association officers. The election for captain of the hockey team will be delayed until the season is under way, as was done last season, stated Captain Thomas S. Smith, hockey coach.

More than 45 students signed up for hockey and skating at the meeting a week ago and Captain Smith, with the material on hand from last year's puck team and with incoming men, is practically assured of a strong North Dakota State team.

North Central Puckmen Meet

Immediately following the Minnesota-Michigan football game, a meeting of the North Central Intercollegiate Hockey association will be held in Minneapolis for the purpose of deciding upon eligibility rules and the determining of a definite schedule of games. Captain Smith stated that if the proposed league failed to function a trip will be arranged similar to the trip made by the team last year. Games will then be played with Michigan and Minnesota universities and other colleges having strong hockey sextets.

Unless weather conditions become more suitable for hockey, the rink, under construction, will not be completed until Thanksgiving. Captain Smith will hold practice in the armory in order that he may instruct the ice men in the rudimentary phases of the game before holding regular rink practice.

Leonard "Spec" Severson, Harvey Steedsman, and Francis "Fag" Gibson of the Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity will attend the Minnesota-Michigan game Saturday. Francis Gibson has a brother playing guard on the Gopher eleven.

BASKETBALL MEN TO REPORT FOR FIRST PRACTICE MONDAY

Saalwaechter Issues Call For Varsity Netmen; Cortright To Tutor Frosh

Varsity and freshman basketball men get their first call for practice at 4 p. m. Monday, it was announced by Coach Leonard Saalwaechter, new quint mentor, today.

Freshman and upperclassmen who have not been out for football, have been rehearsing the loop game for more than a week, but Coach Saalwaechter has not held formal practice because of grid activities.

The coaches are attending the Winona game and the Minnesota-Michigan event during the weekend, so issuance of suits will not be made until Monday.

Coach Saalwaechter will have the nucleus of a veteran team to begin with this year, but also has the absence of some of last years stars to replace. Much green material is on hand and it remains for Coach Solly to build a conference contender with the veterans and new material.

Jug Newgard, veteran forward, George McPherson, elongated sophomore center, along with Claudie Miller, guard, will doubtlessly form the backbone of Saalwaechter's varsity team. Stars missing from the lineup this year will be, Red Blakely, Cy Arnold, Wad Thompson, and Ben Rumpeltes.

Coach Cortright, athletic director, will drill the yearling squad in quint tactics. Practice hours have not been definitely arranged, but evening drill will be in order, as in other years.

Coach Saalwaechter has also asked for candidates for an assistant student athletic manager in basketball. Mercade Cramer, present manager, needs assistants for the winter activities of the department in Coach Cortright's charge. Sophomores or Juniors are asked to report at the coach's office if interested.

CHEMISTS STUDY TWIN CITY PLANTS

THREE DAY TOUR BY 14 SENIORS AND JUNIORS INCLUDES GRID CLASSIC.

Juniors and seniors of the School of Chemistry at the North Dakota Agricultural College left Wednesday for Minneapolis to make a three day tour of Twin City chemical plants, according to Dean W. T. Pearce, who will have charge of the party.

The party, leaving by car, inspected the Minnesota Linseed Oil company Thursday, the St. Paul White Lead and Oil Co., and the Twin City Varnish company factories today. Reservations for the Minnesota-Michigan football game have also been made by the students.

Seniors who are making the trip are: Phillip Hamilton, Walter Boerth, Wilfield Hurt, Charles Oliver, Otto Jagd, Walter Jeppson, Allan Adams, Alex Coutlee, Fred Byerly and Paul Revell. Juniors making the trip are: George Walker, Floyd M-Dunn, Ronald Millard and Lester Thompson.

LEARNING BY MAIL HAS PUBLIC FAVOR

Enrollments in the correspondence courses of the North Dakota State college are on a constant incline, reports T. W. Thorardson, in charge of the correspondence department at the college.

Such courses were first offered in October 1925 and within a month the enrollment had reached 400 in numbers. Railroad development departments, the North Dakota Bankers association and business men in general have approved the practical courses, said Mr. Thorardson.

At the present time the enrollment in the different courses are as follows, poultry, 125; beekeeping, 78; fruits, vegetables, and trees, 35; forage crops, 20; dairying, 95; sheep husbandry, 22; beef cattle, 21; swine husbandry, 30; small grains, 20; farm structures, 20; farm management, 32; introductory survey of scientific agriculture, 30; and teachers agriculture, 50.

Two of the courses, teachers agriculture, teaching methods and community programs, for which college credit is given, have found favor among students and teachers alike of the state. The farmers' courses are most popular in the winter months, reports Mr. Thorardson.

SHORT COURSE FOR HOME LIFE GIVEN

HOME ECONOMICS SCHOOL OFFERS CONDENSED TEN WEEKS DOMESTIC SCIENCE STUDY

Classes for ten weeks, beginning January 4, in all branches of home making subjects will be conducted for girls and women of North Dakota at the State College School of Home Economics, according to Miss Alba Bales, dean of the school.

The schedule of study subjects for this special home economics short course was arranged by the department so as to offer concentrated courses in all phases of home making. Essential parts of a much longer course of home economics study have been picked out so that much valuable information can be obtained by the student during the ten weeks. These courses of study, points out Miss Bales, are especially prepared for anyone who desires to better her preparation in modern house work.

The schedule of courses offered consists of cooking, table service and meal planning, child care and feeding, canning of meat and vegetables, house keeping equipment and care of the house, laundering, sewing and dress-making and millinery.

SOCIETIES OF HIGH SCHOOL IN MERGER

Students of the Agricultural and Mechanic Arts high school organized a new literary society at a meeting Wednesday in the Green room of the Little Country theatre.

Hesperia, the name chosen for the joint society of men and women students, will replace the two older Hesperian and Castalian societies. It is the first of its kind to be organized in the high school. The new society will meet semi-monthly on Mondays.

Temporary officers elected were, Ralph Brandemeier, president, and Clarence Putnam, secretary.

Douglas Pravitz, Mildred Stiles and James McMahan were named as members of the program committee.

BISON GRIDDERS TO PLAY ST. MARY'S IN FINAL GAME TODAY

Cortright Takes 21 Men On Trip; Bison Team, Fans To See Big Ten Game

Bison gridders are playing their final game of the season against the St. Mary's team at Winona, Minn., today.

Coach Cortright with 21 wearers of the Yellow and the Green left Thursday evening over the Northern Pacific for the Winona appointment.

21 Make Trip

Team Sees Big Ten Classic

Reservations have been made for the Minnesota-Michigan game so that the entire Bison squad on the trip will see that game Saturday.

Cortright has been drilling his men all week under the handicap of mid-winter weather. Snow has cluttered Dacotah field to such extent that scrimmages had to be foregone until actual game time. The men have spent the greater part of the week sprinting and passing to keep in condition for the finale.

Casualties have not plagued the team for the past weeks and Cortright will have plenty of reserve strength for the St. Mary's game.

The game will mark the final play of several veterans. Captain Miller will carry the Bison colors for the last time and along with him are, Bill Gray, Ade Wall, Elmer Marks, Rae Kneeshaw and Johnny Mach. Gray holds down a guard job, and Wall, Marks, and Kneeshaw are all tackles, and Mach plays quarterback.

THOSE PICTURES

Seniors and Juniors who have, as yet, failed to make reservations for their pictures in the Bison of 1928, number about a hundred strong.

This is a hundred wrong.

Every one of these students will undoubtedly make emphatic his loyalty to the college. Still, when a representative college annual is sent outside the institution to hundreds of people who will judge the school by its yearbook, this group permits the college to suffer by their negligence.

There is also a personal loyalty to consider. You owe it to yourself to be represented in such a publication. From your standpoint, your picture is the greatest part of the book to you. It bears silent testimony to the success of yourself in a battle involving many things.

There is, too, a loyalty to your friends involved. Your best friend would undoubtedly be keenly disappointed upon turning to the section wherein your picture should repose, and find that it has seemingly been usurped by someone else.

Memories, it has been said, are life's greatest treasure. Why not, then, Juniors and Seniors, invest three dollars in a bond that does not smack of fraud.

The bond of the past—and memories.

LOBBYING

There are too many students lobbying in science hall. Not the political lobbying is referred to, but the kind that obstructs passage of other students from one floor to another. Complaints are rampant on the tendency students have of gathering in cliques on the stairways and refusing to yield to upward or downward bound humanity.

A chin fest with sorority or fraternity intimates between classes hours is healthy relaxation, but it should not detain others. The higher levels of learning are reached only by climbing. Crowded conditions are very apparent, but steps were not intended for either study benches or gossiping places. If you must hash over the latest scandal, stay away from doors and stairways. The other fellow may be in a hurry even though you are not.

Political Boss Fought
 Placing College At Fargo

McKENZIE WOULD PLACE STATE COLLEGE AT VALLEY CITY TO AVENGE POLITICAL REVERSES

Disgruntlement of a political faction in Fargo nearly resulted in locating the agricultural college in Valley City, B. F. Spalding told members of the Commons club, meeting at the commercial club Monday night.

Tracing the history of the college back to the first election of Fargo as its site in 1893, Mr. Spalding detailed the moves made in the fight staged to prevent the building of the college here, which led to the refusal for several years of the territorial legislature to provide an appropriation for the construction of the school. The fight, aided by Major A. W. Edwards, Alex McKenzie and others, embittered by failure to gain political control and therefore anxious to obstruct the efforts of their successful opponents to keep the college in Fargo, was closely linked with the establishment of North Dakota as a state, Mr. Spalding revealed.

Spalding A Delegate

Mr. Spalding was a delegate to the convention which adopted the state constitution in 1889, and was an active opponent of the effort, brought to a head at the convention, to relocate the college in Valley City.

"Although Fargo had been definitely selected as the site of the agricultural college in 1888, an attempt was made in the session of the legislature in 1889 to relocate it in Valley City," Mr. Spalding declared. "A bill was passed giving the college to Valley City, but a committee appointed at a public meeting in Fargo, of which I was chairman, succeeded in persuading Louis K. Church, governor of the territory, to veto the measure.

"Suitable appropriations were made at the session for other institutions located in other cities in the state but none was made for the agricultural college. This was due to the efforts of certain disgruntled Fargo citizens who lobbied against the appropriation as a result of the election for the legislature held in 1882.

Up Again In 1889

"At the constitutional convention in July and August 1889, the question again came up and it was thought advisable by a number of delegates to terminate the contest by fixing the location of state institutions through constitutional provision. Accordingly, a committee on public institutions was provided in the organization of the convention. It was not thought advisable to change the location of the capital, the university or the hospital for insane. This left the agricultural college the most important unsettled institution to be located and Fargo claimed it. A combination was formed and at the conclusion of the contest Fargo remained the site for the college.

"The disadvantages under which Fargo labored in reference to the location of the college were caused by a political fight begun in Fargo in the winter of 1879 and 1880. The effects of this fight were very apparent for many years and some of them are still visible, though few people living understand the origin."

College "Y" Library Has Country Life Section

EBULLITIONS OF EBONY BLOTT

By Everett Wallum

This is the third of a series of four intimate letters written by a college freshman. The author would be good in spots if he was an angel with the measles.

Kocino Normal

Dear Cecil:

If I wasn't too much of a gentleman, I'd explain in detail what I thought of our coach. Do you know Cecil that he has put the mental deformity—Tiny—on the Freshman first team as a guard. Why Tiny couldn't guard the poor house from stock swindlers. The best I could do was to play a couple of minutes with the scrubs which designation is quite an insult for a man of my sterling qualities. If it wasn't that I thought he was saving me for the big game against the Shawnee College Freshmen, I'd leave him flat on his back.

In the few minutes I played half-back on the second team, I made two inches on a sweeping end run. I lost only three teeth, but they sure went to parts unknown. I think it was Tiny who hit me so I'm going to wait till he goes to sleep some night, and then I'll kick him soothingly on his leather like neck.

Instead of getting those three molars replaced, I think I'll wait until the end of the season when I'll get an entire set of food demoralizers. Eh, Cecil?

Well, I can't permit a trivial worry such as absent teeth etc. hinder me from making Myrtle proud of me and my masterful playing, so I guess I'll buy the coach a malted milk and a pair of barbed wire arm bands to put him in good humor. When he sees what a good sort of fellow I am, he'll insist upon playing me Saturday.

Don't tell Myrtle, but I was to a dance with a swell dame who, when it comes to speed would make Ralph De Palma look like the proverbial snail. Her only handicap is that she is a sophomore, which fearful classification is hard to live down. Tiny was there too, and he looked as clumsy as he did big, which means that the extreme in clumsiness has been reached. The only time his feet touched the floor was when he wasn't dancing. It's a good thing we football players went home early or Tiny would have broke up the dance—if not the hall. Of course everybody can't be such social lions as us. Eh, Cecil?

Kindly tell Dad that I hope the grocery business is good and that his darling son needs a little cash to aid him in his brave struggle for an education. Tell him that besides my education, I'm also studying. If he don't come through with a check, put a frog in his coffee.

Athletically Yrs.
Xerxes.

There is no doubt but what the college man of today has changed. Twenty years ago he was a baby.

THE TREMENDOUS INCREASE IN THE SALE OF FRANKFURTER SANDWICHES IS AMPLE PROOF, HOWEVER, THAT WE ARE GOING TO THE DOGS.

It's quite all right for poor spirit to be hung as long as it doesn't hang around these premises.

A University reported that the average CoEd is under weight. No statistics were gathered on the weight of the average college man's pocket-book.

If th coed is under weight, it isn't because she can't eat very much. Maybe the reason these girls are so light is because gentlemen prefer blondes.

One of the largest and most promising freshman squads ever to don Bison colors turned out for football, it is shown by the progress of Doc Catlin's charges. Fifty drew suits for the initial practice, but at the end of the second week Catlin was working with 35 men.

The men recommended to the Athletic Board for numerals are: Grgen, Joslyn, M. Miller, Ordahl, Moe, Guertin, Hickerson, Skarat, L. Miller, Chandler, McRoberts, Hays, Iverson, Dunn, and Peterson.

Other promising men on the squad who will give the Varsity hard competition next year are: Lee, Clark, Butte, Svenby, Gibson, Jones, Aldrich, Collins, Devorak, Dockter, Mucker, Eck, Osteraas, Christianson, and A. Miller. The name of Miller, appearing three times on the frshman squad indicates that our opponents will have the same name that has given them so much trouble for the past three years, to conjure with in the future.

Coach Catlin was kept on the hustle incessantly drilling three teams instead of one. Spirit and rapid progress was shown by the freshmen. The Varsity losses should be capably filled next year.

Giving the Varsity strong opposition was a pastime of the Bison Frosh as well as the University preps. The practice game with the Moorhead Stat Teachers' college eleven was followed by a 32 to 0 victory over East Grand Forks high school team. The game, played on a muddy field, was replete with sensational runs for tallies by the Baby Bison backs. In the last half, the invaders made their only progress on a pass attack. Aldrich, Weinie Miller, Pete Gergen, Joe Iverson, Baldy Hayes, and Joslyn showed well in the meleé.

The crucial test of the frosh came in the game with the University yearlings. The 26 to 0 defeat was an unusual battle. Darkness and cold weather prevailed. Catlin's charges were badly outweighed and had the added handicap of five regulars on the bench. The University frosh tied their Varsity team last week in a regular game which accounts much for the score.

"Apple Sauce" Well Given by Two Casts

Jennie Baldwin; Irene McDonald in the part of Hazel Robinson; Byron Berntson as Matt McAllister; Lawrence Parsons as "Apple Sauce" Bill McAllister; and Martin Redmond as Rollo Jenkins.

John Bohlig, playing the role of "Apple Sauce" Bill McAllister in the presentation Tuesday evening, "Apple Sourced" through three brilliant acts. As the play progressed, the farce of the play developed a philosophy, psychology, and typical section of American home life that makes Connors' play richly humorous and constructive.

Anita Mary Blake, as Mrs. Jennie Baldwin, played the role as acrimonious gossip and benevolent neighbor. The first act gave her ample time to accentuate the all-prevailing criticisms afoot in the American home as Connors portrays it.

Jorgen Birkeland, playing the part of Pa Robinson, and Phyllis Heimark as Ma Robinson skillfully brought out the domestic troubles revolving about a daughter's marriage. Floyd McDunn, as Matt McAllister, the father-in-law and rebelling creditor of his son, was well suited for his part.

Rollo Jenkins and "Apple Sauce" Bill McAllister, roles played respectively by Kenneth Mumford and John Bohlig, are rivals for the hand of Hazel Robinson, a role taken by Alta Berg. Jenkins the egotist with standards measured in dollars and cents loses eventually to the idle dreamer, "Apple Sauce" McAllister whose religion is "Saying nice things about people to make them happy." The philosopher of honeyed words wins out despite his lack of "A job."

PHI OMEGA PI FORMS ORCHESTRA, GLEE CLUB

Phi Omega Pi sorority has formed two musical organizations among its members. Rehearsals by members of the sorority orchestra and glee club are held each week.

The Phi Omega Pi orchestra is in charge of Mary Klinsman, and includes six instruments.

Engagements to play for two of the business men's clubs of the city have been made, according to an announcement made by the director. It is the plan of the sorority to furnish regular uniforms for the orchestra members. Funds are also to be raised for sending the group to the national Phi Omega Pi conclave next summer.

The second organization is the Phi Omega Pi Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Ruby Grimes. This group is composed of twelve girls, and also has two engagements, to date.

Captain Albert E. Andrews, assisted by Sergeant Culpepper, is now instructing about 150 cadet members of the college Rifle Club for three hours daily. Classes are scheduled to begin each hour from 2 to 5 p. m.

President John Lee Coulter and Deans Alba Bales, A. E. Minard, H. L. Walster, R. M. Dolve, acting; Dr. P. F. Trowbridge and C. A. Monroe, will return Sunday from the convention of deans of Land Grant Colleges being held in Washington, D. C., this week.

COLLEGE GIRLS BEGIN BASKETBALL PRACTICE

About 25 college girls appeared at the first basketball practice held in Ceres hall Monday.

Practice sessions will be held at 4:40 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday until further notice, reports Dorothy Cole, athletic director.

A class tournament, the choosing of class teams, and a varsity squad will be held later. The usual games between sorority and non-sorority teams will follow the class games. The Woman's Athletic association will make awards on a point basis.

The "U" for You Who want college clothes that are absolutely correct. The favorite college suit is a little shorter this season—a little closer fitting—but the same comfortable and rakish looking coat that has already won your heart. Buttons are spaced a little wider—the changes are minor, but they make a suit that majors in good looks. Made for the college man.

Are Your Eyes 100% Efficient?

We do not mean with diseased eyes, but with eyes that are imperfect in size or shape. Nothing and no one can CURE such a condition, but fortunately can OVERCOME it. We do that by placing glasses before the abnormal eyes, causing them to function normally, or as nearly as possible. That's a duty we perform daily.
